San Rafael Tightens Parking Rules; Police Under Fire

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Curbside parking was attacked from all directions at last night's San Rafael City Council meeting.

The council passed to print a new parking meter ordinance spelling out that backing out of a parking place and returning to it without first moving at least 100 feet is a violation.

Jack Alvarado, San Rafael Chamber of Commerce manager, presented a request that all-day parking be allowed in several areas, at least through Christmas. This was referred to the traffic committee as a kind of painless turndown.

Arthur Deiters, proprietor of Marin Upholstery and Hidden Treasure, Inc., threatened to "go to the state attorney general and have this police department superseded" for what he claimed was favoritism in parking meter enforcement.

And Ray W. Swanson of 42 Billou Street told the council: "This parking all day on the street has got to go. Streets are to move traffic . . . If a man has an automobile, he should do what he did with a horse—put it in the barn."

The new ordinance was prepared by City Atty. David Menary Jr. as result of complaints at the Nov. 1 council meeting by Warren Robinson, Deiters' stepson. Robinson complained that merchants monopolized downtown parking places, but only customers got the overparking tickets.

Then Deiters declared that as he was taking some of the pictures, one of the meter maids came along and said, "Funny man! Funny man!"

"That kind of stuff has got to stop!" stormed Deiters. "If it doesn't, I'm going to the state attorney general and have this police department superseded. Don't think it's a joke—it can be done!"

Asst. Police Chief Joseph Brusatori asked Deiters to provide him with the name of the meter maid "so we can reprimand her."

The council and city attorney then proceeded to scotch a claim by Brusatori, which was also made two weeks ago by Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa, that there is a 12-minute "grace period" after the meter flag goes up before a car can be ticketed.

"That's not what it says in the ordinance," said Menary, proceeding to read the ordinance.

"The grace period is a big fraud," said Mayor C. Paul Bettini. Then he told Brusatori, "Tell the chief that when the flag goes up, you ticket!"

The chamber of commerce request, signed by Jim Wieder, chairman of the chamber's city development committee, was for all-day parking during the Christmas season on Lincoln Avenue and Lindaro Street south of Second Street, B Street between Second and Treanor streets, and Fifth Avenue between Irwin Street and Grand Avenue. Alvarado said merchants would then ask their employees to park in those areas.

Councilman Fred E. Jensen said two-hour parking on Lindaro Street and Fifth Avenue

Cavalry Division Annihilates Reds

Hundreds Of Dead Counted

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division today annihilated the remnants of a North Vietnamese regiment on the slopes of Chu Pung mountain. Officials said 869 North Vietnamese bodies had been counted on the battlefield and estimated that 1,300 Reds died in the battle.

But U.S. casualties were the heaviest of the war, frontline UPI dispatches reported.

TEARS TO EYES

The cavalrymen, fighting with valor and determination that brought tears of emotion to the eyes of battle hardened commanding officers, scored what undoubtedly was the biggest American victory of the war in a three day operation against a North Vietnamese regular regiment that entered South Viet Nam 15 days ago.

Many of the Communist regulars were killed by small arms fire and others died by artillery and air strikes that included a raid by Guam-based B-52 bombers of the Strategic Air Command — the first B-52 strike flown in close support of ground troops.

Although U.S. briefing officers in Saigon said the American casualties were "moderate," reports from the front said more Americans were killed or wounded at Chu Pong than in any other single battle of the war.

NEW COURTHOUSE SURVEY PLANNED

Board Learns Coleman Plan Would Put Sale Value Way Below Amount Needed

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Marin County supervisors today, after receiving a forecast that the courthouse property in downtown San Rafael would sell for only about $800,000 if 70 per cent were left open area, agreed to spend $10,000 for the help of consultants.

The county assessor's office said the plan recommended to the San Rafael City Council by Dan P. Coleman and Associates for developing only 30 per cent of the land area would put a market value of $800,000 on the development.

If 50 per cent were allowed to be developed, the appraisal would be slightly over one million dollars, County Administrator Alan Bruce reported.

The county had hoped to sell the property for $1.4 million, a sum necessary to fully complete financing of $11.4 million hall of justice at the Civic Center.

The board agreed to hire financial consultants Stone and Youngberg at $5,000 and negotiate with real estate Research Corp., a nationwide firm, on possible land use and development.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen was fearful that the Stone and Youngberg study alone might put the county on the irrevocable path of revenue bonds.

Fred F. Enemark, heading a three-man committee named by the board to study the matter, disagreed, saying the firm would study all available means of financing.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker stressed the importance of the financial study, saying the county had to find a way of picking up the difference between the anticipated $1.4 million and the $800,000 estimated from an outright sale.

Non-profit corporations, lease and lease-back agreements, and bonds have all been discussed.

Enemark stressed the need for a meeting of the supervisors and the San Rafael City Council. Supervisor agreed to meet with the council next Tuesday noon and Enemark was asked to make the arrangements.

Tam District Bond Voting Goes Slowly

Voting got under way very slowly today in the Tamalpais High School District $5,750,000 bond election.

It was slowest of all in Reed School District, expected source of a major "no" vote.

By 11:30 a.m., only 32 of 1,000 registered had voted at Bel Aire School, 57 of 1,000 at Del Mar School, 52 of 900 at Reed School, 72 of 600 at Belvedere School, and 19 of 750 at Granada School.

At Stinson Beach, only 11 of 380 registered had voted.

In Sausalito, 77 of about 1,000 registered had voted at Central School and 15 of 200 at Sausalito Nursery School.

The morning turnout still ranged at less than 10 per cent in most of the remainder of the sprawling district. Sample morning turnouts:

Strawberry Point School, Mill Valley, 83 of 1,250; Old Mill School, Mill Valley, 153 of 1,350.

Larkspur - Corte Madera School, 96 of about 1,000; Aquilino Garage in San Anselmo, 94 of 987; Isabel Cook School, San Anselmo, 86 of about 1,200; Ross School, 170 of about 1,800; Kentfield Fire Station, 37 of 565.

Polls will remain open until 7 p.m. Passage of the bonds requires "yes" votes of two-thirds of those balloting.

Unruh Stand-In Reveals Hopes

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assembly Speaker Pro Tem Carlos Bee said today he will seek to be elected lower house speaker if Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh runs for the state Senate.

Bee, D-Hayard, speaker pro tem since 1959, said if Unruh, D-Inglewood, runs for the upper house next year he would run for Unruh's position the following legislative session.

Bee ended speculation he might run for an Alameda County seat in the Senate.

Bishops Endorse Birth Resolution

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Ecumenical Council today overwhelmingly endorsed resolutions on birth control and against racial discrimination. A move to condemn Communism failed.

All three developments emerged in 17 near-final votes on the assemby's key tract chartering the role of the church in the modern world. Further voting on international problems was scheduled for tomorrow.

By margins of 2,052 to 91 and 2,011 to 140, the bishops in St. Peter's Basilica endorsed provisions which tighten observance of the church's ban against artificial birth control. The section leaves an open door to possible changes by Pope Paul VI in Catholic teaching on this matter, however, and gives Catholic couples greater responsibility in the making of their own marital decisions.

The assembly also approved a denunciation of "every form of discrimination" whether based on sex, race, color, special status, language or religion. The ballot was cast yesterday on this section, but the result of the vote was announced today at 2,115 to 35. Racial and other forms of discrimination already have been denounced in stronger terms in two other council decrees, on the church and on non-Christians.

The new formula adopted today spells out that "the sons of the church are not to enter into ways of conjugal love which have been reproved by the teaching authority of the church."

The new formula means that Catholics must comply with the present church ban on all artificial birth control unless and until it is modified by the Pope.

Pope Paul VI has formed a commission to study possible relaxation of the ban and its interpretation of natural law on the matter. But he is not thought to be ready to speak out on birth conrol before the end of the council.

A vote on atheism, denounced in a previous section of the modern world decree, was taken yesterday as a last minute lobby developed for condemnation of communism.

In the results of the ballot announced today, 2,057 approved the version which fails to specifically name Communism or Marxism. Only 74 bishops voted against it.

However, in a further vote on the section as a whole, 453 bishops, less than one-third, cast ballots "with reservations." Many of these were reported to be demands for the condemnation.

Captain Gives His Version Of Ship Disaster

MIAMI (UPI)—Capt. Byron Voutsinas, skipper of the ill-fated cruise ship Yarmouth Castle, told a news conference today he was both the first and the last man to leave his flaming vessel which plunged to the bottom of the Atlantic Saturday with the loss of 84 lives. (See earlier story, page 2.)

The Greek-born ship's master, speaking publicly for the first time about the disaster, said he left the ship in lifeboat No. 1 in an attempt to direct the saving of frightened passengers gathered on the stern of the vessel.

The sighting of the Yarmouth Castle's captain in the first lifeboat to leave the scene of the tragedy had caused speculation that Voutsinas panicked when the ship turned to a raging inferno.

"All forward and aft passageways were blocked by fire," the skipper said.

The three men attempted to row the lifeboat toward the stern of the Yarmouth Castle. Instead, they sighted the rescue freighter Finnpulp, went alongside, transferred the burned passengers and requested an SOS be sent.

Then, Voutsinas declared, he and the other two Yarmouth Castle officers returned to their burning ship in the lifeboat to direct rescue operations.

He said he was awakened at

Refinery Fined For Killing Fish

MARTINEZ (UPI)—Tidewater Associated Oil Co. has been fined $300 for discharging wastes into Suisun Bay in july which resulted in the death of 100,000 fish.

The company pleaded no contest to the charge in Martinez Judicial Court and sentence was handed down Monday by Judge Samuel W. Hall.

The large fish kill occurred near Avon pier in Contra Costa County, where a Tidewater refinery discharges waste into the bay. An investigation by the Department of Fish and Game found violations of the state antipollution code.

Novato Planners Vote For City Master Plan

The Novato Planning Commission, after a public hearing last night, accepted the Novato Master Plan and recommended its adoption by the city council.

The council must hold another public hearing on the plan, for which no date has yet been set.

The commission asked the planning staff to study one piece of property, and make any recommendation of any change on it to the council, at the time of its hearing. This is the 640-acre Ponti property, west of Highway 101 and north of Big Rock Ridge.

Harold F. Reide, San Rafael attorney, representing owners of the property, asked the commission to reconsider allocating so much of the land for schools. The plan calls for 80 acres for a high school, junior high and elementary schools.

"Although it is 640 acres, there are only about 120 acres of flat ground," Reide said. Taking so much for schools would leave little to develop, he complained.

Richard Hanna, who owns property east of Highway 101 and north of Highway 37, asked if the plan called for any change in his property, now zoned light industrial. He was assured that it did not. Hanna has announced plans for a golf course on the acreage.

Margaret, Snowdon Take Capital 'High School' Tour

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Britain's royal tourists —Princess Margaret and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon —set forth today on what Washingtonians call the "high school senior class" tour of the capital.

The tiny, blue-eyed princess and her husband arrived from Tucson, Ariz., yesterday. She promptly wowed the city's usually unflappable press corps with a smile and a toss of her "Cleopatra hat" at a monster reception in a jammed hotel ballroom. (See picture, page 10.)

Their first official act today was a visit to Arlington National Cemetery to place a wreath on the grave of John F. Kennedy.

After that, they were to motor to Washington's home down the Potomoc at Mount Vernon, swinging back through the city for hurried glimpses of the Capitol, the Washington Monument, and the Jefferson and Lincoln memorials — all in about three hours.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Undersecretary of State George W. Ball and their wives were invited to a British Embassy luncheon in the Princess' honor.

The couple's afternoon plans included a short private service at Washington National Cathedral (Episcopal).

A hectic round of receptions, teas, dinners, plaque unveilings and tree plantings was scheduled for Margaret and her husband before they leave Thursday for New York City.

Freezing Snap Chills Europe

LONDON (AP) — Icy winds scythed across Europe today and temperatures plummetted as the continent shivered in an unusual mid-November freeze.

The suddenness of the snap, which dumped snow from the Atlantic to Siberia, caught Britain's nationalized electricty and gas undertakings unprepared.

In the Alsace region of France, the grapes are being picked under a blanket of snow.

Three young East Germans defied the cold, jumped into the near freezing waters of the Elbe River and swam across to the West.

San Rafael Tightens Parking Rules; Police Under Fire

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Curbside parking was attacked from all directions at last night's San Rafael City Council meeting.

The council passed to print a new parking meter ordinance spelling out that backing out of a parking place and returning to it without first moving at least 100 feet is a violation.

Jack Alvarado, San Rafael Chamber of Commerce manager, presented a request that all-day parking be allowed in several areas, at least through Christmas. This was referred to the traffic committee as a kind of painless turndown.

Arthur Deiters, proprietor of Marin Upholstery and Hidden Treasure, Inc., threatened to "go to the state attorney general and have this police department superseded" for what he claimed was favoritism in parking meter enforcement.

And Ray W. Swanson of 42 Billou Street told the council: "This parking all day on the street has got to go. Streets are to move traffic . . . If a man has an automobile, he should do what he did with a horse—put it in the barn."

Larkspur - Corte Madera School, 96 of about 1,000; Aquilino Garage in San Anselmo, 94 of 987; Isabel Cook School, San Anselmo, 86 of about 1,200; Ross School, 170 of about 1,800; Kentfield Fire Station, 37 of 565.

Polls will remain open until 7 p.m. Passage of the bonds requires "yes" votes of two-thirds of those balloting.

Hundreds Of Dead Counted

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division today annihilated the remnants of a North Vietnamese regiment on the slopes of Chu Pung mountain. Officials said 869 North Vietnamese bodies had been counted on the battlefield and estimated that 1,300 Reds died in the battle.

But U.S. casualties were the heaviest of the war, frontline UPI dispatches reported.

TEARS TO EYES

The cavalrymen, fighting with valor and determination that brought tears of emotion to the eyes of battle hardened commanding officers, scored what undoubtedly was the biggest American victory of the war in a three day operation against a North Vietnamese regular regiment that entered South Viet Nam 15 days ago.

Many of the Communist regulars were killed by small arms fire and others died by artillery and air strikes that included a raid by Guam-based B-52 bombers of the Strategic Air Command — the first B-52 strike flown in close support of ground troops.

Although U.S. briefing officers in Saigon said the American casualties were "moderate," reports from the front said more Americans were killed or wounded at Chu Pong than in any other single battle of the war.

Hecklers Silence Alabama Sheriff

PASADENA (AP)—"It's good to be here," was about all the sheriff of Dallas County, Ala., was able to say before hecklers caused him to stalk angrily from the stage.

Sheriff Jim Clark tried to address an audience of about 800 last night at a school auditorium in suburban Pasadena.

He appeared at the invitation of the Los Angeles Chapter of the White Citizen's Council after a court effort to silence him failed.

The raucous audience was more effective.

Clark tried sarcasm.

"I've never been treated better in my life. You have real hospitality," he said.

The crowd, a mixture of Negroes and whites, jeered and sang. Demonstrators moved in the aisles.

"These things wouldn't happen in Selma," the Alabama peace officer said. "People are given a chance to talk—even (Martin Luther) King."

Roderic Duff, president of the sponsoring group, asked the more than 100 law enforcement officers present to restore order.

When the din continued, Clark walked out.

Earlier a local Congress of Racial Equality official sought to enjoin Clark from speaking at the public event because of " a clear and present danger there will be violence."

Superior Judge Harold F. Collins rejected the request, saying: "We must provide a forum for unpopular causes."

Clark, 43, who is visiting California with Louis Hollis, of Jackson, Miss., executive director of White Citizen's Councils, toured Watts, the scene of heavy Negro rioting.

He said the area "doesn't look like Beverly Hills, but it is no ghetto either. I certainly did not see anything in Watts to be dissatisfied with, except for what they (Negroes) did to themselves."

Soviets Launch Another Probe Toward Venus

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today it had launched its second space shot toward the planet Venus within five days.

Tass said the launching of the unmanned automatic space station Venus 3 was similar to the launching of Venus 2 last Friday.

Tass said Venus 2 is expected to reach Venus about the end of February, but the Russians have not said whether they expected it to crash into the planet or fly past it collecting scientific data.

The only other announced Soviet probe of Venus, in 1961, failed when its radio went silent and the craft missed the planet by about 100,000 miles.

America's Mariner 2 passed 21,648 miles from Venus on Dec. 14, 1962. It radioed back data on temperature, magnetism and other conditions to give scientists their clearest knowledge so far of the planet.

Boston Gang War Kills Three More

BOSTON (AP) — The Greater Boston gang war has claimed three victims in the bloodiest single day of the 20-month-old vendetta.

The bodies of victim Nos. 27 and 28 were found shot to death last night in the Mickey Mouse Cafe at nearby Revere Beach.

They were Raymond Distasio, 35, of Medford, the cafe's daytime bartender, and John B. O'Neill, 26, of Revere, a customer who lived nearby.

Earlier in the day, the body of ex-convict Robert A. Palladino, 34, of Winchester, was found beneath an elevated highway near Boston Garden.

All three had been shot in the back of the head.

Bay Communist Lauds High Court

Proctor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The U. S. Supreme Court ruling declaring unconstitutional the requirement that Communists in the United States must register with the government will let the party operate more openly in this country says Roscoe Quincy Proctor.

Proctor, of Berkeley, along with William Albertson of Brooklyn, N.Y., had been ordered by the Subversive Activities Control Board to register as Communists under a 1950 act.

Yesterday the Supreme Court upset that ruling and Proctor said it was "a victory for the party in its struggle for democracy in the United States."

The 41-year-old warehouseman and carpenter told a news conference he joined the party in 1941 because its members were involved in the struggle for civil rights.

Proctor said he is now a card-carrying unpaid member of the national board of the American Communist Party.

Conflicting Testimony In Ship Fire Inquiry

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Third engineer Harry Sopirios of the cruise ship Yarmouth Castle hasn't slept for two nights — and he is wondering if he will in the weeks ahead.

"I don't know if I will ever erase the memory of those flames," he said.

Eighty-one passengers and to crewmen are believed to have perished when the Yarmouth Castle went down Saturday off Great Stirrup Cay, about 60 miles northwest of Nassau.

Passenger Norman Lehr of Miami Beach died of burns in a Nassau hospital. His body will be flown to Miami in a private plane.

Many survivors said there was no warning as fire swept the ship, that the water sprinkler system didn't work, fire hoses lay unused on the deck, and that only 4 of 14 lifeboats were lowered.

But a Coast Guard investigator said yesterday the Yarmouth Castle passed a Coast Guard safety check three weeks before she sailed.

Third engineer Sopirios said the alarm went off in the forward section and he spread the alarm to the crew sleeping below deck.

"The fire never reached the engineroom or the crew's quarters," he explained. "I think it started somewhere in one of the more expensive forward cabins."

He said hose pipes and lifeboats in the forward section were burned.

Capt. V. G. Niebergall, head of the 7th Coast Guard District's Merchant Marine Safety Division, said the finding of a preliminary investigation disputed complaints from survivors that the Yarmouth Castle was poorly equipped to cope with the emergency.

"Three weeks before the Yarmouth Castle sailed, we held a fire drill aboard the ship in accordance ith the international convention for safety of ships at sea," Niebergall said. "It was in compliance with the international regulations.

Niebergall said testimony from crewmen indicated that the sprinkler system and other safety devices worked satisfactorily.

The Yarmouth Castle was carrying 550 passengers and crew.

Doctors Pleased With Ike's Gains

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's doctors announced today that the five-star general is no longer under oxygen.

Astronauts Due Home By Christmas

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—It will be Christmas with their families for the nation's four "spirit of 76" astronauts if they blast into space on schedule.

Frank Borman and James Lovell, Gemini 7 pilots, are scheduled to leave Dec. 4 for a record 14-day spaceflight.

By moving at record speed, scientists hope to launch Gemini 6 astronauts Walter M. Schirra and Thomas P. Stafford around Dec. 13 to "fly to formation" with Gemini 7 at 185 miles above earth.

Borman and Lovell, under the schedule, would return to a landing Dec. 18. Schirra and Stafford will come down after about two days of travel through the cosmos.

Family Reunion

"We are reasonably sure they will be with their families on Christmas Eve and Christmas day," a spokesman of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) Manned Spacecraft Center, said.

Borman and Lovell actually will be in the midst of an 11-day "debriefing" session at that time. But they will be given the Christmas holidays off and New Year's day, too, if necessary.

Hundreds of others involved in the historic dual shots probably will not be as fortunate. It appeared doubtful all the recovery force personnel or those on duty at remote tracking stations around the world could make it home by Christmas day under the present schedule.

County Planners Deny Tiburon Apartments

The Marin County Planning Commission last night, after splitting 3-to-3 on approval of a small apartment development on Tiburon Boulevard, voted 6-0 to deny it.

The development was proposed by Leonard Fleishman on 19,800 square feet on the north side of the boulevard between Bay View Heights and Bel Air Estates. He had asked approval of five units. The commission had earlier recommended four units, with traffic to enter through an easement from Rancho Drive and exit onto the boulevard.

Since the commission's first action, it was discovered that the county, not the State Division of Highways as earlier supposed, held the access rights to Tiburon Boulevard.

The board of supervisors, with this new information, sent the plan back to the commission with request that the city of Tiburon be notified of the access issue.

The city opposed any further access and neighbors last night were present to oppose apartments in the area.

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty recommended that the plan for four units be approved again, but his motion was defeated 3-3 when commissioners Niels Schultz Jr., Eugene R. Trombley and Harry H. Heifetz dissented. Commissioner William F. Upton was absent during the evening session.

Schultz then moved that the plan be denied with the commission agreeing it would look favorably on a three-unit development with both ingress and egress from Tiburon Boulevard. This was passed 6-0.

Gas Station For Tiburon Is Rejected

A gasoline service station at Tiburon Boulevard and Blackfield Drive in the Marin Town and Country Shopping Center property was turned down by 3-to-3 vote of the Marin County Planning Commission last night.

Standard Oil Co. had appealed denial by the county zoning administrator. Commissioners Eugene R. Trombley, Margaret Azevedo and Felix M. Warburg voted to uphold the denial. Commissioner William F. Upton was absent.

Attorney E. Warren McGuire, representing the applicant, indicated that the appeal will be next put before the board of supervisors. He argued that the Tiburon master plan calls for a gas station at the site.

Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill said he denied the application because he found the use would be detrimental to adjacent property. There is already a service station across the boulevard.

Property owners, the City of Tiburon, and merchants in the shopping center objected to another station.

The Marin County Planning Commission last night also:

1. Set a Dec. 6 hearing on various proposals for widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from Wolfe Grade Road to the Ross town limits.

2. Set a Dec. 6 hearing on the boards of supervisors' recommendation that the Marincello master plan, approved by supervisors Friday, be adjusted to exclude multiple housing from the Tennessee Valley portion and that access over tunnel road, through the fort property, be studied.

3. Granted Synanon Foundation at Marshall a permit for a trailer on the property for two years. The trailer would be used for night watchman quarters, architects' office and temporary classroom.

4. Approved the tentative map of 44-acre Reedland Woods Unit 2, on the east side of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad at the extension of Blackfield Drive near Tiburon. Lytton Savings and Loan Assn. proposes 64 lots on the property.

5. Granted a variance to Rex Williams to allow a lot without street frontage in connection with a lot split on Shoreline Highway near Sunset Way in Muir Beach. Williams must guarantee access to the lot.

6. Agreed there should be an oral review board to interview candidates for county planning director. County Administrator Alan Bruce told the commission that he hopes to convene this board, of either three or five persons, Dec. 13.

7. Adjourned at 10:45 p.m.

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty was absent during the morning session. Commissioner Upton was absent during the evening session.

Addition To Post Office Building Gets Approval

The Tiburon Planning Commission last night unanimously granted architectural approval to Belvedere Land Co. for a 1,200-square foot addition to the post office building to be used for temporary city offices.

The city council on Nov. 8 approved by 3-2 vote an agreement with the land company to lease the building at $325 per month until the city can move into permanent quarters when the post office moves.

The land company says the addition can be completed within 90 days after a use permit is issued. The proposal now goes back to the city council.

The Tiburon Planning Commission also:

1. Denied a use permit application to Christopher Tassos of Tiburon for a car sales lot located at 1650 Tiburon Boulevard.

2. Heard a progress report from Williams, Cook and Mocine on work on a master plan for the city.

3. Granted change in setback from seven to four feet to Fred G. Zelinsky for his restaurant at 1 Main Street. Zelinsky was also granted permission to run the 1 Main parking lot parallel to Tiburon Boulevard from Beach Road extension to 1651 Tiburon Boulevard. The lot was first approved to run at right angles to Tiburon Boulevard but it was agreed the new plan would be better for drainage.

County Planners Deny Tiburon Apartments

The Marin County Planning Commission last night, after splitting 3-to-3 on approval of a small apartment development on Tiburon Boulevard, voted 6-0 to deny it.

The development was proposed by Leonard Fleishman on 19,800 square feet on the north side of the boulevard between Bay View Heights and Bel Air Estates. He had asked approval of five units. The commission had earlier recommended four units, with traffic to enter through an easement from Rancho Drive and exit onto the boulevard.

Since the commission's first action, it was discovered that the county, not the State Division of Highways as earlier supposed, held the access rights to Tiburon Boulevard.

The board of supervisors, with this new information, sent the plan back to the commission with request that the city of Tiburon be notified of the access issue.

The city opposed any further access and neighbors last night were present to oppose apartments in the area.

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty recommended that the plan for four units be approved again, but his motion was defeated 3-3 when commissioners Niels Schultz Jr., Eugene R. Trombley and Harry H. Heifetz dissented. Commissioner William F. Upton was absent during the evening session.

Schultz then moved that the plan be denied with the commission agreeing it would look favorably on a three-unit development with both ingress and egress from Tiburon Boulevard. This was passed 6-0.

Gas Station For Tiburon Is Rejected

A gasoline service station at Tiburon Boulevard and Blackfield Drive in the Marin Town and Country Shopping Center property was turned down by 3-to-3 vote of the Marin County Planning Commission last night.

Standard Oil Co. had appealed denial by the county zoning administrator. Commissioners Eugene R. Trombley, Margaret Azevedo and Felix M. Warburg voted to uphold the denial. Commissioner William F. Upton was absent.

Attorney E. Warren McGuire, representing the applicant, indicated that the appeal will be next put before the board of supervisors. He argued that the Tiburon master plan calls for a gas station at the site.

Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill said he denied the application because he found the use would be detrimental to adjacent property. There is already a service station across the boulevard.

Property owners, the City of Tiburon, and merchants in the shopping center objected to another station.

The Marin County Planning Commission last night also:

1. Set a Dec. 6 hearing on various proposals for widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from Wolfe Grade Road to the Ross town limits.

2. Set a Dec. 6 hearing on the boards of supervisors' recommendation that the Marincello master plan, approved by supervisors Friday, be adjusted to exclude multiple housing from the Tennessee Valley portion and that access over tunnel road, through the fort property, be studied.

3. Granted Synanon Foundation at Marshall a permit for a trailer on the property for two years. The trailer would be used for night watchman quarters, architects' office and temporary classroom.

4. Approved the tentative map of 44-acre Reedland Woods Unit 2, on the east side of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad at the extension of Blackfield Drive near Tiburon. Lytton Savings and Loan Assn. proposes 64 lots on the property.

5. Granted a variance to Rex Williams to allow a lot without street frontage in connection with a lot split on Shoreline Highway near Sunset Way in Muir Beach. Williams must guarantee access to the lot.

6. Agreed there should be an oral review board to interview candidates for county planning director. County Administrator Alan Bruce told the commission that he hopes to convene this board, of either three or five persons, Dec. 13.

7. Adjourned at 10:45 p.m.

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty was absent during the morning session. Commissioner Upton was absent during the evening session.

County Loans Draft Reject Exams Cash

Marin County Supervisors today agreed to put up $3,000, to be returned later by the federal government under a new program, to provide physical examinations for those rejected for the draft for poor health.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen wanted to know more about the proposal, saying the federal programs often look good but sometimes turn out to be "hog wash."

The program limits expenditure on each individual to $12.

"What can you do for $12?" Kettenhofen asked.

Supervisors Byron W. Leydecker and William A. Gnoss said the program appeared to have a great deal of merit.

In the end, the board voted to enter the program with the $3,000 loan, but asked a full report and accounting of what it accomplishes. This report will come from the county health department, which will administer the program.

Voutsinas said he ordered a general alarm sounded — intermittent blasts of the ship's whistle.

When he reached the bridge, the captain said, it was shrouded in heavy smoke.

"The chief engineer told me he proceeded to the area from which the smoke came. When he opened the door of room 610, flames jumped out and he closed the door.

"Room 610 is near the dining room, amidship. It is used for storage and to my knowledge, the only thing there was a vacuum cleaner and some mops."

Use Permit Voted For New Dump

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday approved a use permit for a new dump on the Elmer Martinelli Ranch north of Point Reyes Station.

The dump would replace one closed by the County Health Department last month.

Jack S. Mason of Inverness, and others owning property adjacent to the road to the proposed dump, said the road was too narrow to be safe.

The commission included a condition in the permit that will require grading and turnouts for cars and trucks to pass.

The County Board of Supervisors must also act on the permit.

can losses under security regulations.

The B-52 attack yesterday took most of the steam out of the Communist infantrymen, but they re-grouped overnight and launched three separate attacks today before American forces wiped them out.

The first two assaults today were staged before daybreak. The Communists sent two well-trained companies against Americans defending a small landing zone in a meadow at the foot of the mountain. The Communists struck again after daybreak.

In Saigon, American authorities disclosed that two Communist Mig jet fighters attacked two unarmed American photo reconnaissance planes over North Viet Nam yesterday. The RF-101 Voodoos eluded the cannon attack and returned safely to base.

Grand Jurors Study Coroner Post Merger

The Marin County Grand Jury has the proposed merger of the office of coroner with that of district attorney under study, Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker announced today.

Leydecker recommended to his fellow supervisors that the merger, recommended by County Administrator Alan Bruce, not be considered until after the grand jury's report is in hand three weeks hence.

Other board members, who had also heard of the grand jury study, agreed to the continuance. The merger will be considered again Dec. 14.

Both Coroner Frank J. Keaton and District Attorney Bruce B. Bales have opposed the idea.

PARKING

was put in at request of business men there. "If we went back to all-day parking there, we'd be tarred and feathered," he declared.

Councilman Harry A. Barbier added that such all-day parking spaces would do the merchants no good because "the early-bird commuters would take them all."

It was at that point that Swanson launched his attack against any all-day parking on the streets.

"The chamber of commerce is made up of business men. Why don't they put somebody in business to rent these people some parking spaces?" he demanded.

Further, said Swanson, the city and chamber should get busy to "get mass bus transportation here." Rapid transit will do San Rafael no good unless there are busses from the transit terminal, he claimed.

One parking matter got deferred two weeks.

The council was presented by City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen with a two-away ordinance, but because councilmen had not received it before the meeting, its introduction was postponed to Dec. 6.

The proposed ordinance authorizes tow-away of cars when they are (a) parked 72 hours on the street, (b) parked between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. in a no-parking zone, and (c) parked where use of the street is necessary for cleaning, repair or construction," installation of utilities, or movement of equipment of unusual size.

Collision Injures Marin Woman

Mrs. Edna Silva, 62, of 16 Ryan Avenue, Mill Valley, was injured Friday when a car in which she was riding collided with another car about three miles northwest of Sebastopol.

The cars were driven by her husband, John A. Silva, 59, and Dorothy M. Moore, 49, of Sebastopol.

Mrs. Silva was hospitalized in Sebastopol with a dislocated knee, a cut right hand and multiple bruises. She was released Sunday.

Change Of Venue Try Delays Murder Case

Further proceedings in Marin Superior Court against alleged murderers Jack R. Gorman, 36, and Marc Charles Osuna, 30, were continued today until Nov. 30 on indication of defense attorneys that they will seek changes of venue.

Public Defender Jerome Durham, representing Gorman, told Judge Samuel W. Gardiner he has not yet prepared the motion, but will submit the request to have the trial held in a county other than Marin at the later hearing. Attorney Richard Tarrant, who with Thomas P. Boyd, is representing Osuna, said he will join in the motion.

The action followed denial by Judge Gardiner of motions by both that charges be dismissed on a basis that preliminary hearing testimony came from accomplices in the alleged crime.

Gorman and Osuna allegedly murdered San Rafael bartender Mario Ferrari at Mission Inn on Labor Day. Both are in San Quentin Prison for parole violation.

Supervisors Hesitate Over Outside Insurance Survey

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today discussed at length but was unable to decide on a proposed $1,500 study by insurance experts on the county's present insurance coverage.

Walter W. Carter, representing the Marin County Assn. of Independent Insurance Agents, which handles the county's policies, opposed the outside study, saying the association is constantly examining the county coverage and is making a study of possible "package" plans.

Supervisors emphasized that they had no intention of getting other agents for the insurance or going to bid on policies.

Senior administrative analyst John L. Gibb in the county administrator's office recommended that the San Francisco firm of Mund, McLaurin and Co. be hired to make the report. The suggestion was prompted by an unexpected increase last July in liability insurance rates.

The county's total insurance premiums, excluding of health coverage for employees, comes to $58,000 a year. These policies are shared by agents in the association.

Councilmen Slate Chamber Lunches

Mill Valley city councilmen will meet with members of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce for informal discussions on the first Saturday of each month at noon at the Palette restaurant, 163 Throckmorton Avenue, Mayor Michael Wornum announced last night.

Wornum said he and Councilman George E. Wickham, as a council committee, met with chamber members and plan to continue the first Saturday discussions to talk over problems that chamber members have.

"Other council members, the press and anyone else interested are invited," Wornum said. "There is no intent to have secret meetings."

Teen-Ager Booked On Marijuana

Dan Friedman, 18, of 353 Montford Avenue, Homestead Valley, was arrested by state narcotics officers last night on a complaint charging sale of marijuana.

He was released on his own recognizance at county jail by Lloyd Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court and scheduled to appear for arraignment this afternoon.

He was booked on a warrant issued yesterday and alleging the offense occurred in Mill Valley on Sept. 23. Other details were not immediately learned.

Mill Valley Votes Cascades Annex

The Mill Valley City Council last night unanimously passed a resolution of intention to annex 60.8 acres south of Cascade Drive and west of Monte Vista to the city.

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission approved the annexation Nov. 5.

San Rafael Man Suffers Cut Arm

James N. Litteral, 19, of 5 Ross Street, San Rafael, was treated for a slashed arm at 11:35 p.m. yesterday at San Rafael General Hospital. He told police he had fallen from bed onto broken glass.

But the police report added that Litteral's father claimed the man had slashed his wrist after a family argument.

Litteral early Saturday took an autostereo unit into the sheriff's office shortly after it had been taken from the Autostereo Co., 121 Jacoby Street, near San Rafael. He told officers then he had purchased the unit for $50 from two members of the Hell's Angels.

Jail, Probation Set In Youth's Perjury

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court today suspended a prison sentence for Michael West, 18, of Marinwood, on condition that he serve 90 days in county jail, and placed him on three years probation.

West had pleaded guilty to perjury in two preliminary hearings in Marin Municipal Court. He testified as a witness in examinations of Thomas Dean Scahill, 21, of Fairfax, charged with disposing of a stolen automobile transmission with intent to defraud an insurance company.

County Loans Draft Reject Exams Cash

Marin County Supervisors today agreed to put up $3,000, to be returned later by the federal government under a new program, to provide physical examinations for those rejected for the draft for poor health.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen wanted to know more about the proposal, saying the federal programs often look good but sometimes turn out to be "hog wash."

The program limits expenditure on each individual to $12.

"What can you do for $12?" Kettenhofen asked.

Supervisors Byron W. Leydecker and William A. Gnoss said the program appeared to have a great deal of merit.

In the end, the board voted to enter the program with the $3,000 loan, but asked a full report and accounting of what it accomplishes. This report will come from the county health department, which will administer the program.

Voutsinas said he ordered a general alarm sounded — intermittent blasts of the ship's whistle.

When he reached the bridge, the captain said, it was shrouded in heavy smoke.

"The chief engineer told me he proceeded to the area from which the smoke came. When he opened the door of room 610, flames jumped out and he closed the door.

"Room 610 is near the dining room, amidship. It is used for storage and to my knowledge, the only thing there was a vacuum cleaner and some mops."

Use Permit Voted For New Dump

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday approved a use permit for a new dump on the Elmer Martinelli Ranch north of Point Reyes Station.

The dump would replace one closed by the County Health Department last month.

Jack S. Mason of Inverness, and others owning property adjacent to the road to the proposed dump, said the road was too narrow to be safe.

The commission included a condition in the permit that will require grading and turnouts for cars and trucks to pass.

The County Board of Supervisors must also act on the permit.

ABAG Date Postpones Larkspur Workshop

A workshop meeting of the Larkspur City Council, scheduled for tomorrow at 8 p.m. in City Hall, has been canceled for lack of a quorum, City Clerk Isabelle Moore said today.

Mrs. Moore said a check with councilmen indicated the meeting conflicted with a meeting of the Assn. of Bay Area Governments which some councilmen plan to attend. It has not been rescheduled, she said.

can losses under security regulations.

The B-52 attack yesterday took most of the steam out of the Communist infantrymen, but they re-grouped overnight and launched three separate attacks today before American forces wiped them out.

The first two assaults today were staged before daybreak. The Communists sent two well-trained companies against Americans defending a small landing zone in a meadow at the foot of the mountain. The Communists struck again after daybreak.

In Saigon, American authorities disclosed that two Communist Mig jet fighters attacked two unarmed American photo reconnaissance planes over North Viet Nam yesterday. The RF-101 Voodoos eluded the cannon attack and returned safely to base.

Neither American plane was hit, a U.S. spokesman said.

Grand Jurors Study Coroner Post Merger

The Marin County Grand Jury has the proposed merger of the office of coroner with that of district attorney under study, Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker announced today.

Leydecker recommended to his fellow supervisors that the merger, recommended by County Administrator Alan Bruce, not be considered until after the grand jury's report is in hand three weeks hence.

Other board members, who had also heard of the grand jury study, agreed to the continuance. The merger will be considered again Dec. 14.

Both Coroner Frank J. Keaton and District Attorney Bruce B. Bales have opposed the idea.

PARKING

was put in at request of business men there. "If we went back to all-day parking there, we'd be tarred and feathered," he declared.

Councilman Harry A. Barbier added that such all-day parking spaces would do the merchants no good because "the early-bird commuters would take them all."

It was at that point that Swanson launched his attack against any all-day parking on the streets.

"The chamber of commerce is made up of business men. Why don't they put somebody in business to rent these people some parking spaces?" he demanded.

Further, said Swanson, the city and chamber should get busy to "get mass bus transportation here." Rapid transit will do San Rafael no good unless there are busses from the transit terminal, he claimed.

One parking matter got deferred two weeks.

The council was presented by City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen with a two-away ordinance, but because councilmen had not received it before the meeting, its introduction was postponed to Dec. 6.

The proposed ordinance authorizes tow-away of cars when they are (a) parked 72 hours on the street, (b) parked between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. in a no-parking zone, and (c) parked where use of the street is necessary for cleaning, repair or construction," installation of utilities, or movement of equipment of unusual size.

Collision Injures Marin Woman

Mrs. Edna Silva, 62, of 16 Ryan Avenue, Mill Valley, was injured Friday when a car in which she was riding collided with another car about three miles northwest of Sebastopol.

The cars were driven by her husband, John A. Silva, 59, and Dorothy M. Moore, 49, of Sebastopol.

Mrs. Silva was hospitalized in Sebastopol with a dislocated knee, a cut right hand and multiple bruises. She was released Sunday.

Change Of Venue Try Delays Murder Case

Further proceedings in Marin Superior Court against alleged murderers Jack R. Gorman, 36, and Marc Charles Osuna, 30, were continued today until Nov. 30 on indication of defense attorneys that they will seek changes of venue.

Public Defender Jerome Durham, representing Gorman, told Judge Samuel W. Gardiner he has not yet prepared the motion, but will submit the request to have the trial held in a county other than Marin at the later hearing. Attorney Richard Tarrant, who with Thomas P. Boyd, is representing Osuna, said he will join in the motion.

The action followed denial by Judge Gardiner of motions by both that charges be dismissed on a basis that preliminary hearing testimony came from accomplices in the alleged crime.

Gorman and Osuna allegedly murdered San Rafael bartender Mario Ferrari at Mission Inn on Labor Day. Both are in San Quentin Prison for parole violation.

Supervisors Hesitate Over Outside Insurance Survey

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today discussed at length but was unable to decide on a proposed $1,500 study by insurance experts on the county's present insurance coverage.

Walter W. Carter, representing the Marin County Assn. of Independent Insurance Agents, which handles the county's policies, opposed the outside study, saying the association is constantly examining the county coverage and is making a study of possible "package" plans.

Supervisors emphasized that they had no intention of getting other agents for the insurance or going to bid on policies.

Senior administrative analyst John L. Gibb in the county administrator's office recommended that the San Francisco firm of Mund, McLaurin and Co. be hired to make the report. The suggestion was prompted by an unexpected increase last July in liability insurance rates.

The county's total insurance premiums, excluding of health coverage for employees, comes to $58,000 a year. These policies are shared by agents in the association.

Councilmen Slate Chamber Lunches

Mill Valley city councilmen will meet with members of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce for informal discussions on the first Saturday of each month at noon at the Palette restaurant, 163 Throckmorton Avenue, Mayor Michael Wornum announced last night.

Wornum said he and Councilman George E. Wickham, as a council committee, met with chamber members and plan to continue the first Saturday discussions to talk over problems that chamber members have.

"Other council members, the press and anyone else interested are invited," Wornum said. "There is no intent to have secret meetings."

Teen-Ager Booked On Marijuana

Dan Friedman, 18, of 353 Montford Avenue, Homestead Valley, was arrested by state narcotics officers last night on a complaint charging sale of marijuana.

He was released on his own recognizance at county jail by Lloyd Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court and scheduled to appear for arraignment this afternoon.

He was booked on a warrant issued yesterday and alleging the offense occurred in Mill Valley on Sept. 23. Other details were not immediately learned.

Realignment Voted

Application of Richard F. Cahill for a lot line realignment between 119 and 121 Belvedere Avenue was given conditional approval by the Belvedere Planning Commission last night.

Mill Valley Votes Cascades Annex

The Mill Valley City Council last night unanimously passed a resolution of intention to annex 60.8 acres south of Cascade Drive and west of Monte Vista to the city.

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission approved the annexation Nov. 5.

The Cascade annexation was requested by Maurice Capps, owner of 57.42 acres.

San Rafael Man Suffers Cut Arm

James N. Litteral, 19, of 5 Ross Street, San Rafael, was treated for a slashed arm at 11:35 p.m. yesterday at San Rafael General Hospital. He told police he had fallen from bed onto broken glass.

But the police report added that Litteral's father claimed the man had slashed his wrist after a family argument.

Litteral early Saturday took an autostereo unit into the sheriff's office shortly after it had been taken from the Autostereo Co., 121 Jacoby Street, near San Rafael. He told officers then he had purchased the unit for $50 from two members of the Hell's Angels.

Jail, Probation Set In Youth's Perjury

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court today suspended a prison sentence for Michael West, 18, of Marinwood, on condition that he serve 90 days in county jail, and placed him on three years probation.

West had pleaded guilty to perjury in two preliminary hearings in Marin Municipal Court. He testified as a witness in examinations of Thomas Dean Scahill, 21, of Fairfax, charged with disposing of a stolen automobile transmission with intent to defraud an insurance company.

Ex-Marinite May Face Fire Board Recall Try

Independent-Journal Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Commissioners of the suburban Bellevue Fire District will meet tonight to attempt to hire a new fire chief and solve other disputes centering around Commissioner Tom McDougall.

Legal petitions for recall of McDougall are ready for distribution, Karl Ericksen, a fellow commissioner, reported today.

McDougall, former Homestead Valley resident and Marin Taxpayers Assn. president, is embroiled with fellow commissioners and volunteer firemen of the department, which has only one fulltime paid employee (the chief).

Robert Jump resigned as chief effective Nov. 2, saying he was moving from the district. He has not yet moved.

At a commission meeting last week, a petition signed by 137 residents and another signed by 19 volunteer firemen urged promotion of E. A. Marsh, halftime assistant chief, to the top position.

McDougall opposed, saying he thought Marsh not qualified. "He's too hot-heated, for one thing," said McDougall.

This came amid a series of charges that McDougall's interference with firemen was causing dissension in the department.

"This meddling has got to stop, or else we won't have a department," declared Ericksen.

Volunteers objected especially, they said, to posting by McDougall of a notice that unless they signed loyalty oaths they would not get paid $2 per fire call and $1 per drill.

San Anselmo Studies Shift In Location Of New Street

San Anselmo planning commissioners last night tentatively agreed to change plans for a street which would replace San Anselmo Avenue as a major thoroughfare, bringing it 275 feet closer to San Anselmo Avenue than previously planned.

The proposed street is part of San Anselmo's downtown center plan, which, as it now stands, would block off San Anselmo Avenue near City Hall, creating a pedestrian mall.

The change in street location was suggested by Commissioner Warren Perry, who was assigned to study the plan for possible changes.

Perry's suggestion would bring the new street to about one-third of the distance from San Anselmo Avenue to Cedar Street. The previously planned street was 225 feet from Cedar Street. Perry's suggestion places it 500 feet from Cedar.

City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell explained today that the commercial district would be that area running from the new street to Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The commissioners suggested, Leitzell said, that buildings bordering the new street should be high density residential, tapering off to single family residences near Cedar Street.

Leitzell said he was asked by the commission to check property values at the location of the new street and compare them with values at the previously suggested location.

The commisisoners were asked by the city council to seek ways to restrict the size of the commercial district suggested in the downtown center plan in hope of getting some action on a bogged-down proposal for a parking district to finance the changes.

The San Anselmo Planning Commission Also:

1. Granted a variance allowing parking stalls eight feet six inches wide instead of 10 feet wide for the San Anselmo Shopping Center parking lot on Sunny Hills Orphanage property.
2. Approved, 4 to 2, a variance for Bert Oberg Jr. to extend his side yard fence at 71 Berkeley Avenue from four feet to six feet high. Commissioners Duane C. Ragan and Jerry W. Lloyd voted no.
3. Unanimously denied a request by Jerome Sprout for rezoning of 226 Alexander Avenue from single-family residential to duplex. The property borders the City of San Rafael and commissioners felt it should conform with zoning over the boundary, Leitzell said.

Commissioner John West was absent.

Delay Granted In Westmore Mental Report

Reports of two psychiatrists appointed to determine the sanity of Hardy Westmore, 46, charged with murdering a 22-year-old College of Marin student, were postponed in Marin Superior Court today until 9:30 a.m. next Tuesday.

The delay is to give additional time for Dr. Robert Burke of San Rafael to examine the suspect. Dr. David G. Schmidt of Larkspur has already examined Westmore.

Westmore, a custodian at the college, allegedly killed Mike Lazar, of 1155 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, on Nov. 5, and wounded Janine Lieberman, 18, of Sleepy Hollow.

No motive for the double shooting has been found. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said a blood alcohol test revealed Westmore was drunk or nearly drunk, according to drunken driving test standards. He said, however, that degree of intoxication could not explain the apparently unprovoked shooting.

Judge Gardiner granted Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos permission to place Westmore in Napa State Hospital until the hearing.

Air Crash Victim Reported Better

Alistair MacKenzie was reported greatly improved and in good condition today at Balbuena Hospital in Mexico City with injuries suffered Friday in a plane crash there.

Funeral arrangements were still pending there for his wife, Marcia MacKenzie, 44, great-granddaughter of Lewis Gerstle, for whom Gerstle Park in San Rafael was named.

MacKenzie, in charge of National Broadcasting Co.'s operations in Mexico, was listed in critical condition immediately after the crash onto a mudflat after take-off. But doctors today said he was in a shocked condition at the time and the only injuries are cracked ribs.

Goldstein Leaves His Hospital Bed

Peter L. Goldstein, injured in a freak accident on the Waldo Grade Oct. 19, was reported "able to get up and about" at Ross General Hospital today.

Goldstein, of 26 Carlson Court, San Anselmo was transferred to Ross from Marin General Hospital Thursday.

Anti-Poverty Funds

The Larkspur School District board, meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the district office, will hear a report from Supt. Milton S. Cohen on projects which might qualify the district for $22,000 in federal anti-provery funds for education.

Woodacre Collision Hurts Woman's Back

Barbara Arena, 36, Conifer Way, Woodacre, complained of back pains after her northbound car on Carson Road crossed into the southbound lane near Madrone Avenue in Woodacre and crashed into a pickup truck at 7:30 a.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

A passenger in the Arena car, Grace Allen, 57, of 54 Mariposa Avenue, San Anselmo, complained of pains in her left leg. Both were to seek their own treatment. Driver of the pickup truck, David A. White, 24, of Forest Drive, Forest Knolls, was unhurt.

Ex-Marinite May Face Fire Board Recall Try

Independent-Journal Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Commissioners of the suburban Bellevue Fire District will meet tonight to attempt to hire a new fire chief and solve other disputes centering around Commissioner Tom McDougall.

Legal petitions for recall of McDougall are ready for distribution, Karl Ericksen, a fellow commissioner, reported today.

McDougall, former Homestead Valley resident and Marin Taxpayers Assn. president, is embroiled with fellow commissioners and volunteer firemen of the department, which has only one fulltime paid employee (the chief).

Robert Jump resigned as chief effective Nov. 2, saying he was moving from the district. He has not yet moved.

At a commission meeting last week, a petition signed by 137 residents and another signed by 19 volunteer firemen urged promotion of E. A. Marsh, halftime assistant chief, to the top position.

McDougall opposed, saying he thought Marsh not qualified. "He's too hot-heated, for one thing," said McDougall.

This came amid a series of charges that McDougall's interference with firemen was causing dissension in the department.

"This meddling has got to stop, or else we won't have a department," declared Ericksen.

Volunteers objected especially, they said, to posting by McDougall of a notice that unless they signed loyalty oaths they would not get paid $2 per fire call and $1 per drill.

San Anselmo Studies Shift In Location Of New Street

San Anselmo planning commissioners last night tentatively agreed to change plans for a street which would replace San Anselmo Avenue as a major thoroughfare, bringing it 275 feet closer to San Anselmo Avenue than previously planned.

The proposed street is part of San Anselmo's downtown center plan, which, as it now stands, would block off San Anselmo Avenue near City Hall, creating a pedestrian mall.

The change in street location was suggested by Commissioner Warren Perry, who was assigned to study the plan for possible changes.

Perry's suggestion would bring the new street to about one-third of the distance from San Anselmo Avenue to Cedar Street. The previously planned street was 225 feet from Cedar Street. Perry's suggestion places it 500 feet from Cedar.

City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell explained today that the commercial district would be that area running from the new street to Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The commissioners suggested, Leitzell said, that buildings bordering the new street should be high density residential, tapering off to single family residences near Cedar Street.

Leitzell said he was asked by the commission to check property values at the location of the new street and compare them with values at the previously suggested location.

The commisisoners were asked by the city council to seek ways to restrict the size of the commercial district suggested in the downtown center plan in hope of getting some action on a bogged-down proposal for a parking district to finance the changes.

Excavator Must Await New Permit

An excavating contractor complained last night that the City of San Rafael did him dirt — 13,000 cubic yards of it, to be exact.

Paul Phillips of Novato told the city council he has a contract to move 30,000 cubic yards of dirt from a hill just south of the Terra Linda interchange to the Marin Count Civic Center. He has moved 17,000 yards, he said, but "today I get a notice to shut down because the developer didn't get a use permit."

Phillips said the city had issued him an excavating permit for the 30,000 yards, and he wondered why he had not been told another permit was needed.

City Atty. David Menary Jr. said the use permit was required under the zoning ordinance.

Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles, who issued the excavating permit, said he wasn't aware of that as "I don't read the zoning ordinance much."

"There's something screwy some place," said Councilman Harry A. Barbier. He then brought out in questioning that Menary had established the need for two permits only after Phillips had started excavating —and after Councilman Fred E. Jensen had complained at the Nov. 1 council meeting that Phillips' excavation might wind up being "nothing but a big barrow pit."

How big came to light from Phillips's remarks. He disclosed that the developers, Eugene P. Aureguy and Harold G. MacKenzie, propose to remove 260,000 cubic yards from the hill, and 60,000 yards has already been marked for removal.

They plan to build a theater, shops and a service station on the property.

Acting City Planner Charles H. Linthicum said the developers' failure to file a master plan for the property, which is zoned as planned community, prevented issuance of a use permit. Phillips, he said, "has been put in the middle."

The council agreed. The best it could do, however, was to assure Phillips that, if a use permit is approved by the planning commission next Tuesday, he can take out the remaining 13,000 yards covered by his exvacating permit.

The council upheld unanimously (with Councilman Charles W. Aby absent) the planning commission turndown of rezoning for apartments of property at 188 Prospect Drive, which was illegally converted to a duplex, apparently by former City Building Inspector Andrew Thomas.

Realty broker Gerald Stone argued for the rezoning in behalf of the owner, Mrs. Mamie E. McLaughlin. He said she bought the property from Thomas believing it was zoned for duplex use.

"She bought it from a city official and accepted his assurances," said Stone. "If you bought property from the city manager, councilman or mayor, you wouldn't investigate."

"If I bought it from a politician, I'd sure check it," retorted Councilman Jensen.

Gregory A. Harrison Jr. of 209 Prospect Drive, speaking in behalf of the Coleman Addition Homeowners Assn., reminded the council that a line on apartment zoning had been drawn in 1958 with assurance to the neighborhood that it would go no further. Also, rezoning of the 188 Prospect Drive property was rejected in 1961.

The unanimous turndown of Mrs. McLaughlin's appeal from the planning commission decision followed.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

1. Continued to Dec. 20 ppblic hearing on an appeal by Harry Heifetz's Marin Development Co. from planning commission denial of a lot split on Francisco Boulevard.

2. Viewed preliminary plans for development of Nunes Park prepared by Dan Coleman Associates. They show a park largely left in natural state, but with picnic areas, playground and tennis or volley ballcourts. Parks and Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota said it was planned to hold a public meeting in the Terra Linda Annexation to get residents' opinion on the plan.

3. Learned from Chief Building Inspector Jack Coates that his initial estimate of $10 per square foot for a recreation center building at Albert Park was too low. He estimated a 5,500-square foot building would cost $65,000 to $75,000. Although they felt the cost high, councilmen directed him to go ahead and prepare preliminary plans.

4. Leased the former Pacific Gas and Electric Co. building at 1004 Second Street for a temporary recreation center at $400 per month.

5. Granted Henry Boehm permission to install a septic tank in Bret Harte Heights, on his agreement to join a sewer assessment district there as soon as it is formed.

6. Adopted a resolution legalizing the one-way street pattern already in effect on Second and Third streets.

7. On complaint of Norman Scheiner of 1103 Irwin Street that a concrete bench installed by the city under the overpass on Fifth Avenue has become a "public nuisance and eyesore," directed that four such benches on Fourth Street and Fifth Avenue be taken up and turned over to the park department for placement in parks.

8. Discussed putting a landscapist (perhaps Scott Tilden of the park department) in charge of the city's tree planting, particularly in landscaped center islands, but postponed action to await word on whether tree foreman William Vaning, who has been ill, will be able to return fulltime to the job.

Car Rolls Twice North Of Novato, One Hurt

Theodore Basil, 48, of Rhonert Park was treated at Novato Hospital Friday for bruises and cuts after his sedan skidded and overturned on a curve of rain-slickened Highway 101 four miles north of Novato at noon yesterday.

Witnesses told the California Highway Patrol the car rolled over twice.

Bob Hope Given Actors' Award

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bob Hope, who never has won an acting Oscar, got an Oscar of sorts Sunday from actors.

President Charlton Heston of the Screen Actors Guild presented the comic with the guild's first annual award "for outstanding achievement in fostering the finest ideals of the acting profession."

The award is an onyx and bronze version of the ancient Grecian masks of comedy and tragedy.

San Rafael Bars Booth Sought By Marin Viet Nam Committee

The Marin Viet Nam Committee was refused permission last night to set up a booth at Fourth and Court streets to pass out literature and solicit donations.

The turndown was by unanimous vote of the San Rafael City Council, with one member, Dr. Charles W. Aby, absent on a trip to Mexico.

It came despite the council's being informed by City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen that the city had been accused by an American Civil Liberties Union caller of violating the United States Constitution in not permitting people to pass out handbills.

It came also despite some worrying by City Atty. David Menary Jr. that the council might be indulging in censorship.

At Menary's suggestion, Councilman Harry A. Barbier amended his motion for denial to give as the reason that the booth would interfere with sidewalk traffic during the busy Christmas season.

The city attorney also informed Andersen that the ban on handbills applied only to advertising. Asst. Police Chief Joseph Brusatori said police enforcement had been only against advertising handouts.

Menary said refusing to allow the Viet Nam Committee to pass out literature would be interference with freedom of speech.

"Isn't there something that goes along with freedom of speech — something about acts that are treasonable?" asked Councilman Louis H. Baar.

Menary replied that speaking and passing out literatlure would not be treasonable.

Councilman Fred E. Jensen raised objection to a booth for soliciting donations.

Noting that no one was present from the Viet Nam Committee to support the written request for a permit, which was submitted by Jared Rossman of 105 F Street, Mayor C. Paul Bettini said perhaps they were not so much interested. He proposed putting the matter over two weeks, but Barbier moved to deny and Bettini made no objection.

Dearth Of City Planner Aides Due To Pay?

"I read where the County of Marin has 50 applications for planning director. How come we can't hire a city planner?" demanded Mayor C. Paul Bettini at last night's San Rafael City Council meeting.

The City of San Rafael has had only an acting planner since George H. Rodgers left in mid-August.

"The county's salary is one of the highest in the state," suggested City Atty. David Menary Jr.

"Are we that low?" asked Bettini.

"No, the county is that high," said Councilman Fred E. Jensen.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said he has received 18 applications so far, three of whom appear possibilities.

County Planning Director B. D. Dobbs receives $14,400 per year. The City of San Rafael is offering $10,800.

Viet Soldier Names Sought

More names of servicemen from Novato serving in Viet Nam are being sought by the committee of Novato citizens preparing Christmas packages to them, said Mrs. Bea Carpenter, co-chairman of the committee.

She said that the deadline for turning in names and collecting food will be tomorrow night.

Names of servicemen may be turned into Mrs. Carpenter, William R. Berry at the Crocker-Citizens Bank in Novato, Ralph Eckhardt of 8 Los Alondras Court, commander of Donald V. Westlund Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Louis Cavallero, past commander of the post.

San Rafael Council Shuns Peacock Gap Sewer Issue

The financial woes of the Draper Companies found their way to the San Rafael City Council meeting last night.

Henry Ghilotti of Maggiora, Ghilotti and Madsen, Corte Madera engineering contractors, wrote the council that his company had constructed storm and sanitary sewers under contract with Peacock Gap, Inc., and he wondered why they were not covered by Peacock Gap's subdivision improvement bond and were not in a public easement.

It developed that the lines are to serve the Knoll, a condominium in Peacock Gap built by D. M. Christensen Construction Co. When Christensen bought the land from Peacock Gap, Inc., one of the Draper Companies, the seller agreed to serve it with a sewer line.

Maggiora, Ghilotti and Madsen built the line, through Draper properties not yet subdivided. And the Draper Companies, in financial straits, have not paid the contractor.

City Atty. David Menary Jr. finally convinced the council the matter is between the contractor and Draper, and the city can accept sewage from the line without liability.

Dominican Due Foundation Coin

Dominican College, San Rafael, will receive $600 as its share of grants totaling a million dollars distributed this week by the Sears - Roebuck Foundation under a program of aid to privately supported colleges and universities.

More than 600 colleges and universities throughout the country will receive grants which are unrestricted to permit spending according to the greatest need.

In California, 51 colleges and universities will share in grants totaling $67,070.

Orchid Pests

E. L. McCarthy of Menlo Park will speak on orchid pests and their control at 8 p.m. Thursday before the Marin Orchid Society at the Crocker-Citizens Bank, Fairfax. The society will take nominations for officers and hear procedures for incorporation of the group.

Excavator Must Await New Permit

An excavating contractor complained last night that the City of San Rafael did him dirt — 13,000 cubic yards of it, to be exact.

Paul Phillips of Novato told the city council he has a contract to move 30,000 cubic yards of dirt from a hill just south of the Terra Linda interchange to the Marin Count Civic Center. He has moved 17,000 yards, he said, but "today I get a notice to shut down because the developer didn't get a use permit."

Phillips said the city had issued him an excavating permit for the 30,000 yards, and he wondered why he had not been told another permit was needed.

City Atty. David Menary Jr. said the use permit was required under the zoning ordinance.

Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles, who issued the excavating permit, said he wasn't aware of that as "I don't read the zoning ordinance much."

"There's something screwy some place," said Councilman Harry A. Barbier. He then brought out in questioning that Menary had established the need for two permits only after Phillips had started excavating —and after Councilman Fred E. Jensen had complained at the Nov. 1 council meeting that Phillips' excavation might wind up being "nothing but a big barrow pit."

How big came to light from Phillips's remarks. He disclosed that the developers, Eugene P. Aureguy and Harold G. MacKenzie, propose to remove 260,000 cubic yards from the hill, and 60,000 yards has already been marked for removal.

They plan to build a theater, shops and a service station on the property.

Acting City Planner Charles H. Linthicum said the developers' failure to file a master plan for the property, which is zoned as planned community, prevented issuance of a use permit. Phillips, he said, "has been put in the middle."

The council agreed. The best it could do, however, was to assure Phillips that, if a use permit is approved by the planning commission next Tuesday, he can take out the remaining 13,000 yards covered by his excavating permit.

The council upheld unanimously (with Councilman Charles W. Aby absent) the planning commission turndown of rezoning for apartments of property at 188 Prospect Drive, which was illegally converted to a duplex, apparently by former City Building Inspector Andrew Thomas.

Realty broker Gerald Stone argued for the rezoning in behalf of the owner, Mrs. Mamie E. McLaughlin. He said she bought the property from Thomas believing it was zoned for duplex use.

"She bought it from a city official and accepted his assurances," said Stone. "If you bought property from the city manager, councilman or mayor, you wouldn't investigate."

"If I bought it from a politician, I'd sure check it," retorted Councilman Jensen.

Gregory A. Harrison Jr. of 209 Prospect Drive, speaking in behalf of the Coleman Addition Homeowners Assn., reminded the council that a line on apartment zoning had been drawn in 1958 with assurance to the neighborhood that it would go no further. Also, rezoning of the 188 Prospect Drive property was rejected in 1961.

The unanimous turndown of Mrs. McLaughlin's appeal from the planning commission decision followed.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

1. Continued to Dec. 20 ppblic hearing on an appeal by Harry Heifetz's Marin Development Co. from planning commission denial of a lot split on Francisco Boulevard.

2. Viewed preliminary plans for development of Nunes Park prepared by Dan Coleman Associates. They show a park largely left in natural state, but with picnic areas, playground and tennis or volley ballcourts. Parks and Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota said it was planned to hold a public meeting in the Terra Linda Annexation to get residents' opinion on the plan.

3. Learned from Chief Building Inspector Jack Coates that his initial estimate of $10 per square foot for a recreation center building at Albert Park was too low. He estimated a 5,500-square foot building would cost $65,000 to $75,000. Although they felt the cost high, councilmen directed him to go ahead and prepare preliminary plans.

4. Leased the former Pacific Gas and Electric Co. building at 1004 Second Street for a temporary recreation center at $400 per month.

5. Granted Henry Boehm permission to install a septic tank in Bret Harte Heights, on his agreement to join a sewer assessment district there as soon as it is formed.

6. Adopted a resolution legalizing the one-way street pattern already in effect on Second and Third streets.

7. On complaint of Norman Scheiner of 1103 Irwin Street that a concrete bench installed by the city under the overpass on Fifth Avenue has become a "public nuisance and eyesore," directed that four such benches on Fourth Street and Fifth Avenue be taken up and turned over to the park department for placement in parks.

8. Discussed putting a landscapist (perhaps Scott Tilden of the park department) in charge of the city's tree planting, particularly in landscaped center islands, but postponed action to await word on whether tree foreman William Vaning, who has been ill, will be able to return fulltime to the job.

Car Rolls Twice North Of Novato, One Hurt

Theodore Basil, 48, of Rhonert Park was treated at Novato Hospital Friday for bruises and cuts after his sedan skidded and overturned on a curve of rain-slickened Highway 101 four miles north of Novato at noon yesterday.

Witnesses told the California Highway Patrol the car rolled over twice.

Teen-Ager Badly Beat Over Calling Up Girl

A 16-year-old Tamalpais Valley youth was in fair condition at Marin General Hospital today after allegedly being whipped about the head with a telephone receiver during a row over a phone call to a Mill Valley girl.

Jack J. Green, son of Martin F. Green of 449 Marin Drive, told sheriff's officers that John Allen Acree, 18, of 109 Cardinal Road, Tamalpais Valley, entered his home about 9 p.m. yesterday.

Green said he was in bed. He said Acree entered his bedroom and berated him for calling a 17-year-old girl Acree had been dating, and tying up the telephone line.

Green said Acree then grabbed a telephone, swung the receiver by the cord, and struck Green on the head three times. Then, he said, Acree beat him with his fists. He said he kicked his assailant in the chest to get away from him.

Acree, arrested at his own home, told officers he went to Green's home and saw Green talking on the telephone. He said Green hung up the phone and went into his bedroom and that he followed him there.

The alleged assault was reported by Green's father about two hours after it happened, officers said. Acree was booked in county jail on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon. He was being held at noon today in lieu of $1,650 bail.

Youngster Darts Into Truck Path

Five-year-old Richard Bovero of San Francisco was cut on his forehead yesterday when he reportedly darted between parked cars into the path of a truck at 500 Bridgeway, Sausalito.

The boy was playing on the sidewalk at 1:35 p.m. while his mother, Mrs. Carol Bovero, was at work in a nearby dress shop, police said.

Witnesses told police the child was knocked about 10 feet by a truck driven by John Helms, 40, of 60 Fairfax Street, San Rafael. The child was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Telephone Stolen

Someone stole the telephone receiver by wrenching it from its cord in a telephone booth in the Corte Madera Shopping Center last night, police reported.

Ross School Executive Monahan To Leave

Dr. William W. Monahan, superintendent of Ross School District, announced his resignation at a meeting of the board of trustees last night. It takes effect next June 1.

"I am leaving for no other reason than to advance my career," said Monahan, who earned his doctorate in educational administration at University of California at Berkeley earlier this year.

"This is my third year at Ross and, rather than have my contract renewed, I think I should move further afield to accept new challenges," he said.

Born in Berkeley, he came to Ross from doing graduate work at Cal and was, earlier, a teacher and administrator at Punahou School, Hawaii.

In August, he was named chairman of the educational division of the Marin United Crusade. He is chairman of the County School Health Committee and has been active in the YMCA.

Monahan said today he could not announce any definite plan for the future at this stage.

Sports Car Stolen, Unnoticed By Owner

Raymond G. McEvoy, of 400 Canal Street, Apt. 401, San Rafael, told San Rafael police yesterday his bright red 1959 Ferrari had been stolen between Wednesday and Saturday.

He said it had been parked in a carport, and that he had not noticed it was gone until a neighbor mentioned it.

Back in the 1880s, San Francisco was one of the world's most active whaling ports.

San Geronimo High Plans Get Trustees' Nod

The Tamalpais High School District board last night accepted the design from architects Gromme and Priestly for the San Geronimo High School.

The modified design is for the school with a capacity of 750 students to be built at Woodacre.

The board set a special meeting for 3 p.m. Nov. 24 at the district office to open bids and award a contract for moving 44,000 cubic yards of soil at the San Geronimo site. The board hopes the soil can be stockpiled before heavy rains come.

The Tamalpais High School District board also:

1. Thanked members of the committee who worked on the district bond election campaign.
2. Was introduced to student body officers of the district schools.
3. Renewed agreement with San Francisco State College for student teachers.
4. Reaffirmed the civil defense and disaster policy.
5. Agreed to co-sponsor with the Marin Human Rights Commission a seminar on human rights Dec. 11. Location has not yet been selected.

Tomales Bay Board Seeks Federal Coin

Tomales Bay School District Board last night authorized Principal David Raffo to investigate what money would be available to that district under the new federation education act for culturally handicapped.

Trustees decided hiring another teacher for second and third grades would be top priority project if any money is available to the district, according to Mrs. Lois Parks, clerk. The two grades are combined.

The Tomales Bay School District Board also:

1. Received for study a preliminary budget of $118,000 for the fiscal year. This year's budget is $100,834.
2. Approved changing the starting time of school from 9 a.m. to 8:45 a.m. to conform to a change made by Tomales High School. It will still close at 3:20 p.m.
3. Approved use of Marshall School for a "Dime a Dip" dinner at 7 p.m. Dec. 4 for the Marshall's Mothers' Club. Proceeds will be used for an art contest for all elementary schools in Tomales High School District.

San Rafael Bars Booth Sought By Marin Viet Nam Committee

The Marin Viet Nam Committee was refused permission last night to set up a booth at Fourth and Court streets to pass out literature and solicit donations.

The turndown was by unanimous vote of the San Rafael City Council, with one member, Dr. Charles W. Aby, absent on a trip to Mexico.

It came despite the council's being informed by City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen that the city had been accused by an American Civil Liberties Union caller of violating the United States Constitution in not permitting people to pass out handbills.

It came also despite some worrying by City Atty. David Menary Jr. that the council might be indulging in censorship.

At Menary's suggestion, Councilman Harry A. Barbier amended his motion for denial to give as the reason that the booth would interfere with sidewalk traffic during the busy Christmas season.

The city attorney also informed Andersen that the ban on handbills applied only to advertising. Asst. Police Chief Joseph Brusatori said police enforcement had been only against advertising handouts.

Menary said refusing to allow the Viet Nam Committee to pass out literature would be interference with freedom of speech.

"Isn't there something that goes along with freedom of speech — something about acts that are treasonable?" asked Councilman Louis H. Baar.

Menary replied that speaking and passing out literatlure would not be treasonable.

Councilman Fred E. Jensen raised objection to a booth for soliciting donations.

Noting that no one was present from the Viet Nam Committee to support the written request for a permit, which was submitted by Jared Rossman of 105 F Street, Mayor C. Paul Bettini said perhaps they were not so much interested. He proposed putting the matter over two weeks, but Barbier moved to deny and Bettini made no objection.

Dearth Of City Planner Aides Due To Pay?

"I read where the County of Marin has 50 applications for planning director. How come we can't hire a city planner?" demanded Mayor C. Paul Bettini at last night's San Rafael City Council meeting.

The City of San Rafael has had only an acting planner since George H. Rodgers left in mid-August.

"The county's salary is one of the highest in the state," suggested City Atty. David Menary Jr.

"Are we that low?" asked Bettini.

"No, the county is that high," said Councilman Fred E. Jensen.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said he has received 18 applications so far, three of whom appear possibilities.

County Planning Director B. D. Dobbs receives $14,400 per year. The City of San Rafael is offering $10,800.

Viet Soldier Names Sought

More names of servicemen from Novato serving in Viet Nam are being sought by the committee of Novato citizens preparing Christmas packages to them, said Mrs. Bea Carpenter, co-chairman of the committee.

She said that the deadline for turning in names and collecting food will be tomorrow night.

Names of servicemen may be turned into Mrs. Carpenter, William R. Berry at the Crocker-Citizens Bank in Novato, Ralph Eckhardt of 8 Los Alondras Court, commander of Donald V. Westlund Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Louis Cavallero, past commander of the post.

The financial woes of the Draper Companies found their way to the San Rafael City Council meeting last night.

Henry Ghilotti of Maggiora, Ghilotti and Madsen, Corte Madera engineering contractors, wrote the council that his company had constructed storm and sanitary sewers under contract with Peacock Gap, Inc., and he wondered why they were not covered by Peacock Gap's subdivision improvement bond and were not in a public easement.

It developed that the lines are to serve the Knoll, a condominium in Peacock Gap built by D. M. Christensen Construction Co. When Christensen bought the land from Peacock Gap, Inc., one of the Draper Companies, the seller agreed to serve it with a sewer line.

Maggiora, Ghilotti and Madsen built the line, through Draper properties not yet subdivided. And the Draper Companies, in financial straits, have not paid the contractor.

City Atty. David Menary Jr. finally convinced the council the matter is between the contractor and Draper, and the city can accept sewage from the line without liability.

Orchid Pests

Conservationist Group Rejects Recall Attempt

Thought of trying to recall county supervisors who voted for the Marincello master plan was unanimously rejected last night by directors of the Marin Conservation League.

The action came without discussion, but after the vote, the board of directors also decided to send a letter to each supervisor who voted for the plan, Ernest N. Kettenhofen, William A. Gnoss and Thomas T. Storer, saying the league does not question any supervisor's integrity.

League Vice President Clifford Hanssen said the group has accepted the basic battle as lost.

The job now, directors decided, will be to make sure the density standard of 3.5 family units to an acre does not become a precedent to be applied throughout the county.

Also, the league will speak out when the final development plan for Marincello comes before the county planners and supervisors, directors decided, saying they were concerned about some parts of the proposal.

Recall Help Promised By 'Caldepop'

The California Depopulation Commission "will support and participate in any movement to recall the Marin County supervisors who voted in favor of Marincello," David Camp of Ross, a director, announced today.

"Caldepop" is dedicated to keeping people out of California.

"These supervisors have started Marin County along the road that leads to congestion and ugliness," said Camp in what he called an official statement for "Caldepop."

"We do not, however, concur in any charge that there was conflict of interest involved in the supervisors' choice. We believe that their votes did not conflict with their personal interests in any respect."

Ben Bella Not Dead

PARIS (AP)—The French attorney of former Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella said today that proof has been received that Ben Bella still is alive. Madeleine Lafue-Vernon, who defended Ben Bella during the Algerian war, said the deposed leader's mother received a letter from her son. The mother recognized the handwriting, she said.

CORTE MADERA DITCH TO BE COVERED TODAY

The infamous sewer trench on Paradise Drive should be filled up and paved over sometime today, Corte Madera Public Works Director Arthur N. Morrison told the town council last night.

The last part of the 16-foot deep ditch has been partly blocking the intersection of El Camino Drive, causing motorists to drive through a service station.

Morrison said pavement of the street still would be torn up and not suitable for 35 mile an hour traffic, but Mayor Edward W. Colthurst said he had driven the street and noticed it was greatly improved since bad holes had been patched.

The job of completely repaving and adding two more lanes will be delayed until after New Year, Morrison said, in deference to merchants worried about Christmas sales.

Everything's Not So Jolly On Christmas Tree Hill

When Lt. Col. Paul Wiley purchased a small lot at 200 Morningside Drive on Christmas Tree Hill in Corte Madera, he wanted to be sure he was getting a legal building site.

So Stewart-Marks Realty Co. asked the town, and Zoning Administrator William C. McBride sent back a letter saying the lot would be a legal site.

The town's board of adjustment and planning commission, however, has ruled unanimously that McBride was wrong, and Wiley is now stuck with about 3,200 square feet of property he cannot build upon, attorney Charles W. Pierce told the town council last night.

"The question is whether an owner could rely on the representations of an official of the town," Pierce said.

"Not when he's wrong," answered Councilman William W. Collier.

But Pierce, thumbing through the town's zoning ordinance, came up with a wide loophole. The lots were established near the start of the century, and since adjacent lots were in single ownership, they were automatically combined into larger parcels when the zoning ordinance was passed.

But the ordinance requires the combination only for adjacent vacant lots, and the lot next door to Wiley's had a house on it, he said.

"I think he's right," said Town Atty. Sherrod S. Davis.

"I think you're wrong," Mayor Edward W. Colthurst told Davis.

"If this is a legal lot, we're going to be deluged," cried Jean B. Bean, 146 Edison Street. "The hill is covered with 25-foot lots which might be legal."

The council voted to send the entire question back to the planning commission for reconsideration in light of the newly discovered loophole.

City Recreation On Agenda Dec. 8

A joint meeting of the San Rafael City Council and San Rafael Board of Education to discuss the city recreation program on school grounds will be held Dec. 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the council chamber in city hall, City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said today.

The meeting originally was planned for tonight.

Bay Housewife Stabbed To Death

EL CERRITO (AP) — Mrs. Angie Dale, a kindly woman who baked cookies for neighbor children, was found dead with 25 to 30 stab wounds.

Her husband, Edward, 54, found the body yesterday when he returned from his job as a shipyard employee.

Police said the home showed signs of a furious struggle.

No weapon was found.

Neighbors said they saw Mrs. Dale, 53, drive away at about 2:30 p.m. but none saw her return.

Ross Parking Rules Will Be Enforced

Ross Police Chief John Harris said today that traffic and parking law enforcement, hindered previously by limited personnel, will be strictly enforced in Ross hereafter.

He said the department now has a full complement of four men.

College Board

The Marin Junior College District board will meet with college faculty and administration at 8 p.m. today in room G-3 of the college physical education building for a discussion of salaries. The board has scheduled one night a month for such discussion sessions.

'66 Corvair Corsa Convertible—with outside rear-view mirror among the many safety assists that are now standard. Always check it before you pass.

Drive to work. Drive home. Drive to work. Drive home. Drive to the supermarket. Drive home.

In most cars this routine can be more than monotonous. In a Corvair it becomes something else again.

Corvair doesn't drive like most cars. The steering is easier—because there's less engine weight on the front wheels.

The traction is surer, gutsier—because there's more engine weight on the rear wheels. Even the economy is something special. You never have to bother with antifreeze, for example, because Corvair's engine is air-cooled. No radiator repairs or leaky hose connections either.

Getting a little bored with your daily driving routine? Drive down to your Chevrolet dealer's—and break the monotony.

The money was raised at the all-star high school football game, sponsored on the college football field by the club.

Teen-Ager Badly Beat Over Calling Up Girl

A 16-year-old Tamalpais Valley youth was in fair condition at Marin General Hospital today after allegedly being whipped about the head with a telephone receiver during a row over a phone call to a Mill Valley girl.

Jack J. Green, son of Martin F. Green of 449 Marin Drive, told sheriff's officers that John Allen Acree, 18, of 109 Cardinal Road, Tamalpais Valley, entered his home about 9 p.m. yesterday.

Green said he was in bed. He said Acree entered his bedroom and berated him for calling a 17-year-old girl Acree had been dating, and tying up the telephone line.

Green said Acree then grabbed a telephone, swung the receiver by the cord, and struck Green on the head three times. Then, he said, Acree beat him with his fists. He said he kicked his assailant in the chest to get away from him.

Acree, arrested at his own home, told officers he went to Green's home and saw Green talking on the telephone. He said Green hung up the phone and went into his bedroom and that he followed him there.

The alleged assault was reported by Green's father about two hours after it happened, officers said. Acree was booked in county jail on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon. He was being held at noon today in lieu of $1,650 bail.

Youngster Darts Into Truck Path

Five-year-old Richard Bovero of San Francisco was cut on his forehead yesterday when he reportedly darted between parked cars into the path of a truck at 500 Bridgeway, Sausalito.

The boy was playing on the sidewalk at 1:35 p.m. while his mother, Mrs. Carol Bovero, was at work in a nearby dress shop, police said.

Witnesses told police the child was knocked about 10 feet by a truck driven by John Helms, 40, of 60 Fairfax Street, San Rafael. The child was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Telephone Stolen

Someone stole the telephone receiver by wrenching it from its cord in a telephone booth in the Corte Madera Shopping Center last night, police reported.

Ross School Executive Monahan To Leave

Dr. William W. Monahan, superintendent of Ross School District, announced his resignation at a meeting of the board of trustees last night. It takes effect next June 1.

"I am leaving for no other reason than to advance my career," said Monahan, who earned his doctorate in educational administration at University of California at Berkeley earlier this year.

"This is my third year at Ross and, rather than have my contract renewed, I think I should move further afield to accept new challenges," he said.

Born in Berkeley, he came to Ross from doing graduate work at Cal and was, earlier, a teacher and administrator at Punahou School, Hawaii.

In August, he was named chairman of the educational division of the Marin United Crusade. He is chairman of the County School Health Committee and has been active in the YMCA.

Monahan said today he could not announce any definite plan for the future at this stage.

Sports Car Stolen, Unnoticed By Owner

Raymond G. McEvoy, of 400 Canal Street, Apt. 401, San Rafael, told San Rafael police yesterday his bright red 1959 Ferrari had been stolen between Wednesday and Saturday.

He said it had been parked in a carport, and that he had not noticed it was gone until a neighbor mentioned it.

Back in the 1880s, San Francisco was one of the world's most active whaling ports.

San Geronimo High Plans Get Trustees' Nod

The Tamalpais High School District board last night accepted the design from architects Gromme and Priestly for the San Geronimo High School.

The modified design is for the school with a capacity of 750 students to be built at Woodacre.

The board set a special meeting for 3 p.m. Nov. 24 at the district office to open bids and award a contract for moving 44,000 cubic yards of soil at the San Geronimo site. The board hopes the soil can be stockpiled before heavy rains come.

The Tamalpais High School District board also:

1. Thanked members of the committee who worked on the district bond election campaign.
2. Was introduced to student body officers of the district schools.
3. Renewed agreement with San Francisco State College for student teachers.
4. Reaffirmed the civil defense and disaster policy.
5. Agreed to co-sponsor with the Marin Human Rights Commission a seminar on human rights Dec. 11. Location has not yet been selected.

Tomales Bay Board Seeks Federal Coin

Tomales Bay School District Board last night authorized Principal David Raffo to investigate what money would be available to that district under the new federation education act for culturally handicapped.

Trustees decided hiring another teacher for second and third grades would be top priority project if any money is available to the district, according to Mrs. Lois Parks, clerk. The two grades are combined.

The Tomales Bay School District Board also:

1. Received for study a preliminary budget of $118,000 for the fiscal year. This year's budget is $100,834.
2. Approved changing the starting time of school from 9 a.m. to 8:45 a.m. to conform to a change made by Tomales High School. It will still close at 3:20 p.m.
3. Approved use of Marshall School for a "Dime a Dip" dinner at 7 p.m. Dec. 4 for the Marshall's Mothers' Club. Proceeds will be used for an art contest for all elementary schools in Tomales High School District.

Conservationist Group Rejects Recall Attempt

Thought of trying to recall county supervisors who voted for the Marincello master plan was unanimously rejected last night by directors of the Marin Conservation League.

The action came without discussion, but after the vote, the board of directors also decided to send a letter to each supervisor who voted for the plan, Ernest N. Kettenhofen, William A. Gnoss and Thomas T. Storer, saying the league does not question any supervisor's integrity.

League Vice President Clifford Hanssen said the group has accepted the basic battle as lost.

The job now, directors decided, will be to make sure the density standard of 3.5 family units to an acre does not become a precedent to be applied throughout the county.

Also, the league will speak out when the final development plan for Marincello comes before the county planners and supervisors, directors decided, saying they were concerned about some parts of the proposal.

Recall Help Promised By 'Caldepop'

The California Depopulation Commission "will support and participate in any movement to recall the Marin County supervisors who voted in favor of Marincello," David Camp of Ross, a director, announced today.

"Caldepop" is dedicated to keeping people out of California.

"These supervisors have started Marin County along the road that leads to congestion and ugliness," said Camp in what he called an official statement for "Caldepop."

"We do not, however, concur in any charge that there was conflict of interest involved in the supervisors' choice. We believe that their votes did not conflict with their personal interests in any respect."

Ben Bella Not Dead

PARIS (AP)—The French attorney of former Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella said today that proof has been received that Ben Bella still is alive. Madeleine Lafue-Vernon, who defended Ben Bella during the Algerian war, said the deposed leader's mother received a letter from her son. The mother recognized the handwriting, she said.

Dias Ranch Plan Density Is Argued

Marin County planning commissioners yesterday struggled in vain with the problem of housing density for the 170-acre Dias Ranch development proposed in a planned community zone west of Mill Valley.

Developers Alfred J. Stern of Palo Alto is asking 3.5 dwelling units per acre, the same density approved by supervisors Friday in the Marincello master plan.

When they acted on the Marincello plan, supervisors emphasized that 3.5, the maximum allowed under the planned community zone, would not set a precedent for future developers.

In a rambling discussion yesterday, the planning commission seemed to question density control as a proper criteria for plans. What they agreed they want is quality, and the Dias Ranch proposal seemed to represent that quality.

"If we are to encourage imaginative design, there has to be some incentive," Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. declared.

David Van Pelt of the planning staff urged the commission to decide the density issue before going into detailed study of the plan.

But the commission, on motion of Commissioner Margaret Azevedo, scheduled a special session at 8 p.m., Nov. 29, to talk about such plans as that proposed for the Dias Ranch and see how they might be approved "without destroying the effectiveness of existing master plans."

This was in reference to the Mill Valley and Tamalpais Valley master plans, which call for density of 1.5 to two dwelling units per acre in the area.

The commission's two-hour discussions yesterday included an analysis of the plan by Van Pelt. His two main points were that the lots proposed for single-family homes at the north end of the ranch should be larger, and that the traffic and access could cause problems.

County traffic engineer James Robertson reported there are now 2,000 cars a day on Shoreline Highway on the south side of the property and 1,000 a day on Panoramic Highway on the westside. The development would about triple the traffic on both roads, he estimated.

"It would bring the roads up to, maybe past, capacity," Van Pelt said.

Warren Callister of architects Callister and Payne, who prepared the plan, spoke at length on the effort to create a community.

Cluster housing, linked by a board walk, would be centered around a 100-unit hotel near the top of the ridge. The hotel would also include a market and other shops.

Callister said he feared lowering the density might result in a bunch of "lonely homes on a windswept hill."

The Homestead Valley Improvement Club has praised the plan, but taken exception to the 3.5 density. The Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn. has taken a similar stand. Both recommended that the feasibility of the hotel be examined closely.

The Mill Valley Planning Commission has opposed the density.

Mary Donnelly of the Marin Conservation Council urged that the master plan be followed, and asked what was the purpose of drawing up such plans if the commission is going to ignore them.

Mill Valley Council Balks At Approving Dias Density

Mill Valley city councilman agreed last night that plans for the proposed Dias Ranch development, between Shoreline and Panoramic highways, were imaginative, but balked at approving the density.

Councilmen noted that the proposed density of 3.5 dwelling units per acre is in conflict with the 1955 Mill Valley master plan and the 1959 Tamalpais Valley master plan which call for densities ranging from 1.5 to 2.2 dwelling units per acre.

They voted to 4-1 to recommend to the county planning commission and supervisors that there be a "critical evaluation" of the proposed density in light of the existing master plans, and "that this disparity of density be reconciled." Councilman Joseph Sheeks dissented.

Plants Speaker

Marjorie Sells, a writer and authority on gardening, will speak on "The Right Plant for the Right Spot" to the Garden Society of Marin Friday at 8 p.m. in the Chemistry Building, College of Marin, Kentfield.

Lions District Board To Meet

The cabinet of the Lions International District 4-C, covering all of northwestern California, will meet this weekend at the Lodge in Novato.

The Leodettes of Corte Madera, women's auxiliary to the Corte Madera Lions Club, will be hostesses for the visitors under the direction of Mrs. Edward P. Sabor of San Anselmo and Mrs. George Taylor of San Rafael.

Registration for the meeting will begin Saturday at 8 a.m. at the Lodge, said deputy district governor Max Martin of San Anselmo.

Parking Meters On Agenda Again

Sausalito city councilmen will take a second look at the proposed purchase of parking meter attachments at an 8 o'clock meeting today in city hall.

Questions were raised last Tuesday over the attachments, which when a car runs over a pad in the street, erases all parking time, causing the driver to have to start the meter anew. The council asked for more information plus comments from businessmen.

The council is to consider contracts for planning assistance under a government grant for central waterfront planning.

Parson's Poodle Has Costly Habits

FARNHAM, England (AP) — Pete — a parson's poodle — is causing a financial crisis at the vicarage. The trouble is that the black poodle has started eating money.

Two weeks ago, the Rev. Charles Warner, 70, caught his dog eating one of his five-pound ($14) notes. He salvaged the bill and scolded Pete. Then this past weekend Pete swallowed a check he found on the vicar's writing desk. "He's proving an expensive dog," said the vicar.

Van Brocklin Changes Mind, Returns To Coach Vikes

General Manager Jim Finks said at a press conference shortly before noon that "I am very happy to report that Norm has reconsidered and currently is with the football team."

Finks said Van Brocklin met with the team for a squad meeting at 10 a.m.

The general manager said Van Brocklin would not be available for comment until 3 p.m. CST today because of the urgency of making preparations for Sunday's National Football League game here with the Green Bay Packers.

Finks said Van Brocklin called him at the Vikings office at 9:30 p.m. yesterday, or about 12 hours after Van Brocklin announced to three reporters his decision to quit after 4½ years as field boss of the Vikings.

"There was an indication on the telephone that he had changed his mind," Fink said.

"He said he wanted to see me. When I got there to Van Brocklin's home in suburban Medicine Lake, he told me he realized he had made a mistake and wanted to come back to work at 8 o'clock this morning."

Finks said the Vikings had no contact at all with Van Brocklin from shortly before noon yesterday until the Dutchman telephoned Finks last night.

"It certainly wasn't anything I said or did," Finks said.

"Norm realized he had made a mistake. I didn't think he was this impulsive, but obviously he is."

Vikings President Max Winter said:

Novato, Drake Dominate All-League Grid Team

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

The Return Of Y, A. Tidal, The All-Leak Waterback

When I left you yesterday you were leaning over the rail singing that ketchy Neptune, "Yo-Ho Heave Ho."

Today I'm sorry to present Act II of How The Wet Was Won, or maybe it's Act I of How The Wet Was Two. Anyway, the acts are yours, the drama mine.

Getting back to the weekend's football follies at Kent Lake: The stadium was a damphitheater, a crescent drench. When the Shasta Knights charged out onto the field Friday night, filtered through the Tar guards and splashed into the moat surrounding the mudiron, everybody laughed so hard I thought the stands would never dry.

I HAD trouble assigning my paper mates to cover Saturday's game. Finally Ralph Chabuoyant worked the Drake-Redwood fray, More Ice Raingear covered the Novato-Marin Catholic spray and I covered the waterfront.

You may have noticed that we pier-less pickers were divided in our sognostications. I had a brainstorm and went overboard for Redwood, the others decided to think or thwim with Drake and the weatherman hit the hail on the head with rain over weekend. You might say he double-teemed us. Even the waterboys came down in buckets.

THE I-J's Richard Smith won a prize for spearior underwater photography and also detected Lloyd Bridges riffling through Davey Jones' locker room. Smith double-crossed the Bridges before he got to him and the cops runneth over.

I thought they should have televised Saturday's games, but the channels were busy. But KTIM broadcast the afternoon tilt via short wave with Ted Mitchell and Verle Sorgen handling the spray-by-spray. It was "Buoys and Verles Together" on the "Sink Along with Mitch" Show.

IN THREE games over the weekend we saw everything but the kitchen sink and, oh, how green was my galley in its Hungarian galoshes.

The guy with the towel concession really cleaned up, using all those mudders for Cannon fodder. (Oh, brudder, I hope I didn't rub you the wrong way.)

Since the tie cost Drake the pennant, one disdrought Pirate fan jumped off the top row of the bleachers. First sewercide of the season.

THE EVENING game was co-sponsored by the Marin Athletic League, the Immigration Department (checking for wet backs), the Belvedere Sailing Society and the Port Authority and sanctioned by the Department of Fish and Game.

It was Marin Catholic's home game so I asked one of the priests if he had anything to do with the weather. "No, sun," he smiled brightly, "that's up to management. I'm in sails."

THE GAME saw Novato win, nose wet, no strain. They simply outcharged Marin Catholic, a modern version of the lines sloughing the Christians. (Mr. Christian, send that man aloft!) But one of the Wildcats won a scholar ship to Slippery Rock—a mudcat grant.

Also, that was the game in which Novato star John Dolinsoak played like Y. A. Tidal and was named All-Leak Waterback.

FANS HAD trouble identifying the players because there were no programs for sail, I said listlessly. And the traditional dog was on the field. No, he wasn't doing the dog paddle. I think it was the Australian crawl, because the last time I saw him he was going down under.

When the scoreboard clock went on the blink (really it did) someone gushed, "The Sans of Time." And when the musicians showed up in their raincoats, one little boy screamed, "Look, Ma, rubber bands." And because Tam did the Indian rain dance the night before, the other teams had to play in their Stanfordized uniforms.

AND IF I don't stop this right here and now I know you're going to fall over the rail.

Or, as Jackie Gleason would say with rancor, "A-w-e-i-g-h we goo."

Warriors Win; Guy Sizzles

SAN JOSE (AP) — Guy Rodgers poured in 39 points last night for a career high and led the San Francisco Warriors to a 123-112 victory over the Baltimore Bullets and a tie for first place in the Western Division race of the National Basketball Assn.

Rodgers, a seven-year veteran who played in the shadow of Wilt Chamberlain, added 14 assists.

The Warriors ran away from the Bullets with a 42-point output in the third quarter.

San Francisco, paced by the shooting of Rodgers, Paul Neumann and Nate Thurmond, moved from a 60-52 halftime edge to a 19-point bulge at 91-72 with three minutes to go in the third period.

Veteran Bailey Howell and Ben Warley tried to keep Baltimore in the game, but the Warriors drove to a 115-90 lead with 8:49 to play and coasted home from there.

Kevin Loughery sparked a Bullet rally against Warrior reserves that cut the margin to seven points at 119-112 with 1:12 to go. But two layups by Al Attles again put the Warriors out of reach.

San Francisco boosted its record to 9-6 tying the Los Angeles Lakers for the division lead.

Mayo Smith New Manager Of Chisox?

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Sun-Times said today that Mayo Smith, a former National League baseball manager and now a scout for the New York Yankees, will succeed Al Lopez as manager of the Chicago White Sox.

The Sun-Times said it learned that the official announcement is expected to be made within a week to 10 days, possibly sooner.

Smith, 50, has been in baseball for more than 30 years. He was a player for 21 years but only one year in the majors, in 1945, when he played the outfield for the old Philadelphia Athletics.

Ex-Mariner Star Hurt

A former Novato High School and College of Marin star, Baccaglio didn't tell anyone about the injury until yesterday and it is doubtful he will start against Fresno State Saturday night when the Spartans look for their sixth win in a row to complete their first winning season since 1961.

A Slight Case Of Optimism At Cal Camp For Big Game

That was as close to optimism as the California leader wanted to get as he and Stanford Coach John Ralston discussed their approaching "Big Game" at yesterday's Northern California Football Writers session.

On the other hand, Willsey quite willingly pointed out that Stanford "has an excellent defense and a quarterback who can run or throw." And he wanted all to realize the Indians' halfback Ray Handley is just as good a runner as he was a year ago when his record was better.

Ralston evaluated the California club as "a strong, punishing type of team...chip it out of granite so to speak. Tom Relles and Lloyd Reist are good runners and both Ron Minamide and Frank Lynch are good backfield blockers."

Ralston did say the Stanford preparations would be different for this game, from what they were a year ago. At that time the Indians were geared to stop the passing of Craig Morton and did it effectively to win 21-3.

In fact Stanford has won the Big Game four straight times to take an edge in the series 29-28 with 10 ties.

Willsey termed his club in shape physically for the finale. Both tackle Roger Foster and defensive back Greg Palamountain, out part of the season with injuries, played most of the time as California beat Oregon 24-0 last Saturday.

Stanford, meanwhile, fell to UCLA 30-13 with resultant bumps and bruises. Tight end John Mason went out in the first quarter with a charley horse. Mike Hibler, a defensive stalwart, suffered a knee strain and linebacker Bob Rath a sprained hand. End Blaine Nye also had a knee injury, but it wasn't expected to hamper his play.

California goes into the game with its best record since 1958 (5-4) while Stanford has its best since 1957 (5-3-1).

San Jose State also goes after a finish above the 500 mark when the Spartans travel to Fresno State on Saturday night.

Fullback Charley Harraway, the powerhouse in the Spartan attack which has won five straight, needs only a point to set a school scoring record for a single season. He has 72 points to share the record with Harry Beck and Jack Donaldson.

All-League Cage Team Announced

Terra Linda High School's Class C basketball team, league champ this year, and runner-up Redwood each had two boys named to the All-Marin Athletic League first team.

Guards Bob Maxwell and Lanny Schreiner of Terra Linda and Redwood forward Tim Hart and guard Bob Purtell were named to the six-man first team. Other cagers given the top spots were Marin Catholic forward Bob McCarthy and Tamalpais center Mike Harris.

Named to the second team were forwards Bruce Pearson of Novato and Kevin McCall of Marin Catholic, center Andy McIlroy of Redwood, and guards Bill Gaddy of Drake and Bob Coleman of Tam.

Thornton Stops Foe In Seventh

MODESTO (AP)—Irish Wayne Thornton of Fresno, the top ranked contender for Jose Torres' world light heavyweight title, scored a seventh-round knockout over Bob McKinney of Tacoma, Wash., in Modesto last night.

Referee Fred Apostoii stopped the scheduled 10-rounder after 1:30 of the seventh when Thornton drove the tired McKinney through the ropes in a neutral corner.

The win was the third of the year for Thornton who earlier scored victories over Eddie Cotton and heavyweight Alonzo Johnson. There were no knockdowns but Thornton continually drove McCKinney around the ring with a savage body attack.

Ex-Tam Grid Stars Shine In College

Two former Tamalpais High School football stars are continuing to shine in college ball.

Art Foster, defensive end at University of Santa Clara, and Elmer Collett, offensive guard at San Francisco State, were named co-linemen of the week yesterday by the Northern California Football Writers and Sportscasters Assn.

Collett, a standout all season for S.F. State, was even nominated as the lineman of the year, but lost out to University of California offensive guard John Garamendi.

Foster was graduated in 1963 and Collett a year earlier. The gridders were teammates on the 1962 Tam team.

Tom Relles, Cal halfback, was named back of the year for Northern California. Coach of the year honors went to Santa Clara's Pat Malley. His club has posted a 7-1 record.

Six Hornets Win First Team Honor

Champion Novato and runner-up Drake dominated the 1965 selections for the best football players in the Marin Athletic League.

Coaches of the seven league teams met last night at Marin Catholic High School and came up with a sparkling array of all-league offensive and defensive players who have just completed perhaps the best season in league history.

It was a strong league this year, as evidenced by its record against outside teams. And it took the coaches more than two and a half hours to come up with the "dream teams" and honorable mentions.

Novato, a powerful team that captured the MCAL pennant with a 5-1 record, put four offensive players and two defensive men on the first teams, and three other Hornets were given honorable mention.

Drake, a team that tied for the championship in 1963, won it outright in 1964 and was second-best this year, had two offensive players and three defensive men on the first 22. Third place Tam had one defensive man; fourth place Redwood had two offensive and one defensive; fifth place Terra Linda had two defensive men; sixth place San Rafael had a boy on offense, a boy on defense, and one on both offense and defense, and Marin Catholic, the bottom team, had one on offense.

Joe Cunningham, a 165-pound star for the San Rafael Bulldogs, was named to both teams, as an end on offense and a back on defense. He was the only gridder to have the distinction of making both first teams. And this was quite a feat to do this year.

Named to the team from Novato, on offense, were end Tom Corder, tackle John Youngs, quarterback John Dolinsek and tailback Dick Otis. Other members of the all-league offense were tackle Gary Wittenmeier from Marin Catholic, guard Ed Farina of Drake, guard Bill Niccolls of Rerwood, center Darryl Ralston of San Rafael, fullback Dean Lazzarrini of Drake and halfback Len Pieri of Redwood. All are seniors.

Drake has the best defensive line in the league and the coaches put three of those linemen on the first team defense. They were end Doug Manuel, tackle Jerry Sprout and guard Bill Hickerson.

Other first string defensive players are end John Balzan of San Rafael, tackle Tom Heacox of Terra Linda, guard Bob Saunders of Novato, linebackers Jim Crisp of Terra Linda and Horace White of Tamalpais, and backs Dan Salata of Redwood, Dennis Hachmyer of Novato and Cunningham. Heacox, Sprout and Hickerson are juniors.

Otis and Lazzarrini, the class of the league runners, were repeaters in the offensive backfield. Jim Crisp, the tough linebacker for the T. L. Trojans, also repeated his 1964 place on the defensive team.

Van Brocklin Changes Mind, Returns To Coach Vikes

General Manager Jim Finks said at a press conference shortly before noon that "I am very happy to report that Norm has reconsidered and currently is with the football team."

Finks said Van Brocklin met with the team for a squad meeting at 10 a.m.

The general manager said Van Brocklin would not be available for comment until 3 p.m. CST today because of the urgency of making preparations for Sunday's National Football League game here with the Green Bay Packers.

Finks said Van Brocklin called him at the Vikings office at 9:30 p.m. yesterday, or about 12 hours after Van Brocklin announced to three reporters his decision to quit after 4½ years as field boss of the Vikings.

"There was an indication on the telephone that he had changed his mind," Fink said.

"He said he wanted to see me. When I got there to Van Brocklin's home in suburban Medicine Lake, he told me he realized he had made a mistake and wanted to come back to work at 8 o'clock this morning."

Finks said the Vikings had no contact at all with Van Brocklin from shortly before noon yesterday until the Dutchman telephoned Finks last night.

"It certainly wasn't anything I said or did," Finks said.

"Norm realized he had made a mistake. I didn't think he was this impulsive, but obviously he is."

Vikings President Max Winter said:

"We're very happy. This was his own decision, nobody talked to him. It gave me a pretty rough two days and two nights."

Third place Tam had one defensive man; fourth place Redwood had two offensive and one defensive; fifth place Terra Linda had two defensive men; sixth place San Rafael had a boy on offense, a boy on defense, and one on both offense and defense, and Marin Catholic, the bottom team, had one on offense.

Joe Cunningham, a 165-pound star for the San Rafael Bulldogs, was named to both teams, as an end on offense and a back on defense. He was the only gridder to have the distinction of making both first teams. And this was quite a feat to do this year.

Named to the team from Novato, on offense, were end Tom Corder, tackle John Youngs, quarterback John Dolinsek and tailback Dick Otis. Other members of the all-league offense were tackle Gary Wittenmeier from Marin Catholic, guard Ed Farina of Drake, guard Bill Niccolls of Rerwood, center Darryl Ralston of San Rafael, fullback Dean Lazzarrini of Drake and halfback Len Pieri of Redwood. All are seniors.

Drake has the best defensive line in the league and the coaches put three of those linemen on the first team defense. They were end Doug Manuel, tackle Jerry Sprout and guard Bill Hickerson.

Other first string defensive players are end John Balzan of San Rafael, tackle Tom Heacox of Terra Linda, guard Bob Saunders of Novato, linebackers Jim Crisp of Terra Linda and Horace White of Tamalpais, and backs Dan Salata of Redwood, Dennis Hachmyer of Novato and Cunningham. Heacox, Sprout and Hickerson are juniors.

Otis and Lazzarrini, the class of the league runners, were repeaters in the offensive backfield. Jim Crisp, the tough linebacker for the T. L. Trojans, also repeated his 1964 place on the defensive team.

Lazzarini's Injury Toughest Break Of Grid Season

Independent Journal Sports

PREP NOTEBOOK

Sad Ending For His Prep Career

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Before the start of the Drake-Redwood game Saturday, public address announcer Dave Scofield introduced all the seniors playing their last high school game.

"And one of the outstanding backs in the league's history, Dean Lazzarini," boomed the voice of Kezar Stadium's 49er P.A. man.

It was Dean's last game and the fans expected a big showing from the Drake speedster. He caught a kickoff early in the first quarter—after carrying the ball only once before that—and was banged down hard in the mud by a driving tackle from Redwood's Dan Salata, a boy who weighs only 150 pounds.

Lazzarini's high school football career ended right there, as he hobbled off the field holding his left arm limply to his side. From the field he was taken to the dressing room, and then to Marin General Hospital. But before he even got to the hospital murmurs from the few spectators who sat through a steady rain could be heard:

"Lazzarini broke a collarbone" . . . "Boy, that's sure tough luck" . . . "And it was his last game, too . . ."

ONE OF the first persons to check on Lazzarini's condition after the game was Salata, without a doubt one of the best tacklers in the league. He knew the injury was just part of the game of football, and it came on a clean, hard tackle. Dan showed a lot of heart. He just had to get on the phone and find out how badly hurt Lazzarini was. No one felt worse about the injury than Salata did.

Lazzarini was out of school yesterday but he was expected to return today or tomorrow. His arm and shoulder will be in a brace from four to eight weeks.

IT APPEARED from the pressbox that Redwood coach Bob Troppmann wanted anything but a tie. When he had his team run on fourth and four in the final quarter, with the ball sitting on the Drake 47; and when he had the Giants go to the air after that, resulting in a Drake interception. It seemed the veteran coach was saying, "Either you Drake boys are going to win or we are, there isn't going to be a tie." (Although we all know by now that the game did end in a tie, 6-6.)

But yesterday, Tropp, in a way that only he can do, said simply, "It was probably a dumb call. We should have punted." He just won't be pinned down, that man.

AS WE said earlier, Redwood was going to have a big hand in determining the final outcome of the football race. The Giants beat Tam and knocked the Indians in third place, they tied Drake to knock them to second place, and they lost to Novato, the team that won the championship, all this coming in the last three weeks of the league season.

And incidentally, that Redwood triumph over Tam and tie with Drake earned the Giants the trophy as champ of the Tamalpais Union High School District.

The League race ended true to form, according to pre-season guesses by the so-called experts. Novato was given the best chance to pull the title from Drake, and that's exactly what happened. The Hornets from Novato lost only one game all season, and that was to Drake by only two points. Besides a 20-20 tie with Petaluma, the Novato boys won the other seven games.

IT WAS A truly fine season for Novato coach Harry Moore, his first year as head varsity coach of the Hornets. You can't start out much better than he did, winning a championship your first turn at the helm.

And he was as muddy as his players Saturday night when the Hornets battered Marin Catholic 38-0 to win the championship. He was all right before the game ended, but after the triumph, the players heaved him and the rest of the coaching staff into the water that covered the track next to the field.

ALSO FINISHING a very successful season his first time out was Tam's Willie Hector. His Indians ended the year with a 7-2 record, the best mark in the past three years for the Injuns. When Tam beat Terra Linda 12-7 Friday night the Indians played "Joy in Mudville." En Mass, the Tam football players dived and rolled in the mud of the San Rafael High School field. It was really a sight.

AT SOME of Tam's games this season, it looked like old home week for ex-Tam coaches. Dating back to 1934, ex-coaches (in order) George Gustafson, George Corson, Glidden Benefield, Jim Hanretty and Pete Belden could be seen cheering on the Indians.

TO MAKE things worse for the fans who braved the elements Saturday to watch the Redwood-Drake and Novato-Marin Catholic games in Kentfield, the scoreboard clock was on the blink.

With 4:45 left in the third quarter of the Drake-Redwood afternoon game, the rain caused a short in the wiring and the clock wouldn't stop running. From that point on, and for the entire Novato-Marin night game, the officials had to keep the time with a stop watch, while the fans were informed of the time every so often by the P.A. announcer.

TO ADD to the lack of knowledge by the spectators of the Saturday night game, there were no programs. The players were so muddy it probably wouldn't have helped much anyway.

WHEN NOVATO snapped Tam's five-game win streak this season with its 34-0 rout, the father of Novato star Dick Otis just had to view this game with mixed emotions.

Jim Otis, Dick's dad, is a graduate of Tam and in 1938 was a star on the Indians' lightweight football and basketball teams. The younger Otis, who ended up as the king of rushing and scoring in the league, kept his production down in this game, only scoring one touchdown and running for 65 yards.

U.S. Title Fight Set

BOSTON (AP) — Matchmaker Sam Silverman announced yesterday the signing of middleweight contenders Joey Archer of New York and Don Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, for a 12-round boxing bout Dec. 10 at Boston Garden.

Silverman said the fight would be billed for the U.S. middleweight title. Four 10-rounders, to be announced, will complete the program.

Archer is gunning for a shot at the world championship held by Dick Tiger. Fullmer also is seeking a title shot.

Archer has 48 victories in 49 pro fights. His lone loss was to Jose Gonzales, whom he later beat. In his last outing, Archer knocked down Sugar Ray Robinson in scoring a lop-sided decision that sent the former middleweight champion into retirement.

In 1958-63, the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge underwent a $35 million construction program to make each deck one-way for motor traffic.

Jimmy Brown Might Take Coaching Job

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Will Jim Brown stay in football as a coach? Maybe.

"I've had thoughts about many jobs," Brown said. "I'm keeping an open mind. If anyone shows interest in me as a coach I certainly would consider the opportunity."

The Cleveland Browns' fullback, who received a standing ovation at the weekly Touchdown Club luncheon yesterday, has said he plans to play through the 1966 season, then retire.

Asked if he wanted to go out on top, Brown answered, "I guess everybody feels that way. There are a lot of things involved though. I'd like to win it this year and again next year, then retire."

The Browns stand a good chance to win the Eastern Conference championship this season and defend their National Football League title. Cleveland (7-2) has a to-game edge over the St. Louis Cardinals (5-4) ith five games left.

Brown, who holds nine of 17 possible NFL rushing records and is second in four others, said he's enjoying his football now more than ever.

"I'm a free ball player able to utilize all my abilities," he said. "I like to catch the football. Now I'm being used as a receiver. I'm able to talk to (owner) Art Modell and (Coach) Blanton Collier. Even do a little coaching. I get a kick out of working with the offensive line."

Brown has been an unofficial tutor on the Browns' line this season with line coach Fritz Heisler.

Juan Stars As A Diver; 'Fantastic'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Juan Marichal, the San Francisco Giant pitching ace with the high kick, has turned to scuba diving in the off season to keep fit.

"He's fantastic," said Ed Braly, operator of a skin-diving school.

"It took him only two weeks to progress as far as most pupils in a year."

Three years ago in his native Dominican Republic, Juan was persuaded by Felipe Alou, then a teammate but now with the Milwaukee Braves, to try diving.

"In the Caribbean, we use a snorkel for diving," said Juan.

"I can stay down only a minute or a minute and a half. But with my tanks now, I can stay down a half or three-quarters of an hour.

"In the Dominican, there are always sharks. Up here, very few. But Ed has shown me how to fight one if he shows up."

Garrett, Beban, Lewis Lead PAC Statistics

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The West's two most explosive backs duel Saturday at Los Angeles in the Southern California - UCLA football game which in all probability decides the Rose Bowl nominee.

Mike Garrett heads the USC cast and also leads the Pacific Athletic Conference in rushing and scoring with 1,118 yards and 78 points.

Sophomore quarterback Gary Beban heads the total offense list with 1,506 yards on 427 rushing and 1,079 passing. Stanford's Dave Lewis ranks second in this category with 1,269 and Garrett third at 1,130.

Beban also is tied for second in scoring. He and Washington' Dave Williams each have 54.

Lewis took over the lead in passing this week with a total of 86 completions for 1,157 yards and five touchdowns. Tom Roth of Washington State ranks second with 83 for 1,095 and four touchdowns.

Tod Hullin of Washington, who throws against WSU this weekend, has hit 79 passes but 12 of them have gone for touchdowns. He's gained 1,154 yards through the air.

Oregon's Steve Bunker continues to lead pass receivers with 46 for 711 yards and eight touchdowns, and Lewis heads punters with an average of 45.6 yards per kick.

UCLA and USC rank one-two among the teams in total offense with productions averaging 361 and 348 per game respectively. The Trojans of USC also top the list in total defense, permitting foes only 223 yards on the average. UCLA ranks fifth on this list at 278.

U.S. Title Fight Set

BOSTON (AP) — Matchmaker Sam Silverman announced yesterday the signing of middleweight contenders Joey Archer of New York and Don Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, for a 12-round boxing bout Dec. 10 at Boston Garden.

Silverman said the fight would be billed for the U.S. middleweight title. Four 10-rounders, to be announced, will complete the program.

Archer is gunning for a shot at the world championship held by Dick Tiger. Fullmer also is seeking a title shot.

Archer has 48 victories in 49 pro fights. His lone loss was to Jose Gonzales, whom he later beat. In his last outing, Archer knocked down Sugar Ray Robinson in scoring a lop-sided decision that sent the former middleweight champion into retirement.

In 1958-63, the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge underwent a $35 million construction program to make each deck one-way for motor traffic.

Jimmy Brown Might Take Coaching Job

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Will Jim Brown stay in football as a coach? Maybe.

"I've had thoughts about many jobs," Brown said. "I'm keeping an open mind. If anyone shows interest in me as a coach I certainly would consider the opportunity."

The Cleveland Browns' fullback, who received a standing ovation at the weekly Touchdown Club luncheon yesterday, has said he plans to play through the 1966 season, then retire.

Asked if he wanted to go out on top, Brown answered, "I guess everybody feels that way. There are a lot of things involved though. I'd like to win it this year and again next year, then retire."

The Browns stand a good chance to win the Eastern Conference championship this season and defend their National Football League title. Cleveland (7-2) has a to-game edge over the St. Louis Cardinals (5-4) ith five games left.

Brown, who holds nine of 17 possible NFL rushing records and is second in four others, said he's enjoying his football now more than ever.

"I'm a free ball player able to utilize all my abilities," he said. "I like to catch the football. Now I'm being used as a receiver. I'm able to talk to (owner) Art Modell and (Coach) Blanton Collier. Even do a little coaching. I get a kick out of working with the offensive line."

Brown has been an unofficial tutor on the Browns' line this season with line coach Fritz Heisler.

Juan Stars As A Diver; 'Fantastic'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Juan Marichal, the San Francisco Giant pitching ace with the high kick, has turned to scuba diving in the off season to keep fit.

"He's fantastic," said Ed Braly, operator of a skin-diving school.

"It took him only two weeks to progress as far as most pupils in a year."

Three years ago in his native Dominican Republic, Juan was persuaded by Felipe Alou, then a teammate but now with the Milwaukee Braves, to try diving.

"In the Caribbean, we use a snorkel for diving," said Juan.

"I can stay down only a minute or a minute and a half. But with my tanks now, I can stay down a half or three-quarters of an hour.

"In the Dominican, there are always sharks. Up here, very few. But Ed has shown me how to fight one if he shows up."

Garrett, Beban, Lewis Lead PAC Statistics

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The West's two most explosive backs duel Saturday at Los Angeles in the Southern California - UCLA football game which in all probability decides the Rose Bowl nominee.

Mike Garrett heads the USC cast and also leads the Pacific Athletic Conference in rushing and scoring with 1,118 yards and 78 points.

Sophomore quarterback Gary Beban heads the total offense list with 1,506 yards on 427 rushing and 1,079 passing. Stanford's Dave Lewis ranks second in this category with 1,269 and Garrett third at 1,130.

Beban also is tied for second in scoring. He and Washington' Dave Williams each have 54.

Lewis took over the lead in passing this week with a total of 86 completions for 1,157 yards and five touchdowns. Tom Roth of Washington State ranks second with 83 for 1,095 and four touchdowns.

Tod Hullin of Washington, who throws against WSU this weekend, has hit 79 passes but 12 of them have gone for touchdowns. He's gained 1,154 yards through the air.

Oregon's Steve Bunker continues to lead pass receivers with 46 for 711 yards and eight touchdowns, and Lewis heads punters with an average of 45.6 yards per kick.

UCLA and USC rank one-two among the teams in total offense with productions averaging 361 and 348 per game respectively. The Trojans of USC also top the list in total defense, permitting foes only 223 yards on the average. UCLA ranks fifth on this list at 278.

JET CAR CRACKS '600' BARRIER

Breedlove Eyes 700 MPH Goal Next

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — Craig Breedlove has won his duel with Art Arfons for the world land speed record — at least for this year.

Neither man disputes it.

"I know we've got the record," the handsome Breedlove said yesterday after recapturing the mark he has traded with Arfons the past year.

"There's major damage (to my car) . . . the repairs probably will take 30 to 40 days," Arfons said at his home in Akron, Ohio. That means Christmas and Arfons said he would rather wait until mid-January.

However, winter is moving in over the western Utah Raceway and the Flats usually are covered by a snow blanket in January.

Breedlove and his jet car, Spirit of America Sonic I, compiled a two-way average speed of 600.601 miles per hour through the measured mile in regaining the record. The performance wiped out a 576.353 m.p.h. mark set by Arfons last week.

Underlining the end of record racing for 1965, chief timer Joe Petrali of the U.S. Automobile Club packed his gear and headed home to Upland, Calif. He said he wouldn't be back this year.

Breedlove's record yesterday—he's held it four times in the past in his see-saw competition with Arfons — gave him another distinction. He is the first man to officially drive 400, 500 and 600 m.p.h.

Will he go for 700? "Of course, if I can," said the 28-year-old former hot-rodder from Palos Verde, Calif. "But probably not in this car. The limit of this car is in the high 600s.

"And don't talk about the sound barrier (740-760 m.p.h. on the Flats). That's a long way off."

Breedlove's blue jet actually was constructed for supersonic speeds with a pinched midsection to increase air penetration at high speeds. But troubles with body panels — they buckled on several earlier runs — and caved-in front cowlings forced modifications that reduced the jet's potential.

Breedlove said he probably will have to go to a different configuration in designing a car capable of the sound barrier.

The Monday record run was one of Breedlove's smoothest on the Flats, where he has survived on crash, one near-miss and some mechanical difficulties in the past.

The track — softened by overnight rains — was a little rough and, Breedlove said, "it made driving tough because at 600 miles per hour steering is touchy."

On his first run, Breedlove's braking parachute filled with salt and water and collapsed. He was able to halt the speeding jet at the end of the track.

Coming back through the course 40 minutes later, he veered to the left after leaving the measured mile and there was momentary fear he was in trouble. But his chute popped open and Breedlove stopped beside his trailer-van headquarters.

"I wanted to park my car right in the garage," he laughed.

Lycaste Winner At Bay Meadows

SAN MATEO (AP) — Lycaste raced to an impressive three-length victory over Sculptured in the feature KSFO Radio Purse horse race yesterday at Bay Meadows.

Kell finished third in the field of seven distaffs over the one-mile course.

Lycaste took the lead from Sculptured in the stretch and romped easily home. Her time was a fast 1 minute 37 2-5 seconds over a muddy track.

Lycaste paid $4.80, $3 and $2.40. Sculptured returned $4.60 and $3.40, and Kell $4.20.

Big 10 Picks Michigan St.

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten unanimously voted Michigan State as its representative in the Rose Bowl, conference Commissioner Bill Reed announced today.

Michigan State, the nation's No. 1 football team, clinched the bowl bid a week ago Saturday but had to await formal action by the Big Ten athletic directors.

It marked the first time in the history of the Rose Bowl contract that the Big Ten made its bowl selection before the end of the regular season.

The Big Ten campaign ends this Saturday with Michigan State, undefeated in conference competition, closing its season at Notre Dame.

Fairfax Girl, 15, Wins Figure Skating Title

Linda Lee Howard, 15, of Fairfax, won top honors in the Ladies' Pre-Novice event of the 1965 Central Pacific Figure Skating championship last weekend in San Francisco.

Linda's teammate from Raydine Ice Skating in San Anselmo, Janet Lee Simpson of Greenbrae, was very close behind to win second place. Musette Trace finished in fifth spot.

In the pre-juvenile girls' division, Kim Connick of Belvedere and Hetti Lu Schramm of Greenbrae turned in fine performances for their first try at competitive skating, winning fourth and fifth places respectively.

SPORTSMEN BRAVE ELEMENTS IN SEARCH OF FISH 'N' GAME

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

My office is located at the rear of my home here in Oakland. Through the windows I can see the tall eucalyptus tree in constant, restless movement, at times surrendering a batch of leaves to a strong gust of wind. The shrubs and rose trees keep up a steady out-of-step dance; the metal wheelbarrow is half filled with water. I am reminded of a cartoon I filed away some years back depicting two men in a rowboat holding rods in their hands while the rain comes down in streaks. Not far away are two duck hunters huddled in the boat with the same rain streaking down. Both anglers and shooters are saying of the other: "What fools!"

YOU KNOW something—? You could find that combination in a great many fishing or hunting spots last Sunday. Sunday is a day when the private clubs populate the numerous islands and parts of the mainland in quest of waterfowl, and Sunday was the day when contestants in the "Challenge Derby" for sturgeon fished the waters from the Carquinez Bridge to the bridge at Antioch. The time was "all day," and the sturgeon had to be weighed in at Harris' Harbor at Pittsburgh. Also the Real Rod Benders will keep open the entire month of November, a challenge for the largest striper caught any two days of the month. Bob Connor, club secretary, advises that registry must be made at the Hayward Fisheries—weigh-in at Mura's gym.

THE LATEST word from the Upper Klamath River is hardly conducive to cheers. Jim Roads, Klamath River Guide Service, reported: "Steelhead fishing from poor to fair lately. The fluctuations of water height is probably the main cause. Fly fishing could be at an end if water fluctations continue."

TO ANSWER a number of questions—Yes, the rain storms we have had since Saturday very likely sent a flock of steelhead into the coastal streams. Characteristic of some streams such as the Garcia and the Ten Mile, which are seldom if ever "bar-bound," an overabundance of rain back in the hills render the streams much too high and much too dirty for success. Hence, we look to the coastal streams whose bars were washed away. As soon as the latter streams become lower and the water assumes a "milky" appearance, the dyed-in-the-wool angler keeps his ears wide open to hear the first news of stream conditions AFTER a hard fall of rain. Perhaps—if the skies remain dry for a few days—I may announce the fact in my column.

REGARDING THE streams whose mouths remained open all of last week, you will play safe to wait at least until the end of the week before considering a trip after steelies. Under ordinary conditions, after a spell of very wet weather, it is safe to figure on at least four days (4 to 6 on the average) before making the trip.

I will keep in close touch with my various contacts along the coast and will report on conditions regularly, when there any change.

Today's hand, which helped the Netherlands defeat Poland, indicates that the Lowlanders will give a good account of themselves next April. (Still, few experts expect them to defeat Italy or North America, the two favorites.)

THOUGHT NEEDED

Cornelius Slavenburg won the first trick with the ace of spades and did some thinking when South dropped the jack.

Slavenburg saw that his side could take only three spade tricks even if South had started with the doubleton queen-jack.

Since three spade tricks and the ace of clubs would not be enough to defeat the contract, East decided to shift to a heart.

TEN IS BEST

The 10 of hearts would have developed four heart tricks, but Slavenburg actually led the four of hearts.

This was good enough to defeat the contract since South could not afford to play the ace.

When South played low, West won with the queen of hearts.

J. T. M. Kreyns, the West player, could not afford to return a heart, but he also had noticed the play of the jack of spades at the first trick.

West therefore returned the deuce of spades to South's king.

Declarer had to lead clubs fairly soon, whereupon the ace of clubs and two spade tricks defeated the contract.

This kind of defense could give the favorites a lot of trouble next April.

What do you say

Answer: Bid two hearts.

You have only four points in high cards, but the singleton combined with four-card trump support is worth an additional three points, just enough for a raise.

The moon is approaching its new phase; the morning star is Jupiter; the evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

In 1864, Gen. William T. Sherman and his Union Army of about 6,000 men started their "march to the sea" across Georgia.

In 1932, the most famous vaudeville theater in America, the Palace in New York City, closed its doors. It was opened later for movies.

In 1933, the United States and Russia established diplomatic relations.

REDWOOD CITY — Ampex Corp. has received an order from Eastern Airlines for a complete television training system valued at more than $400,000.

The system will be used to give technical training to maintenance and flight personnel throughout Eastern's system. A completely outfitted master studio will be established at Eastern's maintenance and operations headquarters in Miami.

Other major bases at Atlanta, Boston and J. F. Kennedy International Airport, New York, will be equipped with video camera-recorder units, and all of the airline's 25 maintenance stations will have video-tape reproducers and monitors for pilayback.

It will rely heavily on videotape recording to bring detailed instruction to widely separated locations.

The instantaneous erase - replace capability of magnetic tape gives the system the flexibility needed for this application. Sound - picture training tapes can be made and distributed quickly, and kept current with a minimum of cost and time.

Eastern will begin use of the new system with training materials on its new DC-9 twin jet aircraft. Twenty-four of the new jets will be delivered beginning early next year.

The system will also help train personnel on the advanced DC-8 model 61 jets and Boeing 727 quick change Whisperjets which Eastern also has on order. Later, tapes will be made to do recurrent training on other aircraft already in the fleet.

Eastern also plans to lease training tapes to other operators of similar aircraft and to make tapes for other companies on a contract basis.

Improved quality of training is the principal advantage Eastern expects from the new system. In addition, the airline will be able to train a larger number of employees in a shorter period of time, bring graphic demonstrations of highly technical mechanical and operating functions into the classroom and build an always current standard training library.

Training tapes can be made at the company's Miami headquarters and at the Atlanta, Boston and New York bases as well. Preparation and editing will be accomplished in the Miami master studio for distribution of tapes to all field maintenance stations for monitor viewing in training sessions.

Studio equipment in Miami will include a studio size broadcast recorder and electronic editor, two closed circuit cameras, a portable recorder, film chain and associated equipment.

President of Reserve Officers Assn., Marin Chapter, is Lt. Col. Mark D. McDonough.

NEW POSITION — Clarence A. Phillips of Belvedere, president of Heald's Business College in San Francisco and the Heald schools in Ookland, Sacramento and San Jose, was elected president of the United Business Schools Assn. at its convention in New Orleans.

Assorted Specialties Show Market Strength

Weakness in a number of big, key stocks dampened the averages all day. General Motors and Du Pont were among the chief backsliders in this category.

Mingled profit taking and speculative buying sparked the volatile issues among color televisions, electronics, aerospace and specially-situated issues.

Bausch & Lomb added zip to the list by rising in response to a stock split proposal. Sun Chemical was traded again after a day and a half lapse and it rose several points at best on a product development.

Transitron, Sperry Rand, Boeing, Xerox and United Aircraft were among the strong upside features.

Volume for the day was estimated at 8.2 million shares compared with 8.32 million Monday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Weakness in some of the biggest key stocks stymied the averages. Du Pont lost nearly 3, General Motors about 1½ and Standard Oil (New Jersey) about half a point.

On the other hand, Xerox ran up half a dozen points, Boeing more than 4 and Sun Chemical, delayed in trading for a day and a half, well over 5.

Sperry Rand was leading the list on volume, showing a fractional gain. Transitron also was heavily traded and up 2. Corning Glass spurted 7.

Ahead about 2 were United Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft, Polaroid, Air Products and Heli-Coil.

Studebaker was strong for the second straight day, rising about 1½ while most other motors wilted.

Profit taking affected a number of recent gainers. Fairchild Camera and Admiral lost about 2 each. Zenith and Control Data lost 1 each. Disney was down nearly 2.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange in heavy trading.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Stock Split By Del Monte Gets Approval

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Directors of Del Monte Properties Co., owner of 8,300 acres on the Monterey Peninsula and in Carmel Valley, have voted to split the stock 10 shares for one.

There are 126,000 outstanding shares of $25 par value.

The split will be effective about Dec. 6, subject to shareholder approval.

The stock was quoted in the over-the-counter market yesterday at $255 a share bid. There are about 500 shareholders, with board chairman and chief executive officer S. F. B. Morse the largest individual owner. Morse was instrumental in founding the company, which also owns Del Monte Lodge and sand and lumber interests, nearly 47 years ago.

A. G. Michaud, former Draper Companies executive, who took over the administrative reins as president about a year ago, says the company aspires to a new design for living in development of the company's lands around Monterey and Carmel.

Standard Officer

SAN FRANCISCO — David J. Bowen has been named assistant general sales manager-wholesale, for Standard Oil Co. of California, Western Operations, Inc. He succeeds L. W. Aubry, who is retiring Nov. 1 after 33 years with Standard.

VIDEO TAPE

Airline To Train Men Using TV

REDWOOD CITY — Ampex Corp. has received an order from Eastern Airlines for a complete television training system valued at more than $400,000.

The system will be used to give technical training to maintenance and flight personnel throughout Eastern's system. A completely outfitted master studio will be established at Eastern's maintenance and operations headquarters in Miami.

Other major bases at Atlanta, Boston and J. F. Kennedy International Airport, New York, will be equipped with video camera-recorder units, and all of the airline's 25 maintenance stations will have video-tape reproducers and monitors for pilayback.

It will rely heavily on videotape recording to bring detailed instruction to widely separated locations.

The instantaneous erase - replace capability of magnetic tape gives the system the flexibility needed for this application. Sound - picture training tapes can be made and distributed quickly, and kept current with a minimum of cost and time.

Eastern will begin use of the new system with training materials on its new DC-9 twin jet aircraft. Twenty-four of the new jets will be delivered beginning early next year.

The system will also help train personnel on the advanced DC-8 model 61 jets and Boeing 727 quick change Whisperjets which Eastern also has on order. Later, tapes will be made to do recurrent training on other aircraft already in the fleet.

Eastern also plans to lease training tapes to other operators of similar aircraft and to make tapes for other companies on a contract basis.

Improved quality of training is the principal advantage Eastern expects from the new system. In addition, the airline will be able to train a larger number of employees in a shorter period of time, bring graphic demonstrations of highly technical mechanical and operating functions into the classroom and build an always current standard training library.

Training tapes can be made at the company's Miami headquarters and at the Atlanta, Boston and New York bases as well. Preparation and editing will be accomplished in the Miami master studio for distribution of tapes to all field maintenance stations for monitor viewing in training sessions.

Studio equipment in Miami will include a studio size broadcast recorder and electronic editor, two closed circuit cameras, a portable recorder, film chain and associated equipment.

President of Reserve Officers Assn., Marin Chapter, is Lt. Col. Mark D. McDonough.

NEW POSITION — Clarence A. Phillips of Belvedere, president of Heald's Business College in San Francisco and the Heald schools in Ookland, Sacramento and San Jose, was elected president of the United Business Schools Assn. at its convention in New Orleans.

NEW YORK — The American Can Co. and Skelly Oil Co. have announced that their new joint venture in petrochemicals and plastics will be called the Chemplex Co. and that Clinton, Iowa, will be site of the company's new $60 million plant.

American and Skelly each holds a 50 per cent interest in the new company which will make olefins and polyolefin resins, basic materials for a large number of industrial and consumer plastic products.

Assorted Specialties Show Market Strength

Weakness in a number of big, key stocks dampened the averages all day. General Motors and Du Pont were among the chief backsliders in this category.

Mingled profit taking and speculative buying sparked the volatile issues among color televisions, electronics, aerospace and specially-situated issues.

Bausch & Lomb added zip to the list by rising in response to a stock split proposal. Sun Chemical was traded again after a day and a half lapse and it rose several points at best on a product development.

Transitron, Sperry Rand, Boeing, Xerox and United Aircraft were among the strong upside features.

Volume for the day was estimated at 8.2 million shares compared with 8.32 million Monday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Weakness in some of the biggest key stocks stymied the averages. Du Pont lost nearly 3, General Motors about 1½ and Standard Oil (New Jersey) about half a point.

On the other hand, Xerox ran up half a dozen points, Boeing more than 4 and Sun Chemical, delayed in trading for a day and a half, well over 5.

Sperry Rand was leading the list on volume, showing a fractional gain. Transitron also was heavily traded and up 2. Corning Glass spurted 7.

Ahead about 2 were United Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft, Polaroid, Air Products and Heli-Coil.

Studebaker was strong for the second straight day, rising about 1½ while most other motors wilted.

Profit taking affected a number of recent gainers. Fairchild Camera and Admiral lost about 2 each. Zenith and Control Data lost 1 each. Disney was down nearly 2.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange in heavy trading.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Stock Split By Del Monte Gets Approval

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Directors of Del Monte Properties Co., owner of 8,300 acres on the Monterey Peninsula and in Carmel Valley, have voted to split the stock 10 shares for one.

There are 126,000 outstanding shares of $25 par value.

The split will be effective about Dec. 6, subject to shareholder approval.

The stock was quoted in the over-the-counter market yesterday at $255 a share bid. There are about 500 shareholders, with board chairman and chief executive officer S. F. B. Morse the largest individual owner. Morse was instrumental in founding the company, which also owns Del Monte Lodge and sand and lumber interests, nearly 47 years ago.

A. G. Michaud, former Draper Companies executive, who took over the administrative reins as president about a year ago, says the company aspires to a new design for living in development of the company's lands around Monterey and Carmel.

Standard Officer

SAN FRANCISCO — David J. Bowen has been named assistant general sales manager-wholesale, for Standard Oil Co. of California, Western Operations, Inc. He succeeds L. W. Aubry, who is retiring Nov. 1 after 33 years with Standard.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this Board of Supervisors hereby finds that the Special Assessment, Investigation, Limitation and Majority Protest Act of 1931 does not apply to these proceedings.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that if any surplus remains in the Improvement Fund after the completion of the improvements and acquisitions and the payment of all claims from the Improvement Fund, said surplus shall be transferred to the general fund of the County if it does not exceed the lesser of $1,000.00 or 5% of the total amount expended from the Improvement Fund; otherwise said surplus shall be applied as a credit upon the assessment in the manner provided in Section 10427.1 of the Streets and Highways Code.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that it is the intention of said Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin that the system of domestic water supply and the system of pipes, lines and other works or appliances to be used for providing a system of domestic water supply in said assessment district shall be sold to the SEACAPE MUTUAL WATER CORPORATION without competitive bidding. The Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin hereby finds that said improvements for supplying a system of domestic water supply cannot be economically and efficiently operated and maintained by the County of Marin for the reason that said County has no facilities for their operation or maintenance; for the further reason that the SEACAPE MUTUAL WATER CORPORATION is the only public utility which has the facilities for the operation and maintenance of said system of supplying domestic water; that advertising for bids for the sale of said system would be futile under the circumstances and the public interest will therefore not be furthered by asking for competitive bids for the sale of said system of domestic water supply.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Tuesday, the 14th day of December, 1965, at the hour of 1:30 o'clock P.M. of said day, at the meeting place of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, located in the Supervisors Chambers, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, is hereby fixed as the time and place when and where persons objecting to the sale proposed herein to be made of the system of domestic water supply to the SEACAPE MUTUAL WATER CORPORATION may appear before the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin and show cause why the proposed sale should not be made. This Resolution of Intention to make said sale shall be published once weekly for two (2) successive weeks in the INDEPENDENT-JOURNAL, which is the newspaper hereby designated by this Board of Supervisors as the newspaper in which this Resolution of Intention, and all other notices or resolutions required to be published in these proceedings shall be published, said newspaper being a newspaper of general circulation in the County of Marin.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that it is the intention of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin to enter into an agreement with the PACIFIC GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY, under the terms of which the County of Marin will convey the system for electrical service to the PACIFIC GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY, in accordance with the provisions of Sections 10109-10111, inclusive, of the Streets and Highways Code of the State of California.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that it is the intention of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin to enter into an agreement with the PACIFIC TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY, under the terms of which the County of Marin will convey the system for telephone service to the PACIFIC TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY, in accordance with the provisions of Sections 10109-10111, inclusive, of the Streets and Highways Code of the State of California.

I HEREBY CERTIFY that the foregoing Resolution was duly and regularly adopted by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, at a regular meeting thereof, held on the 9th day of November, 1965, by the following vote, to wit:

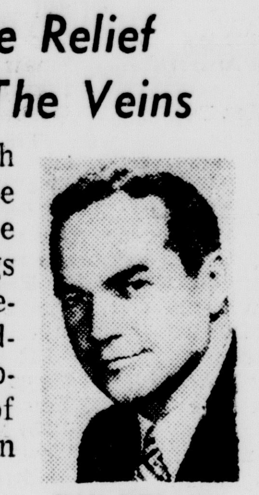
HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Anticoagulants Provide Relief For Painful Clots In The Veins



VAN DELLEN

Dextran and anticoagulants such as sodium heparin are used in the treatment of inflammation of the veins (thrombophlebitis). These drugs keep the blood circulating and prevent clots from expanding or spreading. Pain and tenderness usually subsides within 24 hours, and all signs of inflammation disappear in less than a week.

In thrombophlebitis, a clot (thrombus) develops in a vein. The deeper veins of the pelvis and lower limbs are favored and potential candidates are those who are bedridden because of surgery, childbirth, injury, or pneumonia. Deep leg vein involvement usually starts with soreness that is noticeable high in the back of the calf when the cold, and is slightly puffy.

THE WALL of the vein is inflamed and the obstructive material is a dark red solid mass of fibrin and blood cells. The plug adheres to the wall of the blood vessel except on the end where a long, flimsy tail waves precariously in the bloodstream. Should the tail break off, it is carried with lightning speed toward the heart and into a lung.

Another troublesome feature of deep thrombophlebitis is residual swelling of the limb. This is minimized by wearing a heavy elastic stocking or bandage until the circulation improves. Unless this is done, the tissue spaces might become distended and never return to normal.

The incidence of thrombophlebitis has been reduced considerably with the advent of early ambulation. This is why women get out of bed soon after delivery and others are encouraged to sit or stand up a day or two following surgery.

Intravenous fluids prevent dehydration and the antibiotics help to control the infection.

DEXTRAN and sodium heparin also are useful in treating surface vein inflammation. The vessel is just under the skin and becomes hard and tender to the touch; the surrounding skin is red and feels warm. These remedies usually bring the infection under control in less than five days.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request).

COLOR CHANGES IN LEGS

H. H. writes: Why is it that when my legs hang down they turn red, but when I lie down they turn white?

REPLY

This is a sign of poor circulation. When the legs are in a dependent position, the circulation becomes so sluggish the blood loses its oxygen and turns blue. When the legs are elevated they look white, or bloodless, because of the effect of gravity.

HEMORRHOIDS

R. B. writes: What can be done for pain in piles?

REPLY

Pain unsually is associated with hemmorhoidal clots. The application, first of ice and then of heat, will give relief and the application of a local anesthetic will do the same. Surgical removal of the clot gives permanent relief. Send a stamped, self - addressed envelope for leaflets on hemorrhoids

BUTTERFLIES IN STOMACH

N. M. writes: What causes my insides to shake when I get up in the morning?

REPLY

This sensation may be due to nervousness or to a low blood sugar level.

SIDES DIFFER

T. K. writes: What would cause the hair on one hide of the head to grow longer than on the other?

REPLY

The most logical explanation is that the two sides of the body are not the same. However, how do you know that the hair is longer on one side?

TAKE THE PLEDGE

Mrs. L writes: I have put on 12 pounds since I started preparing the family meals. How can I keep myself from sampling the food as I cook?

REPLY

Be firm or your 12 pounds will double and treble. Adopt the slogan, now or never.

New Teen-Age Fad: The Granny Look

If you see a young girl walking down the street wearing a dress like the dress that grandma wore, blame it on the latest fad for teen-age girls: the Granny Look.

The Granny dresses, in a modified 1900 style, have a hemline that reaches the shoes and create a proper, prim effect.

Visually, they are a direct contrast to the previous teen-age fad, short, tight skirts hanging somewhere in the vicinity of the knees.

The Granny dresses have not hit with the impact of other teen-age fads, although they are being worn by high school and junior high school students.

High schools in Marin are meeting the Granny dress fad in various ways, but generally they have been ruled as inappropriate for school wear.

Mrs. Margaret Rattray, dean of students at Terra Linda High School, said the dersses have been designed for informal wear and would create a distraction at school, so they have been ruled inappropriate.

At Redwood High School, Mrs. Emma J. Wulzen, assistant principal, said they have been ruled out "largely because of the feeling it's like a costume."

Jean E. Burns, assistant principal at Sir Francis Drake High School, said "there has been no cut and dried ruling on Granny dresses." The policy is the same as it is for other novelty dress such as wigs, short skirts and black stockings, she said. "When it comes to the point where the dress disrupts the class, we take steps on an individual basis."

Regarding the Granny dress, she said, "I don't think it's offensive."

At San Rafael High School, the girls can wear them to dances but not to classes.

"They are principally designed for lounge wear and you don't need lounge wear at school," said Florence Abraham, dean of students.

Tamalpais High School reported no policy on Granny dresses because no girl has appeared in one there.

Robert Wisgerhof, principal of Novato High School, said the Granny dresses are "in a grey area with no special policy, but students have been told not to wear them until there is a policy."

Room representatives have discussed the issue and the student council is slated to study it and make recommendations, he said.

Supt. Anthony Matulich of the Tomales High School District admitted, "I haven't seen any of them yet. But students should come dressed appropriately," he said. "Anything that tends to distract is not appropriate."

That the structures and work and improvements herein described shall be constructed to the grades, sub-grades and elevations severally to be shown upon the plans and profiles and detailed drawings thereof in the respective locations thereof, which said grades are hereby adopted as the official grades therefor for all purposes in connection with the proceedings pursuant to this Resolution of Intention. Notice is hereby given that said grades may be new and different from those heretofore established or existing, or may be different from existing ground levels.

All of said work shall include, without duplication, any and all street intersections, terminations and opposite terminations occurring within the limitations of said work.

The attention of all persons is directed to the fact that not all of said classes of work above described may be constructed upon all of the streets and/or public ways above described in their entirety, but only upon the particular locations as shown on the plans and specifications hereafter referred to, which said plans and specifications shall govern as to all details with relation to the same.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin hereby makes the expenses and costs of said improvements and acquisitions chargeable upon a district, which said district said Board of Supervisors hereby declares the district benefited by the improvements and acquisitions herein described; said district shall include that territory in the County of Marin, State of California, which is shown on that certain map on file in the office of the County Clerk of the County of Marin and which is entitled and described "Boundary Map, Seacape Assessment District County of Marin, State of California", and which said map indicates by a boundary line the extent of the territory included in the proposed district and covers all details as to the extent of the area to be assessed; said map is, by this reference, incorporated herein and made a part thereof.

Excepting from the area shown and delineated on said map hereinabove referred to, the area of all public streets, avenues, lanes, roads, drives, courts, places, public parks, and all easements and rights-of-way therein contained belonging to the public, and also all property owned by the County of Marin, the State of California, or the United States of America, contained therein, now in use in the performance of a public function.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that serial bonds to represent unpaid assessments, and bearing interest at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum, shall be issued in the manner and form provided in Part 5, Division 7, of the Streets and Highways Code of the State of California (Improvement Act of 1911) to represent unpaid assessments of Fifty Dollars ($50.00) or over, the last installment of which bonds shall mature fourteen (14) years from the 2nd day of January next succeeding the next September 1st following their date. Said bonds shall be payable to bearer, and may be redeemed as provided in the Improvement Act of 1911, and there shall be added to the redemption clause in said bonds the following words:

". . . together with a premium of five per cent (5%) of the unmatured principal."

In case of default, there shall be added to the defaulted amount 1% of the amount thereof, and on the 1st day of each month following such default there shall be added a further penalty of 1% of such defaulted amount. The 1% penalty first imposed shall be retained by the Treasurer as a cost of servicing the delinquency and all subsequent penalties shall be paid to the holder of the bond along with and as part of such defaulted payment.

Proceedings for all work shall be taken pursuant to the Municipal Improvement Act of 1913, and the bonds hereinabove described shall be issued under the provisions of the Improvement Act of 1911 as heretofore described.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, in accordance with the provisions of Sections 10203 and 10204 of the Streets and Highways Code, being a part of the Municipal Improvement Act of 1913, the matter of the improvements and acquisitions herein referred to is hereby referred to WATSON S. CLIFFORD, Engineer of Work, and the person employed by this Board of Supervisors for the purpose of having charge and control of the improvements and acquisitions described in this resolution. Said WATSON S. CLIFFORD is hereby directed to make and file with the County Clerk of the County of Marin a report in writing containing the following:

a. Plans and specifications of the proposed improvement if the improvement is not already installed;

b. A general description of the works or appliances already installed and any other property necessary or convenient for the operation of the improvement, if the works, appliances or property are to be constructed as part of the improvement;

c. An estimate of the cost of the improvements and of the cost of lands, rights-of-way, easements and incidental expenses in connection with the improvements;

d. A diagram showing the assessment district and the boundaries and dimensions of the subdivisions of land within the district as they existed at the time of the passage of the Resolution of Intention. Each subdivision shall be given a separate number upon the diagram;

e. A proposed assessment of the total amount of the cost and expenses of the proposed improvements upon the several subdivisions of land in the district in proportion to the estimated benefits to be received by each subdivision, respectively, from the improvements.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this Board of Supervisors hereby finds that the Special Assessment, Investigation, Limitation and Majority Protest Act of 1931 does not apply to these proceedings.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that if any surplus remains in the Improvement Fund after the completion of the improvements and acquisitions and the payment of all claims from the Improvement Fund, said surplus shall be transferred to the general fund of the County if it does not exceed the lesser of $1,000.00 or 5% of the total amount expended from the Improvement Fund; otherwise said surplus shall be applied as a credit upon the assessment in the manner provided in Section 10427.1 of the Streets and Highways Code.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that it is the intention of said Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin that the system of domestic water supply and the system of pipes, lines and other works or appliances to be used for providing a system of domestic water supply in said assessment district shall be sold to the SEACAPE MUTUAL WATER CORPORATION without competitive bidding. The Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin hereby finds that said improvements for supplying a system of domestic water supply cannot be economically and efficiently operated and maintained by the County of Marin for the reason that said County has no facilities for their operation or maintenance; for the further reason that the SEACAPE MUTUAL WATER CORPORATION is the only public utility which has the facilities for the operation and maintenance of said system of supplying domestic water; that advertising for bids for the sale of said system would be futile under the circumstances and the public interest will therefore not be furthered by asking for competitive bids for the sale of said system of domestic water supply.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Tuesday, the 14th day of December, 1965, at the hour of 1:30 o'clock P.M. of said day, at the meeting place of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, located in the Supervisors Chambers, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, is hereby fixed as the time and place when and where persons objecting to the sale proposed herein to be made of the system of domestic water supply to the SEACAPE MUTUAL WATER CORPORATION may appear before the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin and show cause why the proposed sale should not be made. This Resolution of Intention to make said sale shall be published once weekly for two (2) successive weeks in the INDEPENDENT-JOURNAL, which is the newspaper hereby designated by this Board of Supervisors as the newspaper in which this Resolution of Intention, and all other notices or resolutions required to be published in these proceedings shall be published, said newspaper being a newspaper of general circulation in the County of Marin.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that it is the intention of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin to enter into an agreement with the PACIFIC GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY, under the terms of which the County of Marin will convey the system for electrical service to the PACIFIC GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY, in accordance with the provisions of Sections 10109-10111, inclusive, of the Streets and Highways Code of the State of California.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that it is the intention of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin to enter into an agreement with the PACIFIC TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY, under the terms of which the County of Marin will convey the system for telephone service to the PACIFIC TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY, in accordance with the provisions of Sections 10109-10111, inclusive, of the Streets and Highways Code of the State of California.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Anticoagulants Provide Relief For Painful Clots In The Veins

VAN DELLEN

Dextran and anticoagulants such as sodium heparin are used in the treatment of inflammation of the veins (thrombophlebitis). These drugs keep the blood circulating and prevent clots from expanding or spreading. Pain and tenderness usually subsides within 24 hours, and all signs of inflammation disappear in less than a week.

In thrombophlebitis, a clot (thrombus) develops in a vein. The deeper veins of the pelvis and lower limbs are favored and potential candidates are those who are bedridden because of surgery, childbirth, injury, or pneumonia. Deep leg vein involvement usually starts with soreness that is noticeable high in the back of the calf when the cold, and is slightly puffy.

THE WALL of the vein is inflamed and the obstructive material is a dark red solid mass of fibrin and blood cells. The plug adheres to the wall of the blood vessel except on the end where a long, flimsy tail waves precariously in the bloodstream. Should the tail break off, it is carried with lightning speed toward the heart and into a lung.

Another troublesome feature of deep thrombophlebitis is residual swelling of the limb. This is minimized by wearing a heavy elastic stocking or bandage until the circulation improves. Unless this is done, the tissue spaces might become distended and never return to normal.

The incidence of thrombophlebitis has been reduced considerably with the advent of early ambulation. This is why women get out of bed soon after delivery and others are encouraged to sit or stand up a day or two following surgery.

Intravenous fluids prevent dehydration and the antibiotics help to control the infection.

DEXTRAN and sodium heparin also are useful in treating surface vein inflammation. The vessel is just under the skin and becomes hard and tender to the touch; the surrounding skin is red and feels warm. These remedies usually bring the infection under control in less than five days.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request).

COLOR CHANGES IN LEGS

H. H. writes: Why is it that when my legs hang down they turn red, but when I lie down they turn white?

REPLY

This is a sign of poor circulation. When the legs are in a dependent position, the circulation becomes so sluggish the blood loses its oxygen and turns blue. When the legs are elevated they look white, or bloodless, because of the effect of gravity.

HEMORRHOIDS

R. B. writes: What can be done for pain in piles?

REPLY

Pain unsually is associated with hemmorhoidal clots. The application, first of ice and then of heat, will give relief and the application of a local anesthetic will do the same. Surgical removal of the clot gives permanent relief. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflets on hemorrhoids

BUTTERFLIES IN STOMACH

N. M. writes: What causes my insides to shake when I get up in the morning?

REPLY

This sensation may be due to nervousness or to a low blood sugar level.

SIDES DIFFER

T. K. writes: What would cause the hair on one hide of the head to grow longer than on the other?

REPLY

The most logical explanation is that the two sides of the body are not the same. However, how do you know that the hair is longer on one side?

TAKE THE PLEDGE

Mrs. L writes: I have put on 12 pounds since I started preparing the family meals. How can I keep myself from sampling the food as I cook?

REPLY

Be firm or your 12 pounds will double and treble. Adopt the slogan, now or never.

If you see a young girl walking down the street wearing a dress like the dress that grandma wore, blame it on the latest fad for teen-age girls: the Granny Look.

The Granny dresses, in a modified 1900 style, have a hemline that reaches the shoes and create a proper, prim effect.

Visually, they are a direct contrast to the previous teenage fad, short, tight skirts hanging somewhere in the vicinity of the knees.

The Granny dresses have not hit with the impact of other teen-age fads, although they are being worn by high school and junior high school students.

High schools in Marin are meeting the Granny dress fad in various ways, but generally they have been ruled as inappropriate for school wear.

Mrs. Margaret Rattray, dean of students at Terra Linda High School, said the dersses have been designed for informal wear and would create a distraction at school, so they have been ruled inappropriate.

At Redwood High School, Mrs. Emma J. Wulzen, assistant principal, said they have been ruled out "largely because of the feeling it's like a costume."

Jean E. Burns, assistant principal at Sir Francis Drake High School, said "there has been no cut and dried ruling on Granny dresses." The policy is the same as it is for other novelty dress such as wigs, short skirts and black stockings, she said. "When it comes to the point where the dress disrupts the class, we take steps on an individual basis."

Regarding the Granny dress, she said, "I don't think it's offensive."

At San Rafael High School, the girls can wear them to dances but not to classes.

"They are principally designed for lounge wear and you don't need lounge wear at school," said Florence Abraham, dean of students.

Tamalpais High School reported no policy on Granny dresses because no girl has appeared in one there.

Robert Wisgerhof, principal of Novato High School, said the Granny dresses are "in a grey area with no special policy, but students have been told not to wear them until there is a policy."

Room representatives have discussed the issue and the student council is slated to study it and make recommendations, he said.

Supt. Anthony Matulich of the Tomales High School District admitted, "I haven't seen any of them yet. But students should come dressed appropriately," he said. "Anything that tends to distract is not appropriate."

TELEVISION REVIEW

'Li'l' Abner Creator Talks Of Teeners

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—With so many famous and mature people turning up as guest hosts of network television's rock 'n' roll shows, it strikes me as a pity that no one has yet enlisted Al Capp for such a chore.

This thought was brought about by a recent viewing of Mr. Capp, the creater of "Li'l Abner," on NBC-TV's "Tonight" program, on which he obliged with numerous observations about some of the younger generation — delivered humorously, but like a series of hard verbal rights to the jaw. He is one of television's few so-called "controversial" talkers who comes through, reasonably, as billed. His remarks on this particular "Tonight" outing produced audible responses from the audience, including applause. It is my fervent desire to have him show up one night as guest host of "Hullabaloo."

On the "Tonight" program, Capp followed the Tijuana Brass, and, according to my notes and an NBC-TV transcript, remarked: "It's so refreshing to see a group of young musicians who aren't sick about wars they've never been in and work they've never done."

He explained he had been on a lecture tour of California colleges, and that: "I found that most of the California kids were passionately interested in two subjects: Viet Nam and Sex. They were very eager to get less involved in Viet Nam . . ."

He related that at Chico State College he was asked —"Don't you think that opinions of teenage students are valuable?" — and that he replied, "Certainly, on subjects they know something about, such as puberty and hubcaps."

He then elaborated: "My feeling is that the student is an incomplete human being, hopefully. That he's studying how to be a useful citizen. He isn't one quite. So, I don't want to hear his opinions on anything until he becomes a useful citizen, is no longer a student, and is out in the world about five years surviving, then I'll listen to him. But not until."

Though he was not against student protesting per se, he opined: "I don't know what they have to protest about. They don't — no longer have to shave, students don't. They're supported by the very adults they denounce. They're the only monied leisure class."

Concerning songs of protest, he said it wasn't the songs he minded but the singers —"when I hear a song about the misery of hard work sung by a guy who has never done any harder work than unbutton his shirt to his navel."

Capp said that on his tour, many of the youngsters asked him why he was there, "and I told them — for $2,000 a lecture. I wouldn't associate with a group of teen-agers for anything less."

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Willie Mays is a guest on CBS-TV's Ed Sullivan Show Sunday . . . Same day, same network's "Camera Three" studies the situation in which an 18th century writer named William Henry Ireland forged Shakespearean plays.

TELEVISION REVIEW

'Li'l' Abner Creator Talks Of Teeners

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—With so many famous and mature people turning up as guest hosts of network television's rock 'n' roll shows, it strikes me as a pity that no one has yet enlisted Al Capp for such a chore.

This thought was brought about by a recent viewing of Mr. Capp, the creater of "Li'l Abner," on NBC-TV's "Tonight" program, on which he obliged with numerous observations about some of the younger generation — delivered humorously, but like a series of hard verbal rights to the jaw. He is one of television's few so-called "controversial" talkers who comes through, reasonably, as billed. His remarks on this particular "Tonight" outing produced audible responses from the audience, including applause. It is my fervent desire to have him show up one night as guest host of "Hullabaloo."

On the "Tonight" program, Capp followed the Tijuana Brass, and, according to my notes and an NBC-TV transcript, remarked: "It's so refreshing to see a group of young musicians who aren't sick about wars they've never been in and work they've never done."

He explained he had been on a lecture tour of California colleges, and that: "I found that most of the California kids were passionately interested in two subjects: Viet Nam and Sex. They were very eager to get less involved in Viet Nam . . ."

He related that at Chico State College he was asked —"Don't you think that opinions of teen-age students are valuable?" — and that he replied, "Certainly, on subjects they know something about, such as puberty and hubcaps."

He then elaborated: "My feeling is that the student is an incomplete human being, hopefully. That he's studying how to be a useful citizen. He isn't one quite. So, I don't want to hear his opinions on anything until he becomes a useful citizen, is no longer a student, and is out in the world about five years surviving, then I'll listen to him. But not until."

Though he was not against student protesting per se, he opined: "I don't know what they have to protest about. They don't — no longer have to shave, students don't. They're supported by the very adults they denounce. They're the only monied leisure class."

Concerning songs of protest, he said it wasn't the songs he minded but the singers —"when I hear a song about the misery of hard work sung by a guy who has never done any harder work than unbutton his shirt to his navel."

Capp said that on his tour, many of the youngsters asked him why he was there, "and I told them — for $2,000 a lecture. I wouldn't associate with a group of teen-agers for anything less."

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Willie Mays is a guest on CBS-TV's Ed Sullivan Show Sunday . . . Same day, same network's "Camera Three" studies the situation in which an 18th century writer named William Henry Ireland forged Shakespearean plays.

Option Granted On Mill Valley Marina Lease

The Mill Valley City Council last night unanimously voted to grant a private developer a six-month option on a lease on the city's small craft harbor.

The option was granted to Paul B. Fisher and Associates of Corona Del Mar, Orange County. Under the proposed lease, the city would receive 25 per cent of net profits. The lease would run not less than 30 nor more than 55 years.

City Mgr. Bert Balmer reported the city still has a $300,000 state loan which runs until next June, with a six-month option, to develop the harbor.

Fisher proposes a $3 million yacht harbor, including a shopping mall, club, restaurant and 350 boat slips.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

1. Approved a tentative map of a 16-home subdivision on 23 acres in Blithedale Canyon which includes 12 acres of open space, submitted by William S. Allen.
2. Gave first reading to an ordinance rezoning property at East Blithedale Avenue and Kipling Drive from single family to multiple dwellings, requested by Richard Dunn. Councilman William Secor dissented and Councilman Joseph E. Sheeks abstained because Dunn is a client of the law firm of which he is a member.
3. Agreed to co-sponsor a symposium on human rights to be presented by the Marin County Human Rights Committee at Marin City Dec. 11, and voted to contribute $100 toward financing it.
4. Granted Kenneth Conant permission to install a septic tank at Cascade Drive and Lovell Avenue.
5. Learned from Sheeks that he has been appointed a member of the library services committee of the League of California Cities.
6. Learned from Councilman Albert E. White that Sunset Scavenger Co. of San Francisco and Scavengers Protective Assn. of San Francisco would be willing to bid on the garbage collection contract now held by Mill Valley Refuse Service, and from Balmer that he will meet with representatives of Mill Valley Refuse Service on Friday to discuss negotiations.
7. Continued until Dec. 6 action on an application by Edward Strauss to subdivide two lots into four at 425 Lovell Avenue.
8. Continued until Dec. 6 action on rezoning of the Alto corridor annexation, so it can be included in the East Mill Valley general plan rezoning.
9. Continued until Dec. 20 application by Marin Capital Co. for recreation development on a five-acre parcel in Scott Valley.

Prison Ordered In Woman Killing

OAKLAND (AP) — James C. Jensen, 68, of Alameda, is to spend five years in prison for killing a woman in a dispute over her son's football.

Judge Lewis Lecara sentenced Jensen to that term yesterday for shooting Mrs. Alberta Hamilton, 33, after her son, Raymond, 15, kicked a football into Jensen's yard.

Jensen refused to let Mrs. Hamilton take the ball and drew a pistol when she and her prospective son-in-law, Robert White 18, entered the yard. Mrs. Hamilton was killed instantly.

Millions Of Rodents Used In Research

CHICAGO (AP) — A veterinarian estimates that 50 million rodents are used annually in research and laboratory work in the United States.

Dr. Steele F. Mattingly said thousands of dogs, cats, chickens, hogs, sheep and horses also are used in scientific studies aimed at improving human health. He calculated the cost of such animals in 1961 exceeded $3 million.

School Bids

The San Anselmo School District board, meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in the Isabel Cook School faculty room, will be asked to call for bids for construction of Red Hill School. Supt. Stephen Parodi has estimated building costs for the school at $250,000.

Corte Madera Councilmen Cautious On Finance Aide

Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher last night called for creation of a new department for finance, at least on paper, for Corte Madera.

He presented the Corte Madera Town Council a rough draft of an ordinance which would create the position of director of finance, and said he would like to have the post, which would carry only a token salary, held by Town Treasurer John R. Vance.

Town Atty. Sherrod S. Davis said he doubted Vance, an elected official, could hold the post. The proposed ordinance did not name any specific person to fill the job.

Councilman William W. Collier said he was worried the new department would cause duplication in the town government, particularly if a new treasurer were elected who was not so capable as Vance.

Usher replied that the ordinance actually would make formal what is now being done informally, since by law, unless there is a finance officer, the accounting functions are under the auspices of the town clerk, Mrs. Betty S. Behel.

He recalled that the town's annual audit report had recommended giving accounting functions to someone else as a matter of principle.

The council continued consideration until Dec. 6 to give Collier more time to study the question.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

1. Called for bids on a new firehouse east of Highway 101 to be opened at 2 p.m. Dec. 20. Designer Harold B. Wagstaff estimated the building cost at about $25,000.
2. Agreed to allow the Post Office to use the fire department equipment room during the Christmas rush.
3. Introduced an ordinance for putting a stop sign on Endeavor Drive at Prince Royal Drive, but asked more study for two other locations on Prince Royal Drive.
4. Gave authorization for the architect to declare the construction of the new public safety building complete before the next meeting.
5. Decided it was unnecessary to pass a resolution supporting American soldiers in Viet Nam, although each councilman said he, as an individual, favored such support.
6. Refused to reconsider complaints that heavy trucks were tearing up pavement on Sausalito Street.
7. Renewed the annual contract with Livingstone and Blayney, San Francisco, as planning consultant.

Councilman Norman R. Barnett was absent.

Financial Firm Sues For Bonds On Defunct Bank

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A savings and loan association which lost $1.5 million when the San Francisco National Bank failed is suing its bonding company.

Glendale Federal Savings and Loan Assn. brought the action yesterday in U.S. District Court against Republic Insurance Co., a Texas corporation. Glendale had obtained a $3.1 million bond covering losses from fraud or dishonest acts by persons other than its employes.

Glendale contends the "money was lost and depleted by the continued embezzlement and misappropriations . . . by officers and directors of the bank and others and by the continued illegal operation of the bank."

Native Dance Gets Little Too Wild

An islander swung a club so vigorously it parted from its handle, shot through the air and hit Oxley.

New York Borough Colleges Suggested

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller wants the state university's board of trustees to consider possible construction of a four-year liberal arts college in each of New York City's five boroughs.

He suggested that such colleges might have an enrollment of up to 10,000 students in each borough.

Church Reception To Honor Novato Residents On Sunday

Capt. (Ret.) and Mrs. Charles Clarkson will be honored at a reception from 3 to 5 p.m. on Sunday at the Novato Presbyterian Church.

The reception, given by the deacons of the church, is to say "Thank You" to the Clarksons for all they have done for the church, said Mrs. William J. J. Smith, who is in charge of arrangements for the reception.

A portion of the present church property belonged to the Clarksons' and it was partly through their generosity that the church was able to move from its former location on Sherman Avenue to its present site on Wilson Avenue.

The reception will be held in the Christensen room and the deacons are extending an invitation, not only to the members of the church, but to residents of the city of Novato and to the many friends of "Cap" and Retta who reside in Marin county.

Prior to Captain Clarkson's recent curtailment of activities he was very active in civic affairs.

Foresters Donate Items To Terrace

Chief Ranger William Broshious of the Independent Order of Foresters might not look much like a godfather to others, but he certainly did to the staff, patients, and volunteers at The Terrace at Ross General Hospital one day two weeks ago. For those who don't know The Terrace, it is the only facility for treatment of tuberculosis in the Bay Area.

Recreation and occupational therapy loom large in the lives of these patients who face months to years of hospitalization, and funds for such items are always strained to the breaking point. So it was almost with disbelief that Mrs. B. L. Peterson, supervisor, and Mrs. R. J. Robideaux, head of the Terrace Volunteers, followed Mr. Broshious as he toured the ward and noted those things which were most needed.

A CASUAL question about a box of books which volunteer Jay Erskine had collected for the patients had led him to tell Mrs. Lester Bricca of the need of the patients for recreational supplies. She in turn told her neighbor Mrs. Joseph Terchera. Mrs. Terchera is the secretary-treasurer of Court Marin 1950 of the Foresters, and she suggested that Mrs. Bricca attend the next meeting of the Court officers and tell them of this need. The result was that less than 10 days after the question about the books the Foresters had voted to purchase two phonographs, a pool table, outdoor furniture, and had accepted an offer from Senior Woodward Charles Bearden to donate lumber and cut it to size so that Mr. Erskine could build cabinets and bookshelves for the recreation room; had started a drive among the members of the Foresters for books, records, jigsaw puzzles and other adult games; and had determined that this should become the prime continuing project for the Marin Court.

Mrs. Peterson, a Forester member, and Mrs. Robideaux are preparing lists of the other needs so that Mrs. Bricca who has been appointed chairman of the Forester committee working on this project can work out the amounts of money and assistance needed.

Karen Kuchel Will Marry On Saturday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel has announced that his daughter, Karen, 19, is about to marry a schoolmate.

The prospective groom is Delman William Smith, 20, of Sausalito.

Kuchel said yesterday the pair met at the University of California's Santa Barbara campus, where both are students. They are due to be married Saturday at the All Saints by the Sea Episcopal Church in Santa Barbara.

A reception will follow at El Encanto Hotel in the coastal city. The couple obtained a marriage license there yesterday, the senator said.

P-TA Unit Will View Holiday Items

Christmas decorations and holiday treats will be featured at the Marion School Parent-Teacher Assn. meeting to be held at 9:30 a.m., Thursday, in the multipurpose room in Novato.

Mesdames George Whitten, Thomas McClain and Richard Luddy will present holiday decorations for the home and demonstrate how they are made.

PLANNING A RETREAT

President Couple of the Marin Chapter of the Holy Family Retreat Assn., the Edward Monaghans of Fairfax, look over the formula for the renewal of the marriage vows with the Rev. William J. Dunn, as they plan a retreat this week-end at the St. Francis Retreat House at San Juan Baptista. The Monaghans are in charge of reservations for the event which will be co-sponsored with the Golden Gate Chapter of San Francisco. (Independent-Journal photo)

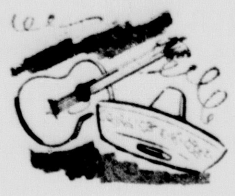
Friends Welcome Traveler

By MOLLY MARIN



Lifelong friends of Margaret Hatch have welcomed her on her return to Mill Valley from two months in Mexico this fall. Her home base was Cuernavaca, where friends reside, but she became acquainted with a great deal of the country by taking tours and side trips. On this second trip to Mexico, Miss Hatch flew to Mexico City, where she saw the spectacular new national Museum of Anthropology in Chapultepec Park and visited many other places of interest in that growing metropolis.

SHE RETURNED to the United States by Star Bus line, a unique experience for her since she was the only English-speaking passenger. Margaret is convinced a trip through the countryside is one of the more pleasant, informative ways to travel in a foreign land, where smiles can be a kind of universal language.

OTTO WEISSICH of Mill Valley was honored on his 70th birthday at a family party on Sunday. He is the son of the late W. O. Weissich Sr., who brought his family to Mill Valley in 1907, and served on the Mill Valley City Council. Attending the party were his sisters, Mrs. J. B. Phelps of Mill Valley and Mrs. Francis Seitz of Greenbrae, and brother, Theo Weissich of Willows. Also present were his sons and families, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Weissich Jr., and Jill, Bill and Lise, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Weissich and sons, Bruce, Frederick, and Paul of Honolulu. Entertaining at a series of dinner parties since returning from Europe are the W. O. Weissichs, who will have as their guests tonight Judge and Mrs. Alvin H. Goldstein and Mr. and Mrs. Haddon W. Roth.

MRS. RALPH MATHEWS is entertaining new neighbors and friends at a tea at her home in Belvedere tomorrow. Guests include Mrs. Benton D. Mathews, daughter-in-law of the hostess, Dr. L. Jean Bogert, and the Mesdames Ralph Curtis, Ingemar Hoberg, Harry Melman, Arthur Simon, Edward Brash, Al Kennerrer, Neville Rich and Stephen Parodi. Mr. and Mrs. Mathews, the parents of Dr. Benton D. Mathews, moved to Belvedere in the late summer. Their former home was San Francisco.

THE JOHN PERRYS of Terra Linda "beat everyone to the punch" as it were with their large "pre-holiday" cocktail party Saturday night. Following the party, the Perrys and some of their guests went on to the West End Villa in San Rafael for a no-host dinner party. Among those enjoying the festivities were Messrs. and Mesdames Edward Lane and Richard Smith of Terra Linda; Donald Stutzman of Fairfax; Joseph Corvino of San Francisco; Gary Dykstra of San Anselmo; and Marsh Motz of San Rafael.

ALTHOUGHT PRINCESS MARGARET and Lord Snowdon did not get to Marin County during their Bay Area visits, a member of their entourage came to Tiburon. Rene, the princess' hairdresser, lunched at the Dock with an old friend, Paul Edwards of Tiburon. Rene, who has been creating Princess Margaret's coiffeurs for 18 years, is accompanying the royal couple on their American trip. Arrangements have been made to fly Rene's wife to New York for a week's stay during the latter part of the English Princess' journey.

OPENING OF THE CRAB season on San Francisco Bay was celebrated in style by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bramante who took over the Belvedere Tennis Club Friday evening for a private party. Eighty guests, supplied with the traditional bibs, were served crab cioppino at the affair which took an Italian theme. An orchestra played for the dancing. And to add to the fun, Martin asked his guests to sharpen their wits and name two streets for a project he is developing in Alameda. Awards were four tickets to "Hello Dolly"

SPRING'S FASHION FORECAST –JUST A GAME OF CHECKERS

"Mini-checks, large checks, window checks, giant plaids, little plaids," is the way the firm of Monte Sano & Pruzan describe some of the materials used for its coats, dresses and costumes. At the firm of Arthur Jablow, where David Kidd is the chief designer, they were talking about checks, graph paper style. Some were houndstooth patterns, with the design exaggerated via loose weave, or black or brown lines sketched on pastels such as pink, aqua, and lime.

Watch for barber pole stripes or peppermint candy stick stripes for spring too. Bill Blass, the designer at Maurice Rentner's, did a floor length sheath-like number in half blue and white stripes half pink and white running diagonally.

These were some of the trends shaping up for the new season as the major manufacturers previewed their collections last week for visiting buyers. More collections will be shown this week and a few scattered on after Thanksgiving.

IN SILHOUETTE, the basic remains slim both in coats and dresses, with hundreds of tube dresses coordinated with narrow a-line coats. The above-knee skirts continue to dominate the collections.

Marin Forum To Meet On Friday

Speakers for the Marin Forum noon luncheon on Friday will be Julian Mack of Terra Linda and James Quiett of Marin City who will discuss "Race Relations in Marin County."

Mr. Mack, a San Francisco attorney, is president of the Marin Committee for Fair Play in Housing, one of the founders of the Council on Religion and Race, member of the Community Affairs Committee, and is active in the newly formed Dixie School District Institute for Educational Research.

Mr. Quiett, who is in the insurance business, is chairman of the Marin County Human Rights Commission; a member of the Marin City Housing Authority; Marin County Civic Affairs Committee and Community Action for Anti-Poverty. He has been active in community affairs for many years.

Measles Injection Advised For Child

A shot in the arm—of live measles virus! That's what pediatricians recommended for any child past nine months who has not had the disease.

And Christmas time is about the right time for it, too, because the "measles season" begins with the New Year, and rises to a peak by springtime.

Until recently, measles was all but inevitable. Today it is not. Long-lasting, perhaps lifetime, immunity can be provided with a single injection of live-virus Lirugen, or Schwarzstrain vaccine. It's a Christmas present that lasts.

THIS VACCINE has been so attenuated that children receiving it do not require a simultaneous injection of gamma globulin—and even the likelihood of their running a fever is slight.

Dr. Charles R. Hardcastle of Woburn, Mass., who has vaccinated more than 4,000 children with Lirugen, says only about a dozen had "mild fevers of no consequence."

More to the point, Woburn, which has 10,000 children under age 15, hasn't had a case of measles reported since last February when Lirugen first became available.

Arrangements Festive For Thanksgiving

All eyes are focused on the dining room table on Thanksgiving Day. The feast at hand is of prime importance. But the traditional menu takes on added enjoyment when the table setting is appropriately festive.

Whether it's a feast for company or just for the family, flowers for the table are as traditional as the menu on Thanksgiving. A centerpiece of fresh flowers alone, or combined with fruit, vegetables, or dried materials, quickly sets the proper holiday mood and reflects the spirit of the season.

If you're having a very elaborate holiday menu or a large gathering of family and friends, and the table becomes crowded with food and dishes, place your large floral centerpiece on a buffet or sideboard so it may be enjoyed by all.

A centerpiece arrangement, for example, of tawny chrysanthemums and sunny yellow roses teamed with okra pods, yarrow, spiral eucalyptus, and cattails will do any table, or hostess, proud.

For a buffet dinner, an arrangement of Fuji mums, pompons, dried mullein stalks, and bittersweet, with a base of preserved fall foliage on which several different color gourds are displayed, is certain to please.

Shaped Raincoat New Trend For Men

There has been a lot of talk about shaped or "waist-suppressed" suits for men. As part of this trend, Gentlemen's Quarterly introduces a shaped raincoat in its current issue. It's second only to a new black silk trenchcoat that costs the males $170.

GOWNS TO DAZZLE AND DELIGHT

For that one special knight . . . gowns to dazzle and delight him. Designed by Bob Bugnand for Sam Friedlander for the woman who is frankly feminine and wants fashion to echo her viewpoint. Her evening image, beguilingly bare, reflects the gleam of this magnificent twill satin at left, by Hurel of Celanese Acetate, cotton and nylon. A pert bow accent calls attention to the sophisticated symmetry of the panel front bodice. From the slightly raised waistline, the skirt is molded into controlled fullness to make grand entrances a must. Drifting drama to ignite the night . . . Modern Couture issues the invitation to succumb to romanticism after dark. And who can resist when wearing this flowing Onondaga's crepe column at right, of Celanese Acetate and rayon. Suddenly your shoulders are beautifully bared and accented by a crystal embroidered bodice. And for sheer artistry, a gossamer crystal collared stole is added for dramatic departures.

Peace Corps Career Teaches Participants

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Peace Corps teaches doing for others less fortunate, learning to appreciate other cultures. But it also teaches the U.S. participants to appreciate their own country more than ever before, says a young Minneapolis couple who spent two years with the corps in Ecuador.

"We came home more aware than ever that ours is a country of many choices," said Earle Brooks. "No other country comes near us."

The couple also came home with a pair of little charmers they've adopted — Ricardo, called Koki, now five years old, and Carmen, aged four, Ecuadorean children who had "adopted" the Brookses while they spent two years in the Pacific Coast village of Manta.

SHORTLY AFTER their return to the United States, Rhoda Brooks gave birth to a son, Ned, now 15 months and spoiled rotten, she said, by his adopted brother and sister.

The Brookses believe they're the first corpsmen to adopt children from the land they served. They also believe they are the first out with full-length "memoirs" of their Peace Corps years—"The Barrios of Manta," New American Library, New York, to be published Nov. 27.

During a visit here, the couple talked of why they volunteered for the corps and for life in the barrios—the fishermen's quarters.

They had met at the University of Wisconsin, from which they were graduated. And both long had been active in charity work. "We're church-oriented, I suppose," said Brooks. "Rhoda is a minister's daughter and I'm from a conservative old New England family that had a lot of ministers in it."

Earle was a sales engineer and Rhoda was teaching elementary school when they were accepted for the corps.

MANTA, they said, has a population of about 40,000 but "with the facilities of a town of 200 in the United States." The home of the couple, now in their early 30s, was right on the beach—a warehouse which they emptied and then furnished with home-made things fashioned from lumber scraps and whatever. Earle later taught the youth of Manta carpentry.

"We chose primitive quarters so we could show our neighbors what could be done," said Brooks.

They rigged a shower with a hand pump and like their neighbors hauled water for miles — "it hadn't rained in Manta for seven years," said Mrs. Brooks. "We once dragged some driftwood up from the beach for decoration. I know at first the fishermen thought we were something from Mars."

BUT THE BROOKSES and other corpsmen worked with the Ecuadoreans to improve their basic skills, to learn to sew, cook, make furniture, and to guide them in matters of health, sanitation, nutrition. One school began a hot lunch program for 400 children, thanks to the Brookses showing them how to build an outdoor stove and to CARE's providing of food.

"We were trying to plant the seed," said Brooks, "to start community cooperation projects."

APPARENTLY their neighbors "took to" the handsome and enthusiastic couple. The warehouse "home" was never without callers, children and adults. When once the couple decided to give a party, neighbors began arriving at 8 p.m. Mrs. Brooks recalled that the last left about 5 a.m. She had made 250 turkey sandwiches — they were gone in an hour.

TWO YEARS AHEAD

New Freeze-Drying Process Real Boon To Homemaker

NEW YORK (AP)—Some day the American homemaker may shop for the family dinner two years ahead of time and file it in a cabinet.

Food technologists are refining processes such as freeze drying so that well-flavored instant steaks, seafood and poultry in packages can be stored indefinitely, without refrigeration.

Campers, hunters, fishermen and mountain climbers have been eating freeze-dried foods for years.

The biggest push this year has been on breakfast cereals containing freeze-dried blueberries, strawberries, apples, and now, bananas and ice cream.

Freeze-dried fruit cereals sell for 37 cents a box, compared to 25 cents for plain cereals.

"Currently, the cost of production of the freeze-dried vegetables and fruits now available is well beyond that which would be acceptable to a broad range of customers," says Arthur E. Larkin Jr., executive vice president of General Foods Corp. But he added: "The freeze-dry technique promises eventually to provide products at reasonable prices."

Kermit Bird, a U. S. Department of Agriculture economist, estimated 5.6 million pounds of food were freeze-dried in 1962, 11.3 million in 1963 and 25 million last year.

The total will reach 317 million pounds by 1970, he predicted.

'Pop Art' Kitchen Decor Easy With New Adhesive

Why not make your own "Pop Art" for your kitchen? Refrigerators, cabinets, and breakfast nook walls all lend themselves to pop and op designs.

While art collectors and museums hang original oil paintings of professional artists' soup cans, fresh fruit and vegetables, meat counters, and comic strips in their gallery, you can make your own designs for the kitchen with adhesive covering.

Just a few simple shapes and colors are all you need. Make a mural of citrus fruit for your cabinets or the wall over your breakfast nook. Use rolls of willow green, canary yellow and tangerine adhesive covering.

Use pans and bowls of varying sizes as patterns for limes, lemons, tangerines, oranges and grapefruit. The size of the fruit and the number you use will depend on the amount of space you have to cover. Lay the patterns on the wrong side of the rolls and draw around them.

USE WHOLE circles for complete fruit and half or quarter circles as wedges. Then cut out the fruit shapes. Move them around on a large table or the floor to decide how to arrange them on the cabinet or wall. Then, when you have decided how they will look best, peel off the backing and press the adhesive side of each lime, lemon, tangerine, orange and grapefruit to the surface.

Your own original pop art also finds a frame in your refrigerator door. A hot dog will fit nicely, and can be made of cherry red adhesive covering with a beige bun.

SIMPLY CUT a long, narrow red oval big enough to reach the full height of your refrigerator door and a slightly shorter beige oval. Cut the beige oval in two. Then, peel off the backing and press the adhesive side of the hot dog to the refrigerator in the center. Put the two pieces of the beige oval around it.

For an op art fruit mural or hot dog, try rolls of patterned adhesive covering in place of realistic colors.

GOWNS TO DAZZLE AND DELIGHT

For that one special knight . . . gowns to dazzle and delight him. Designed by Bob Bugnand for Sam Friedlander for the woman who is frankly feminine and wants fashion to echo her viewpoint. Her evening image, beguilingly bare, reflects the gleam of this magnificent twill satin at left, by Hurel of Celanese Acetate, cotton and nylon. A pert bow accent calls attention to the sophisticated symmetry of the panel front bodice. From the slightly raised waistline, the skirt is molded into controlled fullness to make grand entrances a must. Drifting drama to ignite the night . . . Modern Couture issues the invitation to succumb to romanticism after dark. And who can resist when wearing this flowing Onondaga's crepe column at right, of Celanese Acetate and rayon. Suddenly your shoulders are beautifully bared and accented by a crystal embroidered bodice. And for sheer artistry, a gossamer crystal collared stole is added for dramatic departures.

'Pop Art' Kitchen Decor Easy With New Adhesive

Why not make your own "Pop Art" for your kitchen? Refrigerators, cabinets, and breakfast nook walls all lend themselves to pop and op designs.

While art collectors and museums hang original oil paintings of professional artists' soup cans, fresh fruit and vegetables, meat counters, and comic strips in their gallery, you can make your own designs for the kitchen with adhesive covering.

Just a few simple shapes and colors are all you need. Make a mural of citrus fruit for your cabinets or the wall over your breakfast nook. Use rolls of willow green, canary yellow and tangerine adhesive covering.

Use pans and bowls of varying sizes as patterns for limes, lemons, tangerines, oranges and grapefruit. The size of the fruit and the number you use will depend on the amount of space you have to cover. Lay the patterns on the wrong side of the rolls and draw around them.

USE WHOLE circles for complete fruit and half or quarter circles as wedges. Then cut out the fruit shapes. Move them around on a large table or the floor to decide how to arrange them on the cabinet or wall. Then, when you have decided how they will look best, peel off the backing and press the adhesive side of each lime, lemon, tangerine, orange and grapefruit to the surface.

Your own original pop art also finds a frame in your refrigerator door. A hot dog will fit nicely, and can be made of cherry red adhesive covering with a beige bun.

SIMPLY CUT a long, narrow red oval big enough to reach the full height of your refrigerator door and a slightly shorter beige oval. Cut the beige oval in two. Then, peel off the backing and press the adhesive side of the hot dog to the refrigerator in the center. Put the two pieces of the beige oval around it.

For an op art fruit mural or hot dog, try rolls of patterned adhesive covering in place of realistic colors.

TWO YEARS AHEAD

New Freeze-Drying Process Real Boon To Homemaker

NEW YORK (AP)—Some day the American homemaker may shop for the family dinner two years ahead of time and file it in a cabinet.

Food technologists are refining processes such as freeze drying so that well-flavored instant steaks, seafood and poultry in packages can be stored indefinitely, without refrigeration.

Campers, hunters, fishermen and mountain climbers have been eating freeze-dried foods for years.

The biggest push this year has been on breakfast cereals containing freeze-dried blueberries, strawberries, apples, and now, bananas and ice cream.

Freeze-dried fruit cereals sell for 37 cents a box, compared to 25 cents for plain cereals.

"Currently, the cost of production of the freeze-dried vegetables and fruits now available is well beyond that which would be acceptable to a broad range of customers," says Arthur E. Larkin Jr., executive vice president of General Foods Corp. But he added: "The freeze-dry technique promises eventually to provide products at reasonable prices."

Kermit Bird, a U. S. Department of Agriculture economist, estimated 5.6 million pounds of food were freeze-dried in 1962, 11.3 million in 1963 and 25 million last year.

The total will reach 317 million pounds by 1970, he predicted.

Peace Corps Career Teaches Participants

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Peace Corps teaches doing for others less fortunate, learning to appreciate other cultures. But it also teaches the U.S. participants to appreciate their own country more than ever before, says a young Minneapolis couple who spent two years with the corps in Ecuador.

"We came home more aware than ever that ours is a country of many choices," said Earle Brooks. "No other country comes near us."

The couple also came home with a pair of little charmers they've adopted — Ricardo, called Koki, now five years old, and Carmen, aged four, Ecuadorean children who had "adopted" the Brookses while they spent two years in the Pacific Coast village of Manta.

SHORTLY AFTER their return to the United States, Rhoda Brooks gave birth to a son, Ned, now 15 months and spoiled rotten, she said, by his adopted brother and sister.

The Brookses believe they're the first corpsmen to adopt children from the land they served. They also believe they are the first out with full-length "memoirs" of their Peace Corps years—"The Barrios of Manta," New American Library, New York, to be published Nov. 27.

During a visit here, the couple talked of why they volunteered for the corps and for life in the barrios—the fishermen's quarters.

They had met at the University of Wisconsin, from which they were graduated. And both long had been active in charity work. "We're church-oriented, I suppose," said Brooks. "Rhoda is a minister's daughter and I'm from a conservative old New England family that had a lot of ministers in it."

Earle was a sales engineer and Rhoda was teaching elementary school when they were accepted for the corps.

MANTA, they said, has a population of about 40,000 but "with the facilities of a town of 200 in the United States." The home of the couple, now in their early 30s, was right on the beach—a warehouse which they emptied and then furnished with home-made things fashioned from lumber scraps and whatever. Earle later taught the youth of Manta carpentry.

"We chose primitive quarters so we could show our neighbors what could be done," said Brooks.

They rigged a shower with a hand pump and like their neighbors hauled water for miles — "it hadn't rained in Manta for seven years," said Mrs. Brooks. "We once dragged some driftwood up from the beach for decoration. I know at first the fishermen thought we were something from Mars."

BUT THE BROOKSES and other corpsmen worked with the Ecuadoreans to improve their basic skills, to learn to sew, cook, make furniture, and to guide them in matters of health, sanitation, nutrition. One school began a hot lunch program for 400 children, thanks to the Brookses showing them how to build an outdoor stove and to CARE's providing of food.

"We were trying to plant the seed," said Brooks, "to start community cooperation projects."

APPARENTLY their neighbors "took to" the handsome and enthusiastic couple. The warehouse "home" was never without callers, children and adults. When once the couple decided to give a party, neighbors began arriving at 8 p.m. Mrs. Brooks recalled that the last left about 5 a.m. She had made 250 turkey sandwiches — they were gone in an hour.

SCENE OF STRUGGLE—Kate Keller, portrayed by Carla Stone, waits understandingly as Helen, played by Vicki Evans, struggles with a pair of scissors, seeking a glimmer of understanding, in Redwood High School's production of "The Miracle Worker," which opens Thursday night in the school's little theater. Double-cast in the lead roles of Annie are senior Jodi Covington and junior Pam Eubanks, and double-cast as Helen are senior Vicki Evans and sophomore Margaret Tuck.

Although the play presented several problems, such as injuries arising from the numerous scenes of physical violence, director Joseph Wadlington, drama teacher at the school, reports that all difficulties have been ironed out.

Cast in the role of Mr. and Mrs. Keller and Helen's half-brother, James, are junior Herb Dukes, senior Carla Stone, and junior Bill Kast. Playing the girl's Aunt Ev is senior Jill Mazur, and the family's Negro servants are Margaret Hawkins, Suzanne Miner, Odetter Smith and Alex Herrmann. Dr. Anagnos will be portrayed by sophomore Bob Borgmann, and the doctor is senior John Bamberger. Cast as blind children are seniors Kim Cameron, Jacki Crisp and Caroline Talbott; junior Joan Breyer, and sophomore Roberta Shistar. Persons of the asylum are Suzanne Miner, John Bamberger and Gordon Hess.

Assisting Wadlington were student director Suzanne Miner, production coordinators Jacki Crisp and Vicki Turner, the stagecraft classes of Jack Sorrelle, the lighting staff of Herb Dukes, John Bamberger; the sound coordinators Herb Dukes and Bob Borgmann, the properties crew under chairman Judi Rude, and others.

Both costumes and make-up will be done by the cast members themselves.

Land Owners Cool Tiburon Rezoning Idea

Fifty angered Tiburon property owners turned out last night to protest proposed changes in duplex zoning and were sent away somewhat soothed by the Tiburon Planning Commission.

Under discussion was a proposed ordinance amendment changing from 7,500 to 10,000 square feet the minimum lot size for a duplex. Single-family dwelling in a duplex zone would require 7,000 square feet.

Planning Administrator Leslie Gross said 51 lots now zoned duplex would be reduced to single family. He said density in the Lyford Cove and Mar West areas would be cut about 30 per cent.

Constance Fields asked why "old Tiburon" was being picked on. "What's wrong with duplex people? We need all kinds of people. The same kinds of houses in a neighborhood makes for a dead, dull area," she declared.

Anthony M. Gazzardo, who said he lived on Paradise Drive in a single family house on a duplex lot, said, "I have duplex neighbors all around me and these people pay a high price for the delights of living in Tiburon. They should get a break."

This was greeted by applause.

Jeffory Morshead of Mill Valley was worried about what would happen should his duplex suffer fire damage. "The way I understand the ordinance, if 75 per cent of the assessed valuation of my duplex should be destroyed by fire I couldn't rebuilt as a duplex."

"Just what are you trying to do?" asked Ernie Nevers, "limit the population out here?"

"Yes," replied Commissioner Joseph C. Marshall. "We thought that's what the people wanted."

"Then why build a fine new highway?" Nevers shot back.

Samuel Schneider, president of the Tiburon Property Owners Assn., asked that the matter be delayed for 30 days.

Commissioners went him one better and voted unanimously to continue the hearing for 60 days.

College To Use Federal Money

The Marin Junior College District will use $52,851 in funds granted by the federal government to purchase new library books and science equipment, business manager Norman Bird said today.

The funds were granted to the district to serve students whose families work for the federal government. The only requirement is that they be used for expansion and for items essential to the classroom, Bird said.

He said the science equipment purchased with the funds will be put to use immediately.

Fairfax Trustees To Hear Progress Report

Succeeding programs of the series will be given on Thursday evenings. On Dec. 9 the Al Trobbe Trio will join the Belvedere Carollers in a Christmas program. Other programs will be:

Civil Rights Shielding Is Described

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Newsmen at times have "served as a protective shield for civil rights workers," Lawrence S. Fanning, executive director of the Chicago Daily News, said today.

Fanning spoke to 60 news executives attending the eighth annual conference of the Freedom of Information Center at the University of Missouri.

Henry Lee Moon, director of public relations for the NAACP, told the radio, television and newspaper executives that the Negro press for 138 years has led the fight for freedom and equal opportunity for Negroes.

Fanning said "The mass media are as involved and enmeshed in the civil rights crisis as are the political structure, the churches, the schools or any other part of society."

"The man who says he treats everybody alike regardless of race, creed or color, on a first-come, first-serve basis is either a fool or a knave," he said. "The difference between people—and what we do about them—is what the racial crisis is all about."

Fanning said that of necessity many civil rights organizations were compelled to stage "bigger and better shows" to attract the attention of the press. He urged that newsmen "open up our media to the civil rights movement" so that day-by-day constructive civil rights news will be published in addition to stories of violence and mass arrests.

Moon told the conference that the economic boycott by Negroes was first employed in Chicago in the 1920s and since then has become "a powerful weapon utilized in every section of the nation."

He described the Negro press as essentially a protest press and a special pleader and advocate of human rights.

Russia Stresses Consumer Needs

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda has announced the Soviet Cabinet and Communist party Central Committee have approved the budget and economic plan for 1966, and laid heavy stress on a goal of higher living standards. The official party newspaper mentioned defense needs only briefly.

The budget and defense plan, said Pravda, "are aimed at further developments of the national economy, the improvement of people's living standards and the strengthening of the country's defense potential."

This was the only mention of defense.

Fire Destroys Mail Bound For Europe

NEW YORK (AP) — Fire in the forward hold of the liner Independence last night destroyed 40 bags of U.S. mail destined for delivery in the Mediterranean.

The blaze was confined to one hatch containing 400 bags of mail. The ship was tied up at her Hudson River pier. There were no passengers aboard and no injuries to crewmen.

Let's count the cost of the college problem

It could hurt our prosperity, our jobs and world position.

For lack of room, many colleges are forced to turn away qualified applicants. If this state of affairs continues, our future leaders may be in short supply.

But we must have college-educated leaders. They make wise use of our resources, manpower and human skills.

This powers our economy, helps maintain a high standard of living with individual opportunity.

We must help higher education make up the shortage in classrooms, facilities and qualified teachers.

College is America's best friend

'MIRACLE WORKER'

Redwood High Sets Helen Keller Story

The struggle of Annie Sullivan to teach the blind, deaf and incorrigible Helen Keller, as depicted in "The Miracle Worker," will be presented in the Redwood High School Little Theater on Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m.

Double-cast in the lead roles of Annie are senior Jodi Covington and junior Pam Eubanks, and double-cast as Helen are senior Vicki Evans and sophomore Margaret Tuck.

Although the play presented several problems, such as injuries arising from the numerous scenes of physical violence, director Joseph Wadlington, drama teacher at the school, reports that all difficulties have been ironed out.

Cast in the role of Mr. and Mrs. Keller and Helen's half-brother, James, are junior Herb Dukes, senior Carla Stone, and junior Bill Kast. Playing the girl's Aunt Ev is senior Jill Mazur, and the family's Negro servants are Margaret Hawkins, Suzanne Miner, Odetter Smith and Alex Herrmann. Dr. Anagnos will be portrayed by sophomore Bob Borgmann, and the doctor is senior John Bamberger. Cast as blind children are seniors Kim Cameron, Jacki Crisp and Caroline Talbott; junior Joan Breyer, and sophomore Roberta Shistar. Persons of the asylum are Suzanne Miner, John Bamberger and Gordon Hess.

Assisting Wadlington were student director Suzanne Miner, production coordinators Jacki Crisp and Vicki Turner, the stagecraft classes of Jack Sorrelle, the lighting staff of Herb Dukes, John Bamberger; the sound coordinators Herb Dukes and Bob Borgmann, the properties crew under chairman Judi Rude, and others.

Both costumes and make-up will be done by the cast members themselves.

Margo Power Is Selected As Symphony Guest Soloist

Margo Power, lyric soprano of Tiburon, has been selected as guest soloist with the Marin Symphony Orchestra for the first of three Symphony Guild concerts planned for the 1965-66 season.

The orchestra, under direction of Sandor Salgo, will present the program including Gustav Mahler's Fourth Symphony and Mozart arias sung by Miss Power at 8 p.m. Dec. 12 in the College of Marin gymnasium.

The subscription series will also include a concert at the college on March 20 with pianist Istvan Nadas as soloist, and the Northern California premiere of the Virgil Thomson and Gertrude Stein opera, "The Mother of Us All," May 8 in Angelico Hall.

This will be the 14th season for the Symphony Guild of Marin, according to the president, Mrs. Walter M. Baird of San Rafael. In addition to the concert series, the Symphony Guild also sponsors the Marin Youth orchestra, Workshop for Strings, Music for Minors, Concert Previews and an annual scholarship for a young musician.

A membership drive to support these activities will close on Dec. 1, Mrs. Baird said. Membership drive headquarters is reached at P. O. Box 144, Mill Valley.

Land Owners Cool Tiburon Rezoning Idea

Fifty angered Tiburon property owners turned out last night to protest proposed changes in duplex zoning and were sent away somewhat soothed by the Tiburon Planning Commission.

Under discussion was a proposed ordinance amendment changing from 7,500 to 10,000 square feet the minimum lot size for a duplex. Single-family dwelling in a duplex zone would require 7,000 square feet.

Planning Administrator Leslie Gross said 51 lots now zoned duplex would be reduced to single family. He said density in the Lyford Cove and Mar West areas would be cut about 30 per cent.

Constance Fields asked why "old Tiburon" was being picked on. "What's wrong with duplex people? We need all kinds of people. The same kinds of houses in a neighborhood makes for a dead, dull area," she declared.

Anthony M. Gazzardo, who said he lived on Paradise Drive in a single family house on a duplex lot, said, "I have duplex neighbors all around me and these people pay a high price for the delights of living in Tiburon. They should get a break."

This was greeted by applause.

Jeffory Morshead of Mill Valley was worried about what would happen should his duplex suffer fire damage. "The way I understand the ordinance, if 75 per cent of the assessed valuation of my duplex should be destroyed by fire I couldn't rebuilt as a duplex."

"Just what are you trying to do?" asked Ernie Nevers, "limit the population out here?"

"Yes," replied Commissioner Joseph C. Marshall. "We thought that's what the people wanted."

"Then why build a fine new highway?" Nevers shot back.

Samuel Schneider, president of the Tiburon Property Owners Assn., asked that the matter be delayed for 30 days.

Commissioners went him one better and voted unanimously to continue the hearing for 60 days.

College To Use Federal Money

The Marin Junior College District will use $52,851 in funds granted by the federal government to purchase new library books and science equipment, business manager Norman Bird said today.

The funds were granted to the district to serve students whose families work for the federal government. The only requirement is that they be used for expansion and for items essential to the classroom, Bird said.

He said the science equipment purchased with the funds will be put to use immediately.

Civil Rights Shielding Is Described

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Newsmen at times have "served as a protective shield for civil rights workers," Lawrence S. Fanning, executive director of the Chicago Daily News, said today.

Fanning spoke to 60 news executives attending the eighth annual conference of the Freedom of Information Center at the University of Missouri.

Henry Lee Moon, director of public relations for the NAACP, told the radio, television and newspaper executives that the Negro press for 138 years has led the fight for freedom and equal opportunity for Negroes.

Fanning said "The mass media are as involved and enmeshed in the civil rights crisis as are the political structure, the churches, the schools or any other part of society."

"The man who says he treats everybody alike regardless of race, creed or color, on a first-come, first-serve basis is either a fool or a knave," he said. "The difference between people—and what we do about them—is what the racial crisis is all about."

Fanning said that of necessity many civil rights organizations were compelled to stage "bigger and better shows" to attract the attention of the press. He urged that newsmen "open up our media to the civil rights movement" so that day-by-day constructive civil rights news will be published in addition to stories of violence and mass arrests.

Moon told the conference that the economic boycott by Negroes was first employed in Chicago in the 1920s and since then has become "a powerful weapon utilized in every section of the nation."

He described the Negro press as essentially a protest press and a special pleader and advocate of human rights.

Russia Stresses Consumer Needs

MOSCOW (AP)— Pravda has announced the Soviet Cabinet and Communist party Central Committee have approved the budget and economic plan for 1966, and laid heavy stress on a goal of higher living standards. The official party newspaper mentioned defense needs only briefly.

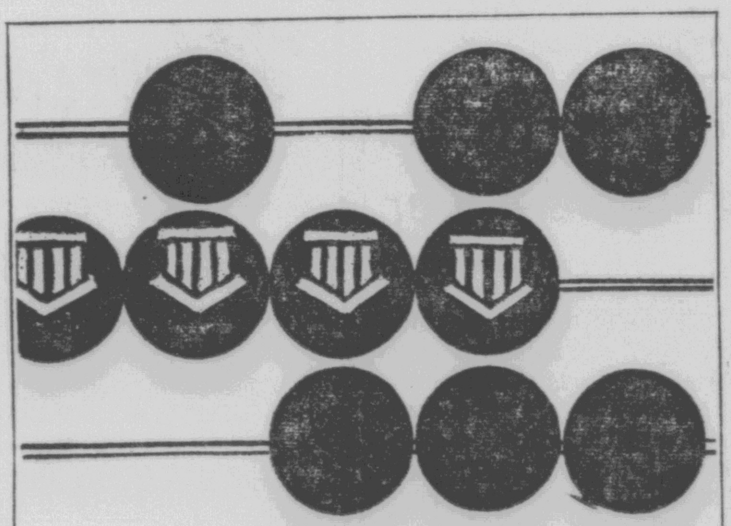
The budget and defense plan, said Pravda, "are aimed at further developments of the national economy, the improvement of people's living standards and the strengthening of the country's defense potential."

This was the only mention of defense.

Fire Destroys Mail Bound For Europe

NEW YORK (AP) — Fire in the forward hold of the liner Independence last night destroyed 40 bags of U.S. mail destined for delivery in the Mediterranean.

The blaze was confined to one hatch containing 400 bags of mail. The ship was tied up at her Hudson River pier. There were no passengers aboard and no injuries to crewmen.



Let's count the cost of the college problem

It could hurt our prosperity, our jobs and world position.
For lack of room, many colleges are forced to turn away qualified applicants. If this state of affairs continues, our future leaders may be in short supply.
But we must have college-educated leaders. They make wise use of our resources, manpower and human skills.
This powers our economy, helps maintain a high standard of living with individual opportunity.
We must help higher education make up the shortage in classrooms, facilities and qualified teachers.
It's everybody's problem—and it's urgent. Give to the college of your choice.

College is America's best friend

Suit Charges Faulty Work In Building

Sabella's Restaurant yesterday filed a $150,000 suit in Marin Superior Court alleging faulty construction of its leased building in Alto by building contractor Harry H. Johnson in 1961.

The suit asks that the court find Johnson responsible for repairs including painting of "unfinished interior walls, a leaky roof, faulty sewer lines, defective internal wiring, and a bad air conditioning installation.

It seeks $23,851 reimbursement for repairs, and the $150,000 for alleged loss of business as a result of need for repairs. Sabella's took lease possession of the building in July, 1961.

Johnson is also publisher of Marin Guide, with offices in Sausalito and Tamalpais Valley, which has been enbroiled in labor troubles recently.

Drug Device Guilty Plea

Guilty plea to an amended complaint of possessing a device to smoke a narcotic was entered in Marin Municipal Court yesterday by Gary John Gilbert, 23, alias Gary John Ammenti.

Judge Peter Allen Smith scheduled judgment for Dec. 7. Gilbert, of San Francisco, originally was charged with possession of marijuana. Plea came just before a preliminary hearing on the previous charge. Gilbert and Dean Howard Engle, 20, Monterey, allegedly had about $200 worth of poorly manicured marijuana in their car on Beach Road near Tiburon last Sept. 20.

Engle was held to answer at an Oct. 22 preliminary hearing.

Boys Who Rescued Girls In Sea Due Certificates

Two Mill Valley surfers, James Taldo, 16, and David Barca, 17, will be awarded Red Cross certificates of merit Saturday for their rescue July 5 of two girls being swept out to sea in the current from Bolinas Lagoon.

The ceremony will be held at 8 p.m. at the Bolinas Community Center.

The two boys, both members of the North Point Surfers, saw the two girls when one lost her grip on an inner tube float. Jumping on surfboards, the boys paddled out to the girls, and brought them back.

Later, after the girls had gone home, the Red Cross was unsuccessful in learning their names, in spite of a plea that they step forward.

President of San Rafael General Hospital Foundation Board is Dan E. Andersen, and administrator is Arthur G. Burns.

Rebellion In Marin City Aimed In Wrong Direction

A few days ago Marin City residents came to the aid of sheriff's deputies who were making an arrest for assault and battery.

The action reflects the determination of the big majority of residents to support law and order, even to the extent of personal involvement.

It was regrettable that another incident occurred shortly thereafter to undermine the efforts of those who are trying to create an atmosphere of respect for law and order.

We refer to the sniping at patrol cars. Several shots were fired at two sheriff's patrol cars, one shot breaking the flashing light on the dome of the squad car.

A few misguided individuals like these snipers can blow a minor problem all out of proportion or even create a problem where none exists.

The snipers may have been disgruntled individuals just giving vent to their resentment against authority. Or they may be deliberate trouble makers trying to incite anarchy.

In either case, their rebellion is aimed in the wrong direction.

There are bound to be shortcomings in any society and in any large law enforcement agency. But by and large, we can say with conviction that the Marin sheriff's department is staffed by able and conscientious men, who are bending over backwards to enforce the laws without fear or favor. We can say this from personal acquaintance with the officers, from the top brass to the men on the beat.

We sometimes fail to realize how fortunate we are living in a community where laws are administered fairly without regard for race, color or creed.

In many respects, Marin County has been in the forefront in the battle for equal rights throughout the country. Many of our citizens have risked personal safety to travel in the Deep South to help the less fortunate.

Within the county, we have individuals and groups working hard for fair housing and equal opportunities for all.

We cannot afford to nullify all the good that is being done by a few rash acts like sniping at protectors of law and order.

Such acts will only give bigots the excuse to shout, "I told you so!"

CLERK SHARES INHERITANCE WITH POOR

A shipping officer clerk, who inherited a $336,000 investment, is giving all the dividends from it—over $16,000 a year—to Oxfam, the Oxford Committee for Famine Relief in London.

The generous man, who wishes to remain anonymous, told Oxfam officials that he decided to give the money because of his concern for hungry people over the earth. His own basic needs, he said, were sufficiently covered by the salary he receives as a clerk.

"I am quite happy with my job and my life, and I want the money to serve a useful purpose," he said.

What a transformation would take place throughout the world if large numbers of people would imitate this clerk—at least on a small scale.

By setting reasonable limits to what they spend on themselves, many could share their advantages with persons who suffer from hunger or other forms of hardship.

God blesses everyone who sacrifices his own temporal advantage in order to benefit those in dire need.

"Go, sell whatever you have, and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven." (Mark 10:21)

Should Employees Of State Get Free School While On Leave

By HENRY C. MACARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—How to get a master's degree at public expense might be the subject of a course furnished by the State Department of Social Welfare, following disclosures of aid to education sponsored by those dispensers of largesse in many fields.

The incident which brought the subsidies to light resulted from refusal of the Plumas County auditor to pay a county welfare director while the director is on leave attending a state college, ostensibly working for a master's degree.

THE AUDITOR contends payment of this type of aid to education is a violation of the State Constitution, which says in Article I, Sec. 21: ". . . nor shall any citizen, or class of citizens, be granted privileges or immunities which, upon the same terms, shall not be granted to all citizens."

Although the question of whether the payments are or are not constitutional is an issue that finally will have to be decided by the courts, if the question ever reaches the courts, wording of the section seems fairly clear.

Patently, public funds are being paid out for the enrichment in knowledge of a citizen who is in a particular class. The class is that of social welfare employees, who under state law, are permitted the privilege of attending college to enrich their capabilities. Other classes of citizens do not have such privileges, so the question devolves on whether the constitution of California means what it says, and whether the law which permits the department of social welfare to expend public funds is a valid act of the legislature.

ANOTHER AND much more vital question is whether the constitution which is supposed to be the dictate of the people to the State Legislature, is being circumvented for purposes of expediency. If so, the circumvention marks just another intrusion of government on the rights and privileges of all the people who support government.

Thus, the question of whether government is justified in expending public funds to further the education of a certain class has little bearing. Such expenditures may be good for the public welfare, depending on how the public looks at the situation. The capacities of employees of the department may be upgraded because of a master's degree.

BUT ON THE OTHER hand, the real question is whether or not the department of social welfare and the state legislature legally can dispense public funds outside the provisions of the guiding document which governs the course of legislation.

Extent of the social welfare program in providing educational subsidy involves more than just one county welfare director. Officials of the department say a total of 183 persons are on leave from the department after more schooling. And in addition, 31 prospective employees are being given school subsidies on the theory they will become employed by the department when their courses are completed.

Total cost to the taxpayers exceeds $800,000 annually.

Viet Nam Policy Is 'Short Sighted'

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I'm sorry, Mr. Craemer, but I'm not going to "stand up for our policy in Viet Nam," because I think that it is a short-sighted and destructive one.

The old slogan, "My country, right or wrong," is authoritarian in concept, and one that has no place in a democratic society.

I think that it is extremely important that those of us who see the war in Viet Nam as an evil thing stand up and say so, and not simply go along like, for example, the German people in World War II. I am delighted to find myself in the company of such an outstanding "Commie" as Sen. Wayne Morse. Senator Fullbright, who suggests a cessation of bombing to encourage negotiation is, I presume, a "fellow-traveller."

Interracial Council Sets Second Forum

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to take this opportunity - late though it is because I was in Selma, Alabama all last week - to thank you for your generous coverage of the Catholic Interracial Council's panel entitled "The Clergy in Civil Rights."

Members of the panel have expressed to me their delight with the accuracy of the reporting. . .

It is the plan of the Catholic Interracial Council of Marin to bring to the community, by means of a series of panels involving outstanding local and regional leaders, an awareness of the burden of responsibility that rests on the shoulders of men who would call themselves 'religious" to cut a few windows in the wall of institutionalism which may have clouded their vision in the past. It is for this reason that we are delighted to bring such a distinguished panel to Marin through the generous facilities of the Newman Club at the College of Marin.

On Nov. 16, our second important panel of the series - "The Suburban Parish and Civil Rights" - will feature an equaly distinguished panel, including Dr. Robert Lee, San Francisco Theological Seminary, Mrs. John C. Bennett, a prominent San Rafael Catholic laywoman, Mr. Percy Steele, the Executive Director of the Bay Area Urban League, and the Rev. Phyllis Edwards, Episcopalian Deaconess recently ordained by the Right Rev. James B. Pike. . .

How about a "Bouquet" to the Chrysanthemum Society of Marin for their 16th annual flower show held in the beautiful Crocker-Citizens National Bank, on Oct. 23 and 24? This show was held in San Rafael and was a beautiful show, and the members worked hard to make it so.

College, Army Hit For Plans On Ditch

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Overlooked in recent discussions of Phase I of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project is the fact that the same rectangular concrete ditch that was rejected by the upper valley towns is still planned for the lower portion. An area of great beauty on the College of Marin campus, running a half mile downstream from Ross, is still scheduled for the original Army Engineers' ditch treatment.

Mrs. Deedy, of the college board of trustees, recently accused the upper valley towns of footdragging, delaying tactics, etc. As she has now learned, these towns have all indicated willingness to participate in corrective measures for Phase I. They have all, very wisely, rejected the concrete ditch for their areas, and want reasonable limits on the tax rate.

However, these towns, which were unfairly called foot-draggers, may wish to point out that Mrs. Deedy and her board could just as easily be accused of roughshod tactics in demanding uncritical acceptance of an overly extensive, overly expensive plan which will wreck the scenic aspects of a long stretch of the lower creek.

It does seem sad that this whole problem turns on a simple point: the overextensive design criteria of a "500 year flood" laid down by the Army Engineers. The plan now current calls for a treatment to accommodate a theoretical storm that might occur once in half a century (sic) and proposes a rectangular cross section channel where we now have a gently curving, tree-lined stream that couldn't be duplicated at any price.

The answer lies in revised design criteria and paramount consideration of esthetics. . .

Is it right that the college, which belongs to all of us, should ask that we throw away the values of beauty which now exist, just because a Federal agency has worked from the wrong approach?

Send Hell's Angels To Viet Nam War

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The thought has just occurred to me that there is an untapped source of courageous and patriotic young men who have recently displayed their loyalty to the United States in their aggressive opposition to the ill-advised Viet Nam peace marchers.

Perhaps the formation of Hell's Angels Battalions to serve in the capacity of Rangers or similar units would do much to expedite the war against communist aggression there. I hope that leaders of the Hell's Angels and other similar groups will act on this. There is a possibility that waivers for past civil difficulties could be obtained in situations where this may be a problem in recruitment.

I am a disabled veteran who served as an officer with an Armored Division in World War II. I have had a first hand opportunity to associate with young men on the line that served with honor.

Hell's Angels Battalions would be admirably suited to perform as a credit to our country and to themselves. It would also give them an opportunity to prove in combat that their convictions are as strong as their civil demonstrations have indicated. They may duplicate the exploits of the historic French Foreign Legion.

TALLULAH BANKHEAD, one of the most generous and unselfish stars in the history of the theatre, once agreed to star in a revival of "A Streetcar Named Desire" for N.Y.'s financially-pressed City Center Repertory Theatre for the nominal salary of $85 a week. Later it was revealed that for the length of the run, she was paying her theater maid $100 a week!

AN ENGLISH barrister dearly longed for a son to carry on his fine old family name, but all his poor wife could produce was eight bouncing daughters in a row. When the youngest one had attained the age of 16 (weighing, like the others, in the neighborhood of 160 pounds), a colleague came down for the weekend. Looking over the barrister's rolling estate from the rear courtyard., he exclaimed, "How proud you must be of your magnificent resources."

"My dear fellow," answered his host ruefully. "My problem is to HUSBAND them!"

LBJ Averted Aluminum Price Rise Without Embittering The Industry

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon B. Johnson has undoubtedly prevented a serious, hurtful breach between the administration and business by the way he set about to avert a price rise in the aluminum industry.

The difference between the Kennedy approach to the increase in steel prices in 1962 and the Johnson approach to the aluminum industry involves more than presidential style.

It involves substance, attitude, and, in the judgment of some, motivation.

Most businessmen do not want the government intervening in the price structure of private enterprise.

Most businessmen do not feel the government has done enough to halt the upward spiral of wages to have any adequate basis for forcing industry to cut back a rise in prices.

Most businessmen would like the federal government more if it did less.

AFTER ALL THIS has been said, after the honest differences have been stated, Mr. Johnson's handling of the aluminum price rise is not bringing in its wake the bitter gulf between the administration and the business community Mr. Kennedy created in like circumstances. There are reasons.

This time there was no name-calling by the White House, no cold fury exhibited by the president, no denunciation of industry. Words like Mr. Kennedy's "irresponsible defiance" and "ruthless disregard of duty," were never allowed in the dialogue.

The FBI was not brought into the picture, as it was in the steel price matter. There were no federal agents knocking on the doors of newspaper reporters at midnight, demanding to read their notes of interviews with industry executives.

And there were no threats of anti-trust action if the prices weren't rescinded.

These differences in manner and method are considerable.

AND THERE'S another: Unlike JFK, President Johnson never publicly entered the controversy. To those who think that LBJ is compulsively determined to make himself the center of everything — and couldn't help doing so even if he wished — it must seem incredible that he did not hold press conferences on the hour, give a TV interview in between, and then dash off letters to Alcoa, Reynolds and Kaiser, telling them that the president won't stand for this.

He did none of these things. He did not unsheathe the presidential sword at any time. The chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, Gardner Ackley, made the economic case against the price rise — that it would be dangerously inflationary. Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara announced that the government would sell some of its stockpile of aluminum. Then the administration waited.

IT DID NOT wait in vain. Either the industry accepted the argument of the government or felt that the sale of stockpiled aluminum would hurt more than the price rise would help — or partly both.

The end result was the same — price rises withdrawn.

Foreign Aid's Bell May Be On Way Out

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Inner Johnson Cabinet circles are buzzing with a provocative report about Foreign Aid Administrator David Bell.

Reputedly, he is quitting soon to join the Ford Foundation.

According to one version of this back-stage report, 46-year-old Bell will succeed Henry Heald, 61, who is quitting as president of the giant foundation at the end of this year. He has held this position since 1956.

BELL HAS FILLED high offices in the Truman, Kennedy and Johnson regimes. From 1949 to 1953, he was administrative assistant to President Truman. In 1960, President-elect Kennedy named him budget director, and two years later shifted him to the multi-billion dollar foreign aid agency, where he has been since. If Bell does leave, he will be the latest in a long succession of foreign aid directors. His three-year tenure establishes an endurance record.

THIS DISRUPTIVE factor and the frequent changing of the agency's status title were caustically condemned in a 1960 report of the Senate Appropriations Committee—which branded them as "detrimental to operations."

Based on a study by Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., the report declared:

"To the detriment of the operation, the administrators of the successive aid agencies have changed oftener than the name of the agency. There have been nine administrators in the past ten years.

"The government organizations which carried out the foreign assistance programs were borne of emergency and went through frequent reorganizations, consolidations, changes in name, changes in leadership. Within this period, the principal aid agency has been known as the ECA, TCA, MSA, FOA, ICA, and finally AID.

"IN ADDITION, there are a number of other agencies which were set up to administer supplemental aid programs, including the Development Loan Fund as well as numerous international organizations to which this country contributes a very substantial percentage of the financing."

As Ford Foundation president, Heald has been paid $75,000 a year plus expenses. In addition, he receives $5,000 as a trustee.

Tall and quiet spoken, Bell is a World War II Marine veteran. From 1953 until named budget director, in late 1960 he was with the Harvard Graduate School of Public Administration, rising to assistant dean.

While President Johnson apparently faces the early likelihood of finding a new foreign aid administrator, he is also confronted with the even more tortuous problem of what to do about the widely assailed and battered huge spending program itself.

THE RECENT CONGRESS, while voting $3.28 billion for more military and economic aid strictly enjoined the administration to submit a new plan and concept next year.

For this purpose, the President has named a "General Advisory Committee" to study the various foreign assistance programs and submit recommendations. This committee, headed by Dr. James Perkins, president of Cornell University, has been conferring with congressional and other authorities.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S prolonged stay at his Texas ranch is holding up the formal accreditation of three new ambassadors — Ernst Lemberger of Austria; Farhan Shubilat of Jordan, and Ade Martins of Nigeria. Under diplomatic procedure they are not officially accredited as the Washington representatives of their countries until they present their papers to the President in person. Until then, they are titularly only "ambassador designate.'

Boys Who Rescued Girls In Sea Due Certificates

Two Mill Valley surfers, James Taldo, 16, and David Barca, 17, will be awarded Red Cross certificates of merit Saturday for their rescue July 5 of two girls being swept out to sea in the current from Bolinas Lagoon.

The ceremony will be held at 8 p.m. at the Bolinas Community Center.

The two boys, both members of the North Point Surfers, saw the two girls when one lost her grip on an inner tube float. Jumping on surfboards, the boys paddled out to the girls, and brought them back.

Later, after the girls had gone home, the Red Cross was unsuccessful in learning their names, in spite of a plea that they step forward.

President of San Rafael General Hospital Foundation Board is Dan E. Andersen, and administrator is Arthur G. Burns.

Well, If You Don't Like This War Sign Up For Another One

There seem to be a few people who are not too keen about joining the Army and fighting in Viet Nam, and this has caused some concern throughout the land.

So far, no one has come up with an ideal solution to the situation, but Jon Carey of the San Quentin News recently tossed a line in his column that may hold the answer to the problem.

"The Army has a new enlistment drive going — join the Army and pick your own war," Carey wrote.

Even the most die-hard draft dodger couldn't ask for anything fairer than that.

Under this system, a draft-board interview might go something like this:

DRAFTEE—I'm telling you dad, I'm not going anywhere. I just don't dig that war in Viet Nam.

INTERVIEWER—Now wait a minute, Mac, just sign up and don't worry about Viet Nam.

DRAFTEE — What do you mean, don't worry?

INTERVIEWER—We got this new deal, you join up and then pick your own war.

DRAFTEE — Okay, that sounds pretty cool. How about the Civil War?

INTERVIEWER—Well, that would be pretty hard to do.

DRAFTEE—I don't care. I'll sign up on either side, North or South, as long as I can stay in the states.

INTERVIEWER — It's not that. You see, the Civil War is over, and we haven't had much call from Grant or Lee for troops recently.

DRAFTEE — Okay. How about World War I? I want a war just like the war that dear old daddy had.

INTERVIEWER—I hate to tell you this, but that one's over too, and CBS has the television rights, so we can't have any re-runs.

DRAFTEE — How about World War II? Got any openings for that one?

INTERVIEWER — Nope. To tell you the truth, we've got more guys signed up for World War II now than we had during the war.

DRAFTEE—Could you maybe slip me into another army, say like in India, so I could go fight in Pakistan?

INTERVIEWER — Nope, can't do it. If we start sending men to India, the first thing you know we'd have to start sending them to Pakistan, and then we wouldn't have enough left for our own wars.

DRAFTEE—Well, it doesn't look as though I have much choice. What else have you got open besides Viet Nam?

INTERVIEWER — Hmm. Let's see . . . there's the Spanish - American War, the American Revolution and the Boer War.

DRAFTEE — I'm not too crazy about any of those. They had pretty weird uniforms in those days. Haven't you got anything with a little class?

INTERVIEWER—How about the war on poverty?

DRAFTEE — That's it. I'll sign up. I'll even carry my draft card.

INTERVIEWER—You don't need a draft card for this war. All you need is a credit card.

Accidents now cost America over $15 billion a year. Last year, accidents killed 104,000 people, hurt about 50 million—roughly one out of every four persons in the nation.

Kids are getting bigger. In the last four decades, 15-year-old boys have gained four inches in height and 20 pounds in weight, girls two inches and 10 pounds.

Tell your wife not to hurry through the supermarket. A University of Missouri survey found that 15 extra minutes of comparative food shopping could result in saving 5 per cent on a $20 purchase.

DID YOU KNOW that no living person is portrayed on any U.S. stamp or coin?

Odd legislation: In 1659 the General Court of Massachusetts passed a law making the observance of Christmas a penal offense.

Barbering is one of the world's oldest occupations. Egyptian relics indicate the nobility and priesthood patronized barbers 6,000 years ago. There are more than 20 mentions of barbering in the Bible.

Women are turning more often to the cup that cheers. Six out of 10 women now indulge at least occasionally in alcoholic beverages compared with eight out of 10 men. But the bad news is that one out of every 13 so-called social drinkers in America is an alcoholic.

HISTORY LESSON: The custom of holding egg rollings at Easter on the White House lawn began during the administration of Andrew Jackson, who loved children but was childless himself. Five other presidents had no children. They were George Washington, James Madison, James Knox Polk, Warren G. Harding, and, of course, our only bachelor president — James Buchanan.

Prosperity note: Better than three out of every four American families own automobiles: more than eight million families have two or more cars.

Servicemen To Get Gifts From Marin

Names of servicemen are being placed in a hat for interested persons to draw, Mrs. Margaret Goodyear of Mill Valley said today. Being packed, she said, are things such as dry salami, cigarettes, paperback books and cookies. "What the men don't use they can trade off," said Mrs. Goodyear.

Names must be drawn before Thanksgiving so packages will arrive by Christmas, she said. Persons interested pack their own boxes, enclose a card and mail to an Army postal office in San Francisco. Further information is available from Mrs. George Groll of 28 La Verne Avenue.

Johnson Threat Charged To Man

Billy Ray Pursley, 31, of Summerville, Ga., was arrested Sunday by Secret Service Agents on a warrant issued by a U.S. commissioner at Concord, N.C., Saturday. Pursley allegedly threatened the President while buying a rifle in Charlotte, N.C., last Thursday, A. G. Vial of the Secret Service said.

Vial said that Pursley bought a rifle at a Charlotte discount house Nov. 11. Witnesses to the purchase stated he threatened to use the rifle upon the President, Vial said.

Vial said the man admitted buying the rifle, but denied having made any threats.

War On Poverty To Be Explained In Novato Forum

The president's War on Poverty program will be explained and discussed by three of its officials today at a public meeting at 8 p.m. at the Novato Community House.

Speakers will be Dr. Paul F. O'Rourke, former Novato physician who now heads the Economic Opportunity Program in California; Walter Bremond, director of Community Relations Services for Marin County and Ron Field, field representative for 11 western states for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Dr. O'Rourke will discuss major phases of the state program. Bremond will outline the Marin program, and action on the national level will be the topic of Field.

The meeting is sponsored by the Novato Democratic Club as a non-partisan civic activity, according to Joseph A. Forest, club president.

Rebellion In Marin City Aimed In Wrong Direction

A few days ago Marin City residents came to the aid of sheriff's deputies who were making an arrest for assault and battery.

The action reflects the determination of the big majority of residents to support law and order, even to the extent of personal involvement.

It was regrettable that another incident occurred shortly thereafter to undermine the efforts of those who are trying to create an atmosphere of respect for law and order.

We refer to the sniping at patrol cars. Several shots were fired at two sheriff's patrol cars, one shot breaking the flashing light on the dome of the squad car.

A few misguided individuals like these snipers can blow a minor problem all out of proportion or even create a problem where none exists.

The snipers may have been disgruntled individuals just giving vent to their resentment against authority. Or they may be deliberate trouble makers trying to incite anarchy.

In either case, their rebellion is aimed in the wrong direction.

There are bound to be shortcomings in any society and in any large law enforcement agency. But by and large, we can say with conviction that the Marin sheriff's department is staffed by able and conscientious men, who are bending over backwards to enforce the laws without fear or favor. We can say this from personal acquaintance with the officers, from the top brass to the men on the beat.

We sometimes fail to realize how fortunate we are living in a community where laws are administered fairly without regard for race, color or creed.

In many respects, Marin County has been in the forefront in the battle for equal rights throughout the country. Many of our citizens have risked personal safety to travel in the Deep South to help the less fortunate.

Within the county, we have individuals and groups working hard for fair housing and equal opportunities for all.

We cannot afford to nullify all the good that is being done by a few rash acts like sniping at protectors of law and order.

Such acts will only give bigots the excuse to shout, "I told you so!"

CLERK SHARES INHERITANCE WITH POOR

A shipping officer clerk, who inherited a $336,000 investment, is giving all the dividends from it—over $16,000 a year—to Oxfam, the Oxford Committee for Famine Relief in London.

The generous man, who wishes to remain anonymous, told Oxfam officials that he decided to give the money because of his concern for hungry people over the earth. His own basic needs, he said, were sufficiently covered by the salary he receives as a clerk.

"I am quite happy with my job and my life, and I want the money to serve a useful purpose," he said.

What a transformation would take place throughout the world if large numbers of people would imitate this clerk—at least on a small scale.

By setting reasonable limits to what they spend on themselves, many could share their advantages with persons who suffer from hunger or other forms of hardship.

God blesses everyone who sacrifices his own temporal advantage in order to benefit those in dire need.

"Go, sell whatever you have, and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven." (Mark 10:21)

Should Employees Of State Get Free School While On Leave

By HENRY C. MACARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—How to get a master's degree at public expense might be the subject of a course furnished by the State Department of Social Welfare, following disclosures of aid to education sponsored by those dispensers of largesse in many fields.

The incident which brought the subsidies to light resulted from refusal of the Plumas County auditor to pay a county welfare director while the director is on leave attending a state college, ostensibly working for a master's degree.

THE AUDITOR contends payment of this type of aid to education is a violation of the State Constitution, which says in Article I, Sec. 21: ". . . nor shall any citizen, or class of citizens, be granted privileges or immunities which, upon the same terms, shall not be granted to all citizens."

Although the question of whether the payments are or are not constitutional is an issue that finally will have to be decided by the courts, if the question ever reaches the courts, wording of the section seems fairly clear.

Patently, public funds are being paid out for the enrichment in knowledge of a citizen who is in a particular class. The class is that of social welfare employees, who under state law, are permitted the privilege of attending college to enrich their capabilities. Other classes of citizens do not have such privileges, so the question devolves on whether the constitution of California means what it says, and whether the law which permits the department of social welfare to expend public funds is a valid act of the legislature.

ANOTHER AND much more vital question is whether the constitution which is supposed to be the dictate of the people to the State Legislature, is being circumvented for purposes of expediency. If so, the circumvention marks just another intrusion of government on the rights and privileges of all the people who support government.

Thus, the question of whether government is justified in expending public funds to further the education of a certain class has little bearing. Such expenditures may be good for the public welfare, depending on how the public looks at the situation. The capacities of employees of the department may be upgraded because of a master's degree.

BUT ON THE OTHER hand, the real question is whether or not the department of social welfare and the state legislature legally can dispense public funds outside the provisions of the guiding document which governs the course of legislation.

Extent of the social welfare program in providing educational subsidy involves more than just one county welfare director. Officials of the department say a total of 183 persons are on leave from the department after more schooling. And in addition, 31 prospective employees are being given school subsidies on the theory they will become employed by the department when their courses are completed.

Total cost to the taxpayers exceeds $800,000 annually.

Viet Nam Policy Is 'Short Sighted'

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I'm sorry, Mr. Craemer, but I'm not going to "stand up for our policy in Viet Nam," because I think that it is a short-sighted and destructive one.

The old slogan, "My country, right or wrong," is authoritarian in concept, and one that has no place in a democratic society.

I think that it is extremely important that those of us who see the war in Viet Nam as an evil thing stand up and say so, and not simply go along like, for example, the German people in World War II. I am delighted to find myself in the company of such an outstanding "Commie" as Sen. Wayne Morse. Senator Fullbright, who suggests a cessation of bombing to encourage negotiation is, I presume, a "fellow-traveller."

Interracial Council Sets Second Forum

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to take this opportunity - late though it is because I was in Selma, Alabama all last week - to thank you for your generous coverage of the Catholic Interracial Council's panel entitled "The Clergy in Civil Rights."

Members of the panel have expressed to me their delight with the accuracy of the reporting. . .

It is the plan of the Catholic Interracial Council of Marin to bring to the community, by means of a series of panels involving outstanding local and regional leaders, an awareness of the burden of responsibility that rests on the shoulders of men who would call themselves 'religious" to cut a few windows in the wall of institutionalism which may have clouded their vision in the past. It is for this reason that we are delighted to bring such a distinguished panel to Marin through the generous facilities of the Newman Club at the College of Marin.

On Nov. 16, our second important panel of the series - "The Suburban Parish and Civil Rights" - will feature an equaly distinguished panel, including Dr. Robert Lee, San Francisco Theological Seminary, Mrs. John C. Bennett, a prominent San Rafael Catholic laywoman, Mr. Percy Steele, the Executive Director of the Bay Area Urban League, and the Rev. Phyllis Edwards, Episcopalian Deaconess recently ordained by the Right Rev. James B. Pike. . .

How about a "Bouquet" to the Chrysanthemum Society of Marin for their 16th annual flower show held in the beautiful Crocker-Citizens National Bank, on Oct. 23 and 24? This show was held in San Rafael and was a beautiful show, and the members worked hard to make it so.

College, Army Hit For Plans On Ditch

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Overlooked in recent discussions of Phase I of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project is the fact that the same rectangular concrete ditch that was rejected by the upper valley towns is still planned for the lower portion. An area of great beauty on the College of Marin campus, running a half mile downstream from Ross, is still scheduled for the original Army Engineers' ditch treatment.

Mrs. Deedy, of the college board of trustees, recently accused the upper valley towns of footdragging, delaying tactics, etc. As she has now learned, these towns have all indicated willingness to participate in corrective measures for Phase I. They have all, very wisely, rejected the concrete ditch for their areas, and want reasonable limits on the tax rate.

However, these towns, which were unfairly called foot-draggers, may wish to point out that Mrs. Deedy and her board could just as easily be accused of roughshod tactics in demanding uncritical acceptance of an overly extensive, overly expensive plan which will wreck the scenic aspects of a long stretch of the lower creek.

It does seem sad that this whole problem turns on a simple point: the overextensive design criteria of a "500 year flood" laid down by the Army Engineers. The plan now current calls for a treatment to accommodate a theoretical storm that might occur once in half a century (sic) and proposes a rectangular cross section channel where we now have a gently curving, tree-lined stream that couldn't be duplicated at any price.

The answer lies in revised design criteria and paramount consideration of esthetics. . .

Is it right that the college, which belongs to all of us, should ask that we throw away the values of beauty which now exist, just because a Federal agency has worked from the wrong approach?

Send Hell's Angels To Viet Nam War

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The thought has just occurred to me that there is an untapped source of courageous and patriotic young men who have recently displayed their loyalty to the United States in their aggressive opposition to the ill-advised Viet Nam peace marchers.

Perhaps the formation of Hell's Angels Battalions to serve in the capacity of Rangers or similar units would do much to expedite the war against communist aggression there. I hope that leaders of the Hell's Angels and other similar groups will act on this. There is a possibility that waivers for past civil difficulties could be obtained in situations where this may be a problem in recruitment.

I am a disabled veteran who served as an officer with an Armored Division in World War II. I have had a first hand opportunity to associate with young men on the line that served with honor.

Hell's Angels Battalions would be admirably suited to perform as a credit to our country and to themselves. It would also give them an opportunity to prove in combat that their convictions are as strong as their civil demonstrations have indicated. They may duplicate the exploits of the historic French Foreign Legion.

TALLULAH BANKHEAD, one of the most generous and unselfish stars in the history of the theatre, once agreed to star in a revival of "A Streetcar Named Desire" for N.Y.'s financially-pressed City Center Repertory Theatre for the nominal salary of $85 a week. Later it was revealed that for the length of the run, she was paying her theater maid $100 a week!

AN ENGLISH barrister dearly longed for a son to carry on his fine old family name, but all his poor wife could produce was eight bouncing daughters in a row. When the youngest one had attained the age of 16 (weighing, like the others, in the neighborhood of 160 pounds), a colleague came down for the weekend. Looking over the barrister's rolling estate from the rear courtyard,, he exclaimed, "How proud you must be of your magnificent resources."

"My dear fellow," answered his host ruefully. "My problem is to HUSBAND them!"

LBJ Averted Aluminum Price Rise Without Embittering The Industry

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon B. Johnson has undoubtedly prevented a serious, hurtful breach between the administration and business by the way he set about to avert a price rise in the aluminum industry.

The difference between the Kennedy approach to the increase in steel prices in 1962 and the Johnson approach to the aluminum industry involves more than presidential style.

It involves substance, attitude, and, in the judgment of some, motivation.

Most businessmen do not want the government intervening in the price structure of private enterprise.

Most businessmen do not feel the government has done enough to halt the upward spiral of wages to have any adequate basis for forcing industry to cut back a rise in prices.

Most businessmen would like the federal government more if it did less.

AFTER ALL THIS has been said, after the honest differences have been stated, Mr. Johnson's handling of the aluminum price rise is not bringing in its wake the bitter gulf between the administration and the business community Mr. Kennedy created in like circumstances. There are reasons.

This time there was no name-calling by the White House, no cold fury exhibited by the president, no denunciation of industry. Words like Mr. Kennedy's "irresponsible defiance" and "ruthless disregard of duty," were never allowed in the dialogue.

The FBI was not brought into the picture, as it was in the steel price matter. There were no federal agents knocking on the doors of newspaper reporters at midnight, demanding to read their notes of interviews with industry executives.

And there were no threats of anti-trust action if the prices weren't rescinded.

These differences in manner and method are considerable.

AND THERE'S another: Unlike JFK, President Johnson never publicly entered the controversy. To those who think that LBJ is compulsively determined to make himself the center of everything — and couldn't help doing so even if he wished — it must seem incredible that he did not hold press conferences on the hour, give a TV interview in between, and then dash off letters to Alcoa, Reynolds and Kaiser, telling them that the president won't stand for this.

He did none of these things. He did not unsheathe the presidential sword at any time. The chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, Gardner Ackley, made the economic case against the price rise — that it would be dangerously inflationary. Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara announced that the government would sell some of its stockpile of aluminum. Then the administration waited.

IT DID NOT wait in vain. Either the industry accepted the argument of the government or felt that the sale of stockpiled aluminum would hurt more than the price rise would help — or partly both.

The end result was the same — price rises withdrawn.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Foreign Aid's Bell May Be On Way Out

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Inner Johnson Cabinet circles are buzzing with a provocative report about Foreign Aid Administrator David Bell.

Reputedly, he is quitting soon to join the Ford Foundation.

According to one version of this back-stage report, 46-year-old Bell will succeed Henry Heald, 61, who is quitting as president of the giant foundation at the end of this year. He has held this position since 1956.

BELL HAS FILLED high offices in the Truman, Kennedy and Johnson regimes. From 1949 to 1953, he was administrative assistant to President Truman. In 1960, President-elect Kennedy named him budget director, and two years later shifted him to the multi-billion dollar foreign aid agency, where he has been since. If Bell does leave, he will be the latest in a long succession of foreign aid directors. His three-year tenure establishes an endurance record.

THIS DISRUPTIVE factor and the frequent changing of the agency's status title were caustically condemned in a 1960 report of the Senate Appropriations Committee—which branded them as "detrimental to operations."

Based on a study by Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., the report declared:

"To the detriment of the operation, the administrators of the successive aid agencies have changed oftener than the name of the agency. There have been nine administrators in the past ten years.

"The government organizations which carried out the foreign assistance programs were borne of emergency and went through frequent reorganizations,. consolidations, changes in name, changes in leadership. Within this period, the principal aid agency has been known as the ECA, TCA, MSA, FOA, ICA, and finally AID.

"IN ADDITION, there are a number of other agencies which were set up to administer supplemental aid programs, including the Development Loan Fund as well as numerous international organizations to which this country contributes a very substantial percentage of the financing."

As Ford Foundation president, Heald has been paid $75,000 a year plus expenses. In addition, he receives $5,000 as a trustee.

Tall and quiet spoken, Bell is a World War II Marine veteran. From 1953 until named budget director, in late 1960 he was with the Harvard Graduate School of Public Administration, rising to assistant dean.

While President Johnson apparently faces the early likelihood of finding a new foreign aid administrator, he is also confronted with the even more tortuous problem of what to do about the widely assailed and battered huge spending program itself.

THE RECENT CONGRESS, while voting $3.28 billion for more military and economic aid strictly enjoined the administration to submit a new plan and concept next year.

For this purpose, the President has named a "General Advisory Committee" to study the various foreign assistance programs and submit recommendations. This committee, headed by Dr. James Perkins, president of Cornell University, has been conferring with congressional and other authorities.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S prolonged stay at his Texas ranch is holding up the formal accreditation of three new ambassadors — Ernst Lemberger of Austria; Farhan Shubilat of Jordan, and Ade Martins of Nigeria. Under diplomatic procedure they are not officially accredited as the Washington representatives of their countries until they present their papers to the President in person. Until then, they are titularly only "ambassador designate.'

Bull Getting Many Honors But He's Not Being Shown

At the La Pacific International Stock Show in Portland last month, the bull's offspring collected 32 points. With 100 points, Vern Mickie will become a register-of-merit bull.

The Green Gulch Ranch had a total of four firsts, three seconds, three thirds, a fourth and a fifth place at the Grand National.

Solon Entered

Entry was made into the Salon El Paseo at 5 El Paseo, Mill Valley, Sunday but nothing was reported taken. William S. Weeks, manager, telephoned police at 4:45 p.m., saying someone had broken a small window pane in the front door and entered.

Traffic Battery Guilty Plea Heard

A second count, malicious property damage, was dismissed.

Hatchet Thieves Fired At Them, Novatos Boys Say

Burglars, who took a hatchet from a home near Novato, later fired a .22 caliber bullet in the direction of two youths, sheriff's officers reported today.

Deputies said Mrs. Dorothy L. Samios, 2184 Novato Boulevard, reported a storage room at the rear of her house was entered via a pried screen Sunday, and the hatchet was taken. Shortly after, she said, two youths, Pierre Baker, of 669 Peach Street, and Steven J. Graham, of 9 Santiago Court, both 13, told her they saw two other youths on the bank of Novato Creek nearby.

Graham and Baker said they saw a hatchet in the belt of one of the pair, and that one youth fired a shot from a bolt-action .22 rifle in their direction, Mrs. Samios reported. The shot struck water in front of Baker, according to the report.

The assailants were not apprehended. No injuries occurred, deputies said.

College Is Due U.S. Money For Projects

College of Marin will receive $525,580 in federal aid for special programs and projects during this school year, according to college vocational coordinator William J. Collins.

The funds are in the form of grants and loans for training, equipment construction and student aid, Collins said.

Largest portion of the funds, $156,000, will be used for a work study program in which students from low-income families will be employed off-campus in jobs related to their course of study.

Provisions of the vocational education and manpower development training acts make the college eligible for $143,000 for technical vocational training and equipment, Collins said.

The federal money has been matched by $227,965 in district funds already budgeted, he said. Federal funds to the college totaled $262,189 last year and $125,541 the year before.

In 1951, the State of California bought the Dumbarton Bridge for $2.25 million.

CDC Leader In Marin Quits

Hans J. Schiller of Mill Valley, one of the leaders in the California Democratic Council movement for the past 10 years, has resigned from the organization because of the current squabble over CDC President Simon Casady.

"I am very much in disagreement with the way CDC handles its affairs," said Schiller. He charged that "the CDC, by its inactivity, condoned the activities of its president."

Casady has been severely criticized for opposing American policy in Viet Nam. At a meeting of the CDC board of directors in Fresno last weekend, a move to impeach Casady failed.

Biology Station Tours Planned

College of Marin marine biology instructor Alfonso Molina is giving guided tours of the college's marine biology station at Bolinas to schoolchildren and youth groups each Tuesday morning and afternoon, according to assistant dean of instruction Albert C. Heppe.

Arrangements for the two and one-half hour tours, which begin at 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. should be made with Heppe two weeks in advance, he said.

Session Off

The regular meeting of the board of directors of the North Marin County Water District, scheduled for tonight, has been postponed until 8 p.m. Nov. 23 in the district office.

Well, If You Don't Like This War Sign Up For Another One

There seem to be a few people who are not too keen about joining the Army and fighting in Viet Nam, and this has caused some concern throughout the land.

So far, no one has come up with an ideal solution to the situation, but Jon Carey of the San Quentin News recently tossed a line in his column that may hold the answer to the problem.

"The Army has a new enlistment drive going — join the Army and pick your own war," Carey wrote.

Even the most die-hard draft dodger couldn't ask for anything fairer than that.

Under this system, a draftboard interview might go something like this:

DRAFTEE—I'm telling you dad, I'm not going anywhere. I just don't dig that war in Viet Nam.

INTERVIEWER—Now wait a minute, Mac, just sign up and don't worry about Viet Nam.

DRAFTEE — What do you mean, don't worry?

INTERVIEWER—We got this new deal, you join up and then pick your own war.

DRAFTEE — Okay, that sounds pretty cool. How about the Civil War?

INTERVIEWER—Well, that would be pretty hard to do.

DRAFTEE—I don't care. I'll sign up on either side, North or South, as long as I can stay in the states.

INTERVIEWER — It's not that. You see, the Civil War is over, and we haven't had much call from Grant or Lee for troops recently.

DRAFTEE — Okay. How about World War I? I want a war just like the war that dear old daddy had.

INTERVIEWER—I hate to tell you this, but that one's over too, and CBS has the television rights, so we can't have any re-runs.

DRAFTEE — How about World War II? Got any openings for that one?

INTERVIEWER — Nope. To tell you the truth, we've got more guys signed up for World War II now than we had during the war.

DRAFTEE—Could you maybe slip me into another army, say like in India, so I could go fight in Pakistan?

INTERVIEWER — Nope, can't do it. If we start sending men to India, the first thing you know we'd have to start sending them to Pakistan, and then we wouldn't have enough left for our own wars.

DRAFTEE—Well, it doesn't look as though I have much choice. What else have you got open besides Viet Nam?

INTERVIEWER — Hmm. Let's see . . . there's the Spanish - American War, the American Revolution and the Boer War.

DRAFTEE — I'm not too crazy about any of those. They had pretty weird uniforms in those days. Haven't you got anything with a little class?

INTERVIEWER—How about the war on poverty?

DRAFTEE — That's it. I'll sign up. I'll even carry my draft card.

INTERVIEWER—You don't need a draft card for this war. All you need is a credit card.

Extensive residential development of both banks of San Rafael Canal in the area east of the San Rafael Creek junction was contemplated by buyers of waterside homesites.

Accidents now cost America over $15 billion a year. Last year, accidents killed 104,000 people, hurt about 50 million—roughly one out of every four persons in the nation.

Kids are getting bigger. In the last four decades, 15-year-old boys have gained four inches in height and 20 pounds in weight, girls two inches and 10 pounds.

Tell your wife not to hurry through the supermarket. A University of Missouri survey found that 15 extra minutes of comparative food shopping could result in saving 5 per cent on a $20 purchase.

DID YOU KNOW that no living person is portrayed on any U.S. stamp or coin?

Odd legislation: In 1659 the General Court of Massachusetts passed a law making the observance of Christmas a penal offense.

Barbering is one of the world's oldest occupations. Egyptian relics indicate the nobility and priesthood patronized barbers 6,000 years ago. There are more than 20 mentions of barbering in the Bible.

QUOTABLE NOTABLES: "If you practice an art, be proud of it and make it proud of you. It may break your heart, but it will fill your heart before it breaks it; it will make you a person in your own right" — Maxwell Anderson.

Women are turning more often to the cup that cheers. Six out of 10 women now indulge at least occasionally in alcoholic beverages compared with eight out of 10 men. But the bad news is that one out of every 13 so-called social drinkers in America is an alcoholic.

HISTORY LESSON: The custom of holding egg rollings at Easter on the White House lawn began during the administration of Andrew Jackson, who loved children but was childless himself. Five other presidents had no children. They were George Washington, James Madison, James Knox Polk, Warren G. Harding, and, of course, our only bachelor president — James Buchanan.

A leaflet prepared by the U.S. Public Health Service gives this warning: "The risk of death from all causes is 70 per cent higher for cigarette smokers than for nonsmokers."

IT PAYS TO take a business prospect to lunch. One firm found that its salesmen who never entertained customers averaged only $330,000 in annual orders, but those who took potential buyers to lunch three or four days a week averaged $729,000.

Prosperity note: Better than three out of every four American families own automobiles: more than eight million families have two or more cars.

Servicemen To Get Gifts From Marin

Names of servicemen are being placed in a hat for interested persons to draw, Mrs. Margaret Goodyear of Mill Valley said today. Being packed, she said, are things such as dry salami, cigarettes, paperback books and cookies. "What the men don't use they can trade off," said Mrs. Goodyear.

Names must be drawn before Thanksgiving so packages will arrive by Christmas, she said. Persons interested pack their own boxes, enclose a card and mail to an Army postal office in San Francisco. Further information is available from Mrs. George Groll of 28 La Verne Avenue.

Johnson Threat Charged To Man

Billy Ray Pursley, 31, of Summerville, Ga., was arrested Sunday by Secret Service Agents on a warrant issued by a U.S. commissioner at Concord, N.C., Saturday. Pursley allegedly threatened the President while buying a rifle in Charlotte, N.C., last Thursday, A. G. Vial of the Secret Service said.

Vial said that Pursley bought a rifle at a Charlotte discount house Nov. 11. Witnesses to the purchase stated he threatened to use the rifle upon the President, Vial said.

Vial said the man admitted buying the rifle, but denied having made any threats.

War On Poverty To Be Explained In Novato Forum

The president's War on Poverty program will be explained and discussed by three of its officials today at a public meeting at 8 p.m. at the Novato Community House.

Speakers will be Dr. Paul F. O'Rourke, former Novato physician who now heads the Economic Opportunity Program in California; Walter Bremond, director of Community Relations Services for Marin County and Ron Field, field representative for 11 western states for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Dr. O'Rourke will discuss major phases of the state program. Bremond will outline the Marin program, and action on the national level will be the topic of Field.

The meeting is sponsored by the Novato Democratic Club as a non-partisan civic activity, according to Joseph A. Forest, club president.

Marin Men Receive Asian Duty Medals

Two Marin Navy men have received Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal for support of combat operations off the coast of Viet Nam while serving aboard the USS Midway attack aircraft carrier.

They are Lt. (j.g.) Michael Glenn, supply corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glenn of 318 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo, and Seaman Lindsay D. Merritt, son of Mrs. John Viscarra of 118 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia.

Dr. Howard A. Levenson is president of Marin Optometric Society.

PHARMACY OVER TWICE AS LARGE—Wide aisles, larger stocks and more lines of merchandise are featured in the new Greenbrae Pharmacy at the west end of the Bon Air Shopping Center. The store has 11,000 square feet of retail area and represents the second expansion of Henry and Lorraine Brocco at Bon Air since their opening in 1954.

CLEAN AND SPARKLING IN SIX MINUTES

Bon Air Car Wash moves automobiles along quickly, with extra help at peak hours. Special equipment provides for instantaneous wash and jet wax treatment. Customers' waiting room is protected from sun and rain. A continuing feature of the Bon Air Car Wash is a free job to women drivers on their birthdays.

New Place For Pharmacy At Bon Air

Where once the shelves of what used to be Bon Air Super Market were stocked with supplies of groceries, produce and food items, today much of that same space is replete with pharmaceutical products, beauty aids, stationery, games and toys and those sundry articles which often can be found only in specialty shops.

It represents about two and one-half times the space which Henry and Lorraine Brocco occupied just a few weeks ago in their previous location near the center of the shopping complex—a full 1,000 square feet of retail area, with modern counters, display cases and racks and new equipment and goods to be sold.

It also represents a milestone in the growth of the pharmacy since it was first opened in 1954. Those were the early days of the Bon Air center, and while a drug store here was regarded as a likely success, it was a first venture on their own for the Broccos, both of whom had been graduated from the University of California School of Pharmacy only a few years before.

This is the Broccos' second expansion in two years. The last enlargement of the business was primarily for the addition of a liquor department, and this line like the others has been expanded again in the new location.

With the holiday season close by many items suitable for Christmas gifts have already been stocked — particularly in cards and stationery and cosmetics, games and toys — for which there was far less room on Greenbrae Pharmacy shelves in the past.

Laser Device Made For U. S.

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP)—Two compact modulators—devices to impress information on laser beams — have been developed for the Air Force by Sylvania Electric Produdcts Inc. here.

The units—one 18 inches long and the other three-and-a-half inches—produce rapid variations in the intense, pencil-thin beams of light that emit from lasers. This permits transmission of voice, video, telegraph and telemetry signals.

In theory, the smaller modulator is capable of impressing six TV broadcasts or 3,000 telephone calls on a single laser beam and the larger unit could handle 100 TV broadcasts or more than 100,000 telephone conversations.

Bad Check Artists Not Smart But Bold

By SAM FOGG

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "T. Aken."

"Craig W. Lier."

"U. R. Stuck."

"Brrr."

On such signatures as these is built a national bad check racket that bilks bankers, businessmen and bartenders of millions of dollars a year.

The FBI files on bum check passers contain these and thousands of less obvious fraudulent endorsements that have allowed glib con artists to pocket an annual take that far exceeds that of bank robbers.

Armed with no more than pen and ink and a confidence-inspiring manner, the rubber check operators—known in police argot as "the paperhangers"—clipped the gullible for a known $6,894,928 last year.

That amount is based only on the 32,404 bad check specimens officially submitted to the FBI. It doesn't begin to reflect millions more on checks cashed by victims who failed to report they had been stuck.

But a few years back, a survey of U.S. law enforcement agencies estimated that the annual loss to the "paperhangers" totaled an astonishing $535 million.

The FBI has built up files on the rubber check fraternity since 1934 when Congress passed a law making it a federal crime to pass a bad check involving interstate commerce.

The operation can be painfully simple or amazingly complex as shown by these examples:

—A middle-aged man stepped to the teller's window at a southern bank and handed in a $500 check from an out-of-town bank, apologized for forgetting his passbook, then presented a counter check for $250 and walked out without a murmur of suspicion.

—Marvin Edward Lee began a bogus check passing spree while serving with the Navy in Spain. Before he was picked up in Eureka, Calif., he had left a trail of victims in Germany, Iceland and military installations through the United States.

—Samuel Raymond Phipps in an eight-month period cashed in on $6,000 of bad checks. A one-time bank robber, Phipps was over 60 when he began his less strenuous career as a "paperhanger."

—Herman Liebowitz operated for 22 years and left his bogus checks in England, Italy, Canada, Alaska, Hawaii and Mexico. When arrested in Birmingham, Ala., in 1962, he was "credited" with having collected more than $30,000 through phony checks.

One of the biggest and most highly organized check passing rings involved 13 men who scored off hotels and airlines. The operation was broken when one of them, known as "Eddie the Cow," was spotted by an alert hotel clerk and arrested.

FBI experts found the gang had cashed more than 900 bogus checks and took in more than $100,000.

The "T. Aken" bad check turned up in Canton, S.D. "Craig W. Lier" profited $72 in Minneapolis. The phony signature "Brrr" turned up on a check cashed in Bowman, N.D. on a day when the temperature was 20 degrees below zero.

And a bank official in the Midwest is still redfaced that he accepted a check drawn on "The East Bank of the Mississippi, Slippery Rock, Miss."

The FBI gives six major rules to keep yourself from becoming one of the gullible:

1. Demand sufficient identifification.

2. Check identification carefully.

3. Remain constantly alert to the possibility of being duped by fraudulent check passers.

4. Report pertinent facts to the proper law enforcement agency if you are victimized.

5. Familiarize yourself with methods used successfully by bogus check writers.

6. Do not hesitate to press charges even through restitution is made.

Rabbit Leads To Home Of Ancient Cave Men

By ALDO TRIPINI

ESCOURAL, Portugal (UPI) —A rabbit has led archeologists to a huge cave containing paleolithic rock paintings apparently produced by a pagan society more than 20,000 years ago. It is the first such discovery in Portugal.

Maxime Vaultier, a wealthy Portuguese industrialist, and French Abbot Andre Glory, of the National Scientific Research Center of Paris and the University of Strasbourg, are directing work with the paintings. Vaultier is vice president of the Portuguese Archeological Society.

Vaultier says the cave was discovered by some boys whose dog had entered a hole in the ground while chasing a rabbit. The holed led to the cave.

There Vaultier and Glory discovered paintings showing a fetishist at worship, a horse and many other primitive figures.

"Only experienced eyes could notice something unusual in the cave at first glance," Vaultier said.

"Abbot Glory identified the fetishist's bird-headed figure, showing two eyes and a sort of straw cover similar to those still used by witch doctors in Africa."

Vaultier said "possibly hundreds" of other drawings can be identified in the cave, which apparently was used as a necropolis, a sort of pagan cemetery during the Neolithic era.

On a sloping wall of the cave, Vaultier discovered a beautiful horse head and neck, painted in reddish brown. Only a part of the animal's back and rear legs still were visible, he said. It was named the "Vaultier Horse" by Glory.

"But it took me five hours to see it," Vaultier said. "Unfortunately, no black and white picture of the horse or the fetishist are immediately available. They are almost vague lines which can result in a picture only if we use infra-red films and special photographic equipment."

Another find in the cave was so-called "musical stalactites," deposits of carbonate of lime hanging from the roof of the cave like icicles. They had been marked in black, with manganese oxide, or in red, with ochre, to mark different musical sounds they made when struck with a stick or other object.

New Weapon To Be Tried In Shark War

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Underwater electrical barriers are South Africa's latest weapon in the war against sharks.

In the past 15 years 40 bathers on South African beaches have been killed or injured by sharks. Most beaches along this country's Indian Ocean are now protected from sharks by metal mesh nets laid parallel to the shore. They are, however, costly to maintain and need frequent inspection.

Backed by a government grant, South Africa's Council for Scientific and Industrial Research has spent two years perfecting an electrical barrier system. It has already proved itself under laboratory conditions and the scientists will soon begin testing it in the sea.

A 100-foot cable with two specially designed electrodes will be laid on the seabed and connected to a generator on land. The experiment will be conducted in the calm waters of St. Lucia Bay (on the Indian Ocean coast north of Durban), where scientists can observe the reactions of captive sharks.

A spokesman for the council said it had been found that all fish, including sharks, automatically swam to the positive pole on entering the barrier's electric field.

PHARMACY OVER TWICE AS LARGE—Wide aisles, larger stocks and more lines of merchandise are featured in the new Greenbrae Pharmacy at the west end of the Bon Air Shopping Center. The store has 11,000 square feet of retail area and represents the second expansion of Henry and Lorraine Brocco at Bon Air since their opening in 1954.

CLEAN AND SPARKLING IN SIX MINUTES

Bon Air Car Wash moves automobiles along quickly, with extra help at peak hours. Special equipment provides for instantaneous wash and jet wax treatment. Customers' waiting room is protected from sun and rain. A continuing feature of the Bon Air Car Wash is a free job to women drivers on their birthdays.

New Place For Pharmacy At Bon Air

Where once the shelves of what used to be Bon Air Super Market were stocked with supplies of groceries, produce and food items, today much of that same space is replete with pharmaceutical products, beauty aids, stationery, games and toys and those sundry articles which often can be found only in specialty shops.

It represents about two and one-half times the space which Henry and Lorraine Brocco occupied just a few weeks ago in their previous location near the center of the shopping complex—a full 1,000 square feet of retail area, with modern counters, display cases and racks and new equipment and goods to be sold.

It also represents a milestone in the growth of the pharmacy since it was first opened in 1954. Those were the early days of the Bon Air center, and while a drug store here was regarded as a likely success, it was a first venture on their own for the Broccos, both of whom had been graduated from the University of California School of Pharmacy only a few years before.

This is the Broccos' second expansion in two years. The last enlargement of the business was primarily for the addition of a liquor department, and this line like the others has been expanded again in the new location.

With the holiday season close by many items suitable for Christmas gifts have already been stocked — particularly in cards and stationery and cosmetics, games and toys — for which there was far less room on Greenbrae Pharmacy shelves in the past.

NO LACK OF PARKING SPACE

This view of the Bon Air Shopping Center framed by a rambling oak on a Greenbrae hillside shows off the ample parking facilities to full advantage. When the center was extended at the east end last year, 300 parking spaces were added, bringing up the total to 600. As the center is further expanded, still more car space will be added.

NEW BUILDING FOR ENGINEERING FIRM

Nearing completion on top of the knoll near the east end of Bon Air is this new home for Dan Coleman Associates who will move their offices from San Francisco. The knoll has been partially leveled and its 10 acres will eventually be occupied by other professional firms, several sites offer docking frontage on Corte Madera Creek below.

Greenbrae Beauty Salon In 12th Year Of Business

There are more than 100 beauty salons in Marin County.

Some of them change ownership at regular intervals. New beauty shops are opened every month of the year. Many close, unable to operate successfully.

The Greenbrae Salon of Beauty, now in its 12th year, has never lacked for business. Mrs. Louise Flynn, when she opened at Bon Air in 1954, brought with her a "built-in" stock of patrons who followed her move from San Anselmo. Through the years she has continued to keep her booths filled.

Her new and larger location at the west end of the Bon Air Center, next to Greenbrae Pharmacy, has already started making increased numbers of appointments. In time she will be obliged to add more operators to take care of them—but there is room for the operators and ample room for more customers.

"In fact, space is no longer a problem," says Mrs. Flynn. Eventually I suppose it will all be taken up, but right now it is a pleasure to be able to take care of everyone promptly."

Pack Rat Hides Box Of Peaches

The peaches were found behind a sofa in the living room.

Football Puts Squeeze On Beatles' Haircut

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Barber Gene Thornhill said he got only one request to demolish a Beatle haircut on a high school boy before school started this fall.

He said the youth explained he was afraid his football helmet wouldn't fit atop the mop.

Retirements End 95 Years Of Service

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — With the recent retirement of Warren Rate, 95 years of service with the State Department of Public Works by two brothers came to an end. Warren retired after 43 years with the department. William Rate completed 52 years with the department when he stepped out 1957.

Although the Rate brothers are no longer active with the department, another member of their family is carrying on. Their nephew, Donald Stahlman, who has been employed there for the past five years, is still on the job.

Space Language Used By Child

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Space age language is being picked up by the toddler set.

A little girl laid a dime on a concession stand counter and asked the operator: "May I have a nose cone."

She got what she really wanted—a snow cone, which is a cup filled with crushed ice and sprinkled with a flavoring.

Honest Citizens Gain 10 Shillings Each

WELLINGTON, Australia (AP) — An honest citizen found one-half of a one pound ($2.80) note, and handed it in to police. A few weeks later, another citizen arrived at the police station to turn in the other half he had found.

As there was no claimant, police changed the torn note into two 10 shilling notes (each worth $1.40), and gave one to each.

Barbed Wire Helped Tame Wild West

TYLER, Tex. (UPI) — There is a lot more to barbed wire than what snags the clothes, Henry McCallum believes. The prickly material that fenced in the West has much history behind it.

McCallum collects barbed wire. He had enough first-hand experience with its effectiveness to get interested. McCallum has been a geologist since the 1920s and has climbed through numberless barbed wire fences in his day.

He amassed nearly 100 types of barbed wire, so many, in fact, that he felt he should write a book about it.

McCallum and his wife, Frances, collaborated in the volume, published by the University of Oklahoma Press. Their home here has become a clearing house for information on barbed wire.

McCallum says barbed wire gained acceptance only after range wars, fence cuttings and other violence.

Still, barbed wire became the best thing for range fences and became the "Wire that Fenced the West," the title of his book.

Devices Sought To Give Aid To Blind, Deaf

NEW YORK (UPI) — Biomedical engineers throughout the nation are busy planning, designing and developing devices that may enable the deaf to hear, the blind to "see" and the paralyzed to regain at least part of their mobility.

Biomedical engineering is the application of engineering principles to the sciences of medicine and biology.

Steelways, official publication of American Iron and Steel Institute, said a survey was conducted on the progress in this field at four leading centers of biomedical education and research. They were Johns Hopkins University, Northwestern University, the University of Pennsylvania and Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland.

"The evidence is convincing that we are opening a new era in biology and medicine and that a new frontier is shaping in engineering," said the publication, adding that more and more unusual steel devices and materials are being developed and utilized by the biomedical engineers.

Programs differ from institution to institution but, in general, faculty and students are active on four broad fronts. They are:

—Learning how to detect and measure the complex changes constantly under way in the human body.

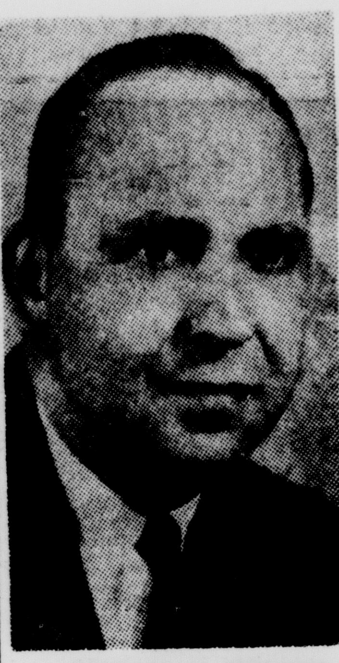
—Exploration of physical and mathematical theories to learn more how we breathe, speak and chew; how our hearts work; how we see, hear and feel; and even how we think.

— Development of countless tools such as implanted hearing aids for the deaf, sonar systems for the blind and computer-controlled arm-aids for the paralyzed.

—Seeking solutions to a wide variety of problems relating to the environment in which men live. One research group has developed a special bed for use by patients whose heart function is being studied.

Tow Cars 'Picking Up'

VERSAILLES, Ky. (AP) — Tow cars sent out by the wrecked service here carry this note on the side: "Our business is picking up."



EDWARD K. WEIGER

MRS. RUTH CARLSON

Owners of Mademoiselle of Marin

New Women's Store Has Youthful Line

Newest addition to the family of stores and service businesses in the Bon Air shopping complex is a women's specialty shop catering to the discriminating and fashionable buyer.

Called Mademoiselle of Marin, it is located in the original space occupied by the Greenbrae Pharmacy before its first expansion. It is a second store for two established Marin residents, Edward K. Wieger of 15 Gelder Drive, Tiburon, and Mrs. Ruth Carlson of 38 Terrace Court in the Reedlands—also on the Tiburon peninsula. For about 18 months, these two have operated the Mademoiselle Shop in Stonestown, San Francisco.

Prior to their association in their own business, both were with I. Magnin and Co., Mrs. Carlson as a buyer of fashion apparel for 18 years and Wieger as a merchandising executive.

"It should be understood that the Bon Air shop is not a branch —but another full-size store," notes Wieger. "We have 2,400 square feet—not quite as large as the Stonestown shop, but large enough to feature our lines of casual apparel for those interested in a youthful, casual but sophisticated look."

The shop will carry lines of internationally known apparel manufacturers and also accessories for the well-dressed woman.

Managing the Bon Air shop will be Mrs. Milda Witte, whom Wieger says they "imported" from Scottsdale, Ariz., because of her fine background in merchandising women's wear. Mrs. Witte is now a resident of Greenbrae.

During the opening weeks, visitors may register at the store in a drawing for a prize of a $100 wardrobe of the winner's choice. Coffee will be served at all hours.

Interior of Mademoiselle of Marin was designed by John Bernhart.

Runners Wander Off Their Course

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — You can add this to the hazards of cross-country running: Getting lost.

Pete Scott of the University of Nebraska was leading the pack in a four-team meet over the Pioneers Park course in Lincoln recently when he made a wrong turn. Even worse, several teammates followed him. By the time Scott got back on course, he was out of contention and finished fifth.

Coach Frank Sevigne was philosophical about the mixup. "This isn't the worst thing that ever happened to me in cross country," he said. "I had some guy hitchhike one time back East."

Education Budget

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — State university trustees have approved a $406.6-million budget for 1966-67. The trustees allocated $244.6 million for operations and $162 million for capital construction.

Tow Cars 'Picking Up'

Owners of Mademoiselle of Marin

New Women's Store Has Youthful Line

Newest addition to the family of stores and service businesses in the Bon Air shopping complex is a women's specialty shop catering to the discriminating and fashionable buyer.

Called Mademoiselle of Marin, it is located in the original space occupied by the Greenbrae Pharmacy before its first expansion. It is a second store for two established Marin residents, Edward K. Wieger of 15 Gelder Drive, Tiburon, and Mrs. Ruth Carlson of 38 Terrace Court in the Reedlands—also on the Tiburon peninsula. For about 18 months, these two have operated the Mademoiselle Shop in Stonestown, San Francisco.

Prior to their association in their own business, both were with I. Magnin and Co., Mrs. Carlson as a buyer of fashion apparel for 18 years and Wieger as a merchandising executive.

"It should be understood that the Bon Air shop is not a branch —but another full-size store," notes Wieger. "We have 2,400 square feet—not quite as large as the Stonestown shop, but large enough to feature our lines of casual apparel for those interested in a youthful, casual but sophisticated look."

The shop will carry lines of internationally known apparel manufacturers and also accessories for the well-dressed woman.

Managing the Bon Air shop will be Mrs. Milda Witte, whom Wieger says they "imported" from Scottsdale, Ariz., because of her fine background in merchandising women's wear. Mrs. Witte is now a resident of Greenbrae.

During the opening weeks, visitors may register at the store in a drawing for a prize of a $100 wardrobe of the winner's choice. Coffee will be served at all hours.

Interior of Mademoiselle of Marin was designed by John Bernhart.

Runners Wander Off Their Course

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — You can add this to the hazards of cross-country running: Getting lost.

Pete Scott of the University of Nebraska was leading the pack in a four-team meet over the Pioneers Park course in Lincoln recently when he made a wrong turn. Even worse, several teammates followed him. By the time Scott got back on course, he was out of contention and finished fifth.

Coach Frank Sevigne was philosophical about the mixup. "This isn't the worst thing that ever happened to me in cross country," he said. "I had some guy hitchhike one time back East."

Education Budget

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — State university trustees have approved a $406.6-million budget for 1966-67. The trustees allocated $244.6 million for operations and $162 million for capital construction.

SELDOM A FREE MOMENT—Besides being responsible for a smooth store operation from the customer's standpoint, manager Walter Blake (right) at Petrini's Bon Air market, is constantly involved in seeing that shelves are properly stocked with merchandise most in demand. He is shown here solving a shelf problem with salesman Audry Blissett of Lawry's Foods and Petrini clerk Maurice Bishop.

New Petrini's Market Manager Has Background In The Business

The new manager of Petrini's market in Greenbrae has a family background in the grocery business which goes back to the turn of the century.

Walter Blake, a native of Marin, is a scion of the Blakes—Jasper and Arthur, whose Blake Stores in Larkspur and Corte Madera were in business as long ago as 1900. They were his father and his uncle.

Walter himself has been in the food business for many years and comes by his talents naturally—both by heritage and by experience. He has been an assistant manager at Petrini's since the store in the Bon Air Shopping Center was first stocked with goods and opened. He and his wife are residents of Corte Madera. Mrs. Blake is court recorder in superior court judge Harry J. Neubarth's department in San Francisco.

Blake's recent appointment as manager is one of several changes resulting from Petrini's expansion into San Mateo. It is there that Petrini's Hillsdale will be opened the first week in December in the former Farmers Market which has been undergoing extensive remodeling. It will be a market almost as large as the one in Bon Air.

William Cataldo, previously assistant manager in Bon Air, has been promoted to manager in Hillsdale. He is a former Peninsula resident, so this brings him back to familiar territory.

Kenneth R. Doonan, formerly grocery manager at Bon Air, is now supervisor for the Petrini chain. Headquartered in San Francisco, he travels extensively on buying trips. Doonan's former assistant Pat Hoffman has also left Greenbrae with a promotion. He is now manager of the Manor Market in San Francisco.

Other promotions at Bon Air include Sam Slavos and Walter McLaughlin, elevated to assistant managers.

Plastic May Save Person From Death

ALICE SPRINGS, Central Australia (AP) — A scientist has demonstrated how a sheet of plastic can save person from diyng of thirst in the arid outback.

Dr. Ralph Slatyer of the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization showed delegates attending an Australian Arid Zone Research conference how water can be gained from apparently waterless land.

First he dug a hole about 30 inches square and 18 inches deep in dry, sandy soil. In the hole he placed a small container, surrounded by an armful of desert shrubbery. Then he placed a piece of plastic sheeting 3 feet square loosely over the hole, with a small stone in the center to make the plastic sag towards the container.

The sun shining through the plastic heated the soil and plant material in the hole and drew moisture from them, which condensed on the underside of the plastic in small drops. The drops rolled down the plastic and dripped into the container.

The plastic acted as a small solar still. Each 3 foot sheet of plastic should produce about a pint of water a day.

Motorcycle Use Declined

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Claude DeVorss of Wichita received a motorcycle as a gift because of a civic club's membership drive.

He declined to ride it away from presentation ceremonies, saying, "I might end up doing business with myself."

DeVorss is a funeral director.

San Rafael Tightens Parking Rules; Police Under Fire

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Curbside parking was attacked from all directions at last night's San Rafael City Council meeting.

The council passed to print a new parking meter ordinance spelling out that backing out of a parking place and returning to it without first moving at least 100 feet is a violation.

Jack Alvarado, San Rafael Chamber of Commerce manager, presented a request that all-day parking be allowed in several areas, at least through Christmas. This was referred to the traffic committee as a kind of painless turndown.

Arthur Deiters, proprietor of Marin Upholstery and Hidden Treasure, Inc., threatened to "go to the state attorney general and have this police department superseded" for what he claimed was favoritism in parking meter enforcement.

And Ray W. Swanson of 42 Billou Street told the council: "This parking all day on the street has got to go. Streets are to move traffic . . . If a man has an automobile, he should do what he did with a horse—put it in the barn."

The new ordinance was prepared by City Atty. David Menary Jr. as result of complaints at the Nov. 1 council meeting by Warren Robinson, Deiters' stepson. Robinson complained that merchants monopolized downtown parking places, but only customers got the overparking tickets.

Then Deiters declared that as he was taking some of the pictures, one of the meter maids came along and said, "Funny man! Funny man!"

"That kind of stuff has got to stop!" stormed Deiters. "If it doesn't, I'm going to the state attorney general and have this police department superseded. Don't think it's a joke—it can be done!"

Asst. Police Chief Joseph Brusatori asked Deiters to provide him with the name of the meter maid "so we can reprimand her."

The council and city attorney then proceeded to scotch a claim by Brusatori, which was also made two weeks ago by Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa, that there is a 12-minute "grace period" after the meter flag goes up before a car can be ticketed.

"That's not what it says in the ordinance," said Menary, proceeding to read the ordinance.

"The grace period is a big fraud," said Mayor C. Paul Bettini. Then he told Brusatori, "Tell the chief that when the flag goes up, you ticket!"

The chamber of commerce request, signed by Jim Wieder, chairman of the chamber's city development committee, was for all-day parking during the Christmas season on Lincoln Avenue and Lindaro Street south of Second Street, B Street between Second and Treanor streets, and Fifth Avenue between Irwin Street and Grand Avenue. Alvarado said merchants would then ask their employees to park in those areas.

Councilman Fred E. Jensen said two-hour parking on Lindaro Street and Fifth Avenue

Cavalry Division Annihilates Reds

Hundreds Of Dead Counted

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division today annihilated the remnants of a North Vietnamese regiment on the slopes of Chu Pung mountain. Officials said 869 North Vietnamese bodies had been counted on the battlefield and estimated that 1,300 Reds died in the battle.

But U.S. casualties were the heaviest of the war, frontline UPI dispatches reported.

TEARS TO EYES

The cavalrymen, fighting with valor and determination that brought tears of emotion to the eyes of battle hardened commanding officers, scored what undoubtedly was the biggest American victory of the war in a three day operation against a North Vietnamese regular regiment that entered South Viet Nam 15 days ago.

Many of the Communist regulars were killed by small arms fire and others died by artillery and air strikes that included a raid by Guam-based B-52 bombers of the Strategic Air Command — the first B-52 strike flown in close support of ground troops.

Although U.S. briefing officers in Saigon said the American casualties were "moderate," reports from the front said more Americans were killed or wounded at Chu Pong than in any other single battle of the war.

NEW COURTHOUSE SURVEY PLANNED

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Marin County supervisors today, after receiving a forecast that the courthouse property in downtown San Rafael would sell for only about $800,000 if 70 per cent were left open area, agreed to spend $10,000 for the help of consultants.

The county assessor's office said the plan recommended to the San Rafael City Council by Dan P. Coleman and Associates for developing only 30 per cent of the land area would put a market value of $800,000 on the development.

If 50 per cent were allowed to be developed, the appraisal would be slightly over one million dollars, County Administrator Alan Bruce reported.

The county had hoped to sell the property for $1.4 million, a sum necessary to fully complete financing of $11.4 million hall of justice at the Civic Center.

The board agreed to hire financial consultants Stone and Youngberg at $5,000 and negotiate with real estate Research Corp., a nationwide firm, on possible land use and development.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen was fearful that the Stone and Youngberg study alone might put the county on the irrevocable path of revenue bonds.

Fred F. Enemark, heading a three-man committee named by the board to study the matter, disagreed, saying the firm would study all available means of financing.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker stressed the importance of the financial study, saying the county had to find a way of picking up the difference between the anticipated $1.4 million and the $800,000 estimated from an outright sale.

Non-profit corporations, lease and lease-back agreements, and bonds have all been discussed.

Enemark stressed the need for a meeting of the supervisors and the San Rafael City Council. Supervisor agreed to meet with the council next Tuesday noon and Enemark was asked to make the arrangements.

Bishops Endorse Birth Resolution

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Ecumenical Council today overwhelmingly endorsed resolutions on birth control and against racial discrimination. A move to condemn Communism failed.

All three developments emerged in 17 near-final votes on the assemby's key tract chartering the role of the church in the modern world. Further voting on international problems was scheduled for tomorrow.

By margins of 2,052 to 91 and 2,011 to 140, the bishops in St. Peter's Basilica endorsed provisions which tighten observance of the church's ban against artificial birth control. The section leaves an open door to possible changes by Pope Paul VI in Catholic teaching on this matter, however, and gives Catholic couples greater responsibility in the making of their own marital decisions.

The assembly also approved a denunciation of "every form of discrimination" whether based on sex, race, color, special status, language or religion. The ballot was cast yesterday on this section, but the result of the vote was announced today at 2,115 to 35. Racial and other forms of discrimination already have been denounced in stronger terms in two other council decrees, on the church and on non-Christians.

The new formula adopted today spells out that "the sons of the church are not to enter into ways of conjugal love which have been reproved by the teaching authority of the church."

The new formula means that Catholics must comply with the present church ban on all artificial birth control unless and until it is modified by the Pope.

Pope Paul VI has formed a commission to study possible relaxation of the ban and its interpretation of natural law on the matter. But he is not thought to be ready to speak out on birth conrol before the end of the council.

A vote on atheism, denounced in a previous section of the modern world decree, was taken yesterday as a last minute lobby developed for condemnation of communism.

In the results of the ballot announced today, 2,057 approved the version which fails to specifically name Communism or Marxism. Only 74 bishops voted against it.

However, in a further vote on the section as a whole, 453 bishops, less than one-third, cast ballots "with reservations." Many of these were reported to be demands for the condemnation.

Captain Gives His Version Of Ship Disaster

MIAMI (UPI)—Capt. Byron Voutsinas, skipper of the ill-fated cruise ship Yarmouth Castle, told a news conference today he was both the first and the last man to leave his flaming vessel which plunged to the bottom of the Atlantic Saturday with the loss of 84 lives. (See earlier story, page 2.)

The Greek-born ship's master, speaking publicly for the first time about the disaster, said he left the ship in lifeboat No. 1 in an attempt to direct the saving of frightened passengers gathered on the stern of the vessel.

The sighting of the Yarmouth Castle's captain in the first lifeboat to leave the scene of the tragedy had caused speculation that Voutsinas panicked when the ship turned to a raging inferno.

"All forward and aft passageways were blocked by fire," the skipper said.

The three men attempted to row the lifeboat toward the stern of the Yarmouth Castle. Instead, they sighted the rescue freighter Finnpulp, went alongside, transferred the burned passengers and requested an SOS be sent.

Then, Voutsinas declared, he and the other two Yarmouth Castle officers returned to their burning ship in the lifeboat to direct rescue operations.

He said he was awakened at

Refinery Fined For Killing Fish

MARTINEZ (UPI)—Tidewater Associated Oil Co. has been fined $300 for discharging wastes into Suisun Bay in july which resulted in the death of 100,000 fish.

The company pleaded no contest to the charge in Martinez Judicial Court and sentence was handed down Monday by Judge Samuel W. Hall.

The large fish kill occurred near Avon pier in Contra Costa County, where a Tidewater refinery discharges waste into the bay. An investigation by the Department of Fish and Game found violations of the state antipollution code.

Novato Planners Vote For City Master Plan

The Novato Planning Commission, after a public hearing last night, accepted the Novato Master Plan and recommended its adoption by the city council.

The council must hold another public hearing on the plan, for which no date has yet been set.

The commission asked the planning staff to study one piece of property, and make any recommendation of any change on it to the council, at the time of its hearing. This is the 640-acre Ponti property, west of Highway 101 and north of Big Rock Ridge.

Harold F. Reide, San Rafael attorney, representing owners of the property, asked the commission to reconsider allocating so much of the land for schools. The plan calls for 80 acres for a high school, junior high and elementary schools.

"Although it is 640 acres, there are only about 120 acres of flat ground," Reide said. Taking so much for schools would leave little to develop, he complained.

Richard Hanna, who owns property east of Highway 101 and north of Highway 37, asked if the plan called for any change in his property, now zoned light industrial. He was assured that it did not. Hanna has announced plans for a golf course on the acreage.

Approximately 25 people attended the hearing at the Novato Community House.

Margaret, Snowdon Take Capital 'High School' Tour

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Britain's royal tourists —Princess Margaret and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon —set forth today on what Washingtonians call the "high school senior class" tour of the capital.

The tiny, blue-eyed princess and her husband arrived from Tucson, Ariz., yesterday. She promptly wowed the city's usually unflappable press corps with a smile and a toss of her "Cleopatra hat" at a monster reception in a jammed hotel ballroom. (See picture, page 10.)

Their first official act today was a visit to Arlington National Cemetery to place a wreath on the grave of John F. Kennedy.

After that, they were to motor to Washington's home down the Potomoc at Mount Vernon, swinging back through the city for hurried glimpses of the Capitol, the Washington Monument, and the Jefferson and Lincoln memorials — all in about three hours.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Undersecretary of State George W. Ball and their wives were invited to a British Embassy luncheon in the Princess' honor.

The couple's afternoon plans included a short private service at Washington National Cathedral (Episcopal).

A hectic round of receptions, teas, dinners, plaque unveilings and tree plantings was scheduled for Margaret and her husband before they leave Thursday for New York City.

JFK Memorial Slated

DALLAS (UPI)—A wreath laying ceremony and two Masses here next Monday will commemorate the second anniversary of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Freezing Snap Chills Europe

LONDON (AP) — Icy winds scythed across Europe today and temperatures plummetted as the continent shivered in an unusual mid-November freeze.

The suddenness of the snap, which dumped snow from the Atlantic to Siberia, caught Britain's nationalized electricty and gas undertakings unprepared.

In the Alsace region of France, the grapes are being picked under a blanket of snow.

Three young East Germans defied the cold, jumped into the near freezing waters of the Elbe River and swam across to the West.

Johnson Keeping Reins On Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, still recuperating from his Oct. 8 gall bladder-kidney stone operation, plans to keep his public schedule to an absolute minimum to get ready for the return of Congress in January, the White House said today.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Johnson is stepping up the amount of time and effort he is putting in on government business, but still has to pace himself between work and rest.

Moyers said Johnson is doing preliminary work on his State of the Union, budget and economic messages as well as his legislative program.

Tam District Bond Voting Goes Slowly

Voting got under way very slowly today in the Tamalpais High School District $5,750,000 bond election.

It was slowest of all in Reed School District, expected source of a major "no" vote.

By 11:30 a.m., only 32 of 1,000 registered had voted at Bel Aire School, 57 of 1,000 at Del Mar School, 52 of 900 at Reed School, 72 of 600 at Belvedere School, and 19 of 750 at Granada School.

At Stinson Beach, only 11 of 380 registered had voted.

The morning turnout still ranged at less than 10 per cent in most of the remainder of the sprawling district. Sample morning turnouts:

Strawberry Point School, Mill Valley, 83 of 1,250; Old Mill School, Mill Valley, 153 of 1,350.

Larkspur - Corte Madera School, 96 of about 1,000; Aquilino Garage in San Anselmo, 94 of 987; Isabel Cook School, San Anselmo, 86 of about 1,200; Ross School, 170 of about 1,800; Kentfield Fire Station, 37 of 565.

Polls will remain open until 7 p.m. Passage of the bonds requires "yes" votes of two-thirds of those balloting.

WHITE SUPREMACIST

Hecklers Silence Alabama Sheriff

PASADENA (AP)—"It's good to be here," was about all the sheriff of Dallas County, Ala., was able to say before hecklers caused him to stalk angrily from the stage.

Sheriff Jim Clark tried to address an audience of about 800 last night at a school auditorium in suburban Pasadena.

He appeared at the invitation of the Los Angeles Chapter of the White Citizen's Council after a court effort to silence him failed.

The raucous audience was more effective.

Clark tried sarcasm.

"I've never been treated better in my life. You have real hospitality," he said.

The crowd, a mixture of Negroes and whites, jeered and sang. Demonstrators moved in the aisles.

"These things wouldn't happen in Selma," the Alabama peace officer said. "People are given a chance to talk—even (Martin Luther) King."

Roderic Duff, president of the sponsoring group, asked the more than 100 law enforcement officers present to restore order.

When the din continued, Clark walked out.

Earlier a local Congress of Racial Equality official sought to enjoin Clark from speaking at the public event because of " a clear and present danger there will be violence."

Superior Judge Harold F. Collins rejected the request, saying: "We must provide a forum for unpopular causes."

Clark, 43, who is visiting California with Louis Hollis, of Jackson, Miss., executive director of White Citizen's Councils, toured Watts, the scene of heavy Negro rioting.

He said the area "doesn't look like Beverly Hills, but it is no ghetto either. I certainly did not see anything in Watts to be dissatisfied with, except for what they (Negroes) did to themselves."

Defunct Bank Is Now Plush Bistro

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Walk right up to the teller's window and put down your money. What you'll get back will be a drink, not a receipt.

Kelly Buchanan, a real estate man, opened a new bar yesterday — in the branch office of the now defunct San Francisco National Bank.

He didn't make many changes. Remaining from the bank are a $7,000 chandelier and a $14,000 panel. Also around are red velvet sofas and leather ash trays from another branch of the doomed bank. Drinks are served through teller's windows.

Soviets Launch Another Probe Toward Venus

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today it had launched its second space shot toward the planet Venus within five days.

Tass said the launching of the unmanned automatic space station Venus 3 was similar to the launching of Venus 2 last Friday.

Tass said Venus 2 is expected to reach Venus about the end of February, but the Russians have not said whether they expected it to crash into the planet or fly past it collecting scientific data.

The only other announced Soviet probe of Venus, in 1961, failed when its radio went silent and the craft missed the planet by about 100,000 miles.

America's Mariner 2 passed 21,648 miles from Venus on Dec. 14, 1962. It radioed back data on temperature, magnetism and other conditions to give scientists their clearest knowledge so far of the planet.

Boston Gang War Kills Three More

BOSTON (AP) — The Greater Boston gang war has claimed three victims in the bloodiest single day of the 20-month-old vendetta.

The bodies of victim Nos. 27 and 28 were found shot to death last night in the Mickey Mouse Cafe at nearby Revere Beach.

They were Raymond Distasio, 35, of Medford, the cafe's daytime bartender, and John B. O'Neill, 26, of Revere, a customer who lived nearby.

Earlier in the day, the body of ex-convict Robert A. Palladino, 34, of Winchester, was found beneath an elevated highway near Boston Garden.

All three had been shot in the back of the head.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Bay Communist Lauds High Court

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The U. S. Supreme Court ruling declaring unconstitutional the requirement that Communists in the United States must register with the government will let the party operate more openly in this country says Roscoe Quincy Proctor.

Proctor

Proctor, of Berkeley, along with William Albertson of Brooklyn, N.Y., had been ordered by the Subversive Activities Control Board to register as Communists under a 1950 act.

Yesterday the Supreme Court upset that ruling and Proctor said it was "a victory for the party in its struggle for democracy in the United States."

The 41-year-old warehouseman and carpenter told a news conference he joined the party in 1941 because its members were involved in the struggle for civil rights.

Proctor said he is now a card-carrying unpaid member of the national board of the American Communist Party.

Conflicting Testimony In Ship Fire Inquiry

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Third engineer Harry Sopirios of the cruise ship Yarmouth Castle hasn't slept for two nights — and he is wondering if he will in the weeks ahead.

"I don't know if I will ever erase the memory of those flames," he said.

Eighty-one passengers and to crewmen are believed to have perished when the Yarmouth Castle went down Saturday off Great Stirrup Cay, about 60 miles northwest of Nassau.

Passenger Norman Lehr of Miami Beach died of burns in a Nassau hospital. His body will be flown to Miami in a private plane.

Many survivors said there was no warning as fire swept the ship, that the water sprinkler system didn't work, fire hoses lay unused on the deck, and that only 4 of 14 lifeboats were lowered.

But a Coast Guard investigator said yesterday the Yarmouth Castle passed a Coast Guard safety check three weeks before she sailed.

Third engineer Sopirios said the alarm went off in the forward section and he spread the alarm to the crew sleeping below deck.

"The fire never reached the engineroom or the crew's quarters," he explained. "I think it started somewhere in one of the more expensive forward cabins."

He said hose pipes and lifeboats in the forward section were burned.

Capt. V. G. Niebergall, head of the 7th Coast Guard District's Merchant Marine Safety Division, said the finding of a preliminary investigation disputed complaints from survivors that the Yarmouth Castle was poorly equipped to cope with the emergency.

"Three weeks before the Yarmouth Castle sailed, we held a fire drill aboard the ship in accordance ith the international convention for safety of ships at sea," Niebergall said. "It was in compliance with the international regulations.

Niebergall said testimony from crewmen indicated that the sprinkler system and other safety devices worked satisfactorily.

The Yarmouth Castle was carrying 550 passengers and crew.

Doctors Pleased With Ike's Gains

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's doctors announced today that the five-star general is no longer under oxygen.

The physicians passed that word through the Fort Gordon public information officer, Capt. Wallace C. Hitchcock.

Eisenhower, the doctors said, "was not under oxygen Sunday or Monday," either.

Astronauts Due Home By Christmas

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—It will be Christmas with their families for the nation's four "spirit of 76" astronauts if they blast into space on schedule.

Frank Borman and James Lovell, Gemini 7 pilots, are scheduled to leave Dec. 4 for a record 14-day spaceflight.

By moving at record speed, scientists hope to launch Gemini 6 astronauts Walter M. Schirra and Thomas P. Stafford around Dec. 13 to "fly to formation" with Gemini 7 at 185 miles above earth.

Borman and Lovell, under the schedule, would return to a landing Dec. 18. Schirra and Stafford will come down after about two days of travel through the cosmos.

Family Reunion

"We are reasonably sure they will be with their families on Christmas Eve and Christmas day," a spokesman of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) Manned Spacecraft Center, said.

Borman and Lovell actually will be in the midst of an 11-day "debriefing" session at that time. But they will be given the Christmas holidays off and New Year's day, too, if necessary.

Hundreds of others involved in the historic dual shots probably will not be as fortunate. It appeared doubtful all the recovery force personnel or those on duty at remote tracking stations around the world could make it home by Christmas day under the present schedule.

New Petrini's Market Manager Has Background In The Business

The new manager of Petrini's market in Greenbrae has a family background in the grocery business which goes back to the turn of the century.

Walter Blake, a native of Marin, is a scion of the Blakes—Jasper and Arthur, whose Blake Stores in Larkspur and Corte Madera were in business as long ago as 1900. They were his father and his uncle.

Walter himself has been in the food business for many years and comes by his talents naturally—both by heritage and by experience. He has been an assistant manager at Petrini's since the store in the Bon Air Shopping Center was first stocked with goods and opened. He and his wife are residents of Corte Madera. Mrs. Blake is court recorder in superior court judge Harry J. Neubarth's department in San Francisco.

Blake's recent appointment as manager is one of several changes resulting from Petrini's expansion into San Mateo. It is there that Petrini's Hillsdale will be opened the first week in December in the former Farmers Market which has been undergoing extensive remodeling. It will be a market almost as large as the one in Bon Air.

William Cataldo, previously assistant manager in Bon Air, has been promoted to manager in Hillsdale. He is a former Peninsula resident, so this brings him back to familiar territory.

Kenneth R. Doonan, formerly grocery manager at Bon Air, is now supervisor for the Petrini chain. Headquartered in San Francisco, he travels extensively on buying trips. Doonan's former assistant Pat Hoffman has also left Greenbrae with a promotion. He is now manager of the Manor Market in San Francisco.

Other promotions at Bon Air include Sam Slavos and Walter McLaughlin, elevated to assistant managers.

Plastic May Save Person From Death

ALICE SPRINGS, Central Australia (AP) — A scientist has demonstrated how a sheet of plastic can save person from diyng of thirst in the arid outback.

Dr. Ralph Slatyer of the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization showed delegates attending an Australian Arid Zone Research conference how water can be gained from apparently waterless land.

First he dug a hole about 30 inches square and 18 inches deep in dry, sandy soil. In the hole he placed a small container, surrounded by an armful of desert shrubbery. Then he placed a piece of plastic sheeting 3 feet square loosely over the hole, with a small stone in the center to make the plastic sag towards the container.

The sun shining through the plastic heated the soil and plant material in the hole and drew moisture from them, which condensed on the underside of the plastic in small drops. The drops rolled down the plastic and dripped into the container.

The plastic acted as a small solar still. Each 3 foot sheet of plastic should produce about a pint of water a day.

County Planners Deny Tiburon Apartments

The Marin County Planning Commission last night, after splitting 3-to-3 on approval of a small apartment development on Tiburon Boulevard, voted 6-0 to deny it.

The development was proposed by Leonard Fleishman on 19,800 square feet on the north side of the boulevard between Bay View Heights and Bel Air Estates. He had asked approval of five units. The commission had earlier recommended four units, with traffic to enter through an easement from Rancho Drive and exit onto the boulevard.

Since the commission's first action, it was discovered that the county, not the State Division of Highways as earlier supposed, held the access rights to Tiburon Boulevard.

The board of supervisors, with this new information, sent the plan back to the commission with request that the city of Tiburon be notified of the access issue.

The city opposed any further access and neighbors last night were present to oppose apartments in the area.

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty recommended that the plan for four units be approved again, but his motion was defeated 3-3 when commissioners Niels Schultz Jr., Eugene R. Trombley and Harry H. Heifetz dissented. Commissioner William F. Upton was absent during the evening session.

Schultz then moved that the plan be denied with the commission agreeing it would look favorably on a three-unit development with both ingress and egress from Tiburon Boulevard. This was passed 6-0.

Gas Station For Tiburon Is Rejected

A gasoline service station at Tiburon Boulevard and Blackfield Drive in the Marin Town and Country Shopping Center property was turned down by 3-to-3 vote of the Marin County Planning Commission last night.

Standard Oil Co. had appealed denial by the county zoning administrator. Commissioners Eugene R. Trombley, Margaret Azevedo and Felix M. Warburg voted to uphold the denial. Commissioner William F. Upton was absent.

Attorney E. Warren McGuire, representing the applicant, indicated that the appeal will be next put before the board of supervisors. He argued that the Tiburon master plan calls for a gas station at the site.

Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill said he denied the application because he found the use would be detrimental to adjacent property. There is already a service station across the boulevard.

Property owners, the City of Tiburon, and merchants in the shopping center objected to another station.

The Marin County Planning Commission last night also:

1. Set a Dec. 6 hearing on various proposals for widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from Wolfe Grade Road to the Ross town limits.

2. Set a Dec. 6 hearing on the boards of supervisors' recommendation that the Marincello master plan, approved by supervisors Friday, be adjusted to exclude multiple housing from the Tennessee Valley portion and that access over tunnel road, through the fort property, be studied.

3. Granted Synanon Foundation at Marshall a permit for a trailer on the property for two years. The trailer would be used for night watchman quarters, architects' office and temporary classroom.

4. Approved the tentative map of 44-acre Reedland Woods Unit 2, on the east side of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad at the extension of Blackfield Drive near Tiburon. Lytton Savings and Loan Assn. proposes 64 lots on the property.

5. Granted a variance to Rex Williams to allow a lot without street frontage in connection with a lot split on Shoreline Highway near Sunset Way in Muir Beach. Williams must guarantee access to the lot.

6. Agreed there should be an oral review board to interview candidates for county planning director. County Administrator Alan Bruce told the commission that he hopes to convene this board, of either three or five persons, Dec. 13.

7. Adjourned at 10:45 p.m. Commissioner Hugh Dougherty was absent during the morning session. Commissioner Upton was absent during the evening session.

Addition To Post Office Building Gets Approval

The Tiburon Planning Commission last night unanimously granted architectural approval to Belvedere Land Co. for a 1,200-square foot addition to the post office building to be used for temporary city offices.

The city council on Nov. 8 approved by 3-2 vote an agreement with the land company to lease the building at $325 per month until the city can move into permanent quarters when the post office moves.

The land company says the addition can be completed within 90 days after a use permit is issued. The proposal now goes back to the city council.

The Tiburon Planning Commission also:

1. Denied a use permit application to Christopher Tassos of Tiburon for a car sales lot located at 1650 Tiburon Boulevard.

2. Heard a progress report from Williams, Cook and Mocine on work on a master plan for the city.

3. Granted change in setback from seven to four feet to Fred G. Zelinsky for his restaurant at 1 Main Street. Zelinsky was also granted permission to run the 1 Main parking lot parallel to Tiburon Boulevard from Beach Road extension to 1651 Tiburon Boulevard. The lot was first approved to run at right angles to Tiburon Boulevard but it was agreed the new plan would be better for drainage.

County Loans Draft Reject Exams Cash

Marin County Supervisors today agreed to put up $3,000, to be returned later by the federal government under a new program, to provide physical examinations for those rejected for the draft for poor health.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen wanted to know more about the proposal, saying the federal programs often look good but sometimes turn out to be "hog wash."

The program limits expenditure on each individual to $12.

"What can you do for $12?" Kettenhofen asked.

Supervisors Byron W. Leydecker and William A. Gnoss said the program appeared to have a great deal of merit.

In the end, the board voted to enter the program with the $3,000 loan, but asked a full report and accounting of what it accomplishes. This report will come from the county health department, which will administer the program.

1:10 a.m. EST by the officer on watch who told him there were signs of a fire aboard ship.

Voutsinas said he ordered a general alarm sounded — intermittent blasts of the ship's whistle.

When he reached the bridge, the captain said, it was shrouded in heavy smoke.

"The chief engineer told me he proceeded to the area from which the smoke came. When he opened the door of room 610, flames jumped out and he closed the door.

"Room 610 is near the dining room, amidship. It is used for storage and to my knowledge, the only thing there was a vacuum cleaner and some mops."

Use Permit Voted For New Dump

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday approved a use permit for a new dump on the Elmer Martinelli Ranch north of Point Reyes Station.

The dump would replace one closed by the County Health Department last month.

Jack S. Mason of Inverness, and others owning property adjacent to the road to the proposed dump, said the road was too narrow to be safe.

The commission included a condition in the permit that will require grading and turnouts for cars and trucks to pass.

The County Board of Supervisors must also act on the permit.

ABAG Date Postpones Larkspur Workshop

A workshop meeting of the Larkspur City Council, scheduled for tomorrow at 8 p.m. in City Hall, has been canceled for lack of a quorum, City Clerk Isabelle Moore said today.

Mrs. Moore said a check with councilmen indicated the meeting conflicted with a meeting of the Assn. of Bay Area Governments which some councilmen plan to attend. It has not been rescheduled, she said.

can losses under security regulations.

The B-52 attack yesterday took most of the steam out of the Communist infantrymen, but they re-grouped overnight and launched three separate attacks today before American forces wiped them out.

The first two assaults today were staged before daybreak. The Communists sent two well-trained companies against Americans defending a small landing zone in a meadow at the foot of the mountain. The Communists struck again after daybreak.

In Saigon, American authorities disclosed that two Communist Mig jet fighters attacked two unarmed American photo reconnaissance planes over North Viet Nam yesterday. The RF-101 Voodoos eluded the cannon attack and returned safely to base.

Neither American plane was hit, a U.S. spokesman said.

He was reported Sunday night to have run away frofm home, driving his father's white Cadillac.

It was the second time this years the youth had left home, driving the car, and the second time he had wound up being spotted in the Nevada town.

He ran away July 28 with two friends. The trip ended in exactly the same way both times.

Grand Jurors Study Coroner Post Merger

The Marin County Grand Jury has the proposed merger of the office of coroner with that of district attorney under study, Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker announced today.

Leydecker recommended to his fellow supervisors that the merger, recommended by County Administrator Alan Bruce, not be considered until after the grand jury's report is in hand three weeks hence.

Other board members, who had also heard of the grand jury study, agreed to the continuance. The merger will be considered again Dec. 14.

Both Coroner Frank J. Keaton and District Attorney Bruce B. Bales have opposed the idea.

PARKING

was put in at request of business men there. "If we went back to all-day parking there, we'd be tarred and feathered," he declared.

Councilman Harry A. Barbier added that such all-day parking spaces would do the merchants no good because "the early-bird commuters would take them all."

It was at that point that Swanson launched his attack against any all-day parking on the streets.

"The chamber of commerce is made up of business men. Why don't they put somebody in business to rent these people some parking spaces?" he demanded.

Further, said Swanson, the city and chamber should get busy to "get mass bus transportation here." Rapid transit will do San Rafael no good unless there are busses from the transit terminal, he claimed.

One parking matter got deferred two weeks.

The council was presented by City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen with a two-away ordinance, but because councilmen had not received it before the meeting, its introduction was postponed to Dec. 6.

The proposed ordinance authorizes tow-away of cars when they are (a) parked 72 hours on the street, (b) parked between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. in a no-parking zone, and (c) parked where use of the street is necessary for cleaning, repair or construction," installation of utilities, or movement of equipment of unusual size.

Collision Injures Marin Woman

Mrs. Edna Silva, 62, of 16 Ryan Avenue, Mill Valley, was injured Friday when a car in which she was riding collided with another car about three miles northwest of Sebastopol.

The cars were driven by her husband, John A. Silva, 59, and Dorothy M. Moore, 49, of Sebastopol.

Mrs. Silva was hospitalized in Sebastopol with a dislocated knee, a cut right hand and multiple bruises. She was released Sunday.

Change Of Venue Try Delays Murder Case

Further proceedings in Marin Superior Court against alleged murderers Jack R. Gorman, 36, and Marc Charles Osuna, 30, were continued today until Nov. 30 on indication of defense attorneys that they will seek changes of venue.

Public Defender Jerome Durham, representing Gorman, told Judge Samuel W. Gardiner he has not yet prepared the motion, but will submit the request to have the trial held in a county other than Marin at the later hearing. Attorney Richard Tarrant, who with Thomas P. Boyd, is representing Osuna, said he will join in the motion.

The action followed denial by Judge Gardiner of motions by both that charges be dismissed on a basis that preliminary hearing testimony came from accomplices in the alleged crime.

Gorman and Osuna allegedly murdered San Rafael bartender Mario Ferrari at Mission Inn on Labor Day. Both are in San Quentin Prison for parole violation.

Supervisors Hesitate Over Outside Insurance Survey

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today discussed at length but was unable to decide on a proposed $1,500 study by insurance experts on the county's present insurance coverage.

Walter W. Carter, representing the Marin County Assn. of Independent Insurance Agents, which handles the county's policies, opposed the outside study, saying the association is constantly examining the county coverage and is making a study of possible "package" plans.

Supervisors emphasized that they had no intention of getting other agents for the insurance or going to bid on policies.

Senior administrative analyst John L. Gibb in the county administrator's office recommended that the San Francisco firm of Mund, McLaurin and Co. be hired to make the report. The suggestion was prompted by an unexpected increase last July in liability insurance rates.

The county's total insurance premiums, excluding of health coverage for employees, comes to $58,000 a year. These policies are shared by agents in the association.

Councilmen Slate Chamber Lunches

Mill Valley city councilmen will meet with members of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce for informal discussions on the first Saturday of each month at noon at the Palette restaurant, 163 Throckmorton Avenue, Mayor Michael Wornum announced last night.

Wornum said he and Councilman George E. Wickham, as a council committee, met with chamber members and plan to continue the first Saturday discussions to talk over problems that chamber members have.

"Other council members, the press and anyone else interested are invited," Wornum said. "There is no intent to have secret meetings."

Teen-Ager Booked On Marijuana

Dan Friedman, 18, of 353 Montford Avenue, Homestead Valley, was arrested by state narcotics officers last night on a complaint charging sale of marijuana.

He was released on his own recognizance at county jail by Lloyd Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court and scheduled to appear for arraignment this afternoon.

He was booked on a warrant issued yesterday and alleging the offense occurred in Mill Valley on Sept. 23. Other details were not immediately learned.

Realignment Voted

Application of Richard F. Cahill for a lot line realignment between 119 and 121 Belvedere Avenue was given conditional approval by the Belvedere Planning Commission last night.

Mill Valley Votes Cascades Annex

The Mill Valley City Council last night unanimously passed a resolution of intention to annex 60.8 acres south of Cascade Drive and west of Monte Vista to the city.

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission approved the annexation Nov. 5.

The Cascade annexation was requested by Maurice Capps, owner of 57.42 acres.

San Rafael Man Suffers Cut Arm

James N. Litteral, 19, of 5 Ross Street, San Rafael, was treated for a slashed arm at 11:35 p.m. yesterday at San Rafael General Hospital. He told police he had fallen from bed onto broken glass.

But the police report added that Litteral's father claimed the man had slashed his wrist after a family argument.

Litteral early Saturday took an autostereo unit into the sheriff's office shortly after it had been taken from the Autostereo Co., 121 Jacoby Street, near San Rafael. He told officers then he had purchased the unit for $50 from two members of the Hell's Angels.

Jail, Probation Set In Youth's Perjury

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court today suspended a prison sentence for Michael West, 18, of Marinwood, on condition that he serve 90 days in county jail, and placed him on three years probation.

West had pleaded guilty to perjury in two preliminary hearings in Marin Municipal Court. He testified as a witness in examinations of Thomas Dean Scahill, 21, of Fairfax, charged with disposing of a stolen automobile transmission with intent to defraud an insurance company.

Ex-Marinite May Face Fire Board Recall Try

Independent-Journal Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Commissioners of the suburban Bellevue Fire District will meet tonight to attempt to hire a new fire chief and solve other disputes centering around Commissioner Tom McDougall.

Legal petitions for recall of McDougall are ready for distribution, Karl Ericksen, a fellow commissioner, reported today.

McDougall, former Homestead Valley resident and Marin Taxpayers Assn. president, is embroiled with fellow commissioners and volunteer firemen of the department, which has only one fulltime paid employee (the chief).

Robert Jump resigned as chief effective Nov. 2, saying he was moving from the district. He has not yet moved.

At a commission meeting last week, a petition signed by 137 residents and another signed by 19 volunteer firemen urged promotion of E. A. Marsh, halftime assistant chief, to the top position.

McDougall opposed, saying he thought Marsh not qualified. "He's too hot-heated, for one thing," said McDougall.

This came amid a series of charges that McDougall's interference with firemen was causing dissension in the department.

"This meddling has got to stop, or else we won't have a department," declared Ericksen.

Volunteers objected especially, they said, to posting by McDougall of a notice that unless they signed loyalty oaths they would not get paid $2 per fire call and $1 per drill.

San Anselmo Studies Shift In Location Of New Street

San Anselmo planning commissioners last night tentatively agreed to change plans for a street which would replace San Anselmo Avenue as a major thoroughfare, bringing it 275 feet closer to San Anselmo Avenue than previously planned.

The proposed street is part of San Anselmo's downtown center plan, which, as it now stands, would block off San Anselmo Avenue near City Hall, creating a pedestrian mall.

The change in street location was suggested by Commissioner Warren Perry, who was assigned to study the plan for possible changes.

Perry's suggestion would bring the new street to about one-third of the distance from San Anselmo Avenue to Cedar Street. The previously planned street was 225 feet from Cedar Street. Perry's suggestion places it 500 feet from Cedar.

City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell explained today that the commercial district would be that area running from the new street to Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The commissioners suggested, Leitzell said, that buildings bordering the new street should be high density residential, tapering off to single family residences near Cedar Street.

Leitzell said he was asked by the commission to check property values at the location of the new street and compare them with values at the previously suggested location.

The commisisoners were asked by the city council to seek ways to restrict the size of the commercial district suggested in the downtown center plan in hope of getting some action on a bogged-down proposal for a parking district to finance the changes.

The San Anselmo Planning Commission Also:

1. Granted a variance allowing parking stalls eight feet six inches wide instead of 10 feet wide for the San Anselmo Shopping Center parking lot on Sunny Hills Orphanage property.

2. Approved, 4 to 2, a variance for Bert Oberg Jr. to extend his side yard fence at 71 Berkeley Avenue from four feet to six feet high. Commissioners Duane C. Ragan and Jerry W. Lloyd voted no.

3. Unanimously denied a request by Jerome Sprout for rezoning of 226 Alexander Avenue from single-family residential to duplex. The property borders the City of San Rafael and commissioners felt it should conform with zoning over the boundary, Leitzell said.

Commissioner John West was absent.

Bolinas Burning Ban Terminated By Chief

The burning ban in the Bolinas Fire District was lifted today by Jose Silva, fire chief of the Bolinas volunteer fire department.

Burning hours will be from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. No extensive burning will be permitted and there must be no burning if it is windy, said Silva.

Goldstein Leaves His Hospital Bed

Peter L. Goldstein, injured in a freak accident on the Waldo Grade Oct. 19, was reported "able to get up and about" at Ross General Hospital today.

Goldstein, of 26 Carlson Court, San Anselmo was transferred to Ross from Marin General Hospital Thursday.

Anti-Poverty Funds

The Larkspur School District board, meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the district office, will hear a report from Supt. Milton S. Cohen on projects which might qualify the district for $22,000 in federal anti-proverty funds for education.

Delay Granted In Westmore Mental Report

Reports of two psychiatrists appointed to determine the sanity of Hardy Westmore, 46, charged with murdering a 22-year-old College of Marin student, were postponed in Marin Superior Court today until 9:30 a.m. next Tuesday.

The delay is to give additional time for Dr. Robert Burke of San Rafael to examine the suspect. Dr. David G. Schmidt of Larkspur has already examined Westmore.

Westmore, a custodian at the college, allegedly killed Mike Lazar, of 1155 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, on Nov. 5, and wounded Janine Lieberman, 18, of Sleepy Hollow.

No motive for the double shooting has been found. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said a blood alcohol test revealed Westmore was drunk or nearly drunk, according to drunken driving test standards. He said, however, that degree of intoxication could not explain the apparently unprovoked shooting.

The psychiatric reports are to establish whether Westmore is mentally capable of standing trial.

Judge Gardiner granted Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos permission to place Westmore in Napa State Hospital until the hearing.

Air Crash Victim Reported Better

Alistair MacKenzie was reported greatly improved and in good condition today at Balbuena Hospital in Mexico City with injuries suffered Friday in a plane crash there.

Funeral arrangements were still pending there for his wife, Marcia MacKenzie, 44, great-granddaughter of Lewis Gerstle, for whom Gerstle Park in San Rafael was named.

MacKenzie, in charge of National Broadcasting Co.'s operations in Mexico, was listed in critical condition immediately after the crash onto a mudflat after take-off. But doctors today said he was in a shocked condition at the time and the only injuries are cracked ribs.

Woodacre Collision Hurts Woman's Back

Barbara Arena, 36, Conifer Way, Woodacre, complained of back pains after her northbound car on Carson Road crossed into the southbound lane near Madrone Avenue in Woodacre and crashed into a pickup truck at 7:30 a.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

A passenger in the Arena car, Grace Allen, 57, of 54 Mariposa Avenue, San Anselmo, complained of pains in her left leg. Both were to seek their own treatment. Driver of the pickup truck, David A. White, 24, of Forest Drive, Forest Knolls, was unhurt.

Excavator Must Await New Permit

An excavating contractor complained last night that the City of San Rafael did him dirt — 13,000 cubic yards of it, to be exact.

Paul Phillips of Novato told the city council he has a contract to move 30,000 cubic yards of dirt from a hill just south of the Terra Linda interchange to the Marin Count Civic Center. He has moved 17,000 yards, he said, but "today I get a notice to shut down because the developer didn't get a use permit."

Phillips said the city had issued him an excavating permit for the 30,000 yards, and he wondered why he had not been told another permit was needed.

City Atty. David Menary Jr. said the use permit was required under the zoning ordinance.

Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles, who issued the excavating permit, said he wasn't aware of that as "I don't read the zoning ordinance much."

"There's something screwy some place," said Councilman Harry A. Barbier. He then brought out in questioning that Menary had established the need for two permits only after Phillips had started excavating —and after Councilman Fred E. Jensen had complained at the Nov. 1 council meeting that Phillips' excavation might wind up being "nothing but a big barrow pit."

How big came to light from Phillips's remarks. He disclosed that the developers, Eugene P. Aureguy and Harold G. MacKenzie, propose to remove 260,000 cubic yards from the hill, and 60,000 yards has already been marked for removal.

They plan to build a theater, shops and a service station on the property.

Acting City Planner Charles H. Linthicum said the developers' failure to file a master plan for the property, which is zoned as planned community, prevented issuance of a use permit. Phillips, he said, "has been put in the middle."

The council agreed. The best it could do, however, was to assure Phillips that, if a use permit is approved by the planning commission next Tuesday, he can take out the remaining 13,000 yards covered by his excavating permit.

The council upheld unanimously (with Councilman Charles W. Aby absent) the planning commission turndown of rezoning for apartments of property at 188 Prospect Drive, which was illegally converted to a duplex, apparently by former City Building Inspector Andrew Thomas.

Realty broker Gerald Stone argued for the rezoning in behalf of the owner, Mrs. Mamie E. McLaughlin. He said she bought the property from Thomas believing it was zoned for duplex use.

"She bought it from a city official and accepted his assurances," said Stone. "If you bought property from the city manager, councilman or mayor, you wouldn't investigate."

"If I bought it from a politician, I'd sure check it," retorted Councilman Jensen.

Gregory A. Harrison Jr. of 209 Prospect Drive, speaking in behalf of the Coleman Addition Homeowners Assn., reminded the council that a line on apartment zoning had been drawn in 1958 with assurance to the neighborhood that it would go no further. Also, rezoning of the 188 Prospect Drive property was rejected in 1961.

The unanimous turndown of Mrs. McLaughlin's appeal from the planning commission decision followed.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

1. Continued to Dec. 20 ppblic hearing on an appeal by Harry Heifetz's Marin Development Co. from planning commission denial of a lot split on Francisco Boulevard.

2. Viewed preliminary plans for development of Nunes Park prepared by Dan Coleman Associates. They show a park largely left in natural state, but with picnic areas, playground and tennis or volley ballcourts. Parks and Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota said it was planned to hold a public meeting in the Terra Linda Annexation to get residents' opinion on the plan.

3. Learned from Chief Building Inspector Jack Coates that his initial estimate of $10 per square foot for a recreation center building at Albert Park was too low. He estimated a 5,500-square foot building would cost $65,000 to $75,000. Although they felt the cost high, councilmen directed him to go ahead and prepare preliminary plans.

4. Leased the former Pacific Gas and Electric Co. building at 1004 Second Street for a temporary recreation center at $400 per month.

5. Granted Henry Boehm permission to install a septic tank in Bret Harte Heights, on his agreement to join a sewer assessment district there as soon as it is formed.

6. Adopted a resolution legalizing the one-way street pattern already in effect on Second and Third streets.

7. On complaint of Norman Scheiner of 1103 Irwin Street that a concrete bench installed by the city under the overpass on Fifth Avenue has become a "public nuisance and eyesore," directed that four such benches on Fourth Street and Fifth Avenue be taken up and turned over to the park department for placement in parks.

8. Discussed putting a landscapist (perhaps Scott Tilden of the park department) in charge of the city's tree planting, particularly in landscaped center islands, but postponed action to await word on whether tree foreman William Vaning, who has been ill, will be able to return fulltime to the job.

Car Rolls Twice North Of Novato, One Hurt

Theodore Basil, 48, of Rhonert Park was treated at Novato Hospital Friday for bruises and cuts after his sedan skidded and overturned on a curve of rain-slickened Highway 101 four miles north of Novato at noon yesterday.

Witnesses told the California Highway Patrol the car rolled over twice.

San Rafael Bars Booth Sought By Marin Viet Nam Committee

The Marin Viet Nam Committee was refused permission last night to set up a booth at Fourth and Court streets to pass out literature and solicit donations.

The turndown was by unanimous vote of the San Rafael City Council, with one member, Dr. Charles W. Aby, absent on a trip to Mexico.

It came despite the council's being informed by City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen that the city had been accused by an American Civil Liberties Union caller of violating the United States Constitution in not permitting people to pass out handbills.

It came also despite some worrying by City Atty. David Menary Jr. that the council might be indulging in censorship.

At Menary's suggestion, Councilman Harry A. Barbier amended his motion for denial to give as the reason that the booth would interfere with sidewalk traffic during the busy Christmas season.

The city attorney also informed Andersen that the ban on handbills applied only to advertising. Asst. Police Chief Joseph Brusatori said police enforcement had been only against advertising handouts.

Menary said refusing to allow the Viet Nam Committee to pass out literature would be interference with freedom of speech.

"Isn't there something that goes along with freedom of speech — something about acts that are treasonable?" asked Councilman Louis H. Baar.

Menary replied that speaking and passing out literatlure would not be treasonable.

Councilman Fred E. Jensen raised objection to a booth for soliciting donations.

Noting that no one was present from the Viet Nam Committee to support the written request for a permit, which was submitted by Jared Rossman of 105 F Street, Mayor C. Paul Bettini said perhaps they were not so much interested. He proposed putting the matter over two weeks, but Barbier moved to deny and Bettini made no objection.

Dearth Of City Planner Aides Due To Pay?

"I read where the County of Marin has 50 applications for planning director. How come we can't hire a city planner?" demanded Mayor C. Paul Bettini at last night's San Rafael City Council meeting.

The City of San Rafael has had only an acting planner since George H. Rodgers left in mid-August.

"The county's salary is one of the highest in the state." suggested City Atty. David Menary Jr.

"Are we that low?" asked Bettini.

"No, the county is that high." said Councilman Fred E. Jensen.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said he has received 18 applications so far, three of whom appear possibilities.

County Planning Director B. D. Dobbs receives $14,400 per year. The City of San Rafael is offering $10,800.

Viet Soldier Names Sought

More names of servicemen from Novato serving in Viet Nam are being sought by the committee of Novato citizens preparing Christmas packages to them, said Mrs. Bea Carpenter, co-chairman of the committee.

She said that the deadline for turning in names and collecting food will be tomorrow night.

Names of servicemen may be turned into Mrs. Carpenter, William R. Berry at the Crocker-Citizens Bank in Novato, Ralph Eckhardt of 8 Los Alondras Court, commander of Donald V. Westlund Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Louis Cavallero, past commander of the post.

San Rafael Council Shuns Peacock Gap Sewer Issue

The financial woes of the Draper Companies found their way to the San Rafael City Council meeting last night.

Henry Ghilotti of Maggiora, Ghilotti and Madsen, Corte Madera engineering contractors, wrote the council that his company had constructed storm and sanitary sewers under contract with Peacock Gap, Inc., and he wondered why they were not covered by Peacock Gap's subdivision improvement bond and were not in a public easement.

It developed that the lines are to serve the Knoll, a condominium in Peacock Gap built by D. M. Christensen Construction Co. When Christensen bought the land from Peacock Gap, Inc., one of the Draper Companies, the seller agreed to serve it with a sewer line.

Maggiora, Ghilotti and Madsen built the line, through Draper properties not yet subdivided. And the Draper Companies, in financial straits, have not paid the contractor.

City Atty. David Menary Jr. finally convinced the council the matter is between the contractor and Draper, and the city can accept sewage from the line without liability.

Teen-Ager Badly Beat Over Calling Up Girl

A 16-year-old Tamalpais Valley youth was in fair condition at Marin General Hospital today after allegedly being whipped about the head with a telephone receiver during a row over a phone call to a Mill Valley girl.

Jack J. Green, son of Martin F. Green of 449 Marin Drive, told sheriff's officers that John Allen Acree, 18, of 109 Cardinal Road, Tamalpais Valley, entered his home about 9 p.m. yesterday.

Green said he was in bed. He said Acree entered his bedroom and berated him for calling a 17-year-old girl Acree had been dating, and tying up the telephone line.

Green said Acree then grabbed a telephone, swung the receiver by the cord, and struck Green on the head three times. Then, he said, Acree beat him with his fists. He said he kicked his assailant in the chest to get away from him.

Acree, arrested at his own home, told officers he went to Green's home and saw Green talking on the telephone. He said Green hung up the phone and went into his bedroom and that he followed him there.

The alleged assault was reported by Green's father about two hours after it happened, officers said. Acree was booked in county jail on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon. He was being held at noon today in lieu of $1,650 bail.

Youngster Darts Into Truck Path

Five-year-old Richard Bovero of San Francisco was cut on his forehead yesterday when he reportedly darted between parked cars into the path of a truck at 500 Bridgeway, Sausalito.

The boy was playing on the sidewalk at 1:35 p.m. while his mother, Mrs. Carol Bovero, was at work in a nearby dress shop, police said.

Witnesses told police the child was knocked about 10 feet by a truck driven by John Helms, 40, of 60 Fairfax Street, San Rafael. The child was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Telephone Stolen

Someone stole the telephone receiver by wrenching it from its cord in a telephone booth in the Corte Madera Shopping Center last night, police reported.

Ross School Executive Monahan To Leave

Dr. William W. Monahan, superintendent of Ross School District, announced his resignation at a meeting of the board of trustees last night. It takes effect next June 1.

"I am leaving for no other reason than to advance my career," said Monahan, who earned his doctorate in educational administration at University of California at Berkeley earlier this year.

"This is my third year at Ross and, rather than have my contract renewed, I think I should move further afield to accept new challenges," he said.

Born in Berkeley, he came to Ross from doing graduate work at Cal and was, earlier, a teacher and administrator at Punahou School, Hawaii.

In August, he was named chairman of the educational division of the Marin United Crusade. He is chairman of the County School Health Committee and has been active in the YMCA.

Monahan said today he could not announce any definite plan for the future at this stage.

Sports Car Stolen, Unnoticed By Owner

Raymond G. McEvoy, of 400 Canal Street, Apt. 401, San Rafael, told San Rafael police yesterday his bright red 1959 Ferrari had been stolen between Wednesday and Saturday.

He said it had been parked in a carport, and that he had not noticed it was gone until a neighbor mentioned it.

Back in the 1880s, San Francisco was one of the world's most active whaling ports.

San Geronimo High Plans Get Trustees' Nod

The Tamalpais High School District board last night accepted the design from architects Gromme and Priestly for the San Geronimo High School.

The modified design is for the school with a capacity of 750 students to be built at Woodacre.

The board set a special meeting for 3 p.m. Nov. 24 at the district office to open bids and award a contract for moving 44,000 cubic yards of soil at the San Geronimo site. The board hopes the soil can be stockpiled before heavy rains come.

The Tamalpais High School District board also:

1. Thanked members of the committee who worked on the district bond election campaign.
2. Was introduced to student body officers of the district schools.
3. Renewed agreement with San Francisco State College for student teachers.
4. Reaffirmed the civil defense and disaster policy.
5. Agreed to co-sponsor with the Marin Human Rights Commission a seminar on human rights Dec. 11. Location has not yet been selected.

Tomales Bay Board Seeks Federal Coin

Tomales Bay School District Board last night authorized Principal David Raffo to investigate what money would be available to that district under the new federation education act for culturally handicapped.

Trustees decided hiring another teacher for second and third grades would be top priority project if any money is available to the district, according to Mrs. Lois Parks, clerk. The two grades are combined.

The Tomales Bay School District Board also:

1. Received for study a preliminary budget of $118,000 for the fiscal year. This year's budget is $100,834.
2. Approved changing the starting time of school from 9 a.m. to 8:45 a.m. to conform to a change made by Tomales High School. It will still close at 3:20 p.m.
3. Approved use of Marshall School for a "Dime a Dip" dinner at 7 p.m. Dec. 4 for the Marshall's Mothers' Club. Proceeds will be used for an art contest for all elementary schools in Tomales High School District.

Conservationist Group Rejects Recall Attempt

Thought of trying to recall county supervisors who voted for the Marincello master plan was unanimously rejected last night by directors of the Marin Conservation League.

The action came without discussion, but after the vote, the board of directors also decided to send a letter to each supervisor who voted for the plan, Ernest N. Kettenhofen, William A. Gnoss and Thomas T. Storer, saying the league does not question any supervisor's integrity.

League Vice President Clifford Hanssen said the group has accepted the basic battle as lost.

The job now, directors decided, will be to make sure the density standard of 3.5 family units to an acre does not become a precedent to be applied throughout the county.

Also, the league will speak out when the final development plan for Marincello comes before the county planners and supervisors, directors decided, saying they were concerned about some parts of the proposal.

Recall Help Promised By 'Caldepop'

The California Depopulation Commission "will support and participate in any movement to recall the Marin County supervisors who voted in favor of Marincello," David Camp of Ross, a director, announced today.

"Caldepop" is dedicated to keeping people out of California.

"These supervisors have started Marin County along the road that leads to congestion and ugliness," said Camp in what he called an official statement for "Caldepop."

"We do not, however, concur in any charge that there was conflict of interest involved in the supervisors' choice. We believe that their votes did not conflict with their personal interests in any respect."

Ben Bella Not Dead

PARIS (AP)—The French attorney of former Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella said today that proof has been received that Ben Bella still is alive. Madeleine Lafue-Vernon, who defended Ben Bella during the Algerian war, said the deposed leader's mother received a letter from her son. The mother recognized the handwriting, she said.

CORTE MADERA DITCH TO BE COVERED TODAY

The infamous sewer trench on Paradise Drive should be filled up and paved over sometime today, Corte Madera Public Works Director Arthur N. Morrison told the town council last night.

The last part of the 16-foot deep ditch has been partly blocking the intersection of El Camino Drive, causing motorists to drive through a service station.

Morrison said pavement of the street still would be torn up and not suitable for 35 mile an hour traffic, but Mayor Edward W. Colthurst said he had driven the street and noticed it was greatly improved since bad holes had been patched.

The job of completely repaving and adding two more lanes will be delayed until after New Year, Morrison said, in deference to merchants worried about Christmas sales.

Everything's Not So Jolly On Christmas Tree Hill

When Lt. Col. Paul Wiley purchased a small lot at 200 Morningside Drive on Christmas Tree Hill in Corte Madera, he wanted to be sure he was getting a legal building site.

So Stewart-Marks Realty Co. asked the town, and Zoning Administrator William C. McBride sent back a letter saying the lot would be a legal site.

The town's board of adjustment and planning commission, however, has ruled unanimously that McBride was wrong, and Wiley is now stuck with about 3,200 square feet of property he cannot build upon, attorney Charles W. Pierce told the town council last night.

"The question is whether an owner could rely on the representations of an official of the town," Pierce said.

"Not when he's wrong," answered Councilman William W. Collier.

But Pierce, thumbing through the town's zoning ordinance, came up with a wide loophole. The lots were established near the start of the century, and since adjacent lots were in single ownership, they were automatically combined into larger parcels when the zoning ordinance was passed.

But the ordinance requires the combination only for adjacent vacant lots, and the lot next door to Wiley's had a house on it, he said.

"I think he's right," said Town Atty. Sherrod S. Davis.

"I think you're wrong," Mayor Edward W. Colthurst told Davis.

"If this is a legal lot, we're going to be deluged," cried Jean B. Bean, 146 Edison Street. "The hill is covered with 25-foot lots which might be legal."

The council voted to send the entire question back to the planning commission for reconsideration in light of the newly discovered loophole.

A most unusual car for people who enjoy the unusual

'66 Corvair Corsa Convertible—with outside rear-view mirror among the many safety assists that are now standard. Always check it before you pass.

Drive to work. Drive home. Drive to work. Drive home. Drive to the supermarket. Drive home.

In most cars this routine can be more than monotonous. In a Corvair it becomes something else again.

The traction is surer, gutsier—because there's more engine weight on the rear wheels. Even the economy is something special. You never have to bother with antifreeze, for example, because Corvair's engine is air-cooled. No radiator repairs or leaky hose connections either.

Dias Ranch Plan Density Is Argued

Marin County planning commissioners yesterday struggled in vain with the problem of housing density for the 170-acre Dias Ranch development proposed in a planned community zone west of Mill Valley.

Developers Alfred J. Stern of Palo Alto is asking 3.5 dwelling units per acre, the same density approved by supervisors Friday in the Marincello master plan.

When they acted on the Marincello plan, supervisors emphasized that 3.5, the maximum allowed under the planned community zone, would not set a precedent for future developers.

In a rambling discussion yesterday, the planning commission seemed to question density control as a proper criteria for plans. What they agreed they want is quality, and the Dias Ranch proposal seemed to represent that quality.

"If we are to encourage imaginative design, there has to be some incentive," Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. declared.

David Van Pelt of the planning staff urged the commission to decide the density issue before going into detailed study of the plan.

But the commission, on motion of Commissioner Margaret Azevedo, scheduled a special session at 8 p.m., Nov. 29, to talk about such plans as that proposed for the Dias Ranch and see how they might be approved "without destroying the effectiveness of existing master plans."

This was in reference to the Mill Valley and Tamalpais Valley master plans, which call for density of 1.5 to two dwelling units per acre in the area.

The commission's two-hour discussions yesterday included an analysis of the plan by Van Pelt. His two main points were that the lots proposed for single-family homes at the north end of the ranch should be larger, and that the traffic and access could cause problems.

County traffic engineer James Robertson reported there are now 2,000 cars a day on Shoreline Highway on the south side of the property and 1,000 a day on Panoramic Highway on the westside. The development would about triple the traffic on both roads, he estimated.

"It would bring the roads up to, maybe past, capacity," Van Pelt said.

Warren Callister of architects Callister and Payne, who prepared the plan, spoke at length on the effort to create a community.

Cluster housing, linked by a board walk, would be centered around a 100-unit hotel near the top of the ridge. The hotel would also include a market and other shops.

Callister said he feared lowering the density might result in a bunch of "lonely homes on a windswept hill."

The Homestead Valley Improvement Club has praised the plan, but taken exception to the 3.5 density. The Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn. has taken a similar stand. Both recommended that the feasibility of the hotel be examined closely.

The Mill Valley Planning Commission has opposed the density.

Mary Donnelly of the Marin Conservation Council urged that the master plan be followed, and asked what was the purpose of drawing up such plans if the commission is going to ignore them.

Mill Valley Council Balks At Approving Dias Density

Mill Valley city councilman agreed last night that plans for the proposed Dias Ranch development, between Shoreline and Panoramic highways, were imaginative, but balked at approving the density.

Councilmen noted that the proposed density of 3.5 dwelling units per acre is in conflict with the 1955 Mill Valley master plan and the 1959 Tamalpais Valley master plan which call for densities ranging from 1.5 to 2.2 dwelling units per acre.

They voted to 4-1 to recommend to the county planning commission and supervisors that there be a "critical evaluation" of the proposed density in light of the existing master plans, and "that this disparity of density be reconciled." Councilman Joseph Sheeks dissented.

Plants Speaker

Marjorie Sells, a writer and authority on gardening, will speak on "The Right Plant for the Right Spot" to the Garden Society of Marin Friday at 8 p.m. in the Chemistry Building, College of Marin, Kentfield.

Lions District Board To Meet

The cabinet of the Lions International District 4-C, covering all of northwestern California, will meet this weekend at the Lodge in Novato.

The Leodettes of Corte Madera, women's auxiliary to the Corte Madera Lions Club, will be hostesses for the visitors under the direction of Mrs. Edward P. Sabor of San Anselmo and Mrs. George Taylor of San Rafael.

Registration for the meeting will begin Saturday at 8 a.m. at the Lodge, said deputy district governor Max Martin of San Anselmo.

Parking Meters On Agenda Again

Sausalito city councilmen will take a second look at the proposed purchase of parking meter attachments at an 8 o'clock meeting today in city hall.

Questions were raised last Tuesday over the attachments, which when a car runs over a pad in the street, erases all parking time, causing the driver to have to start the meter anew. The council asked for more information plus comments from businessmen.

The council is to consider contracts for planning assistance under a government grant for central waterfront planning.

Parson's Poodle Has Costly Habits

FARNHAM, England (AP) — Pete — a parson's poodle — is causing a financial crisis at the vicarage. The trouble is that the black poodle has started eating money.

Two weeks ago, the Rev. Charles Warner, 70, caught his dog eating one of his five-pound ($14) notes. He salvaged the bill and scolded Pete. Then this past weekend Pete swallowed a check he found on the vicar's writing desk. "He's proving an expensive dog," said the vicar.

Van Brocklin Changes Mind, Returns To Coach Vikes

General Manager Jim Finks said at a press conference shortly before noon that "I am very happy to report that Norm has reconsidered and currently is with the football team."

Finks said Van Brocklin met with the team for a squad meeting at 10 a.m.

The general manager said Van Brocklin would not be available for comment until 3 p.m. CST today because of the urgency of making preparations for Sunday's National Football League game here with the Green Bay Packers.

Finks said Van Brocklin called him at the Vikings office at 9:30 p.m. yesterday, or about 12 hours after Van Brocklin announced to three reporters his decision to quit after 4½ years as field boss of the Vikings.

"There was an indication on the telephone that he had changed his mind," Fink said.

"He said he wanted to see me. When I got there to Van Brocklin's home in suburban Medicine Lake, he told me he realized he had made a mistake and wanted to come back to work at 8 o'clock this morning."

Finks said the Vikings had no contact at all with Van Brocklin from shortly before noon yesterday until the Dutchman telephoned Finks last night.

"It certainly wasn't anything I said or did," Finks said.

"Norm realized he had made a mistake. I didn't think he was this impulsive, but obviously he is."

Vikings President Max Winter said:

"We're very happy. This was his own decision, nobody talked to him. It gave me a pretty rough two days and two nights."

Novato, Drake Dominate All-League Grid Team

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

The Return Of Y, A. Tidal, The All-Leak Waterback

When I left you yesterday you were leaning over the rail singing that ketchy Neptune, "Yo-Ho Heave Ho."

Today I'm sorry to present Act II of How The Wet Was Won, or maybe it's Act I of How The Wet Was Two. Anyway, the acts are yours, the drama mine.

Getting back to the weekend's football follies at Kent Lake: The stadium was a damphitheater, a crescent drench. When the Shasta Knights charged out onto the field Friday night, filtered through the Tar guards and splashed into the moat surrounding the mudiron, everybody laughed so hard I thought the stands would never dry.

I HAD trouble assigning my paper mates to cover Saturday's game. Finally Ralph Chabuoyant worked the Drake-Redwood fray, More Ice Raingear covered the Novato-Marin Catholic spray and I covered the waterfront.

You may have noticed that we pier-less pickers were divided in our sognostications. I had a brainstorm and went overboard for Redwood, the others decided to think or thwim with Drake and the weatherman hit the hail on the head with rain over weekend. You might say he double-teemed us. Even the waterboys came down in buckets.

THE I-J's Richard Smith won a prize for spearior underwater photography and also detected Lloyd Bridges riffling through Davey Jones' locker room. Smith double-crossed the Bridges before he got to him and the cops runneth over.

I thought they should have televised Saturday's games, but the channels were busy. But KTIM broadcast the afternoon tilt via short wave with Ted Mitchell and Verle Sorgen handling the spray-by-spray. It was "Buoys and Verles Together" on the "Sink Along with Mitch" Show.

IN THREE games over the weekend we saw everything but the kitchen sink and, oh, how green was my galley in its Hungarian galoshes.

The guy with the towel concession really cleaned up, using all those mudders for Cannon fodder. (Oh, brudder, I hope I didn't rub you the wrong way.)

Since the tie cost Drake the pennant, one disdrought Pirate fan jumped off the top row of the bleachers. First sewercide of the season.

THE EVENING game was co-sponsored by the Marin Athletic League, the Immigration Department (checking for wet backs), the Belvedere Sailing Society and the Port Authority and sanctioned by the Department of Fish and Game.

It was Marin Catholic's home game so I asked one of the priests if he had anything to do with the weather. "No, sun," he smiled brightly, "that's up to management. I'm in sails."

THE GAME saw Novato win, nose wet, no strain. They simply outcharged Marin Catholic, a modern version of the lines sloughing the Christians. (Mr. Christian, send that man aloft!) But one of the Wildcats won a scholar ship to Slippery Rock—a mudcat grant.

Also, that was the game in which Novato star John Dolinsoak played like Y. A. Tidal and was named All-Leak Waterback.

FANS HAD trouble identifying the players because there were no programs for sail, I said listlessly. And the traditional dog was on the field. No, he wasn't doing the dog paddle. I think it was the Australian crawl, because the last time I saw him he was going down under.

When the scoreboard clock went on the blink (really it did) someone gushed, "The Sans of Time." And when the musicians showed up in their raincoats, one little boy screamed, "Look, Ma, rubber bands." And because Tam did the Indian rain dance the night before, the other teams had to play in their Stanfordized uniforms.

AND IF I don't stop this right here and now I know you're going to fall over the rail.

Or, as Jackie Gleason would say with rancor, "A-w-e-i-g-h we goo."

Warriors Win; Guy Sizzles

SAN JOSE (AP) — Guy Rodgers poured in 39 points last night for a career high and led the San Francisco Warriors to a 123-112 victory over the Baltimore Bullets and a tie for first place in the Western Division race of the National Bastketball Assn.

Rodgers, a seven-year veteran who played in the shadow of Wilt Chamberlain, added 14 assists.

The Warriors ran away from the Bullets with a 42-point output in the third quarter.

San Francisco, paced by the shooting of Rodgers, Paul Neumann and Nate Thurmond, moved from a 60-52 halftime edge to a 19-point bulge at 91-72 with three minutes to go in the third period.

Veteran Bailey Howell and Ben Warley tried to keep Baltimore in the game, but the Warriors drove to a 115-90 lead with 8:49 to play and coasted home from there.

Rodgers received a standing ovation from a sell-out crowd at San Jose Civic Auditorium when he left the game with six minutes to play.

Kevin Loughery sparked a Bullet rally against Warrior reserves that cut the margin to seven points at 119-112 with 1:12 to go. But two layups by Al Attles again put the Warriors out of reach.

San Francisco boosted its record to 9-6 tying the Los Angeles Lakers for the division lead.

Neumann posted 22 points and Thurmond 20. Howell's 24 led Baltimore's scoring.

Mayo Smith New Manager Of Chisox?

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Sun-Times said today that Mayo Smith, a former National League baseball manager and now a scout for the New York Yankees, will succeed Al Lopez as manager of the Chicago White Sox.

The Sun-Times said it learned that the official announcement is expected to be made within a week to 10 days, possibly sooner.

Smith, 50, has been in baseball for more than 30 years. He was a player for 21 years but only one year in the majors, in 1945, when he played the outfield for the old Philadelphia Athletics.

Ex-Mariner Star Hurt

A former Novato High School and College of Marin star, Baccaglio didn't tell anyone about the injury until yesterday and it is doubtful he will start against Fresno State Saturday night when the Spartans look for their sixth win in a row to complete their first winning season since 1961.

A Slight Case Of Optimism At Cal Camp For Big Game

PALO ALTO (AP) — Coach Ray Willsey of California admits under questioning that he thinks his 1965 team might be "a little better" than last year's squad.

That was as close to optimism as the California leader wanted to get as he and Stanford Coach John Ralston discussed their approaching "Big Game" at yesterday's Northern California Football Writers session.

On the other hand, Willsey quite willingly pointed out that Stanford "has an excellent defense and a quarterback who can run or throw." And he wanted all to realize the Indians' halfback Ray Handley is just as good a runner as he was a year ago when his record was better.

Ralston evaluated the California club as "a strong, punishing type of team...chip it out of granite so to speak. Tom Relles and Lloyd Reist are good runners and both Ron Minamide and Frank Lynch are good backfield blockers."

Ralston did say the Stanford preparations would be different for this game, from what they were a year ago. At that time the Indians were geared to stop the passing of Craig Morton and did it effectively to win 21-3.

In fact Stanford has won the Big Game four straight times to take an edge in the series 29-28 with 10 ties.

Willsey termed his club in shape physically for the finale. Both tackle Roger Foster and defensive back Greg Palamountain, out part of the season with injuries, played most of the time as California beat Oregon 24-0 last Saturday.

Stanford, meanwhile, fell to UCLA 30-13 with resultant bumps and bruises. Tight end John Mason went out in the first quarter with a charley horse. Mike Hibler, a defensive stalwart, suffered a knee strain and linebacker Bob Rath a sprained hand. End Blaine Nye also had a knee injury, but it wasn't expected to hamper his play.

California goes into the game with its best record since 1958 (5-4) while Stanford has its best since 1957 (5-3-1).

San Jose State also goes after a finish above the 500 mark when the Spartans travel to Fresno State on Saturday night.

Fullback Charley Harraway, the powerhouse in the Spartan attack which has won five straight, needs only a point to set a school scoring record for a single season. He has 72 points to share the record with Harry Beck and Jack Donaldson.

All-League Cage Team Announced

Terra Linda High School's Class C basketball team, league champ this year, and runner-up Redwood each had two boys named to the All-Marin Athletic League first team.

Guards Bob Maxwell and Lanny Schreiner of Terra Linda and Redwood forward Tim Hart and guard Bob Purtell were named to the six-man first team. Other cagers given the top spots were Marin Catholic forward Bob McCarthy and Tamalpais center Mike Harris.

Named to the second team were forwards Bruce Pearson of Novato and Kevin McCall of Marin Catholic, center Andy McIlroy of Redwood, and guards Bill Gaddy of Drake and Bob Coleman of Tam.

Given honorable mention were Gary Krambs of Terra Linda, Dave Ruggles of Redwood and Mike Murray of Marin Catholic.

Thornton Stops Foe In Seventh

MODESTO (AP)—Irish Wayne Thornton of Fresno, the top ranked contender for Jose Torres' world light heavyweight title, scored a seventh-round knockout over Bob McKinney of Tacoma, Wash., in Modesto last night.

Referee Fred Apostoli stopped the scheduled 10-rounder after 1:30 of the seventh when Thornton drove the tired McKinney through the ropes in a neutral corner.

The win was the third of the year for Thornton who earlier scored victories over Eddie Cotton and heavyweight Alonzo Johnson. There were no knockdowns but Thornton continually drove McKinney around the ring with a savage body attack.

Ex-Tam Grid Stars Shine In College

Two former Tamalpais High School football stars are continuing to shine in college ball.

Art Foster, defensive end at University of Santa Clara, and Elmer Collett, offensive guard at San Francisco State, were named co-linemen of the week yesterday by the Northern California Football Writers and Sportscasters Assn.

Collett, a standout all season for S.F. State, was even nominated as the lineman of the year, but lost out to University of California offensive guard John Garamendi.

Foster was graduated in 1963 and Collett a year earlier. The gridders were teammates on the 1962 Tam team.

Tom Relles, Cal halfback, was named back of the year for Northern California. Coach of the year honors went to Santa Clara's Pat Malley. His club has posted a 7-1 record.

Six Hornets Win First Team Honor

Champion Novato and runner-up Drake dominated the 1965 selections for the best football players in the Marin Athletic League.

Coaches of the seven league teams met last night at Marin Catholic High School and came up with a sparkling array of all-league offensive and defensive players who have just completed perhaps the best season in league history.

It was a strong league this year, as evidenced by its record against outside teams. And it took the coaches more than two and a half hours to come up with the "dream teams" and honorable mentions.

Novato, a powerful team that captured the MCAL pennant with a 5-1 record, put four offensive players and two defensive men on the first teams, and three other Hornets were given honorable mention.

Drake, a team that tied for the championship in 1963, won it outright in 1964 and was second-best this year, had two offensive players and three defensive men on the first 22. Third place Tam had one defensive man; fourth place Redwood had two offensive and one defensive; fifth place Terra Linda had two defensive men; sixth place San Rafael had a boy on offense, a boy on defense, and one on both offense and defense, and Marin Catholic, the bottom team, had one on offense.

Joe Cunningham, a 165-pound star for the San Rafael Bulldogs, was named to both teams, as an end on offense and a back on defense. He was the only gridder to have the distinction of making both first teams. And this was quite a feat to do this year.

Named to the team from Novato, on offense, were end Tom Corder, tackle John Youngs, quarterback John Dolinsek and tailback Dick Otis. Other members of the all-league offense were tackle Gary Wittenmeier from Marin Catholic, guard Ed Farina of Drake, guard Bill Niccolls of Rerwood, center Darryl Ralston of San Rafael, fullback Dean Lazzarrini of Drake and halfback Len Pieri of Redwood. All are seniors.

Drake has the best defensive line in the league and the coaches put three of those linemen on the first team defense. They were end Doug Manuel, tackle Jerry Sprout and guard Bill Hickerson.

Other first string defensive players are end John Balzan of San Rafael, tackle Tom Heacox of Terra Linda, guard Bob Saunders of Novato, linebackers Jim Crisp of Terra Linda and Horace White of Tamalpais, and backs Dan Salata of Redwood, Dennis Hachmyer of Novato and Cunningham. Heacox, Sprout and Hickerson are juniors.

Otis and Lazzarrini, the class of the league runners, were repeaters in the offensive backfield. Jim Crisp, the tough linebacker for the T. L. Trojans, also repeated his 1964 place on the defensive team.

Lazzarini's Injury Toughest Break Of Grid Season

Independent-Journal Sports

PREP NOTEBOOK

Sad Ending For His Prep Career

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Before the start of the Drake-Redwood game Saturday, public address announcer Dave Scofield introduced all the seniors playing their last high school game.

"And one of the outstanding backs in the league's history, Dean Lazzarini," boomed the voice of Kezar Stadium's 49er P.A. man.

It was Dean's last game and the fans expected a big showing from the Drake speedster. He caught a kickoff early in the first quarter—after carrying the ball only once before that—and was banged down hard in the mud by a driving tackle from Redwood's Dan Salata, a boy who weighs only 150 pounds.

Lazzarini's high school football career ended right there, as he hobbled off the field holding his left arm limply to his side. From the field he was taken to the dressing room, and then to Marin General Hospital. But before he even got to the hospital murmurs from the few spectators who sat through a steady rain could be heard:

"Lazzarini broke a collarbone" . . . "Boy, that's sure tough luck" . . . "And it was his last game, too . . ."

ONE OF the first persons to check on Lazzarini's condition after the game was Salata, without a doubt one of the best tacklers in the league. He knew the injury was just part of the game of football, and it came on a clean, hard tackle. Dan showed a lot of heart. He just had to get on the phone and find out how badly hurt Lazzarini was. No one felt worse about the injury than Salata did.

Lazzarini was out of school yesterday but he was expected to return today or tomorrow. His arm and shoulder will be in a brace from four to eight weeks.

IT APPEARED from the pressbox that Redwood coach Bob Troppmann wanted anything but a tie. When he had his team run on fourth and four in the final quarter, with the ball sitting on the Drake 47; and when he had the Giants go to the air after that, resulting in a Drake interception. It seemed the veteran coach was saying, "Either you Drake boys are going to win or we are, there isn't going to be a tie." (Although we all know by now that the game did end in a tie, 6-6.)

But yesterday, Tropp, in a way that only he can do, said simply, "It was probably a dumb call. We should have punted." He just won't be pinned down, that man.

AS WE said earlier, Redwood was going to have a big hand in determining the final outcome of the football race. The Giants beat Tam and knocked the Indians in third place, they tied Drake to knock them to second place, and they lost to Novato, the team that won the championship, all this coming in the last three weeks of the league season.

And incidentally, that Redwood triumph over Tam and tie with Drake earned the Giants the trophy as champ of the Tamalpais Union High School District.

The League race ended true to form, according to pre-season guesses by the so-called experts. Novato was given the best chance to pull the title from Drake, and that's exactly what happened. The Hornets from Novato lost only one game all season, and that was to Drake by only two points. Besides a 20-20 tie with Petaluma, the Novato boys won the other seven games.

IT WAS A truly fine season for Novato coach Harry Moore, his first year as head varsity coach of the Hornets. You can't start out much better than he did, winning a championship your first turn at the helm.

And he was as muddy as his players Saturday night when the Hornets battered Marin Catholic 38-0 to win the championship. He was all right before the game ended, but after the triumph, the players heaved him and the rest of the coaching staff into the water that covered the track next to the field.

ALSO FINISHING a very successful season his first time out was Tam's Willie Hector. His Indians ended the year with a 7-2 record, the best mark in the past three years for the Injuns. When Tam beat Terra Linda 12-7 Friday night the Indians played "Joy in Mudville." En Mass, the Tam football players dived and rolled in the mud of the San Rafael High School field. It was really a sight.

AT SOME of Tam's games this season, it looked like old home week for ex-Tam coaches. Dating back to 1934, ex-coaches (in order) George Gustafson, George Corson, Glidden Benefield, Jim Hanretty and Pete Belden could be seen cheering on the Indians.

TO MAKE things worse for the fans who braved the elements Saturday to watch the Redwood-Drake and Novato-Marin Catholic games in Kentfield, the scoreboard clock was on the blink.

With 4:45 left in the third quarter of the Drake-Redwood afternoon game, the rain caused a short in the wiring and the clock wouldn't stop running. From that point on, and for the entire Novato-Marin night game, the officials had to keep the time with a stop watch, while the fans were informed of the time every so often by the P.A. announcer.

TO ADD to the lack of knowledge by the spectators of the Saturday night game, there were no programs. The players were so muddy it probably wouldn't have helped much anyway.

WHEN NOVATO snapped Tam's five-game win streak this season with its 34-0 rout, the father of Novato star Dick Otis just had to view this game with mixed emotions.

Jim Otis, Dick's dad, is a graduate of Tam and in 1938 was a star on the Indians' lightweight football and basketball teams. The younger Otis, who ended up as the king of rushing and scoring in the league, kept his production down in this game, only scoring one touchdown and running for 65 yards.

COME DOWN TOUCHDOWN—Drake end Chester Carlisle waits for a ball that has touchdown written all over it during the Pirates' final game with Redwood last Saturday. Carlisle made the catch between Redwood's Harvey Hand (20) and Gil Brown (64), and it was good for Drake's only touchdown of the day.

U.S. Title Fight Set

BOSTON (AP) — Matchmaker Sam Silverman announced yesterday the signing of middleweight contenders Joey Archer of New York and Don Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, for a 12-round boxing bout Dec. 10 at Boston Garden.

Silverman said the fight would be billed for the U.S. middleweight title. Four 10-rounders, to be announced, will complete the program.

Archer is gunning for a shot at the world championship held by Dick Tiger. Fullmer also is seeking a title shot.

Archer has 48 victories in 49 pro fights. His lone loss was to Jose Gonzales, whom he later beat. In his last outing, Archer knocked down Sugar Ray Robinson in scoring a lop-sided decision that sent the former middleweight champion into retirement.

In 1958-63, the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge underwent a $35 million construction program to make each deck one-way for motor traffic.

Jimmy Brown Might Take Coaching Job

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Will Jim Brown stay in football as a coach? Maybe.

"I've had thoughts about many jobs," Brown said. "I'm keeping an open mind. If anyone shows interest in me as a coach I certainly would consider the opportunity."

The Cleveland Browns' fullback, who received a standing ovation at the weekly Touchdown Club luncheon yesterday, has said he plans to play through the 1966 season, then retire.

Asked if he wanted to go out on top, Brown answered, "I guess everybody feels that way. There are a lot of things involved though. I'd like to win it this year and again next year, then retire."

The Browns stand a good chance to win the Eastern Conference championship this season and defend their National Football League title. Cleveland (7-2) has a to-game edge over the St. Louis Cardinals (5-4) ith five games left.

Brown, who holds nine of 17 possible NFL rushing records and is second in four others, said he's enjoying his football now more than ever.

"I'm a free ball player able to utilize all my abilities," he said. "I like to catch the football. Now I'm being used as a receiver. I'm able to talk to (owner) Art Modell and (Coach) Blanton Collier. Even do a little coaching. I get a kick out of working with the offensive line."

Brown has been an unofficial tutor on the Browns' line this season with line coach Fritz Heisler.

Juan Stars As A Diver; 'Fantastic'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Juan Marichal, the San Francisco Giant pitching ace with the high kick, has turned to scuba diving in the off season to keep fit.

"He's fantastic," said Ed Braly, operator of a skin-diving school.

"It took him only two weeks to progress as far as most pupils in a year."

Three years ago in his native Dominican Republic, Juan was persuaded by Felipe Alou, then a teammate but now with the Milwaukee Braves, to try diving.

"In the Caribbean, we use a snorkel for diving," said Juan.

"I can stay down only a minute or a minute and a half. But with my tanks now, I can stay down a half or three-quarters of an hour.

"In the Dominican, there are always sharks. Up here, very few. But Ed has shown me how to fight one if he shows up."

Garrett, Beban, Lewis Lead PAC Statistics

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The West's two most explosive backs duel Saturday at Los Angeles in the Southern California - UCLA football game which in all probability decides the Rose Bowl nominee.

Mike Garrett heads the USC cast and also leads the Pacific Athletic Conference in rushing and scoring with 1,118 yards and 78 points.

Sophomore quarterback Gary Beban heads the total offense list with 1,506 yards on 427 rushing and 1,079 passing. Stanford's Dave Lewis ranks second in this category with 1,269 and Garrett third at 1,130.

Beban also is tied for second in scoring. He and Washington' Dave Williams each have 54.

Lewis took over the lead in passing this week with a total of 86 completions for 1,157 yards and five touchdowns. Tom Roth of Washington State ranks second with 83 for 1,095 and four touchdowns.

Tod Hullin of Washington, who throws against WSU this weekend, has hit 79 passes but 12 of them have gone for touchdowns. He's gained 1,154 yards through the air.

Oregon's Steve Bunker continues to lead pass receivers with 46 for 711 yards and eight touchdowns, and Lewis heads punters with an average of 45.6 yards per kick.

UCLA and USC rank one-two among the teams in total offense with productions averaging 361 and 348 per game respectively. The Trojans of USC also top the list in total defense, permitting foes only 223 yards on the average. UCLA ranks fifth on this list at 278.

JET CAR CRACKS '600' BARRIER

Breedlove Eyes 700 MPH Goal Next

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — Craig Breedlove has won his duel with Art Arfons for the world land speed record — at least for this year.

Neither man disputes it.

"I know we've got the record," the handsome Breedlove said yesterday after recapturing the mark he has traded with Arfons the past year.

"There's major damage (to my car) . . . the repairs probably will take 30 to 40 days," Arfons said at his home in Akron, Ohio. That means Christmas and Arfons said he would rather wait until mid-January.

However, winter is moving in over the western Utah Raceway and the Flats usually are covered by a snow blanket in January.

Breedlove and his jet car, Spirit of America Sonic 1, compiled a two-way average speed of 600.601 miles per hour through the measured mile in regaining the record. The performance wiped out a 576.353 m.p.h. mark set by Arfons last week.

Underlining the end of record racing for 1965, chief timer Joe Petrali of the U.S. Automobile Club packed his gear and headed home to Upland, Calif. He said he wouldn't be back this year.

Breedlove's record yesterday—he's held it four times in the past in his see-saw competition with Arfons — gave him another distinction. He is the first man to officially drive 400, 500 and 600 m.p.h.

Will he go for 700? "Of course, if I can," said the 28-year-old former hot-rodder from Palos Verde, Calif. "But probably not in this car. The limit of this car is in the high 600s.

"And don't talk about the sound barrier (740-760 m.p.h. on the Flats). That's a long way off."

Breedlove's blue jet actually was constructed for supersonic speeds with a pinched midsection to increase air penetration at high speeds. But troubles with body panels — they buckled on several earlier runs — and caved-in front cowlings forced modifications that reduced the jet's potential.

Breedlove said he probably will have to go to a different configuration in designing a car capable of the sound barrier.

The Monday record run was one of Breedlove's smoothest on the Flats, where he has survived on crash, one near-miss and some mechanical difficulties in the past.

The track — softened by overnight rains — was a little rough and, Breedlove said, "it made driving tough because at 600 miles per hour steering is touchy."

On his first run, Breedlove's braking parachute filled with salt and water and collapsed. He was able to halt the speeding jet at the end of the track.

Coming back through the course 40 minutes later, he veered to the left after leaving the measured mile and there was momentary fear he was in trouble. But his chute popped open and Breedlove stopped beside his trailer-van headquarters.

"I wanted to park my car right in the garage," he laughed.

Lycaste Winner At Bay Meadows

SAN MATEO (AP) — Lycaste raced to an impressive three-length victory over Sculptured in the feature KSFO Radio Purse horse race yesterday at Bay Meadows.

Kell finished third in the field of seven distaffs over the one-mile course.

Lycaste took the lead from Sculptured in the stretch and romped easily home. Her time was a fast 1 minute 37 2-5 seconds over a muddy track.

Lycaste paid $4.80, $3 and $2.40. Sculptured returned $4.60 and $3.40, and Kell $4.20.

Fairfax Girl, 15, Wins Figure Skating Title

Linda Lee Howard, 15, of Fairfax, won top honors in the Ladies' Pre-Novice event of the 1965 Central Pacific Figure Skating championship last weekend in San Francisco.

Linda's teammate from Raydine Ice Skating in San Anselmo, Janet Lee Simpson of Greenbrae, was very close behind to win second place. Musette Trace finished in fifth spot.

In the pre-juvenile girls' division, Kim Connick of Belvedere and Hetti Lu Schramm of Greenbrae turned in fine performances for their first try at competitive skating, winning fourth and fifth places respectively.

Big 10 Picks Michigan St.

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten unanimously voted Michigan State as its representative in the Rose Bowl, conference Commissioner Bill Reed announced today.

Michigan State, the nation's No. 1 football team, clinched the bowl bid a week ago Saturday but had to await formal action by the Big Ten athletic directors.

It marked the first time in the history of the Rose Bowl contract that the Big Ten made its bowl selection before the end of the regular season.

The Big Ten campaign ends this Saturday with Michigan State, undefeated in conference competition, closing its season at Notre Dame.

SPORTSMEN BRAVE ELEMENTS IN SEARCH OF FISH 'N' GAME

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

My office is located at the rear of my home here in Oakland. Through the windows I can see the tall eucalyptus tree in constant, restless movement, at times surrendering a batch of leaves to a strong gust of wind. The shrubs and rose trees keep up a steady out-of-step dance; the metal wheelbarrow is half filled with water. I am reminded of a cartoon I filed away some years back depicting two men in a rowboat holding rods in their hands while the rain comes down in streaks. Not far away are two duck hunters huddled in the boat with the same rain streaking down. Both anglers and shooters are saying of the other: "What fools!"

YOU KNOW something—? You could find that combination in a great many fishing or hunting spots last Sunday. Sunday is a day when the private clubs populate the numerous islands and parts of the mainland in quest of waterfowl, and Sunday was the day when contestants in the "Challenge Derby" for sturgeon fished the waters from the Carquinez Bridge to the bridge at Antioch. The time was "all day," and the sturgeon had to be weighed in at Harris' Harbor at Pittsburgh. Also the Real Rod Benders will keep open the entire month of November, a challenge for the largest striper caught any two days of the month. Bob Connor, club secretary, advises that registry must be made at the Hayward Fisheries—weigh-in at Mura's gym.

THE LATEST word from the Upper Klamath River is hardly conducive to cheers. Jim Roads, Klamath River Guide Service, reported: "Steelhead fishing from poor to fair lately. The fluctuations of water height is probably the main cause. Fly fishing could be at an end if water fluctations continue."

TO ANSWER a number of questions—Yes, the rain storms we have had since Saturday very likely sent a flock of steelhead into the coastal streams. Characteristic of some streams such as the Garcia and the Ten Mile, which are seldom if ever "bar-bound," an overabundance of rain back in the hills render the streams much too high and much too dirty for success. Hence, we look to the coastal streams whose bars were washed away. As soon as the latter streams become lower and the water assumes a "milky" appearance, the dyed-in-the-wool angler keeps his ears wide open to hear the first news of stream conditions AFTER a hard fall of rain. Perhaps—if the skies remain dry for a few days—I may announce the fact in my column.

REGARDING THE streams whose mouths remained open all of last week, you will play safe to wait at least until the end of the week before considering a trip after steelies. Under ordinary conditions, after a spell of very wet weather, it is safe to figure on at least four days (4 to 6 on the average) before making the trip.

I will keep in close touch with my various contacts along the coast and will report on conditions regularly, when there any change.

WINNING BRIDGE

For First Time Holland Will Represent Europe In Tourney

When the world championship is held next April, a small country will represent Europe for the first time since 1953. The Netherlands qualified by taking second place in the European Championships last September.

Italy, the winner, was ineligible since an Italian team had already qualified for the 1966 world championship by winning the world title in 1965.

Opening lead — ♠ 10

Today's hand, which helped the Netherlands defeat Poland, indicates that the Lowlanders will give a good account of themselves next April. (Still, few experts expect them to defeat Italy or North America, the two favorites.)

THOUGHT NEEDED

Against a Polish contract of three notrump, West opened the ten of spades.

Cornelius Slavenburg won the first trick with the ace of spades and did some thinking when South dropped the jack.

Slavenburg saw that his side could take only three spade tricks even if South had started with the doubleton queen-jack.

Since three spade tricks and the ace of clubs would not be enough to defeat the contract, East decided to shift to a heart.

TEN IS BEST

The 10 of hearts would have developed four heart tricks, but Slavenburg actually led the four of hearts.

This was good enough to defeat the contract since South could not afford to play the ace.

When South played low, West won with the queen of hearts.

J. T. M. Kreyns, the West player, could not afford to return a heart, but he also had noticed the play of the jack of spades at the first trick.

West therefore returned the deuce of spades to South's king.

Declarer had to lead clubs fairly soon, whereupon the ace of clubs and two spade tricks defeated the contract.

This kind of defense could give the favorites a lot of trouble next April.

VIDEO TAPE

Airline To Train Men Using TV

REDWOOD CITY — Ampex Corp. has received an order from Eastern Airlines for a complete television training system valued at more than $400,000.

The system will be used to give technical training to maintenance and flight personnel throughout Eastern's system. A completely outfitted master studio will be established at Eastern's maintenance and operations headquarters in Miami.

Other major bases at Atlanta, Boston and J. F. Kennedy International Airport, New York, will be equipped with video camera-recorder units, and all of the airline's 25 maintenance stations will have video-tape reproducers and monitors for pilayback.

It will rely heavily on videotape recording to bring detailed instruction to widely separated locations.

The instantaneous erase - replace capability of magnetic tape gives the system the flexibility needed for this application. Sound - picture training tapes can be made and distributed quickly, and kept current with a minimum of cost and time.

Eastern will begin use of the new system with training materials on its new DC-9 twin jet aircraft. Twenty-four of the new jets will be delivered beginning early next year.

The system will also help train personnel on the advanced DC-8 model 61 jets and Boeing 727 quick change Whisperjets which Eastern also has on order. Later, tapes will be made to do recurrent training on other aircraft already in the fleet.

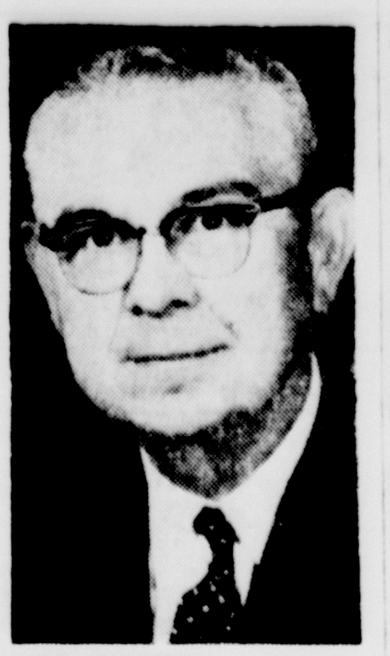
Eastern also plans to lease training tapes to other operators of similar aircraft and to make tapes for other companies on a contract basis.

Improved quality of training is the principal advantage Eastern expects from the new system. In addition, the airline will be able to train a larger number of employees in a shorter period of time, bring graphic demonstrations of highly technical mechanical and operating functions into the classroom and build an always current standard training library.

Training tapes can be made at the company's Miami headquarters and at the Atlanta, Boston and New York bases as well. Preparation and editing will be accomplished in the Miami master studio for distribution of tapes to all field maintenance stations for monitor viewing in training sessions.

Studio equipment in Miami will include a studio size broadcast recorder and electronic editor, two closed circuit cameras, a portable recorder, film chain and associated equipment.

President of Reserve Officers Assn., Marin Chapter, is Lt. Col. Mark D. McDonough.



NEW POSITION — Clarence A. Phillips of Belvedere, president of Heald's Business College in San Francisco and the Heald schools in Ookland, Sacramento and San Jose, was elected president of the United Business Schools Assn. at its convention in New Orleans.

Assorted Specialties Show Market Strength

Weakness in a number of big, key stocks dampened the averages all day. General Motors and Du Pont were among the chief backsliders in this category.

Mingled profit taking and speculative buying sparked the volatile issues among color televisions, electronics, aerospace and specially-situated issues.

Bausch & Lomb added zip to the list by rising in response to a stock split proposal. Sun Chemical was traded again after a day and a half lapse and it rose several points at best on a product development.

Transitron, Sperry Rand, Boeing, Xerox and United Aircraft were among the strong upside features.

Volume for the day was estimated at 8.2 million shares compared with 8.32 million Monday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Weakness in some of the biggest key stocks stymied the averages. Du Pont lost nearly 3, General Motors about 1½ and Standard Oil (New Jersey) about half a point.

On the other hand, Xerox ran up half a dozen points, Boeing more than 4 and Sun Chemical, delayed in trading for a day and a half, well over 5.

Sperry Rand was leading the list on volume, showing a fractional gain. Transitron also was heavily traded and up 2. Corning Glass spurted 7.

Ahead about 2 were United Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft, Polaroid, Air Products and Heli-Coil.

Studebaker was strong for the second straight day, rising about 1½ while most other motors wilted.

Profit taking affected a number of recent gainers. Fairchild Camera and Admiral lost about 2 each. Zenith and Control Data lost 1 each. Disney was down nearly 2.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange in heavy trading.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

William D. Johnson is president of San Geronimo Valley Horsemen's Assn.

Stock Split By Del Monte Gets Approval

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Directors of Del Monte Properties Co., owner of 8,300 acres on the Monterey Peninsula and in Carmel Valley, have voted to split the stock 10 shares for one.

There are 126,000 outstanding shares of $25 par value.

The split will be effective about Dec. 6, subject to shareholder approval.

The stock was quoted in the over-the-counter market yesterday at $255 a share bid. There are about 500 shareholders, with board chairman and chief executive officer S. F. B. Morse the largest individual owner. Morse was instrumental in founding the company, which also owns Del Monte Lodge and sand and lumber interests, nearly 47 years ago.

A. G. Michaud, former Draper Companies executive, who took over the administrative reins as president about a year ago, says the company aspires to a new design for living in development of the company's lands around Monterey and Carmel.

Standard Officer

SAN FRANCISCO — David J. Bowen has been named assistant general sales manager-wholesale, for Standard Oil Co. of California, Western Operations, Inc. He succeeds L. W. Aubry, who is retiring Nov. 1 after 33 years with Standard.

The attention of all persons is directed to the fact that not all of said classes of work above described may be constructed upon all of the streets and/or public ways above described in their entirety, but only upon the particular locations as shown on the plans and specifications hereafter referred to, which said plans and specifications shall govern as to all details with relation to the same.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin hereby makes the expenses and costs of said improvements and acquisitions chargeable upon a district, which said district said Board of Supervisors hereby declares the district benefited by the improvements and acquisitions herein described; said district shall include that territory in the County of Marin, State of California, which is shown on that certain map on file in the office of the County Clerk of the County of Marin and which is entitled and described "Boundary Map, Seacape Assessment District County of Marin, State of California", and which said map indicates by a boundary line the extent of the territory included in the proposed district and covers all details as to the extent of the area to be assessed; said map is, by this reference, incorporated herein and made a part thereof.

Excepting from the area shown and delineated on said map hereinabove referred to, the area of all public streets, avenues, lanes, roads, drives, courts, places, public parks, and all easements and rights-of-way therein contained belonging to the public, and also all property owned by the County of Marin, the State of California, or the United States of America, contained therein, now in use in the performance of a public function.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that serial bonds to represent unpaid assessments, and bearing interest at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum, shall be issued in the manner and form provided in Part 5, Division 7, of the Streets and Highways Code of the State of California (Improvement Act of 1911) to represent unpaid assessments of Fifty Dollars ($50.00) or over, the last installment of which bonds shall mature fourteen (14) years from the 2nd day of January next succeeding the next September 1st following their date. Said bonds shall be payable to bearer, and may be redeemed as provided in the Improvement Act of 1911, and there shall be added to the redemption clause in said bonds the following words:

"... together with a premium of five per cent (5%) of the unmatured principal."

In case of default, there shall be added to the defaulted amount 1% of the amount thereof, and on the 1st day of each month following such default there shall be added a further penalty of 1% of such defaulted amount. The 1% penalty first imposed shall be retained by the Treasurer as a cost of servicing the delinquency and all subsequent penalties shall be paid to the holder of the bond along with and as part of such defaulted payment.

Proceedings for all work shall be taken pursuant to the Municipal Improvement Act of 1913, and the bonds hereinabove described shall be issued under the provisions of the Improvement Act of 1911 as heretofore described.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, in accordance with the provisions of Sections 10203 and 10204 of the Streets and Highways Code, being a part of the Municipal Improvement Act of 1913, the matter of the improvements and acquisitions herein referred to is hereby referred to WATSON S. CLIFFORD, Engineer of Work, and the person employed by this Board of Supervisors for the purpose of having charge and control of the improvements and acquisitions described in this resolution. Said WATSON S. CLIFFORD is hereby directed to make and file with the County Clerk of the County of Marin a report in writing containing the following:

a. Plans and specifications of the proposed improvement if the improvement is not already installed;

b. A general description of the works or appliances already installed and any other property necessary or convenient for the operation of the improvement, if the works, appliances or property are to be constructed as part of the improvement;

c. An estimate of the cost of the improvements and of the cost of lands, rights-of-way, easements and incidental expenses in connection with the improvements;

d. A diagram showing the assessment district and the boundaries and dimensions of the subdivisions of land within the district as they existed at the time of the passage of the Resolution of Intention. Each subdivision shall be given a separate number upon the diagram;

e. A proposed assessment of the total amount of the cost and expenses of the proposed improvements upon the several subdivisions of land in the district in proportion to the estimated benefits to be received by each subdivision, respectively, from the improvements.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this Board of Supervisors hereby finds that the Special Assessment, Investigation, Limitation and Majority Protest Act of 1931 does not apply to these proceedings.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that if any surplus remains in the Improvement Fund after the completion of the improvements and acquisitions and the payment of all claims from the Improvement Fund, said surplus shall be transferred to the general fund of the County if it does not exceed the lesser of $1,000.00 or 5% of the total amount expended from the Improvement Fund; otherwise said surplus shall be applied as a credit upon the assessment in the manner provided in Section 10427.1 of the Streets and Highways Code.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that it is the intention of said Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin that the system of domestic water supply and the system of pipes, lines and other works or appliances to be used for providing a system of domestic water supply in said assessment district shall be sold to the SEACAPE MUTUAL WATER CORPORATION without competitive bidding. The Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin hereby finds that said improvements for supplying a system of domestic water supply cannot be economically and efficiently operated and maintained by the County of Marin for the reason that said County has no facilities for their operation or maintenance; for the further reason that the SEACAPE MUTUAL WATER CORPORATION is the only public utility which has the facilities for the operation and maintenance of said system of supplying domestic water; that advertising for bids for the sale of said system would be futile under the circumstances and the public interest will therefore not be furthered by asking for competitive bids for the sale of said system of domestic water supply.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Tuesday, the 14th day of December, 1965, at the hour of 1:30 o'clock P.M. of said day, at the meeting place of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, located in the Supervisors Chambers, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, is hereby fixed as the time and place when and where persons objecting to the sale proposed herein to be made of the system of domestic water supply to the SEACAPE MUTUAL WATER CORPORATION may appear before the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin and show cause why the proposed sale should not be made. This Resolution of Intention to make said sale shall be published once weekly for two (2) successive weeks in the INDEPENDENT-JOURNAL, which is the newspaper hereby designated by this Board of Supervisors as the newspaper in which this Resolution of Intention, and all other notices or resolutions required to be published in these proceedings shall be published, said newspaper being a newspaper of general circulation in the County of Marin.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that it is the intention of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin to enter into an agreement with the PACIFIC GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY, under the terms of which the County of Marin will convey the system for electrical service to the PACIFIC GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY, in accordance with the provisions of Sections 10109-10111, inclusive, of the Streets and Highways Code of the State of California.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that it is the intention of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin to enter into an agreement with the PACIFIC TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY, under the terms of which the County of Marin will convey the system for telephone service to the PACIFIC TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY, in accordance with the provisions of Sections 10109-10111, inclusive, of the Streets and Highways Code of the State of California.

I HEREBY CERTIFY that the foregoing Resolution was duly and regularly adopted by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, at a regular meeting thereof, held on the 9th day of November, 1965, by the following vote, to wit:

Anticoagulants Provide Relief For Painful Clots In The Veins

VAN DELLEN

Dextran and anticoagulants such as sodium heparin are used in the treatment of inflammation of the veins (thrombophlebitis). These drugs keep the blood circulating and prevent clots from expanding or spreading. Pain and tenderness usually subsides within 24 hours, and all signs of inflammation disappear in less than a week.

In thrombophlebitis, a clot (thrombus) develops in a vein. The deeper veins of the pelvis and lower limbs are favored and potential candidates are those who are bedridden because of surgery, childbirth, injury, or pneumonia. Deep leg vein involvement usually starts with soreness that is noticeable high in the back of the calf when the cold, and is slightly puffy.

THE WALL of the vein is inflamed and the obstructive material is a dark red solid mass of fibrin and blood cells. The plug adheres to the wall of the blood vessel except on the end where a long, flimsy tail waves precariously in the bloodstream. Should the tail break off, it is carried with lightning speed toward the heart and into a lung.

Another troublesome feature of deep thrombophlebitis is residual swelling of the limb. This is minimized by wearing a heavy elastic stocking or bandage until the circulation improves. Unless this is done, the tissue spaces might become distended and never return to normal.

The incidence of thrombophlebitis has been reduced considerably with the advent of early ambulation. This is why women get out of bed soon after delivery and others are encouraged to sit or stand up a day or two following surgery.

Intravenous fluids prevent dehydration and the antibiotics help to control the infection.

DEXTRAN and sodium heparin also are useful in treating surface vein inflammation. The vessel is just under the skin and becomes hard and tender to the touch; the surrounding skin is red and feels warm. These remedies usually bring the infection under control in less than five days.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request).

COLOR CHANGES IN LEGS

H. H. writes: Why is it that when my legs hang down they turn red, but when I lie down they turn white?

REPLY

This is a sign of poor circulation. When the legs are in a dependent position, the circulation becomes so sluggish the blood loses its oxygen and turns blue. When the legs are elevated they look white, or bloodless, because of the effect of gravity.

HEMORRHOIDS

R. B. writes: What can be done for pain in piles?

REPLY

Pain unsually is associated with hemmorhoidal clots. The application, first of ice and then of heat, will give relief and the application of a local anesthetic will do the same. Surgical removal of the clot gives permanent relief. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflets on hemorrhoids

BUTTERFLIES IN STOMACH

N. M. writes: What causes my insides to shake when I get up in the morning?

REPLY

This sensation may be due to nervousness or to a low blood sugar level.

SIDES DIFFER

T. K. writes: What would cause the hair on one hide of the head to grow longer than on the other?

REPLY

The most logical explanation is that the two sides of the body are not the same. However, how do you know that the hair is longer on one side?

TAKE THE PLEDGE

Mrs. L writes: I have put on 12 pounds since I started preparing the family meals. How can I keep myself from sampling the food as I cook?

REPLY

Be firm or your 12 pounds will double and treble. Adopt the slogan, now or never.

If you see a young girl walking down the street wearing a dress like the dress that grandma wore, blame it on the latest fad for teen-age girls: the Granny Look.

The Granny dresses, in a modified 1900 style, have a hemline that reaches the shoes and create a proper, prim effect.

Somehow they create the impression of a little girl wearing her mother's dress.

Visually, they are a direct contrast to the previous teen-age fad, short, tight skirts hanging somewhere in the vicinity of the knees.

The Granny dresses have not hit with the impact of other teen-age fads, although they are being worn by high school and junior high school students.

High schools in Marin are meeting the Granny dress fad in various ways, but generally they have been ruled as inappropriate for school wear.

Mrs. Margaret Rattray, dean of students at Terra Linda High School, said the dersses have been designed for informal wear and would create a distraction at school, so they have been ruled inappropriate.

At Redwood High School, Mrs. Emma J. Wulzen, assistant principal, said they have been ruled out "largely because of the feeling it's like a costume."

Jean E. Burns, assistant principal at Sir Francis Drake High School, said "there has been no cut and dried ruling on Granny dresses." The policy is the same as it is for other novelty dress such as wigs, short skirts and black stockings, she said. "When it comes to the point where the dress disrupts the class, we take steps on an individual basis."

Regarding the Granny dress, she said, "I don't think it's offensive."

At San Rafael High School, the girls can wear them to dances but not to classes.

"They are principally designed for lounge wear and you don't need lounge wear at school," said Florence Abraham, dean of students.

Tamalpais High School reported no policy on Granny dresses because no girl has appeared in one there.

Robert Wisgerhof, principal of Novato High School, said the Granny dresses are "in a grey area with no special policy, but students have been told not to wear them until there is a policy."

Room representatives have discussed the issue and the student council is slated to study it and make recommendations, he said.

Supt. Anthony Matulich of the Tomales High School District admitted, "I haven't seen any of them yet. But students should come dressed appropriately," he said. "Anything that tends to distract is not appropriate."

TELEVISION REVIEW

'Li'l' Abner Creator Talks Of Teeners

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—With so many famous and mature people turning up as guest hosts of network television's rock 'n' roll shows, it strikes me as a pity that no one has yet enlisted Al Capp for such a chore.

This thought was brought about by a recent viewing of Mr. Capp, the creater of "Li'l Abner," on NBC-TV's "Tonight" program, on which he obliged with numerous observations about some of the younger generation — delivered humorously, but like a series of hard verbal rights to the jaw. He is one of television's few so-called "controversial" talkers who comes through, reasonably, as billed. His remarks on this particular "Tonight" outing produced audible responses from the audience, including applause. It is my fervent desire to have him show up one night as guest host of "Hullabaloo."

On the "Tonight" program, Capp followed the Tijuana Brass, and, according to my notes and an NBC-TV transcript, remarked: "It's so refreshing to see a group of young musicians who aren't sick about wars they've never been in and work they've never done."

He explained he had been on a lecture tour of California colleges, and that: "I found that most of the California kids were passionately interested in two subjects: Viet Nam and Sex. They were very eager to get less involved in Viet Nam . . ."

He related that at Chico State College he was asked —"Don't you think that opinions of teenage students are valuable?" — and that he replied, "Certainly, on subjects they know something about, such as puberty and hubcaps."

He then elaborated: "My feeling is that the student is an incomplete human being, hopefully. That he's studying how to be a useful citizen. He isn't one quite. So, I don't want to hear his opinions on anything until he becomes a useful citizen, is no longer a student, and is out in the world about five years surviving, then I'll listen to him. But not until."

Though he was not against student protesting per se, he opined: "I don't know what they have to protest about. They don't — no longer have to shave, students don't. They're supported by the very adults they denounce. They're the only monied leisure class."

Concerning songs of protest, he said it wasn't the songs he minded but the singers —"when I hear a song about the misery of hard work sung by a guy who has never done any harder work than unbutton his shirt to his navel."

Capp said that on his tour, many of the youngsters asked him why he was there, "and I told them — for $2,000 a lecture. I wouldn't associate with a group of teen-agers for anything less."

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Willie Mays is a guest on CBS-TV's Ed Sullivan Show Sunday . . . Same day, same network's "Camera Three" studies the situation in which an 18th century writer named William Henry Ireland forged Shakespearean plays.

Option Granted On Mill Valley Marina Lease

The Mill Valley City Council last night unanimously voted to grant a private developer a six-month option on a lease on the city's small craft harbor.

The option was granted to Paul B. Fisher and Associates of Corona Del Mar, Orange County. Under the proposed lease, the city would receive 25 per cent of net profits. The lease would run not less than 30 nor more than 55 years.

City Mgr. Bert Balmer reported the city still has a $300,000 state loan which runs until next June, with a six-month option, to develop the harbor.

Fisher proposes a $3 million yacht harbor, including a shopping mall, club, restaurant and 350 boat slips.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

1. Approved a tentative map of a 16-home subdivision on 23 acres in Blithedale Canyon which includes 12 acres of open space, submitted by William S. Allen.
2. Gave first reading to an ordinance rezoning property at East Blithedale Avenue and Kipling Drive from single family to multiple dwellings, requested by Richard Dunn. Councilman William Secor dissented and Councilman Joseph E. Sheeks abstained because Dunn is a client of the law firm of which he is a member.
3. Agreed to co-sponsor a symposium on human rights to be presented by the Marin County Human Rights Committee at Marin City Dec. 11, and voted to contribute $100 toward financing it.
4. Granted Kenneth Conant permission to install a septic tank at Cascade Drive and Lovell Avenue.
5. Learned from Sheeks that he has been appointed a member of the library services committee of the League of California Cities.
6. Learned from Councilman Albert E. White that Sunset Scavenger Co. of San Francisco and Scavengers Protective Assn. of San Francisco would be willing to bid on the garbage collection contract now held by Mill Valley Refuse Service, and from Balmer that he will meet with representatives of Mill Valley Refuse Service on Friday to discuss negotiations.
7. Continued until Dec. 6 action on an application by Edward Strauss to subdivide two lots into four at 425 Lovell Avenue.
8. Continued until Dec. 6 action on rezoning of the Alto corridor annexation, so it can be included in the East Mill Valley general plan rezoning.
9. Continued until Dec. 20 application by Marin Capital Co. for recreation development on a five-acre parcel in Scott Valley.

Prison Ordered In Woman Killing

OAKLAND (AP) — James C. Jensen, 68, of Alameda, is to spend five years in prison for killing a woman in a dispute over her son's football.

Judge Lewis Lecara sentenced Jensen to that term yesterday for shooting Mrs. Alberta Hamilton, 33, after her son, Raymond, 15, kicked a football into Jensen's yard.

Jensen refused to let Mrs. Hamilton take the ball and drew a pistol when she and her prospective son-in-law, Robert White 18, entered the yard. Mrs. Hamilton was killed instantly.

Millions Of Rodents Used In Research

CHICAGO (AP) — A veterinarian estimates that 50 million rodents are used annually in research and laboratory work in the United States.

Dr. Steele F. Mattingly said thousands of dogs, cats, chickens, hogs, sheep and horses also are used in scientific studies aimed at improving human health. He calculated the cost of such animals in 1961 exceeded $3 million.

School Bids

The San Anselmo School District board, meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in the Isabel Cook School faculty room, will be asked to call for bids for construction of Red Hill School. Supt. Stephen Parodi has estimated building costs for the school at $250,000.

Corte Madera Councilmen Cautious On Finance Aide

Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher last night called for creation of a new department for finance, at least on paper, for Corte Madera.

He presented the Corte Madera Town Council a rough draft of an ordinance which would create the position of director of finance, and said he would like to have the post, which would carry only a token salary, held by Town Treasurer John R. Vance.

Town Atty. Sherrod S. Davis said he doubted Vance, an elected official, could hold the post. The proposed ordinance did not name any specific person to fill the job.

Councilman William W. Collier said he was worried the new department would cause duplication in the town government, particularly if a new treasurer were elected who was not so capable as Vance.

Usher replied that the ordinance actually would make formal what is now being done informally, since by law, unless there is a finance officer, the accounting functions are under the auspices of the town clerk, Mrs. Betty S. Behel.

He recalled that the town's annual audit report had recommended giving accounting functions to someone else as a matter of principle.

The council continued consideration until Dec. 6 to give Collier more time to study the question.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

1. Called for bids on a new firehouse east of Highway 101 to be opened at 2 p.m. Dec. 20. Designer Harold B. Wagstaff estimated the building cost at about $25,000.
2. Agreed to allow the Post Office to use the fire department equipment room during the Christmas rush.
3. Introduced an ordinance for putting a stop sign on Endeavor Drive at Prince Royal Drive, but asked more study for two other locations on Prince Royal Drive.
4. Gave authorization for the architect to declare the construction of the new public safety building complete before the next meeting.
5. Decided it was unnecessary to pass a resolution supporting American soldiers in Viet Nam, although each councilman said he, as an individual, favored such support.
6. Refused to reconsider complaints that heavy trucks were tearing up pavement on Sausalito Street.
7. Renewed the annual contract with Livingstone and Blayney, San Francisco, as planning consultant.

Councilman Norman R. Barnett was absent.

Financial Firm Sues For Bonds On Defunct Bank

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A savings and loan association which lost $1.5 million when the San Francisco National Bank failed is suing its bonding company.

Glendale Federal Savings and Loan Assn. brought the action yesterday in U.S. District Court against Republic Insurance Co., a Texas corporation. Glendale had obtained a $3.1 million bond covering losses from fraud or dishonest acts by persons other than its employes.

Glendale contends the "money was lost and depleted by the continued embezzlement and misappropriations . . . by officers and directors of the bank and others and by the continued illegal operation of the bank."

Native Dance Gets Little Too Wild

An islander swung a club so vigorously it parted from its handle, shot through the air and hit Oxley.

New York Borough Colleges Suggested

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller wants the state university's board of trustees to consider possible construction of a four-year liberal arts college in each of New York City's five boroughs.

He suggested that such colleges might have an enrollment of up to 10,000 students in each borough.

Church Reception To Honor Novato Residents On Sunday

Capt. (Ret.) and Mrs. Charles Clarkson will be honored at a reception from 3 to 5 p.m. on Sunday at the Novato Presbyterian Church.

The reception, given by the deacons of the church, is to say "Thank You" to the Clarksons for all they have done for the church, said Mrs. William J. J. Smith, who is in charge of arrangements for the reception.

A portion of the present church property belonged to the Clarksons' and it was partly through their generosity that the church was able to move from its former location on Sherman Avenue to its present site on Wilson Avenue.

The reception will be held in the Christensen room and the deacons are extending an invitation, not only to the members of the church, but to residents of the city of Novato and to the many friends of "Cap" and Retta who reside in Marin county.

Prior to Captain Clarkson's recent curtailment of activities he was very active in civic affairs.

Foresters Donate Items To Terrace

Chief Ranger William Broshious of the Independent Order of Foresters might not look much like a godfather to others, but he certainly did to the staff, patients, and volunteers at The Terrace at Ross General Hospital one day two weeks ago. For those who don't know The Terrace, it is the only facility for treatment of tuberculosis in the Bay Area.

Recreation and occupational therapy loom large in the lives of these patients who face months to years of hospitalization, and funds for such items are always strained to the breaking point. So it was almost with disbelief that Mrs. B. L. Peterson, supervisor, and Mrs. R. J. Robideaux, head of the Terrace Volunteers, followed Mr. Broshious as he toured the ward and noted those things which were most needed.

A CASUAL question about a box of books which volunteer Jay Erskine had collected for the patients had led him to tell Mrs. Lester Bricca of the need of the patients for recreational supplies. She in turn told her neighbor Mrs. Joseph Terchera. Mrs. Terchera is the secretary-treasurer of Court Marin 1950 of the Foresters, and she suggested that Mrs. Bricca attend the next meeting of the Court officers and tell them of this need. The result was that less than 10 days after the question about the books the Foresters had voted to purchase two phonographs, a pool table, outdoor furniture, and had accepted an offer from Senior Woodward Charles Bearden to donate lumber and cut it to size so that Mr. Erskine could build cabinets and bookshelves for the recreation room; had started a drive among the members of the Foresters for books, records, jigsaw puzzles and other adult games; and had determined that this should become the prime continuing project for the Marin Court.

Mrs. Peterson, a Forester member, and Mrs. Robideaux are preparing lists of the other needs so that Mrs. Bricca who has been appointed chairman of the Forester committee working on this project can work out the amounts of money and assistance needed.

Karen Kuchel Will Marry On Saturday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel has announced that his daughter, Karen, 19, is about to marry a schoolmate.

The prospective groom is Delman William Smith, 20, of Sausalito.

Kuchel said yesterday the pair met at the University of California's Santa Barbara campus, where both are students. They are due to be married Saturday at the All Saints by the Sea Episcopal Church in Santa Barbara.

A reception will follow at El Encanto Hotel in the coastal city. The couple obtained a marriage license there yesterday, the senator said.

P-TA Unit Will View Holiday Items

Christmas decorations and holiday treats will be featured at the Marion School Parent-Teacher Assn. meeting to be held at 9:30 a.m., Thursday, in the multipurpose room in Novato.

Mesdames George Whitten, Thomas McClain and Richard Luddy will present holiday decorations for the home and demonstrate how they are made.

PLANNING A RETREAT

President Couple of the Marin Chapter of the Holy Family Retreat Assn., the Edward Monaghans of Fairfax, look over the formula for the renewal of the marriage vows with the Rev. William J. Dunn, as they plan a retreat this week-end at the St. Francis Retreat House at San Juan Baptista. The Monaghans are in charge of reservations for the event which will be co-sponsored with the Golden Gate Chapter of San Francisco. (Independent-Journal photo)

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Friends Welcome Traveler

By MOLLY MARIN

Lifelong friends of Margaret Hatch have welcomed her on her return to Mill Valley from two months in Mexico this fall. Her home base was Cuernavaca, where friends reside, but she became acquainted with a great deal of the country by taking tours and side trips. On this second trip to Mexico, Miss Hatch flew to Mexico City, where she saw the spectacular new national Museum of Anthropology in Chapultepec Park and visited many other places of interest in that growing metropolis.

SHE RETURNED to the United States by Star Bus line, a unique experience for her since she was the only English-speaking passenger. Margaret is convinced a trip through the countryside is one of the more pleasant, informative ways to travel in a foreign land, where smiles can be a kind of universal language.

OTTO WEISSICH of Mill Valley was honored on his 70th birthday at a family party on Sunday. He is the son of the late W. O. Weissich Sr., who brought his family to Mill Valley in 1907, and served on the Mill Valley City Council. Attending the party were his sisters, Mrs. J. B. Phelps of Mill Valley and Mrs. Francis Seitz of Greenbrae, and brother, Theo Weissich of Willows. Also present were his sons and families, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Weissich Jr., and Jill, Bill and Lise, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Weissich and sons, Bruce, Frederick, and Paul of Honolulu. Entertaining at a series of dinner parties since returning from Europe are the W. O. Weissichs, who will have as their guests tonight Judge and Mrs. Alvin H. Goldstein and Mr. and Mrs. Haddon W. Roth.

MRS. RALPH MATHEWS is entertaining new neighbors and friends at a tea at her home in Belvedere tomorrow. Guests include Mrs. Benton D. Mathews, daughter-in-law of the hostess, Dr. L. Jean Bogert, and the Mesdames Ralph Curtis, Ingemar Hoberg, Harry Melman, Arthur Simon, Edward Brash, Al Kennerrer, Neville Rich and Stephen Parodi. Mr. and Mrs. Mathews, the parents of Dr. Benton D. Mathews, moved to Belvedere in the late summer. Their former home was San Francisco.

THE JOHN PERRYS of Terra Linda "beat everyone to the punch" as it were with their large "pre-holiday" cocktail party Saturday night. Following the party, the Perrys and some of their guests went on to the West End Villa in San Rafael for a no-host dinner party. Among those enjoying the festivities were Messrs. and Mesdames Edward Lane and Richard Smith of Terra Linda; Donald Stutzman of Fairfax; Joseph Corvino of San Francisco; Gary Dykstra of San Anselmo; and Marsh Motz of San Rafael.

ALTHOUGHT PRINCESS MARGARET and Lord Snowdon did not get to Marin County during their Bay Area visits, a member of their entourage came to Tiburon. Rene, the princess' hairdresser, lunched at the Dock with an old friend, Paul Edwards of Tiburon. Rene, who has been creating Princess Margaret's coiffeurs for 18 years, is accompanying the royal couple on their American trip. Arrangements have been made to fly Rene's wife to New York for a week's stay during the latter part of the English Princess' journey.

OPENING OF THE CRAB season on San Francisco Bay was celebrated in style by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bramante who took over the Belvedere Tennis Club Friday evening for a private party. Eighty guests, supplied with the traditional bibs, were served crab cioppino at the affair which took an Italian theme. An orchestra played for the dancing. And to add to the fun, Martin asked his guests to sharpen their wits and name two streets for a project he is developing in Alameda. Awards were four tickets to "Hello Dolly"

SPRING'S FASHION FORECAST -JUST A GAME OF CHECKERS

"Mini-checks, large checks, window checks, giant plaids, little plaids," is the way the firm of Monte Sano & Pruzan describe some of the materials used for its coats, dresses and costumes. At the firm of Arthur Jablow, where David Kidd is the chief designer, they were talking about checks, graph paper style. Some were houndstooth patterns, with the design exaggerated via loose weave, or black or brown lines sketched on pastels such as pink, aqua, and lime.

Watch for barber pole stripes or peppermint candy stick stripes for spring too. Bill Blass, the designer at Maurice Rentner's, did a floor length sheath-like number in half blue and white stripes half pink and white running diagonally.

These were some of the trends shaping up for the new season as the major manufacturers previewed their collections last week for visiting buyers. More collections will be shown this week and a few scattered on after Thanksgiving.

IN SILHOUETTE, the basic remains slim both in coats and dresses, with hundreds of tube dresses coordinated with narrow a-line coats. The above-knee skirts continue to dominate the collections.

Measles Injection Advised For Child

A shot in the arm—of live measles virus! That's what pediatricians recommended for any child past nine months who has not had the disease.

And Christmas time is about the right time for it, too, because the "measles season" begins with the New Year, and rises to a peak by springtime.

Until recently, measles was all but inevitable. Today it is not. Long-lasting, perhaps lifetime, immunity can be provided with a single injection of live-virus Lirugen, or Schwarzstrain vaccine. It's a Christmas present that lasts.

THIS VACCINE has been so attenuated that children receiving it do not require a simultaneous injection of gamma globulin—and even the likelihood of their running a fever is slight.

Dr. Charles R. Hardcastle of Woburn, Mass., who has vaccinated more than 4,000 children with Lirugen, says only about a dozen had "mild fevers of no consequence."

More to the point, Woburn, which has 10,000 children under age 15, hasn't had a case of measles reported since last February when Lirugen first became available.

Arrangements Festive For Thanksgiving

All eyes are focused on the dining room table on Thanksgiving Day. The feast at hand is of prime importance. But the traditional menu takes on added enjoyment when the table setting is appropriately festive.

Whether it's a feast for company or just for the family, flowers for the table are as traditional as the menu on Thanksgiving. A centerpiece of fresh flowers alone, or combined with fruit, vegetables, or dried materials, quickly sets the proper holiday mood and reflects the spirit of the season.

If you're having a very elaborate holiday menu or a large gathering of family and friends, and the table becomes crowded with food and dishes, place your large floral centerpiece on a buffet or sideboard so it may be enjoyed by all.

A centerpiece arrangement, for example, of tawny chrysanthemums and sunny yellow roses teamed with okra pods, yarrow, spiral eucalyptus, and cattails will do any table, or hostess, proud.

Another charming arrangement, suitable with traditional, contemporary, or provincial table accessories, would be a display of chrysanthemums, pompons, snapdragons, and garpes around a trio of candles.

For a buffet dinner, an arrangement of Fuji mums, pompons, dried mullein stalks, and bittersweet, with a base of preserved fall foliage on which several different color gourds are displayed, is certain to please.

Shaped Raincoat New Trend For Men

There has been a lot of talk about shaped or "waist-suppressed" suits for men. As part of this trend, Gentlemen's Quarterly introduces a shaped raincoat in its current issue. It's second only to a new black silk trenchcoat that costs the males $170.

GOWNS TO DAZZLE AND DELIGHT

For that one special knight . . . gowns to dazzle and delight him. Designed by Bob Bugnand for Sam Friedlander for the woman who is frankly feminine and wants fashion to echo her viewpoint. Her evening image, beguilingly bare, reflects the gleam of this magnificent twill satin at left, by Hurel of Celanese Acetate, cotton and nylon. A pert bow accent calls attention to the sophisticated symmetry of the panel front bodice. From the slightly raised waistline, the skirt is molded into controlled fullness to make grand entrances a must. Drifting drama to ignite the night . . . Modern Couture issues the invitation to succumb to romanticism after dark. And who can resist when wearing this flowing Onondaga's crepe column at right, of Celanese Acetate and rayon. Suddenly your shoulders are beautifully bared and accented by a crystal embroidered bodice. And for sheer artistry, a gossamer crystal collared stole is added for dramatic departures.

Peace Corps Career Teaches Participants

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Peace Corps teaches doing for others less fortunate, learning to appreciate other cultures. But it also teaches the U.S. participants to appreciate their own country more than ever before, says a young Minneapolis couple who spent two years with the corps in Ecuador.

"We came home more aware than ever that ours is a country of many choices," said Earle Brooks. "No other country comes near us."

The couple also came home with a pair of little charmers they've adopted — Ricardo, called Koki, now five years old, and Carmen, aged four, Ecuadorean children who had "adopted" the Brookses while they spent two years in the Pacific Coast village of Manta.

SHORTLY AFTER their return to the United States, Rhoda Brooks gave birth to a son, Ned, now 15 months and spoiled rotten, she said, by his adopted brother and sister.

The Brookses believe they're the first corpsmen to adopt children from the land they served. They also believe they are the first out with full-length "memoirs" of their Peace Corps years—"The Barrios of Manta," New American Library, New York, to be published Nov. 27.

During a visit here, the couple talked of why they volunteered for the corps and for life in the barrios—the fishermen's quarters.

They had met at the University of Wisconsin, from which they were graduated. And both long had been active in charity work. "We're church-oriented, I suppose," said Brooks. "Rhoda is a minister's daughter and I'm from a conservative old New England family that had a lot of ministers in it."

Earle was a sales engineer and Rhoda was teaching elementary school when they were accepted for the corps.

MANTA, they said, has a population of about 40,000 but "with the facilities of a town of 200 in the United States." The home of the couple, now in their early 30s, was right on the beach—a warehouse which they emptied and then furnished with home-made things fashioned from lumber scraps and whatever. Earle later taught the youth of Manta carpentry.

"We chose primitive quarters so we could show our neighbors what could be done," said Brooks.

They rigged a shower with a hand pump and like their neighbors hauled water for miles — "it hadn't rained in Manta for seven years," said Mrs. Brooks. "We once dragged some driftwood up from the beach for decoration. I know at first the fishermen thought we were something from Mars."

BUT THE BROOKSES and other corpsmen worked with the Ecuadoreans to improve their basic skills, to learn to sew, cook, make furniture, and to guide them in matters of health, sanitation, nutrition. One school began a hot lunch program for 400 children, thanks to the Brookses showing them how to build an outdoor stove and to CARE's providing of food.

"We were trying to plant the seed," said Brooks, "to start community cooperation projects."

APPARENTLY their neighbors "took to" the handsome and enthusiastic couple. The warehouse "home" was never without callers, children and adults. When once the couple decided to give a party, neighbors began arriving at 8 p.m. Mrs. Brooks recalled that the last left about 5 a.m. She had made 250 turkey sandwiches — they were gone in an hour.

TWO YEARS AHEAD

New Freeze-Drying Process Real Boon To Homemaker

NEW YORK (AP)—Some day the American homemaker may shop for the family dinner two years ahead of time and file it in a cabinet.

Food technologists are refining processes such as freeze drying so that well-flavored instant steaks, seafood and poultry in packages can be stored indefinitely, without refrigeration.

Campers, hunters, fishermen and mountain climbers have been eating freeze-dried foods for years.

The biggest push this year has been on breakfast cereals containing freeze-dried blueberries, strawberries, apples, and now, bananas and ice cream.

Freeze-dried fruit cereals sell for 37 cents a box, compared to 25 cents for plain cereals.

"Currently, the cost of production of the freeze-dried vegetables and fruits now available is well beyond that which would be acceptable to a broad range of customers," says Arthur E. Larkin Jr., executive vice president of General Foods Corp. But he added: "The freeze-dry technique promises eventually to provide products at reasonable prices."

Kermit Bird, a U. S. Department of Agriculture economist, estimated 5.6 million pounds of food were freeze-dried in 1962, 11.3 million in 1963 and 25 million last year.

The total will reach 317 million pounds by 1970, he predicted.

'Pop Art' Kitchen Decor Easy With New Adhesive

Why not make your own "Pop Art" for your kitchen? Refrigerators, cabinets, and breakfast nook walls all lend themselves to pop and op designs.

While art collectors and museums hang original oil paintings of professional artists' soup cans, fresh fruit and vegetables, meat counters, and comic strips in their gallery, you can make your own designs for the kitchen with adhesive covering.

Just a few simple shapes and colors are all you need. Make a mural of citrus fruit for your cabinets or the wall over your breakfast nook. Use rolls of willow green, canary yellow and tangerine adhesive covering.

Use pans and bowls of varying sizes as patterns for limes, lemons, tangerines, oranges and grapefruit. The size of the fruit and the number you use will depend on the amount of space you have to cover. Lay the patterns on the wrong side of the rolls and draw around them.

USE WHOLE circles for complete fruit and half or quarter circles as wedges. Then cut out the fruit shapes. Move them around on a large table or the floor to decide how to arrange them on the cabinet or wall. Then, when you have decided how they will look best, peel off the backing and press the adhesive side of each lime, lemon, tangerine, orange and grapefruit to the surface.

Your own original pop art also finds a frame in your refrigerator door. A hot dog will fit nicely, and can be made of cherry red adhesive covering with a beige bun.

SIMPLY CUT a long, narrow red oval big enough to reach the full height of your refrigerator door and a slightly shorter beige oval. Cut the beige oval in two. Then, peel off the backing and press the adhesive side of the hot dog to the refrigerator in the center. Put the two pieces of the beige oval around it.

For an op art fruit mural or hot dog, try rolls of patterned adhesive covering in place of realistic colors.

SCENE OF STRUGGLE—Kate Keller, portrayed by Carla Stone, waits understandingly as Helen, played by Vicki Evans, struggles with a pair of scissors, seeking a glimmer of understanding, in Redwood High School's production of "The Miracle Worker," which opens Thursday night in the school's little theater. 'MIRACLE WORKER'

Redwood High Sets Helen Keller Story

The struggle of Annie Sullivan to teach the blind, deaf and incorrigible Helen Keller, as depicted in "The Miracle Worker," will be presented in the Redwood High School Little Theater on Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m.

Double-cast in the lead roles of Annie are senior Jodi Covington and junior Pam Eubanks, and double-cast as Helen are senior Vicki Evans and sophomore Margaret Tuck.

Although the play presented several problems, such as injuries arising from the numerous scenes of physical violence, director Joseph Wadlington, drama teacher at the school, reports that all difficulties have been ironed out.

Cast in the role of Mr. and Mrs. Keller and Helen's half-brother, James, are junior Herb Dukes, senior Carla Stone, and junior Bill Kast. Playing the girl's Aunt Ev is senior Jill Mazur, and the family's Negro servants are Margaret Hawkins, Suzanne Miner, Odetter Smith and Alex Herrmann. Dr. Anagnos will be portrayed by sophomore Bob Borgmann, and the doctor is senior John Bamberger. Cast as blind children are seniors Kim Cameron, Jacki Crisp and Caroline Talbott; junior Joan Breyer, and sophomore Roberta Shistar. Persons of the asylum are Suzanne Miner, John Bamberger and Gordon Hess.

Assisting Wadlington were student director Suzanne Miner, production coordinators Jacki Crisp and Vicki Turner, the stagecraft classes of Jack Sorrelle, the lighting staff of Herb Dukes, John Bamberger; the sound coordinators Herb Dukes and Bob Borgmann, the properties crew under chairman Judi Rude, and others.

Both costumes and make-up will be done by the cast members themselves.

Margo Power Is Selected As Symphony Guest Soloist

Margo Power, lyric soprano of Tiburon, has been selected as guest soloist with the Marin Symphony Orchestra for the first of three Symphony Guild concerts planned for the 1965-66 season.

The orchestra, under direction of Sandor Salgo, will present the program including Gustav Mahler's Fourth Symphony and Mozart arias sung by Miss Power at 8 p.m. Dec. 12 in the College of Marin gymnasium.

The subscription series will also include a concert at the college on March 20 with pianist Istvan Nadas as soloist, and the Northern California premiere of the Virgil Thomson and Gertrude Stein opera, "The Mother of Us All," May 8 in Angelico Hall.

This will be the 14th season for the Symphony Guild of Marin, according to the president, Mrs. Walter M. Baird of San Rafael. In addition to the concert series, the Symphony Guild also sponsors the Marin Youth orchestra, Workshop for Strings, Music for Minors, Concert Previews and an annual scholarship for a young musician.

A membership drive to support these activities will close on Dec. 1, Mrs. Baird said. Membership drive headquarters is reached at P. O. Box 144, Mill Valley.

Players' Profits Will Go To SNCC

Profits from the opening night of 'Blues for Mr. Charlie" Dec. 3 production of the Homestead Valley Players, will go to the Student Non-Violent Co-ordinating Committee, SNCC announced today.

The show is set for 8:30 p.m. at Brown's Hill, Mill Valley. Other performances will be Dec. 4, 5, 10, 11 and 12. The play, by James Baldwin, features Felix McGill of Mill Valley as Richard Henry and Phyllis Johnson of San Francisco as Juanita.

The world's first nuclear chain reaction, involving the fission of uranium isotope, U-235, was achieved in 1942 at the University of Chicago.

Land Owners Cool Tiburon Rezoning Idea

Fifty angered Tiburon property owners turned out last night to protest proposed changes in duplex zoning and were sent away somewhat soothed by the Tiburon Planning Commission.

Under discussion was a proposed ordinance amendment changing from 7,500 to 10,000 square feet the minimum lot size for a duplex. Single-family dwelling in a duplex zone would require 7,000 square feet.

Planning Administrator Leslie Gross said 51 lots now zoned duplex would be reduced to single family. He said density in the Lyford Cove and Mar West areas would be cut about 30 per cent.

Constance Fields asked why "old Tiburon" was being picked on. "What's wrong with duplex people? We need all kinds of people. The same kinds of houses in a neighborhood makes for a dead, dull area," she declared.

Anthony M. Gazzardo, who said he lived on Paradise Drive in a single family house on a duplex lot, said, "I have duplex neighbors all around me and these people pay a high price for the delights of living in Tiburon. They should get a break."

This was greeted by applause.

Jeffory Morshead of Mill Valley was worried about what would happen should his duplex suffer fire damage. "The way I understand the ordinance, if 75 per cent of the assessed valuation of my duplex should be destroyed by fire I couldn't rebuilt as a duplex."

"Just what are you trying to do?" asked Ernie Nevers, "limit the population out here?"

"Yes," replied Commissioner Joseph C. Marshall. "We thought that's what the people wanted."

"Then why build a fine new highway?" Nevers shot back.

Samuel Schneider, president of the Tiburon Property Owners Assn., asked that the matter be delayed for 30 days.

Commissioners went him one better and voted unanimously to continue the hearing for 60 days.

The funds were granted to the district to serve students whose families work for the federal government. The only requirement is that they be used for expansion and for items essential to the classroom, Bird said.

He said the science equipment purchased with the funds will be put to use immediately.

Civil Rights Shielding Is Described

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Newsmen at times have "served as a protective shield for civil rights workers," Lawrence S. Fanning, executive director of the Chicago Daily News, said today.

Henry Lee Moon, director of public relations for the NAACP, told the radio, television and newspaper executives that the Negro press for 138 years has led the fight for freedom and equal opportunity for Negroes.

Fanning said "The mass media are as involved and enmeshed in the civil rights crisis as are the political structure, the churches, the schools or any other part of society."

"The man who says he treats everybody alike regardless of race, creed or color, on a first-come, first-serve basis is either a fool or a knave," he said. "The difference between people—and what we do about them—is what the racial crisis is all about."

Fanning said that of necessity many civil rights organizations were compelled to stage "bigger and better shows" to attract the attention of the press. He urged that newsmen "open up our media to the civil rights movement" so that day-by-day constructive civil rights news will be published in addition to stories of violence and mass arrests.

Moon told the conference that the economic boycott by Negroes was first employed in Chicago in the 1920s and since then has become "a powerful weapon utilized in every section of the nation."

He described the Negro press as essentially a protest press and a special pleader and advocate of human rights.

Russia Stresses Consumer Needs

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda has announced the Soviet Cabinet and Communist party Central Committee have approved the budget and economic plan for 1966, and laid heavy stress on a goal of higher living standards. The official party newspaper mentioned defense needs only briefly.

The budget and defense plan, said Pravda, "are aimed at further developments of the national economy, the improvement of people's living standards and the strengthening of the country's defense potential."

This was the only mention of defense.

Let's count the cost of the college problem

It could hurt our prosperity, our jobs and world position.

For lack of room, many colleges are forced to turn away qualified applicants. If this state of affairs continues, our future leaders may be in short supply.

But we must have college-educated leaders. They make wise use of our resources, manpower and human skills.

This powers our economy, helps maintain a high standard of living with individual opportunity.

We must help higher education make up the shortage in classrooms, facilities and qualified teachers.

College is America's best friend

Suit Charges Faulty Work In Building

Sabella's Restaurant yesterday filed a $150,000 suit in Marin Superior Court alleging faulty construction of its leased building in Alto by building contractor Harry H. Johnson in 1961.

The suit asks that the court find Johnson responsible for repairs including painting of "unfinished interior walls, a leaky roof, faulty sewer lines, defective internal wiring, and a bad air conditioning installation.

It seeks $23,851 reimbursement for repairs, and the $150,000 for alleged loss of business as a result of need for repairs. Sabella's took lease possession of the building in July, 1961.

Johnson is also publisher of Marin Guide, with offices in Sausalito and Tamalpais Valley, which has been enbroiled in labor troubles recently.

Drug Device Guilty Plea

Guilty plea to an amended complaint of possessing a device to smoke a narcotic was entered in Marin Municipal Court yesterday by Gary John Gilbert, 23, alias Gary John Ammenti.

Judge Peter Allen Smith scheduled judgment for Dec. 7. Gilbert, of San Francisco, originally was charged with possession of marijuana. Plea came just before a preliminary hearing on the previous charge. Gilbert and Dean Howard Engle, 20, Monterey, allegedly had about $200 worth of poorly manicured marijuana in their car on Beach Road near Tiburon last Sept. 20.

Engle was held to answer at an Oct. 22 preliminary hearing.

Boys Who Rescued Girls In Sea Due Certificates

Two Mill Valley surfers, James Taldo, 16, and David Barca, 17, will be awarded Red Cross certificates of merit Saturday for their rescue July 5 of two girls being swept out to sea in the current from Bolinas Lagoon.

The ceremony will be held at 8 p.m. at the Bolinas Community Center.

The two boys, both members of the North Point Surfers, saw the two girls when one lost her grip on an inner tube float. Jumping on surfboards, the boys paddled out to the girls, and brought them back.

Later, after the girls had gone home, the Red Cross was unsuccessful in learning their names, in spite of a plea that they step forward.

President of San Rafael General Hospital Foundation Board is Dan E. Andersen, and administrator is Arthur G. Burns.

Rebellion In Marin City Aimed In Wrong Direction

A few days ago Marin City residents came to the aid of sheriff's deputies who were making an arrest for assault and battery.

The action reflects the determination of the big majority of residents to support law and order, even to the extent of personal involvement.

It was regrettable that another incident occurred shortly thereafter to undermine the efforts of those who are trying to create an atmosphere of respect for law and order.

We refer to the sniping at patrol cars. Several shots were fired at two sheriff's patrol cars, one shot breaking the flashing light on the dome of the squad car.

A few misguided individuals like these snipers can blow a minor problem all out of proportion or even create a problem where none exists.

The snipers may have been disgruntled individuals just giving vent to their resentment against authority. Or they may be deliberate trouble makers trying to incite anarchy.

In either case, their rebellion is aimed in the wrong direction.

There are bound to be shortcomings in any society and in any large law enforcement agency. But by and large, we can say with conviction that the Marin sheriff's department is staffed by able and conscientious men, who are bending over backwards to enforce the laws without fear or favor. We can say this from personal acquaintance with the officers, from the top brass to the men on the beat.

We sometimes fail to realize how fortunate we are living in a community where laws are administered fairly without regard for race, color or creed.

In many respects, Marin County has been in the forefront in the battle for equal rights throughout the country. Many of our citizens have risked personal safety to travel in the Deep South to help the less fortunate.

Within the county, we have individuals and groups working hard for fair housing and equal opportunities for all.

We cannot afford to nullify all the good that is being done by a few rash acts like sniping at protectors of law and order.

Such acts will only give bigots the excuse to shout, "I told you so!"

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

CLERK SHARES INHERITANCE WITH POOR

A shipping officer clerk, who inherited a $336,000 investment, is giving all the dividends from it—over $16,000 a year—to Oxfam, the Oxford Committee for Famine Relief in London.

The generous man, who wishes to remain anonymous, told Oxfam officials that he decided to give the money because of his concern for hungry people over the earth. His own basic needs, he said, were sufficiently covered by the salary he receives as a clerk.

"I am quite happy with my job and my life, and I want the money to serve a useful purpose," he said.

What a transformation would take place throughout the world if large numbers of people would imitate this clerk—at least on a small scale.

By setting reasonable limits to what they spend on themselves, many could share their advantages with persons who suffer from hunger or other forms of hardship.

God blesses everyone who sacrifices his own temporal advantage in order to benefit those in dire need.

"Go, sell whatever you have, and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven." (Mark 10:21)

Teach me, O Lord to share my blessings with those stricken by poverty.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Should Employees Of State Get Free School While On Leave

By HENRY C. MACARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—How to get a master's degree at public expense might be the subject of a course furnished by the State Department of Social Welfare, following disclosures of aid to education sponsored by those dispensers of largesse in many fields.

The incident which brought the subsidies to light resulted from refusal of the Plumas County auditor to pay a county welfare director while the director is on leave attending a state college, ostensibly working for a master's degree.

THE AUDITOR contends payment of this type of aid to education is a violation of the State Constitution, which says in Article I, Sec. 21: ". . . nor shall any citizen, or class of citizens, be granted privileges or immunities which, upon the same terms, shall not be granted to all citizens."

Although the question of whether the payments are or are not constitutional is an issue that finally will have to be decided by the courts, if the question ever reaches the courts, wording of the section seems fairly clear.

Patently, public funds are being paid out for the enrichment in knowledge of a citizen who is in a particular class. The class is that of social welfare employees, who under state law, are permitted the privilege of attending college to enrich their capabilities. Other classes of citizens do not have such privileges, so the question devolves on whether the constitution of California means what it says, and whether the law which permits the department of social welfare to expend public funds is a valid act of the legislature.

ANOTHER AND much more vital question is whether the constitution which is supposed to be the dictate of the people to the State Legislature, is being circumvented for purposes of expediency. If so, the circumvention marks just another intrusion of government on the rights and privileges of all the people who support government.

Thus, the question of whether government is justified in expending public funds to further the education of a certain class has little bearing. Such expenditures may be good for the public welfare, depending on how the public looks at the situation. The capacities of employees of the department may be upgraded because of a master's degree.

BUT ON THE OTHER hand, the real question is whether or not the department of social welfare and the state legislature legally can dispense public funds outside the provisions of the guiding document which governs the course of legislation.

Extent of the social welfare program in providing educational subsidy involves more than just one county welfare director. Officials of the department say a total of 183 persons are on leave from the department after more schooling. And in addition, 31 prospective employees are being given school subsidies on the theory they will become employed by the department when their courses are completed.

Total cost to the taxpayers exceeds $800,000 annually.

Viet Nam Policy Is 'Short Sighted'

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I'm sorry, Mr. Craemer, but I'm not going to "stand up for our policy in Viet Nam," because I think that it is a short-sighted and destructive one.

The old slogan, "My country, right or wrong," is authoritarian in concept, and one that has no place in a democratic society.

I think that it is extremely important that those of us who see the war in Viet Nam as an evil thing stand up and say so, and not simply go along like, for example, the German people in World War II. I am delighted to find myself in the company of such an outstanding "Commie" as Sen. Wayne Morse. Senator Fullbright, who suggests a cessation of bombing to encourage negotiation is, I presume, a "fellow-traveller."

Interracial Council Sets Second Forum

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to take this opportunity - late though it is because I was in Selma, Alabama all last week - to thank you for your generous coverage of the Catholic Interracial Council's panel entitled "The Clergy in Civil Rights."

Members of the panel have expressed to me their delight with the accuracy of the reporting. . .

It is the plan of the Catholic Interracial Council of Marin to bring to the community, by means of a series of panels involving outstanding local and regional leaders, an awareness of the burden of responsibility that rests on the shoulders of men who would call themselves 'religious" to cut a few windows in the wall of institutionalism which may have clouded their vision in the past. It is for this reason that we are delighted to bring such a distinguished panel to Marin through the generous facilities of the Newman Club at the College of Marin.

On Nov. 16, our second important panel of the series - "The Suburban Parish and Civil Rights" - will feature an equaly distinguished panel, including Dr. Robert Lee, San Francisco Theological Seminary, Mrs. John C. Bennett, a prominent San Rafael Catholic laywoman, Mr. Percy Steele, the Executive Director of the Bay Area Urban League, and the Rev. Phyllis Edwards, Episcopalian Deaconess recently ordained by the Right Rev. James B. Pike. . .

Chrysanthemums Display Applauded

Editor, Independent-Journal:

How about a "Bouquet" to the Chrysanthemum Society of Marin for their 16th annual flower show held in the beautiful Crocker-Citizens National Bank, on Oct. 23 and 24? This show was held in San Rafael and was a beautiful show, and the members worked hard to make it so.

College, Army Hit For Plans On Ditch

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Overlooked in recent discussions of Phase I of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project is the fact that the same rectangular concrete ditch that was rejected by the upper valley towns is still planned for the lower portion. An area of great beauty on the College of Marin campus, running a half mile downstream from Ross, is still scheduled for the original Army Engineers' ditch treatment.

Mrs. Deedy, of the college board of trustees, recently accused the upper valley towns of footdragging, delaying tactics, etc. As she has now learned, these towns have all indicated willingness to participate in corrective measures for Phase I. They have all, very wisely, rejected the concrete ditch for their areas, and want reasonable limits on the tax rate.

However, these towns, which were unfairly called foot-draggers, may wish to point out that Mrs. Deedy and her board could just as easily be accused of roughshod tactics in demanding uncritical acceptance of an overly extensive, overly expensive plan which will wreck the scenic aspects of a long stretch of the lower creek.

It does seem sad that this whole problem turns on a simple point: the overextensive design criteria of a "500 year flood" laid down by the Army Engineers. The plan now current calls for a treatment to accommodate a theoretical storm that might occur once in half a century (sic) and proposes a rectangular cross section channel where we now have a gently curving, tree-lined stream that couldn't be duplicated at any price.

The answer lies in revised design criteria and paramount consideration of esthetics. . .

Is it right that the college, which belongs to all of us, should ask that we throw away the values of beauty which now exist, just because a Federal agency has worked from the wrong approach?

Send Hell's Angels To Viet Nam War

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The thought has just occurred to me that there is an untapped source of courageous and patriotic young men who have recently displayed their loyalty to the United States in their aggressive opposition to the ill-advised Viet Nam peace marchers.

Perhaps the formation of Hell's Angels Battalions to serve in the capacity of Rangers or similar units would do much to expedite the war against communist aggression there. I hope that leaders of the Hell's Angels and other similar groups will act on this. There is a possibility that waivers for past civil difficulties could be obtained in situations where this may be a problem in recruitment.

I am a disabled veteran who served as an officer with an Armored Division in World War II. I have had a first hand opportunity to associate with young men on the line that served with honor.

Hell's Angels Battalions would be admirably suited to perform as a credit to our country and to themselves. It would also give them an opportunity to prove in combat that their convictions are as strong as their civil demonstrations have indicated. They may duplicate the exploits of the historic French Foreign Legion.

TALLULAH BANKHEAD, one of the most generous and unselfish stars in the history of the theatre, once agreed to star in a revival of "A Streetcar Named Desire" for N.Y.'s financially-pressed City Center Repertory Theatre for the nominal salary of $85 a week. Later it was revealed that for the length of the run, she was paying her theater maid $100 a week!

AN ENGLISH barrister dearly longed for a son to carry on his fine old family name, but all his poor wife could produce was eight bouncing daughters in a row. When the youngest one had attained the age of 16 (weighing, like the others, in the neighborhood of 160 pounds), a colleague came down for the weekend. Looking over the barrister's rolling estate from the rear courtyard., he exclaimed, "How proud you must be of your magnificent resources."

"My dear fellow," answered his host ruefully. "My problem is to HUSBAND them!"

LBJ Averted Aluminum Price Rise Without Embittering The Industry

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon B. Johnson has undoubtedly prevented a serious, hurtful breach between the administration and business by the way he set about to avert a price rise in the aluminum industry.

The difference between the Kennedy approach to the increase in steel prices in 1962 and the Johnson approach to the aluminum industry involves more than presidential style.

It involves substance, attitude, and, in the judgment of some, motivation.

Most businessmen do not want the government intervening in the price structure of private enterprise.

Most businessmen do not feel the government has done enough to halt the upward spiral of wages to have any adequate basis for forcing industry to cut back a rise in prices.

Most businessmen would like the federal government more if it did less.

AFTER ALL THIS has been said, after the honest differences have been stated, Mr. Johnson's handling of the aluminum price rise is not bringing in its wake the bitter gulf between the administration and the business community Mr. Kennedy created in like circumstances. There are reasons.

This time there was no name-calling by the White House, no cold fury exhibited by the president, no denunciation of industry. Words like Mr. Kennedy's "irresponsible defiance" and "ruthless disregard of duty," were never allowed in the dialogue.

The FBI was not brought into the picture, as it was in the steel price matter. There were no federal agents knocking on the doors of newspaper reporters at midnight, demanding to read their notes of interviews with industry executives.

And there were no threats of anti-trust action if the prices weren't rescinded.

These differences in manner and method are considerable.

AND THERE'S another: Unlike JFK, President Johnson never publicly entered the controversy. To those who think that LBJ is compulsively determined to make himself the center of everything — and couldn't help doing so even if he wished — it must seem incredible that he did not hold press conferences on the hour, give a TV interview in between, and then dash off letters to Alcoa, Reynolds and Kaiser, telling them that the president won't stand for this.

He did none of these things. He did not unsheathe the presidential sword at any time. The chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, Gardner Ackley, made the economic case against the price rise — that it would be dangerously inflationary. Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara announced that the government would sell some of its stockpile of aluminum. Then the administration waited.

IT DID NOT wait in vain. Either the industry accepted the argument of the government or felt that the sale of stockpiled aluminum would hurt more than the price rise would help — or partly both.

The end result was the same — price rises withdrawn.

Foreign Aid's Bell May Be On Way Out

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Inner Johnson Cabinet circles are buzzing with a provocative report about Foreign Aid Administrator David Bell.

Reputedly, he is quitting soon to join the Ford Foundation.

According to one version of this back-stage report, 46-year-old Bell will succeed Henry Heald, 61, who is quitting as president of the giant foundation at the end of this year. He has held this position since 1956.

BELL HAS FILLED high offices in the Truman, Kennedy and Johnson regimes. From 1949 to 1953, he was administrative assistant to President Truman. In 1960, President-elect Kennedy named him budget director, and two years later shifted him to the multi-billion dollar foreign aid agency, where he has been since. If Bell does leave, he will be the latest in a long succession of foreign aid directors. His three-year tenure establishes an endurance record.

THIS DISRUPTIVE factor and the frequent changing of the agency's status title were caustically condemned in a 1960 report of the Senate Appropriations Committee—which branded them as "detrimental to operations."

Based on a study by Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., the report declared:

"To the detriment of the operation, the administrators of the successive aid agencies have changed oftener than the name of the agency. There have been nine administrators in the past ten years.

"The government organizations which carried out the foreign assistance programs were borne of emergency and went through frequent reorganizations, consolidations changes in name, changes in leadership. Within this period the principal aid agency has been known as the ECA, TCA MSA, FOA, ICA, and finally AID.

"IN ADDITION, there are number of other agencie which were set up to admin ister supplemental aid pro grams, including the Develop ment Loan Fund as well a numerous international organ izations to which this countr contributes a very substantia percentage of the financing.

As Ford Foundation presi dent, Heald has been pai $75,000 a year plus expense In addition, he receives $5,00 as a trustee.

Tall and quiet spoken, Be is a World War II Marin veteran. From 1953 unt named budget director, in lat 1960 he was with the Harvar Graduate School of Public A ministration, rising to assistar dean.

While President Johnson a parently faces the early likel hood of finding a new foreig aid administrator, he is als confronted with the even mor tortuous problem of what do about the widely assaile and battered huge spendir program itself.

THE RECENT CONGRES while voting $3.28 billion f more military and econom aid strictly enjoined the a ministration to submit a ne plan and concept next year.

For this purpose, the Pre dent has named a "Gener Advisory Committee" to stu the various foreign assistan programs and submit recor mendations. This committe headed by Dr. James Perkir president of Cornell Universi has been conferring with c gressional and other autho ties.

PRESIDENT JOHNSO prolonged stay at his Tex ranch is holding up the forr accreditation of three new a bassadors — Ernst Lemberg of Austria; Farhan Shubilat Jordan, and Ade Martins Nigeria. Under diplomatic p cedure they are not officia accredited as the Washing representatives of their co tries until they present th papers to the President person. Until then, they titularly only "ambassador signate.'

Well, If You Don't Like This War Sign Up For Another One

There seem to be a few people who are not too keen about joining the Army and fighting in Viet Nam, and this has caused some concern throughout the land.

So far, no one has come up with an ideal solution to the situation, but Jon Carey of the San Quentin News recently tossed a line in his column that may hold the answer to the problem.

"The Army has a new enlistment drive going — join the Army and pick your own war," Carey wrote.

Even the most die-hard draft dodger couldn't ask for anything fairer than that.

Under this system, a draft-board interview might go something like this:

DRAFTEE—I'm telling you dad, I'm not going anywhere. I just don't dig that war in Viet Nam.

INTERVIEWER—Now wait a minute, Mac, just sign up and don't worry about Viet Nam.

DRAFTEE — What do you mean, don't worry?

INTERVIEWER—We got this new deal, you join up and then pick your own war.

DRAFTEE — Okay, that sounds pretty cool. How about the Civil War?

INTERVIEWER—Well, that would be pretty hard to do.

DRAFTEE—I don't care. I'll sign up on either side, North or South, as long as I can stay in the states.

INTERVIEWER — It's not that. You see, the Civil War is over, and we haven't had much call from Grant or Lee for troops recently.

DRAFTEE — Okay. How about World War I? I want a war just like the war that dear old daddy had.

INTERVIEWER—I hate to tell you this, but that one's over too, and CBS has the television rights, so we can't have any re-runs.

DRAFTEE — How about World War II? Got any openings for that one?

INTERVIEWER — Nope. To tell you the truth, we've got more guys signed up for World War II now than we had during the war.

DRAFTEE—Could you maybe slip me into another army, say like in India, so I could go fight in Pakistan?

INTERVIEWER — Nope, can't do it. If we start sending men to India, the first thing you know we'd have to start sending them to Pakistan, and then we wouldn't have enough left for our own wars.

DRAFTEE—Well, it doesn't look as though I have much choice. What else have you got open besides Viet Nam?

INTERVIEWER — Hmm. Let's see . . . there's the Spanish-American War, the American Revolution and the Boer War.

DRAFTEE — I'm not too crazy about any of those. They had pretty weird uniforms in those days. Haven't you got anything with a little class?

INTERVIEWER—How about the war on poverty?

DRAFTEE — That's it. I'll sign up. I'll even carry my draft card.

INTERVIEWER—You don't need a draft card for this war. All you need is a credit card.

San Anselmo School District trustees discussed the possibility of acquiring part of the 16-acre San Anselmo American Legion Post property for an elementary school.

Sausalito City Council introduced an ordinance which would provide a one per cent sales tax in the event the state uniform sales tax bill becomes law.

Fifteen-minute bus service between San Rafael and Ross Valley communities became effective when Greyhound Bus Co. expanded its intra-Marin service.

Extensive residential development of both banks of San Rafael Canal in the area east of the San Rafael Creek junction was contemplated by buyers of waterside homesites.

You Open The Mail And All Sorts Of Interesting Things Pop Out

Accidents now cost America over $15 billion a year. Last year, accidents killed 104,000 people, hurt about 50 million—roughly one out of every four persons in the nation.

Kids are getting bigger. In the last four decades, 15-year-old boys have gained four inches in height and 20 pounds in weight, girls two inches and 10 pounds.

Tell your wife not to hurry through the supermarket. A University of Missouri survey found that 15 extra minutes of comparative food shopping could result in saving 5 per cent on a $20 purchase.

DID YOU KNOW that no living person is portrayed on any U.S. stamp or coin?

Odd legislation: In 1659 the General Court of Massachusetts passed a law making the observance of Christmas a penal offense.

Barbering is one of the world's oldest occupations. Egyptian relics indicate the nobility and priesthood patronized barbers 6,000 years ago. There are more than 20 mentions of barbering in the Bible.

QUOTABLE NOTABLES: "If you practice an art, be proud of it and make it proud of you. It may break your heart, but it will fill your heart before it breaks it; it will make you a person in your own right" — Maxwell Anderson.

Women are turning more often to the cup that cheers. Six out of 10 women now indulge at least occasionally in alcoholic beverages compared with eight out of 10 men. But the bad news is that one out of every 13 so-called social drinkers in America is an alcoholic.

HISTORY LESSON: The custom of holding egg rollings at Easter on the White House lawn began during the administration of Andrew Jackson, who loved children but was childless himself. Five other presidents had no children. They were George Washington, James Madison, James Knox Polk, Warren G. Harding, and, of course, our only bachelor president — James Buchanan.

A leaflet prepared by the U.S. Public Health Service gives this warning: "The risk of death from all causes is 70 per cent higher for cigarette smokers than for nonsmokers."

IT PAYS TO take a business prospect to lunch. One firm found that its salesmen who never entertained customers averaged only $330,000 in annual orders, but those who took potential buyers to lunch three or four days a week averaged $729,000.

Prosperity note: Better than three out of every four American families own automobiles: more than eight million families have two or more cars.

Servicemen To Get Gifts From Marin

Names of servicemen are being placed in a hat for interested persons to draw, Mrs. Margaret Goodyear of Mill Valley said today. Being packed, she said, are things such as dry salami, cigarettes, paperback books and cookies. "What the men don't use they can trade off," said Mrs. Goodyear.

Names must be drawn before Thanksgiving so packages will arrive by Christmas, she said. Persons interested pack their own boxes, enclose a card and mail to an Army postal office in San Francisco. Further information is available from Mrs. George Groll of 28 La Verne Avenue.

Johnson Threat Charged To Man

Billy Ray Pursley, 31, of Summerville, Ga., was arrested Sunday by Secret Service Agents on a warrant issued by a U.S. commissioner at Concord, N.C., Saturday. Pursley allegedly threatened the President while buying a rifle in Charlotte, N.C., last Thursday, A. G. Vial of the Secret Service said.

Vial said that Pursley bought a rifle at a Charlotte discount house Nov. 11. Witnesses to the purchase stated he threatened to use the rifle upon the President, Vial said.

Vial said the man admitted buying the rifle, but denied having made any threats.

War On Poverty To Be Explained In Novato Forum

The president's War on Poverty program will be explained and discussed by three of its officials today at a public meeting at 8 p.m. at the Novato Community House.

Speakers will be Dr. Paul F. O'Rourke, former Novato physician who now heads the Economic Opportunity Program in California; Walter Bremond, director of Community Relations Services for Marin County and Ron Field, field representative for 11 western states for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Dr. O'Rourke will discuss major phases of the state program. Bremond will outline the Marin program, and action on the national level will be the topic of Field.

The meeting is sponsored by the Novato Democratic Club as a non-partisan civic activity, according to Joseph A. Forest, club president.

Marin Men Receive Asian Duty Medals

Two Marin Navy men have received Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal for support of combat operations off the coast of Viet Nam while serving aboard the USS Midway attack aircraft carrier.

They are Lt. (j.g.) Michael Glenn, supply corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glenn of 318 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo, and Seaman Lindsay D. Merritt, son of Mrs. John Viscarra of 118 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia.

Dr. Howard A. Levenson is president of Marin Optometric Society.

Bull Getting Many Honors But He's Not Being Shown

A Hereford bull, Vern Mickie, who resides at the Green Gulch Ranch in Southern Marin, has been receiving many honors in stock shows even though he is not being shown.

At the La Pacific International Stock Show in Portland last month, the bull's offspring collected 32 points. With 100 points, Vern Mickie will become a register-of-merit bull.

On Nov. 5, Vern Baron, one of Vern Mickie's offsprings, was named grand champion at the Grand National Stock Show at the Cow Palace in San Francisco.

The Green Gulch Ranch had a total of four firsts, three seconds, three thirds, a fourth and a fifth place at the Grand National.

Solon Entered

Entry was made into the Salon El Paseo at 5 El Paseo, Mill Valley, Sunday but nothing was reported taken. William S. Weeks, manager, telephoned police at 4:45 p.m., saying someone had broken a small window pane in the front door and entered.

Traffic Battery Guilty Plea Heard

A second count, malicious property damage, was dismissed.

Hatchet Thieves Fired At Them, Novatos Boys Say

Burglars, who took a hatchet from a home near Novato, later fired a .22 caliber bullet in the direction of two youths, sheriff's officers reported today.

Deputies said Mrs. Dorothy L. Samios, 2184 Novato Boulevard, reported a storage room at the rear of her house was entered via a pried screen Sunday, and the hatchet was taken. Shortly after, she said, two youths, Pierre Baker, of 669 Peach Street, and Steven J. Graham, of 9 Santiago Court, both 13, told her they saw two other youths on the bank of Novato Creek nearby.

Graham and Baker said they saw a hatchet in the belt of one of the pair, and that one youth fired a shot from a bolt-action .22 rifle in their direction, Mrs. Samios reported. The shot struck water in front of Baker, according to the report.

The assailants were not apprehended. No injuries occurred, deputies said.

College Is Due U.S. Money For Projects

College of Marin will receive $525,580 in federal aid for special programs and projects during this school year, according to college vocational coordinator William J. Collins.

The funds are in the form of grants and loans for training, equipment construction and student aid, Collins said.

Largest portion of the funds, $156,000, will be used for a work study program in which students from low-income families will be employed off-campus in jobs related to their course of study.

Provisions of the vocational education and manpower development training acts make the college eligible for $143,000 for technical vocational training and equipment, Collins said.

The federal money has been matched by $227,965 in district funds already budgeted, he said. Federal funds to the college totaled $262,189 last year and $125,541 the year before.

In 1951, the State of California bought the Dumbarton Bridge for $2.25 million.

CDC Leader In Marin Quits

Hans J. Schiller of Mill Valley, one of the leaders in the California Democratic Council movement for the past 10 years, has resigned from the organization because of the current squabble over CDC President Simon Casady.

"I am very much in disgareement with the way CDC handles its affairs," said Schiller. He charged that "the CDC, by its inactivity, condoned the activities of its president."

Casady has been severely criticized for opposing American policy in Viet Nam. At a meeting of the CDC board of directors in Fresno last weekend, a move to impeach Casady failed.

Biology Station Tours Planned

College of Marin marine biology instructor Alfonso Molina is giving guided tours of the college's marine biology station at Bolinas to schoolchildren and youth groups each Tuesday morning and afternoon, according to assistant dean of instruction Albert C. Heppe.

Arrangements for the two and one-half hour tours, which begin at 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. should be made with Heppe two weeks in advance, he said.

Session Off

The regular meeting of the board of directors of the North Marin County Water District, scheduled for tonight, has been postponed until 8 p.m. Nov. 23 in the district office.

PHARMACY OVER TWICE AS LARGE—Wide aisles, larger stocks and more lines of merchandise are featured in the new Greenbrae Pharmacy at the west end of the Bon Air Shopping Center. The store has 11,000 square feet of retail area and represents the second expansion of Henry and Lorraine Brocco at Bon Air since their opening in 1954.

CLEAN AND SPARKLING IN SIX MINUTES

Bon Air Car Wash moves automobiles along quickly, with extra help at peak hours. Special equipment provides for instantaneous wash and jet wax treatment. Customers' waiting room is protected from sun and rain. A continuing feature of the Bon Air Car Wash is a free job to women drivers on their birthdays.

New Place For Pharmacy At Bon Air

Where once the shelves of what used to be Bon Air Super Market were stocked with supplies of groceries, produce and food items, today much of that same space is replete with pharmaceutical products, beauty aids, stationery, games and toys and those sundry articles which often can be found only in specialty shops.

This is the new location of the Greenbrae Pharmacy.

It represents about two and one-half times the space which Henry and Lorraine Brocco occupied just a few weeks ago in their previous location near the center of the shopping complex—a full 1,000 square feet of retail area, with modern counters, display cases and racks and new equipment and goods to be sold.

It also represents a milestone in the growth of the pharmacy since it was first opened in 1954. Those were the early days of the Bon Air center, and while a drug store here was regarded as a likely success, it was a first venture on their own for the Broccos, both of whom had been graduated from the University of California School of Pharmacy only a few years before.

This is the Broccos' second expansion in two years. The last enlargement of the business was primarily for the addition of a liquor department, and this line like the others has been expanded again in the new location.

With the holiday season close by many items suitable for Christmas gifts have already been stocked — particularly in cards and stationery and cosmetics, games and toys — for which there was far less room on Greenbrae Pharmacy shelves in the past.

Laser Device Made For U. S.

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP)—Two compact modulators—devices to impress information on laser beams — have been developed for the Air Force by Sylvania Electric Produdcts Inc. here.

The units—one 18 inches long and the other three-and-a-half inches—produce rapid variations in the intense, pencil-thin beams of light that emit from lasers. This permits transmission of voice, video, telegraph and telemetry signals.

In theory, the smaller modulator is capable of impressing six TV broadcasts or 3,000 telephone calls on a single laser beam and the larger unit could handle 100 TV broadcasts or more than 100,000 telephone conversations.

Bad Check Artists Not Smart But Bold

By SAM FOGG

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "T. Aken."

"Craig W. Lier."

"U. R. Stuck."

"Brrr."

On such signatures as these is built a national bad check racket that bilks bankers, businessmen and bartenders of millions of dollars a year.

The FBI files on bum check passers contain these and thousands of less obvious fraudulent endorsements that have allowed glib con artists to pocket an annual take that far exceeds that of bank robbers.

Armed with no more than pen and ink and a confidence-inspiring manner, the rubber check operators—known in police argot as "the paperhangers"—clipped the gullible for a known $6,894,928 last year.

That amount is based only on the 32,404 bad check speciments officially submitted to the FBI. It doesn't begin to reflect millions more on checks cashed by victims who failed to report they had been stuck.

But a few years back, a survey of U.S. law enforcement agencies estimated that the annual loss to the "paperhangers" totaled an astonishing $535 million.

The FBI has built up files on the rubber check fraternity since 1934 when Congress passed a law making it a federal crime to pass a bad check involving interstate commerce.

The operation can be painfully simple or amazingly complex as shown by these examples:

—A middle-aged man stepped to the teller's window at a southern bank and handed in a $500 check from an out-of-town bank, apologized for forgetting his passbook, then presented a counter check for $250 and walked out without a murmur of suspicion.

—Marvin Edward Lee began a bogus check passing spree while serving with the Navy in Spain. Before he was picked up in Eureka, Calif., he had left a trail of victims in Germany, Iceland and military installations through the United States.

—Samuel Raymond Phipps in an eight-month period cashed in on $6,000 of bad checks. A one-time bank robber, Phipps was over 60 when he began his less strenuous career as a "paperhanger."

—Herman Liebowitz operated for 22 years and left his bogus checks in England, Italy, Canada, Alaska, Hawaii and Mexico. When arrested in Birmingham, Ala., in 1962, he was "credited" with having collected more than $30,000 through phony checks.

One of the biggest and most highly organized check passing rings involved 13 men who scored off hotels and airlines. The operation was broken when one of them, known as "Eddie the Cow," was spotted by an alert hotel clerk and arrested.

FBI experts found the gang had cashed more than 900 bogus checks and took in more than $100,000.

The "T. Aken" bad check turned up in Canton, S.D. "Craig W. Lier" profited $72 in Minneapolis. The phony signature "Brrr" turned up on a check cashed in Bowman, N.D. on a day when the temperature was 20 degrees below zero.

And a bank official in the Midwest is still redfaced that he accepted a check drawn on "The East Bank of the Mississippi, Slippery Rock, Miss."

The FBI gives six major rules to keep yourself from becoming one of the gullible:

1. Demand sufficient identification.
2. Check identification carefully.
3. Remain constantly alert to the possibility of being duped by fraudulent check passers.
4. Report pertinent facts to the proper law enforcement agency if you are victimized.
5. Familiarize yourself with methods used successfully by bogus check writers.
6. Do not hesitate to press charges even through restitution is made.

Rabbit Leads To Home Of Ancient Cave Men

By ALDO TRIPINI

ESCOURAL, Portugal (UPI) —A rabbit has led archeologists to a huge cave containing paleolithic rock paintings apparently produced by a pagan society more than 20,000 years ago. It is the first such discovery in Portugal.

Maxime Vaultier, a wealthy Portuguese industrialist, and French Abbot Andre Glory, of the National Scientific Research Center of Paris and the University of Strasbourg, are directing work with the paintings. Vaultier is vice president of the Portuguese Archeological Society.

Vaultier says the cave was discovered by some boys whose dog had entered a hole in the ground while chasing a rabbit. The holed led to the cave.

There Vaultier and Glory discovered paintings showing a fetishist at worship, a horse and many other primitive figures.

"Only experienced eyes could notice something unusual in the cave at first glance," Vaultier said.

"Abbot Glory identified the fetishist's bird-headed figure, showing two eyes and a sort of straw cover similar to those still used by witch doctors in Africa."

Vaultier said "possibly hundreds" of other drawings can be identified in the cave, which apparently was used as a necropolis, a sort of pagan cemetery during the Neolithic era.

On a sloping wall of the cave, Vaultier discovered a beautiful horse head and neck, painted in reddish brown. Only a part of the animal's back and rear legs still were visible, he said. It was named the "Vaultier Horse" by Glory.

"But it took me five hours to see it," Vaultier said. "Unfortunately, no black and white picture of the horse or the fetishist are immediately available. They are almost vague lines which can result in a picture only if we use infra-red films and special photographic equipment."

Another find in the cave was so-called "musical stalactites," deposits of carbonate of lime hanging from the roof of the cave like icicles. They had been marked in black, with manganese oxide, or in red, with ochre, to mark different musical sounds they made when struck with a stick or other object.

New Weapon To Be Tried In Shark War

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Underwater electrical barriers are South Africa's latest weapon in the war against sharks.

In the past 15 years 40 bathers on South African beaches have been killed or injured by sharks. Most beaches along this country's Indian Ocean are now protected from sharks by metal mesh nets laid parallel to the shore. They are, however, costly to maintain and need frequent inspection.

Backed by a government grant, South Africa's Council for Scientific and Industrial Research has spent two years perfecting an electrical barrier system. It has already proved itself under laboratory conditions and the scientists will soon begin testing it in the sea.

A 100-foot cable with two specially designed electrodes will be laid on the seabed and connected to a generator on land. The experiment will be conducted in the calm waters of St. Lucia Bay (on the Indian Ocean coast north of Durban), where scientists can observe the reactions of captive sharks.

A spokesman for the council said it had been found that all fish, including sharks, automatically swam to the positive pole on entering the barrier's electric field.

NO LACK OF PARKING SPACE

This view of the Bon Air Shopping Center framed by a rambling oak on a Greenbrae hillside shows off the ample parking facilities to full advantage. When the center was extended at the east end last year, 300 parking spaces were added, bringing up the total to 600. As the center is further expanded, still more car space will be added.

NEW BUILDING FOR ENGINEERING FIRM

Nearing completion on top of the knoll near the east end of Bon Air is this new home for Dan Coleman Associates who will move their offices from San Francisco. The knoll has been partially leveled and its 10 acres will eventually be occupied by other professional firms, several sites offer docking frontage on Corte Madera Creek below.

Greenbrae Beauty Salon In 12th Year Of Business

There are more than 100 beauty salons in Marin County.

Some of them change ownership at regular intervals. New beauty shops are opened every month of the year. Many close, unable to operate successfully.

The Greenbrae Salon of Beauty, now in its 12th year, has never lacked for business. Mrs. Louise Flynn, when she opened at Bon Air in 1954, brought with her a "built-in" stock of patrons who followed her move from San Anselmo. Through the years she has continued to keep her booths filled.

Her new and larger location at the west end of the Bon Air Center, next to Greenbrae Pharmacy, has already started making increased numbers of appointments. In time she will be obliged to add more operators to take care of them—but there is room for the operators and ample room for more customers.

"In fact, space is no longer a problem," says Mrs. Flynn. Eventually I suppose it will all be taken up, but right now it is a pleasure to be able to take care of everyone promptly."

Pack Rat Hides Box Of Peaches

The peaches were found behind a sofa in the living room.

A small bit of each peach was gone and Cloyd blamed it on a pack rat.

Football Puts Squeeze On Beatles' Haircut

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Barber Gene Thornhill said he got only one request to demolish a Beatle haircut on a high school boy before school started this fall.

He said the youth explained he was afraid his football helmet wouldn't fit atop the mop.

Retirements End 95 Years Of Service

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — With the recent retirement of Warren Rate, 95 years of service with the State Department of Public Works by two brothers came to an end. Warren retired after 43 years with the department. William Rate completed 52 years with the department when he stepped out 1957.

Although the Rate brothers are no longer active with the department, another member of their family is carrying on. Their nephew, Donald Stahlman, who has been employed there for the past five years, is still on the job.

Space Language Used By Child

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Space age language is being picked up by the toddler set.

A little girl laid a dime on a concession stand counter and asked the operator: "May I have a nose cone."

She got what she really wanted—a snow cone, which is a cup filled with crushed ice and sprinkled with a flavoring.

Honest Citizens Gain 10 Shillings Each

WELLINGTON, Australia (AP) — An honest citizen found one-half of a one pound ($2.80) note, and handed it in to police. A few weeks later, another citizen arrived at the police station to turn in the other half he had found.

As there was no claimant, police changed the torn note into two 10 shilling notes (each worth $1.40), and gave one to each.

Barbed Wire Helped Tame Wild West

TYLER, Tex. (UPI) — There is a lot more to barbed wire than what snags the clothes, Henry McCallum believes. The prickly material that fenced in the West has much history behind it.

McCallum collects barbed wire. He had enough first-hand experience with its effectiveness to get interested. McCallum has been a geologist since the 1920s and has climbed through numberless barbed wire fences in his day.

He amassed nearly 100 types of barbed wire, so many, in fact, that he felt he should write a book about it.

McCallum and his wife, Frances, collaborated in the volume, published by the University of Oklahoma Press. Their home here has become a clearing house for information on barbed wire.

McCallum says barbed wire gained acceptance only after range wars, fence cuttings and other violence.

Still, barbed wire became the best thing for range fences and became the "Wire that Fenced the West," the title of his book.

Tow Cars 'Picking Up'

Devices Sought To Give Aid To Blind, Deaf

NEW YORK (UPI) — Biomedical engineers throughout the nation are busy planning, designing and developing devices that may enable the deaf to hear, the blind to "see" and the paralyzed to regain at least part of their mobility.

Biomedical engineering is the application of engineering principles to the sciences of medicine and biology.

Steelways, official publication of American Iron and Steel Institute, said a survey was conducted on the progress in this field at four leading centers of biomedical education and research. They were Johns Hopkins University, Northwestern University, the University of Pennsylvania and Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland.

"The evidence is convincing that we are opening a new era in biology and medicine and that a new frontier is shaping in engineering," said the publication, adding that more and more unusual steel devices and materials are being developed and utilized by the biomedical engineers.

Programs differ from institution to institution but, in general, faculty and students are active on four broad fronts. They are:

—Learning how to detect and measure the complex changes constantly under way in the human body.

—Exploration of physical and mathematical theories to learn more how we breathe, speak and chew; how our hearts work; how we see, hear and feel; and even how we think.

— Development of countless tools such as implanted hearing aids for the deaf, sonar systems for the blind and computer-controlled arm-aids for the paralyzed.

—Seeking solutions to a wide variety of problems relating to the environment in which men live. One research group has developed a special bed for use by patients whose heart function is being studied.

New Women's Store Has Youthful Line

Newest addition to the family of stores and service businesses in the Bon Air shopping complex is a women's specialty shop catering to the discriminating and fashionable buyer.

Called Mademoiselle of Marin, it is located in the original space occupied by the Greenbrae Pharmacy before its first expansion. It is a second store for two established Marin residents, Edward K. Wieger of 15 Gelder Drive, Tiburon, and Mrs. Ruth Carlson of 38 Terrace Court in the Reedlands—also on the Tiburon peninsula. For about 18 months, these two have operated the Mademoiselle Shop in Stonestown, San Francisco.

Prior to their association in their own business, both were with I. Magnin and Co., Mrs. Carlson as a buyer of fashion apparel for 18 years and Wieger as a merchandising executive.

"It should be understood that the Bon Air shop is not a branch —but another full-size store," notes Wieger. "We have 2,400 square feet—not quite as large as the Stonestown shop, but large enough to feature our lines of casual apparel for those interested in a youthful, casual but sophisticated look."

The shop will carry lines of internationally known apparel manufacturers and also accessories for the well-dressed woman.

Managing the Bon Air shop will be Mrs. Milda Witte, whom Wieger says they "imported" from Scottsdale, Ariz., because of her fine background in merchandising women's wear. Mrs. Witte is now a resident of Greenbrae.

During the opening weeks, visitors may register at the store in a drawing for a prize of a $100 wardrobe of the winner's choice. Coffee will be served at all hours.

Interior of Mademoiselle of Marin was designed by John Bernhart.

Runners Wander Off Their Course

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — You can add this to the hazards of cross-country running: Getting lost.

Pete Scott of the University of Nebraska was leading the pack in a four-team meet over the Pioneers Park course in Lincoln recently when he made a wrong turn. Even worse, several teammates followed him. By the time Scott got back on course, he was out of contention and finished fifth.

Coach Frank Sevigne was philosophical about the mixup. "This isn't the worst thing that ever happened to me in cross country," he said. "I had some guy hitchhike one time back East."

Education Budget

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — State university trustees have approved a $406.6-million budget for 1966-67. The trustees allocated $244.6 million for operations and $162 million for capital construction.

SELDOM A FREE MOMENT—Besides being responsible for a smooth store operation from the customer's standpoint, manager Walter Blake (right) at Petrini's Bon Air market, is constantly involved in seeing that shelves are properly stocked with merchandise most in demand. He is shown here solving a shelf problem with salesman Audry Blissett of Lawry's Foods and Petrini clerk Maurice Bishop.

New Petrini's Market Manager Has Background In The Business

The new manager of Petrini's market in Greenbrae has a family background in the grocery business which goes back to the turn of the century.

Walter Blake, a native of Marin, is a scion of the Blakes—Jasper and Arthur, whose Blake Stores in Larkspur and Corte Madera were in business as long ago as 1900. They were his father and his uncle.

Walter himself has been in the food business for many years and comes by his talents naturally—both by heritage and by experience. He has been an assistant manager at Petrini's since the store in the Bon Air Shopping Center was first stocked with goods and opened. He and his wife are residents of Corte Madera. Mrs. Blake is court recorder in superior court judge Harry J. Neubarth's department in San Francisco.

Blake's recent appointment as manager is one of several changes resulting from Petrini's expansion into San Mateo. It is there that Petrini's Hillsdale will be opened the first week in December in the former Farmers Market which has been undergoing extensive remodeling. It will be a market almost as large as the one in Bon Air.

William Cataldo, previously assistant manager in Bon Air, has been promoted to manager in Hillsdale. He is a former Peninsula resident, so this brings him back to familiar territory.

Kenneth R. Doonan, formerly grocery manager at Bon Air, is now supervisor for the Petrini chain. Headquartered in San Francisco, he travels extensively on buying trips. Doonan's former assistant Pat Hoffman has also left Greenbrae with a promotion. He is now manager of the Manor Market in San Francisco.

Other promotions at Bon Air include Sam Slavos and Walter McLaughlin, elevated to assistant managers.

Plastic May Save Person From Death

ALICE SPRINGS, Central Australia (AP) — A scientist has demonstrated how a sheet of plastic can save person from diyng of thirst in the arid outback.

Dr. Ralph Slatyer of the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization showed delegates attending an Australian Arid Zone Research conference how water can be gained from apparently waterless land.

First he dug a hole about 30 inches square and 18 inches deep in dry, sandy soil. In the hole he placed a small container, surrounded by an armful of desert shrubbery. Then he placed a piece of plastic sheeting 3 feet square loosely over the hole, with a small stone in the center to make the plastic sag towards the container.

The sun shining through the plastic heated the soil and plant material in the hole and drew moisture from them, which condensed on the underside of the plastic in small drops. The drops rolled down the plastic and dripped into the container.

The plastic acted as a small solar still. Each 3 foot sheet of plastic should produce about a pint of water a day.

Motorcycle Use Declined

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Claude DeVorss of Wichita received a motorcycle as a gift because of a civic club's membership drive.

He declined to ride it away from presentation ceremonies, saying, "I might end up doing business with myself."

DeVorss is a funeral director.
